PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 102d CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES—Tuesday, September 29, 1992

The House met at 12 noon and was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore [Mr. MONTGOMERY].

DESIGNATION OF THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Speaker:

WASHINGTON, DC,
September 29, 1992.

I hereby designate the Honorable G.V. (SONNY) MONTGOMERY to act as Speaker pro tempore on this day.

THOMAS S. FOLEY,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. James David Ford, D.D., offered the following prayer:

We pray for all Your blessings upon us, O God, and we pray that Your goodness and mercy will be with all Your people. As You have made us in Your image, we pray that You would show us the way to express that unity with others in our communities, in our Nation, and in our world. May our words and actions, our thoughts and deeds, demonstrate the bond and covenant between people that is Your gift to us, and may we be faithful to that heritage in word and deed. In Your name, we pray. Amen.

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day's proceedings and announces to the House his approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Wyoming [Mr. THOMAS] please come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. THOMAS of Wyoming led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

WELCOME TO THE WORLD OF THE RICH

(Mr. BALLENGER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BALLENGER. Mr. Speaker, whenever a politician needs money for some pet project, he will say, "We'll just tax the rich."

That is what Mr. Clinton says he will do to raise $150 billion for his new programs.

But, just who are these rich people?

Mr. Clinton claims that they are the top 2 percent of all taxpayers—those making more than $200,000.

But, according to the Treasury Department, the top 2 percent includes individual taxpayers with taxable incomes over $64,800.

And, even that will not be enough.

To raise $150 billion, Mr. Clinton would have to raise taxes on all individuals with taxable incomes above $36,600.

So, if you are making $36,600, the good news is that you are now considered rich. The bad news is that Mr. Clinton wants more of your money.

UNDER THE BUSH ADMINISTRATION, WORKING AMERICANS GET THE SHAFT

(Mr. APPLEGATE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. APPLEGATE. Mr. Speaker, since the beginning of the Reagan-Bush monarcy, hardworking coal miners are getting the shaft. Coal miners, after years of breathing coal dust in the mines, have found it almost impossible to get black lung benefits. In fact, there are only 5 percent who apply who are able to get it, and many of them are dying.

The promise also was that coal miners who retire would get health benefits. That is a promise that has been broken and will continue to be, unless we pass legislation here, but the Bush veto pen is ready to strike again if legislation reaches his desk. This is to protect the oil companies and the coal companies who own the coal.

What we need is a President of the United States who cares for America's working men and women. We need Bill Clinton.

CONGRESS CAN LIMIT SPENDING AND REDUCE THE DEFICIT NOW

(Mr. THOMAS of Wyoming asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. THOMAS of Wyoming. Mr. Speaker, as usual, I have spent 3 days in Wyoming in little towns like Hulett and Upton and Newcastle, and I found, as usual, that most voters are most concerned about the deficit. They think Congress is totally irresponsible in having a deficit of $330 billion, and really not making any progress to do anything about it; more concerned about jobs and the deficit than any other matter.

We need to do something about it, rather than complaining about what somebody else is doing, rather than rising every day to complain about the President or Clinton. We need to do it ourselves. We can do something about the deficit here in the Congress.

Not long ago we talked about a balanced-budget amendment and the leadership said, "We don't need that." Thirty years of evidence is that we do need it, and we can do something about it, starting today, with the kinds of things we are working on in appropriations. We need to limit spending so that we can balance the budget.

ELIMINATING THE DEFICIT AND CREATING NEW JOBS

(Mr. DERRICK asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

☐ This symbol represents the time of day during the House proceedings, e.g., ☐ 1407 is 2:07 p.m.

Matter set in this typeface indicates words inserted or appended, rather than spoken, by a Member of the House on the floor.

Mr. DERRICK. Mr. Speaker, when Bill Clinton is elected President in November, the new Commander in Chief's No. 1 priority will be to eliminate the deficit and to create new jobs. The Congress should work with President Clinton to achieve this goal.

For fiscal year 1992, the deficit will soar to $333.5 billion. The deficit has sapped the United States of its competitiveness. It has robbed our children and restricted their opportunities. The creation of jobs will fuel the economy to make Americans less dependent on Government spending.

The job of deficit reduction and economic expansion, however, will not be accomplished without leadership from the President and the Congress.

The American people will be making choices. Do we want to move ahead or to stand still?

Do we want the recession to continue or do we want an expanded economy and new jobs?

Mr. Speaker, the Bush administration has stifled our economic growth and it has handcuffed job creation.

The Clinton administration will not make the same mistake.

URGING MEMBERS TO SHARE IN CELEBRATION HONORING AMERICA'S OLYMPIANS

(Mr. HEFLEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, just last month we were glued to our TV to watch our Olympic athletes in action. The summer games in Barcelona and the winter games in Albertville were teriffic. To celebrate the U.S. excellent performance, the Olympic Committee is holding its second annual Olympic dinner tomorrow night at the Washington Hilton Hotel. Members of this House and the Senate have been invited as honored guests. This is an important evening for our athletes. I know they would appreciate it if the Members could take a few minutes, come to the dinner, and help them celebrate their achievements.

I know the schedule is busy and there is much to be done. We are all anxious to finish up business and head home, but I would encourage everyone to take a part of tomorrow evening to attend the dinner, let our athletes know how much we appreciate their hard work and dedication. They made America proud.

THE ADMINISTRATION ROADBLOCKS ANTICRIME BILLS

(Mr. SCHUMER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. Speaker, every poll in America shows that the American people are fed up with the gridlock between the President and Congress, but the President just does not get it. There he went again yesterday on the crime issue. It was as if he had not been in Washington for the last few years.

There is a tough crime bill on the floor of the Senate, a bill that would go a long way to reducing the crime that Americans throughout America fear. The President ignores it.

On autojacking, the President again does not even pay attention to what is going on. We have a tough bill, a bill I wrote, that will hit the floor of the House this week. The bill is supported by all law enforcement, it is supported by the AAA, the Automobile Club of America, and by just about every group that has looked at it, consumer groups. It is opposed by the big three auto companies.

And where is the President on this issue? Nowhere. He goes to St. Louis and talks about a totally inane proposal that will not help us move the auto theft bill, a bill that the gentleman from Wisconsin, Mr. JIM SENSENBRENNER, and I are sponsoring.

Where is the President on my auto theft bill? He is behind the roadblock, that is where he is.

HEALTH FREEDOM ACT

(Mr. RICHARDSON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, recently I introduced the Health Freedom Act, a companion piece of legislation to that of Senator HATCH in the Senate.

This legislation simply states that there are alternative health care styles that involve dietary supplements, herbs, vitamins.

Unfortunately, the FDA and the drug companies want to corner the market on knowledge and what is positive health care for the American people. Many Americans practice alternative health care, using dietary supplements, herbs, and vitamins, and unfortunately the drug companies and the FDA have taken after many of these new emerging industries that are new, that are clean, that have been proven effective, and that right now simply want the ability and chance to compete.

Mr. Speaker, there is no stronger grassroots movement for alternative health care, preventive, positive, than the Health Freedom Act, and I urge all my colleagues to take a look at this piece of legislation as we look at health care in the 1990's and national health care legislation.

PERMISSION FOR EACH SUBCOMMITTEE OF COMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENT OPERATIONS TO SIT DURING 5-MINUTE RULE ON WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1992

Mr. THORNTON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that each subcommittee of the Committee on Government Operations be permitted to sit during proceedings under the 5-minute rule on Wednesday, September 30, 1992.

This request has been cleared with the minority.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MONTGOMERY). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Arkansas?

There was no objection.

PERMISSION FOR COMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENT OPERATIONS TO SIT DURING 5-MINUTE RULE ON THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1992

Mr. THORNTON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Government Operations be permitted to sit during proceedings under the 5-minute rule on Thursday, October 1, 1992.

This request has also been cleared with the minority.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Arkansas?

There was no objection.

CONFERENCE REPORT ON H.R. 3508, HEALTH PROFESSIONS EDUCATION EXTENSION AMENDMENTS OF 1992

Mr. RICHARDSON submitted the following conference report and statement on the bill (H.R. 3508) to amend the Public Health Service Act to revise and extend certain programs relating to the education of individuals as health professionals, and for other purposes:

CONFERENCE REPORT (H. REPT. 102–925)

The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the bill (H.R. 3508) to amend the Public Health Service Act to revise and extend certain programs relating to the education of individuals as health professionals, and for other purposes, having met, after full and free conference, have agreed to recommend and do recommend to their respective Houses as follows:

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate and agree to the same with an amendment as follows:

In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted by the Senate amendment, insert the following:

SEC. 102. REVISION OF TITLE VII OF PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE ACT.

Title VII of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 292a et seq.) is amended to read as follows:

"TITLE VII—HEALTH PROFESSIONS EDUCATION

"PART A—STUDENT LOANS

"Subpart I—Insured Health Education Assistance Loans to Graduate Students

"SEC. 701. STATEMENT OF PURPOSE.

"The purpose of this subpart is to enable the Secretary to provide a Federal program of student loan insurance for students in (and certain former students of) eligible institutions (as defined in section 719).

"SEC. 702. SCOPE AND DURATION OF LOAN INSURANCE PROGRAM.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The total principal amount of new loans made and installments paid pursuant to lines of credit (as defined in section 719) to borrowers covered by Federal loan insurance under this subpart shall not exceed $350,000,000 for fiscal year 1993, $375,000,000 for fiscal year 1994, and $425,000,000 for fiscal year 1995. If the total amount of new loans made and installments paid pursuant to lines of credit in any fiscal year is less than the ceiling established for such year, the difference between the loans made and installments paid and the ceiling shall be carried over to the next fiscal year and added to the ceiling applicable to that fiscal year, and if in any fiscal year no ceiling has been established, any difference carried over shall constitute the ceiling for making new loans (including loans to new borrowers) and paying installments for such fiscal year. Thereafter, Federal loan insurance pursuant to this subpart may be granted only for loans made (or for loan installments paid pursuant to lines of credit) to enable students, who have obtained prior loans insured under this subpart, to continue or complete their educational program or to obtain a loan under section 705(a)(1)(B) to pay interest on such prior loans; but no insurance may be granted for any loan made or installment paid after September 30, 1998. The total principal amount of Federal loan insurance available under this subsection shall be granted by the Secretary without regard to any apportionment for the purpose of chapter 15 of title 31, United States Code, and without regard to any similar limitation.

"(b) CERTAIN LIMITATIONS AND PRIORITIES.—

"(1) LIMITATIONS REGARDING LENDERS, STATES, OR AREAS.—The Secretary may, if necessary to assure an equitable distribution of the benefits of this subpart, assign, within the maximum amounts specified in subsection (a), Federal loan insurance quotas applicable to eligible lenders, or to States or areas, and may from time to time reassign unused portions of these quotas.

"(2) PRIORITY FOR CERTAIN LENDERS.—In providing certificates of insurance under section 706 through comprehensive contracts, the Secretary shall give priority to eligible lenders that agree—

"(A) to make loans to students at interest rates below the rates prevailing, during the period involved, for loans covered by Federal loan insurance pursuant to this subpart; or

"(B) to make such loans under terms that are otherwise favorable to the student relative to the terms under which eligible lenders are generally making such loans during such period.

"(c) AUTHORITY OF STUDENT LOAN MARKETING ASSOCIATION.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (2), the Student Loan Marketing Association, established under part B of title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965, is authorized to make advances on the security of, purchase, service, sell, consolidate, or otherwise deal in loans which are insured by the Secretary under this subpart, except that if any loan made under this subpart is included in a consolidated loan pursuant to the authority of the Association under part B of title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965, the interest rate on such consolidated loan shall be set at the weighted average interest rate of all such loans offered for consolidation and the resultant per centum shall be rounded downward to the nearest one-eighth of 1 per centum, except that the interest rate shall be no less than the applicable interest rate of the guaranteed student loan program established under part B of title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965. In the case of such a consolidated loan, the borrower shall be responsible for any interest which accrues prior to the beginning of the repayment period of the loan, or which accrues during a period in which principal need not be paid (whether or not such principal is in fact paid) by reason of any provision of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

"(2) APPLICABILITY OF CERTAIN FEDERAL REGULATIONS.—With respect to Federal regulations for lenders, this subpart may not be construed to preclude the applicability of such regulations to the Student Loan Marketing Association or to any other entity in the business of purchasing student loans, including such regulations with respect to applications, contracts, and due diligence.

"SEC. 703. LIMITATIONS ON INDIVIDUAL INSURED LOANS AND ON LOAN INSURANCE.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The total of the loans made to a student in any academic year or its equivalent (as determined by the Secretary) which may be covered by Federal loan insurance under this subpart may not exceed $20,000 in the case of a student enrolled in a school of medicine, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, optometry, or podiatric medicine, and $12,500 in the case of a student enrolled in a school of pharmacy, public health, allied health, or chiropractic, or a graduate program in health administration or clinical psychology. The aggregate insured unpaid principal amount for all such insured loans made to any borrower shall not at any time exceed $80,000 in the case of a borrower who is or was a student enrolled in a school of medicine, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, optometry, or podiatric medicine, and $50,000 in the case of a borrower who is or was a student enrolled in a school of pharmacy, public health, allied health, or chiropractic, or a graduate program in health administration or clinical psychology. The annual insurable limit per student shall not be exceeded by a line of credit under which actual payments by the lender to the borrower will not be made in any year in excess of the annual limit.

"(b) EXTENT OF INSURANCE LIABILITY.—The insurance liability on any loan insured by the Secretary under this subpart shall be 100 percent of the unpaid balance of the principal amount of the loan plus interest. The full faith and credit of the United States is pledged to the payment of all amounts which may be required to be paid under the provisions of section 707 or 714.

"SEC. 704. SOURCES OF FUNDS.

"Loans made by eligible lenders in accordance with this subpart shall be insurable by the Secretary whether made from funds fully owned by the lender or from funds held by the lender in a trust or similar capacity and available for such loans.

"SEC. 705. ELIGIBILITY OF BORROWERS AND TERMS OF INSURED LOANS.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—A loan by an eligible lender shall be insurable by the Secretary under the provisions of this subpart only if—

"(1) made to—

"(A) a student who—

"(i)(I) has been accepted for enrollment at an eligible institution, or (II) in the case of a student attending an eligible institution, is in good standing at that institution, as determined by the institution;

"(ii) is or will be a full-time student at the eligible institution;

"(iii) has agreed that all funds received under such loan shall be used solely for tuition, other reasonable educational expenses, including fees, books, and laboratory expenses, and reasonable living expenses, incurred by such students;

"(iv) if required under section 3 of the Military Selective Service Act to present himself for and submit to registration under such section, has presented himself and submitted to registration under such section; and

"(v) in the case of a pharmacy student, has satisfactorily completed three years of training; or

"(B) an individual who—

"(i) has previously had a loan insured under this subpart when the individual was a full-time student at an eligible institution;

"(ii) is in a period during which, pursuant to paragraph (2), the principal amount of such previous loan need not be paid;

"(iii) has agreed that all funds received under the proposed loan shall be used solely for repayment of interest due on previous loans made under this subpart; and

"(iv) if required under section 3 of the Military Selective Service Act to present himself for and submit to registration under such section, has presented himself and submitted to registration under such section;

"(2) evidenced by a note or other written agreement which—

"(A) is made without security and without endorsement, except that if the borrower is a minor and such note or other written agreement executed by him would not, under the applicable law, create a binding obligation, an endorsement may be required;

"(B) provides for repayment of the principal amount of the loan in installments over a period of not less than 10 years (unless sooner repaid) nor more than 25 years beginning not earlier than 9 months nor later than 12 months after the date of—

"(i) the date on which—

"(I) the borrower ceases to be a participant in an accredited internship or residency program of not more than four years in duration;

"(II) the borrower completes the fourth year of an accredited internship or residency program of more than four years in duration; or

"(III) the borrower, if not a participant in a program described in subclause (I) or (II), ceases to carry, at an eligible institution, the normal full-time academic workload as determined by the institution; or

"(ii) the date on which a borrower who is a graduate of an eligible institution ceases to be a participant in a fellowship training program not in excess of two years or a participant in a full-time educational activity not in excess of two years, which—

"(I) is directly related to the health profession for which the borrower prepared at an eligible institution, as determined by the Secretary; and

"(II) may be engaged in by the borrower during such a two-year period which begins within twelve months after the completion of the borrower's participation in a program described in subclause (I) or (II) of clause (i) or prior to the completion of the borrower's participation in such program, except as provided in subparagraph (C), except that the period of the loan may not exceed 33 years from the date of execution of the note or written agreement evidencing it, and except that the note or other written instrument may contain such provisions relating to repayment in the event of default in the payment of interest or in the payment of the costs of insurance premiums, or other default by the borrower, as may be authorized by regulations of the Secretary in effect at the time the loan is made;

"(C) provides that periodic installments of principal and interest need not be paid, but interest shall accrue, during any period (i) during which the borrower is pursuing a full-time course of study at an eligible institution (or at an institution defined by section 481(a) of the Higher Education Act of 1965); (ii) not in excess of four years during which the borrower is a participant in an accredited internship or residency program, (including any period in such a program described in subclause (I) or subclause (II) of subparagraph (B)(i)); (iii) not in excess of three years, during which the borrower is a member of the Armed Forces of the United States; (iv) not in excess of three years during which the borrower is in service as a volunteer under the Peace Corps Act; (v) not in excess of three years during which the borrower is a member of the National Health Service Corps; (vi) not in excess of three years during which the borrower is in service as a full-time volunteer under title I of the Domestic Volunteer Service Act of 1973; (vii) not in excess of 3 years, for a borrower who has completed an accredited internship or residency training program in osteopathic general practice, family medicine, general internal medicine, preventive medicine, or general pediatrics and who is practicing primary care; (viii) not in excess of 1 year, for borrowers who are graduates of schools of chiropractic; (ix) any period not in excess of two years which is described in subparagraph (B)(ii); and (x) in addition to all other deferments for which the borrower is eligible under clauses (i) through (ix), any period during which the borrower is a member of the Armed Forces on active duty during the Persian Gulf conflict, and any period described in clauses (i) through (x) shall not be included in determining the 25-year period described in subparagraph (B);

"(D) provides for interest on the unpaid principal balance of the loan at a yearly rate, not exceeding the applicable maximum rate prescribed and defined by the Secretary (within the limits set forth in subsection (b)) on a national, regional, or other appropriate basis, which interest shall be compounded not more frequently than annually and payable in installments over the period of the loan except as provided in subparagraph (C), except that the note or other written agreement may provide that payment of any interest may be deferred until not later than the date upon which repayment of the first installment of principal falls due or the date repayment of principal is required to resume (whichever is applicable) and may further provide that, on such date, the amount of the interest which has so accrued may be added to the principal for the purposes of calculating a repayment schedule;

"(E) offers, in accordance with criteria prescribed by regulation by the Secretary, a schedule for repayment of principal and interest under which payment of a portion of the principal and interest otherwise payable at the beginning of the repayment period (as defined in such regulations) is deferred until a later time in the period;

"(F) entitles the borrower to accelerate without penalty repayment of the whole or any part of the loan;

"(G) provides that the check for the proceeds of the loan shall be made payable jointly to the borrower and the eligible institution in which the borrower is enrolled;

"(H) notwithstanding the provisions of the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act, authorizes an institution or postgraduate training program attended by the borrower to assist in the collection of any loan that becomes delinquent, including providing information concerning the borrower to the Secretary and to past and present lenders and holders of the borrower's loans; and

"(I) contains such other terms and conditions consistent with the provisions of this subpart and with the regulations issued by the Secretary pursuant to this subpart, as may be agreed upon by the parties to such loan, including, if agreed upon, a provision requiring the borrower to pay to the lender, in addition to principal and interest, amounts equal to the insurance premiums payable by the lender to the Secretary with respect to such loan; and

"(3) subject to the consent of the student and subject to applicable law, the eligible lender has obtained from the student appropriate demographic information regarding the student, including racial or ethnic background.

"(b) LIMITATION ON RATE OF INTEREST.—The rate of interest prescribed and defined by the Secretary for the purpose of subsection (a)(2)(D) may not exceed the average of the bond equivalent rates of the 91-day Treasury bills auctioned for the previous quarter plus 3 percentage points, rounded to the next higher one-eighth of 1 percent.

"(c) MINIMUM ANNUAL PAYMENT BY BORROWER.—The total of the payments by a borrower during any year or any repayment period with respect to the aggregate amount of all loans to that borrower which are insured under this subpart shall not be less than the annual interest on the outstanding principal, except as provided in subsection (a)(2)(C), unless the borrower, in the written agreement described in subsection (a)(2), agrees to make payments during any year or any repayment period in a lesser amount.

"(d) APPLICABILITY OF CERTAIN LAWS ON RATE OR AMOUNT OF INTEREST.—No provision of any law of the United States (other than subsections (a)(2)(D) and (b)) or of any State that limits the rate or amount of interest payable on loans shall apply to a loan insured under this subpart.

"(e) DETERMINATION REGARDING FORBEARANCE.—Any period of time granted to a borrower under this subpart in the form of forbearance on the loan shall not be included in the 25-year total loan repayment period under subsection (a)(2)(C).

"(f) LOAN REPAYMENT SCHEDULE.—Lenders and holders under this subpart shall offer borrowers graduated loan repayment schedules that, during the first 5 years of loan repayment, are based on the borrower's debt-to-income ratio.

"(g) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION REGARDING DETERMINATION OF NEED OF STUDENTS.—With respect to any determination of the financial need of a student for a loan covered by Federal loan insurance under this subpart, this subpart may not be construed to limit the authority of any school to make such allowances for students with special circumstances as the school determines appropriate.

"(h) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section:

"(1) The term 'active duty' has the meaning given such term in section 101(18) of title 37, United States Code, except that such term does not include active duty for training.

"(2) The term 'Persian Gulf conflict' means the period beginning on August 2, 1990, and ending on the date thereafter prescribed by Presidential proclamation or by law.

"SEC. 706. CERTIFICATE OF LOAN INSURANCE; EFFECTIVE DATE OF INSURANCE.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—

"(1) AUTHORITY FOR ISSUANCE OF CERTIFICATE.—If, upon application by an eligible lender, made upon such form, containing such information, and supported by such evidence as the Secretary may require, and otherwise in conformity with this section, the Secretary finds that the applicant has made a loan to an eligible borrower which is insurable under the provisions of this subpart, he may issue to the applicant a certificate of insurance covering the loan and setting forth the amount and terms of the insurance.

"(2) EFFECTIVE DATE OF INSURANCE.—Insurance evidenced by a certificate of insurance pursuant to subsection (a)(1) shall become effective upon the date of issuance of the certificate, except that the Secretary is authorized, in accordance with regulations, to issue commitments with respect to proposed loans, or with respect to lines (or proposed lines) of credit, submitted by eligible lenders, and in that event, upon compliance with subsection (a)(1) by the lender, the certificate of insurance may be issued effective as of the date when any loan, or any payment by the lender pursuant to a line of credit, to be covered by such insurance is made to a student described in section 705(a)(1). Such insurance shall cease to be effective upon 60 days' default by the lender in the payment of any installment of the premiums payable pursuant to section 708.

"(3) CERTAIN AGREEMENTS FOR LENDERS.—An application submitted pursuant to subsection (a)(1) shall contain—

"(A) an agreement by the applicant to pay, in accordance with regulations, the premiums fixed by the Secretary pursuant to section 708; and

"(B) an agreement by the applicant that if the loan is covered by insurance the applicant will submit such supplementary reports and statements during the effective period of the loan agreement, upon such forms, at such times, and containing such information as the Secretary may prescribe by or pursuant to regulation.

"(b) AUTHORITY REGARDING COMPREHENSIVE INSURANCE COVERAGE.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—In lieu of requiring a separate insurance application and issuing a separate certificate of insurance for each loan made by an eligible lender as provided in subsection (a), the Secretary may, in accordance with regulations consistent with section 702, issue to any eligible lender applying therefor a certificate of comprehensive insurance coverage which shall, without further action by the Secretary, insure all insurable loans made by that lender, on or after the date of the certificate and before a specified cutoff date, within the limits of an aggregate maximum amount stated in the certificate. Such regulations may provide for conditioning such insurance, with respect to any loan, upon compliance by the lender with such requirements (to be stated or incorporated by reference in the certificate) as in the Secretary's judgment will best achieve the purpose of this subsection while protecting the financial interest of the United States and promoting the objectives of this subpart, including (but not limited to) provisions as to the reporting of such loans and information relevant thereto to the Secretary and as to the payment of initial and other premiums and the effect of default therein, and including provision for confirmation by the Secretary from time to time (through endorsement of the certificate) of the coverage of specific new loans by such certificate, which confirmation shall be incontestable by the Secretary in the absence of fraud or misrepresentation of fact or patent error.

"(2) LINES OF CREDIT BEYOND CUTOFF DATE.—If the holder of a certificate of comprehensive insurance coverage issued under this subsection grants to a borrower a line of credit extending beyond the cutoff date specified in that certificate, loans or payments thereon made by the holder after that date pursuant to the line of credit shall not be deemed to be included in the coverage of that certificate except as may be specifically provided therein; but, subject to the limitations of section 702, the Secretary may, in accordance with regulations, make commitments to insure such future loans or payments, and such commitments may be honored either as provided in subsection (a) or by inclusion of such insurance in comprehensive coverage under this subsection for the period or periods in which such future loans or payments are made.

"(c) ASSIGNMENT OF INSURANCE RIGHTS.—The rights of an eligible lender arising under insurance evidenced by a certificate of insurance issued to it under this section may be assigned by such lender, subject to regulation by the Secretary, only to—

"(1) another eligible lender (including a public entity in the business of purchasing student loans); or

"(2) the Student Loan Marketing Association.

"(d) EFFECT OF CONSOLIDATION OF OBLIGATIONS.—The consolidation of the obligations of two or more federally insured loans obtained by a borrower in any fiscal year into a single obligation evidenced by a single instrument of indebtedness shall not affect the insurance by the United States. If the loans thus consolidated are covered by separate certificates of insurance issued under subsection (a), the Secretary may upon surrender of the original certificates issue a new certificate of insurance in accordance with that subsection upon the consolidated obligation. If the loans thus consolidated are covered by a single comprehensive certificate issued under subsection (b), the Secretary may amend that certificate accordingly.

"(e) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION REGARDING CONSOLIDATION OF DEBTS.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to preclude the lender and the borrower, by mutual agreement, from consolidating all of the borrower's debts into a single instrument under the terms applicable to an insured loan made at the same time as the consolidation. The lender or loan holder should provide full information to the borrower concerning the advantages and disadvantages of loan consolidation. Nothing in this section shall be construed to preclude the consolidation of the borrower's loans insured under this subpart under section 428C of the Higher Education Act of 1965. Any loans insured pursuant to this subpart that are consolidated under section 428C of such Act shall not be eligible for special allowance payments under section 438 of such Act.

"SEC. 707. DEFAULT OF BORROWER.

"(a) CONDITIONS FOR PAYMENT TO BENEFICIARY.—Upon default by the borrower on any loan covered by Federal loan insurance pursuant to this subpart, and after a substantial collection effort (including, subject to subsection (h), commencement and prosecution of an action) as determined under regulations of the Secretary, the insurance beneficiary shall promptly notify the Secretary and the Secretary shall, if requested (at that time or after further collection efforts) by the beneficiary, or may on his own motion, if the insurance is still in effect, pay to the beneficiary the amount of the loss sustained by the insured upon that loan as soon as that amount has been determined. Not later than one year after the date of the enactment of the Health Professions Education Extension Amendments of 1992, the Secretary shall establish performance standards for lenders and holders of loans under this subpart, including fees to be imposed for failing to meet such standards.

"(b) SUBROGATION.—Upon payment by the Secretary of the amount of the loss pursuant to subsection (a), the United States shall be subrogated for all of the rights of the holder of the obligation upon the insured loan and shall be entitled to an assignment of the note or other evidence of the insured loan by the insurance beneficiary. If the net recovery made by the Secretary on a loan after deduction of the cost of that recovery (including reasonable administrative costs) exceeds the amount of the loss, the excess shall be paid over to the insured. The Secretary may sell without recourse to eligible lenders (or other entities that the Secretary determines are capable of dealing in such loans) notes or other evidence of loans received through assignment under the first sentence.

"(c) FORBEARANCE.—Nothing in this section or in this subpart shall be construed to preclude any forbearance for the benefit of the borrower which may be agreed upon by the parties to the insured loan and approved by the Secretary or to preclude forbearance by the Secretary in the enforcement of the insured obligation after payment on that insurance.

"(d) REASONABLE CARE AND DILIGENCE REGARDING LOANS.—Nothing in this section or in this subpart shall be construed to excuse the eligible lender or holder of a federally insured loan from exercising reasonable care and diligence in the making of loans under the provisions of this subpart and from exercising a substantial effort in the collection of loans under the provisions of this subpart. If the Secretary, after reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing to an eligible lender, finds that the lender has failed to exercise such care and diligence, to exercise such substantial efforts, to make the reports and statements required under section 706(a)(3), or to pay the required Federal loan insurance premiums, he shall disqualify that lender from obtaining further Federal insurance on loans granted pursuant to this subpart until he is satisfied that its failure has ceased and finds that there is reasonable assurance that the lender will in the future exercise necessary care and diligence, exercise substantial effort, or comply with such requirements, as the case may be.

"(e) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section:

"(1) The term 'insurance beneficiary' means the insured or its authorized assignee in accordance with section 706(c).

"(2) The term 'amount of the loss' means, with respect to a loan, unpaid balance of the principal amount and interest on such loan, less the amount of any judgment collected pursuant to default proceedings commenced by the eligible lender or holder involved.

"(3) The term 'default' includes only such defaults as have existed for 120 days.

"(f) REDUCTIONS IN FEDERAL REIMBURSEMENTS OR PAYMENTS FOR DEFAULTING BORROWERS.—The Secretary shall, after notice and opportunity for a hearing, cause to be reduced Federal reimbursements or payments for health services under any Federal law to borrowers who are practicing their professions and have defaulted on their loans insured under this subpart in amounts up to the remaining balance of such loans. Procedures for reduction of payments under the medicare program are provided under section 1892 of the Social Security Act. Notwithstanding such section 1892, any funds recovered under this subsection shall be deposited in the insurance fund established under section 710.

"(g) CONDITIONS FOR DISCHARGE OF DEBT IN BANKRUPTCY.—A debt which is a loan insured under the authority of this subpart may be released by a discharge in bankruptcy under any chapter of title 11, United States Code, only if such discharge is granted—

"(1) after the expiration of the five-year period beginning on the first date, as specified in subparagraphs (B) and (C) of section 705(a)(2), when repayment of such loan is required;

"(2) upon a finding by the Bankruptcy Court that the nondischarge of such debt would be unconscionable; and

"(3) upon the condition that the Secretary shall not have waived the Secretary's rights to apply subsection (f) to the borrower and the discharged debt.

"(h) REQUIREMENT REGARDING ACTIONS FOR DEFAULT.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—With respect to the default by a borrower on any loan covered by Federal loan insurance under this subpart, the Secretary shall, under subsection (a), require an eligible lender or holder to commence and prosecute an action for such default unless—

"(A) in the determination of the Secretary—

"(i) the eligible lender or holder has made reasonable efforts to serve process on the borrower involved and has been unsuccessful with respect to such efforts, or

"(ii) prosecution of such an action would be fruitless because of the financial or other circumstances of the borrower;

"(B) for such loans made before the date of the enactment of the Health Professions Reauthorization Act of 1988, the loan involved was made in an amount of less than $5,000; or

"(C) for such loans made after such date, the loan involved was made in an amount of less than $2,500.

"(2) RELATIONSHIP TO CLAIM FOR PAYMENT.—With respect to an eligible lender or holder that has commenced an action pursuant to subsection (a), the Secretary shall make the payment required in such subsection, or deny the claim for such payment, not later than 60 days after the date on which the Secretary determines that the lender or holder has made reasonable efforts to secure a judgment and collect on the judgment entered into pursuant to this subsection.

"(3) STATE COURT JUDGMENTS.—With respect to any State court judgment that is obtained by a lender or holder against a borrower for default on a loan insured under this subpart and that is subrogated to the United States under subsection (b), any United States attorney may register such judgment with the Federal courts for enforcement.

"(i) INAPPLICABILITY OF FEDERAL AND STATE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS ON ACTIONS FOR LOAN COLLECTION.—Notwithstanding any other provision of Federal or State law, there shall be no limitation on the period within which suit may be filed, a judgment may be enforced, or an offset, garnishment, or other action may be initiated or taken by the Secretary, the Attorney General, or other administrative head of another Federal agency, as the case may be, for the repayment of the amount due from a borrower on a loan made under this subpart that has been assigned to the Secretary under subsection (b).

"SEC. 708. RISK-BASED PREMIUMS.

"(a) AUTHORITY.—With respect to a loan made under this subpart on or after January 1, 1993, the Secretary, in accordance with subsection (b), shall assess a risk-based premium on an eligible borrower and, if required under this section, an eligible institution that is based on the default rate of the eligible institution involved (as defined in section 719).

"(b) ASSESSMENT OF PREMIUM.—Except as provided in subsection (d)(2), the risk-based premium to be assessed under subsection (a) shall be as follows:

"(1) LOW-RISK RATE.—With respect to an eligible borrower seeking to obtain a loan for attendance at an eligible institution that has a default rate of not to exceed five percent, such borrower shall be assessed a risk-based premium in an amount equal to 6 percent of the principal amount of the loan.

"(2) MEDIUM-RISK RATE.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—With respect to an eligible borrower seeking to obtain a loan for attendance at an eligible institution that has a default rate of in excess of five percent but not to exceed 10 percent—

"(i) such borrower shall be assessed a risk-based premium in an amount equal to 8 percent of the principal amount of the loan; and

"(ii) such institution shall be assessed a risk-based premium in an amount equal to 5 percent of the principal amount of the loan.

"(B) DEFAULT MANAGEMENT PLAN.—An institution of the type described in subparagraph (A) shall prepare and submit to the Secretary for approval, an annual default management plan, that shall specify the detailed short-term and long-term procedures that such institution will have in place to minimize defaults on loans to borrowers under this subpart. Under such plan the institution shall, among other measures, provide an exit interview to all borrowers that includes information concerning repayment schedules, loan deferments, forbearance, and the consequences of default.

"(3) HIGH-RISK RATE.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—With respect to an eligible borrower seeking to obtain a loan for attendance at an eligible institution that has a default rate of in excess of 10 percent but not to exceed 20 percent—

"(i) such borrower shall be assessed a risk-based premium in an amount equal to 8 percent of the principal amount of the loan; and

"(ii) such institution shall be assessed a risk-based premium in an amount equal to 10 percent of the principal amount of the loan.

"(B) DEFAULT MANAGEMENT PLAN.—An institution of the type described in subparagraph (A) shall prepare and submit to the Secretary for approval a plan that meets the requirements of paragraph (2)(B).

"(4) INELIGIBILITY.—An individual shall not be eligible to obtain a loan under this subpart for attendance at an institution that has a default rate in excess of 20 percent.

"(c) REDUCTION OF RISK-BASED PREMIUM.—Lenders shall reduce by 50 percent the risk-based premium to eligible borrowers if a credit worthy parent or other responsible party co-signs the loan note.

"(d) ADMINISTRATIVE WAIVERS.—

"(1) HEARING.—The Secretary shall afford an institution not less than one hearing, and may consider mitigating circumstances, prior to making such institution ineligible for participation in the program under this subpart.

"(2) EXCEPTIONS.—In carrying out this section with respect to an institution, the Secretary may grant an institution a waiver of requirements of paragraphs (2) through (4) of subsection (b) if the Secretary determines that the default rate for such institution is not an accurate indicator because the volume of the loans under this subpart made by such institution has been insufficient.

"(3) TRANSITION FOR CERTAIN INSTITUTIONS.—During the 3-year period beginning on the effective date of the Health Professions Education Extension Amendments of 1992—

"(A) subsection (b)(4) shall not apply with respect to any eligible institution that is a Historically Black College or University; and

"(B) any such institution that has a default rate in excess of 20 percent, and any eligible borrower seeking a loan for attendance at the institution, shall be subject to subsection (b)(3) to the same extent and in the same manner as eligible institutions and borrowers described in such subsection.

"(e) PAYOFF TO REDUCE RISK CATEGORY.—An institution may pay off the outstanding principal and interest owed by the borrowers of such institution who have defaulted on loans made under this subpart in order to reduce the risk category of the institution.

"SEC. 709. OFFICE FOR HEALTH EDUCATION ASSISTANCE LOAN DEFAULT REDUCTION.

"(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Secretary shall establish, within the Division of Student Assistance of the Bureau of Health Professions, an office to be known as the Office for Health Education Assistance Loan Default Reduction (in this section referred to as the 'Office').

"(b) PURPOSE AND FUNCTIONS.—It shall be the purpose of the Office to achieve a reduction in the number and amounts of defaults on loans guaranteed under this subpart. In carrying out such purpose the Office shall—

“(1) conduct analytical and evaluative studies concerning loans and loan defaults;

“(2) carry out activities designed to reduce loan defaults;

“(3) respond to special circumstances that may exist in the financial lending environment that may lead to loan defaults;

“(4) coordinate with other Federal entities that are involved with student loan programs, including—

“(A) with respect to the Department of Education, in the development of a single student loan application form, a single student loan deferment form, a single disability form, and a central student loan database; and

“(B) with respect to the Department of Justice, in the recovery of payments from health professionals who have defaulted on loans guaranteed under this subpart;

“(5) provide technical assistance to borrowers, lenders, holders, and institutions concerning deferments and collection activities; and

“(6) prepare and submit a report not later than March 31, 1993, and annually, thereafter, to the Committee on Labor and Human Resources of the Senate and the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives concerning—

“(A) the default rates for each—

“(i) institution described in section 719(1) that is participating in the loan programs under this subpart;

“(ii) lender participating in the loan program under this subpart; and “(iii) loan holder under this subpart;

“(B) the total amounts recovered pursuant to section 707(b) during the preceding fiscal year; and

“(C) a plan for improving the extent of such recoveries during the current fiscal year.

“(c) Additional Duties.—In conjunction with the report submitted under subsection (b), the Office shall—

“(1) compile, and publish in the Federal Register, a list of the borrowers who are in default under this subpart; and

“(2) send the report and notices of default with respect to these borrowers to relevant Federal agencies and to schools, school associations, professional and specialty associations, State licensing boards, hospitals with which such borrowers may be associated, and any other relevant organizations.

“(d) Allocation of Funds for Office.—In the case of amounts reserved under section 710(a)(2)(B) for obligation under this subsection, the Secretary may obligate the amounts for the purpose of administering the Office, including 7 full-time equivalent employment positions for such Office. With respect to such purpose, amounts made available under the preceding sentence are in addition to amounts made available to the Health Resources and Services Administration for program management for the fiscal year involved. With respect to such employment positions, the positions are in addition to the number of full-time equivalent employment positions that otherwise is authorized for the Department of Health and Human Services for the fiscal year involved.

“SEC. 710. INSURANCE ACCOUNT.

“(a) In General.—

“(1) Establishment.—There is hereby established a student loan insurance account (in this section referred to as the ‘Account’) which shall be available without fiscal year limitation to the Secretary for making payments in connection with the collection and default of loans insured under this subpart by the Secretary.

“(2) Funding.—

“(A) Except as provided in subparagraph (B), all amounts received by the Secretary as premium charges for insurance and as receipts, earnings, or proceeds derived from any claim or other assets acquired by the Secretary in connection with his operations under this subpart, and any other moneys, property, or assets derived by the Secretary from the operations of the Secretary in connection with this section, shall be deposited in the Account.

“(B) With respect to amounts described in subparagraph (A) that are received by the Secretary for any of the fiscal years 1993 through 1996, the Secretary may, before depositing such amounts in the Account, reserve from the amounts each such fiscal year not more than $1,000,000 for obligation under section 709(d).

“(3) Expenditures.—All payments in connection with the default of loans insured by the Secretary under this subpart shall be paid from the Account.

“(b) Contingent Authority for Issuance of Notes or Other Obligations.—If at any time the moneys in the Account are insufficient to make payments in connection with the collection or default of any loan insured by the Secretary under this subpart, the Secretary of the Treasury may lend the Account such amounts as may be necessary to make the payments involved, subject to the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990.

“SEC. 711. POWERS AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF SECRETARY.

“(a) In General.—In the performance of, and with respect to, the functions, powers, and duties vested in the Secretary by this subpart, the Secretary is authorized as follows:

“(1) To prescribe such regulations as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this subpart.

“(2) To sue and be sued in any district court of the United States. Such district courts shall have jurisdiction of civil actions arising under this subpart without regard to the amount in controversy, and any action instituted under this subsection by or against the Secretary shall survive notwithstanding any change in the person occupying the office of Secretary or any vacancy in that office. No attachment, injunction, garnishment, or other similar process, mesne or final, shall be issued against the Secretary or property under the control of the Secretary. Nothing herein shall be constructed to except litigation arising out of activities under this subpart from the application of sections 517 and 547 of title 28 of the United States Code.

“(3) To include in any contract for Federal loan insurance such terms, conditions, and covenants relating to repayment of principal and payments of interest, relating to his obligations and rights and to those of eligible lenders, and borrowers in case of default, and relating to such other matters as the Secretary determines to be necessary to assure that the purposes of this subpart will be achieved. Any term, condition, and covenant made pursuant to this paragraph or any other provisions of this subpart may be modified by the Secretary if the Secretary determines that modification is necessary to protect the financial interest of the United States.

“(4) Subject to the specific limitations in the subpart, to consent to the modification of any note or other instrument evidencing a loan which has been insured by him under this subpart (including modifications with respect to the rate of interest, time of payment of any installment of principal and interest or any portion thereof, or any other provision).

“(5) To enforce, pay, compromise, waive, or release any right, title, claim, lien, or demand, however acquired, including any equity or any right or redemption.

“(b) Annual Budget; Accounts.—The Secretary shall, with respect to the financial operations arising by reason of this subpart—

“(1) prepare annually and submit a budget program as provided for wholly owned Government corporations by the Government Corporation Control Act; and

“(2) maintain with respect to insurance under this subpart an integral set of accounts.

“SEC. 712. PARTICIPATION BY FEDERAL CREDIT UNIONS IN FEDERAL, STATE, AND PRIVATE STUDENT LOAN INSURANCE PROGRAMS.

“Notwithstanding any other provision of law, Federal credit unions shall, pursuant to regulations of the Administrator of the National Credit Union Administration, have power to make insured loans to eligible students in accordance with the provisions of this subpart relating to Federal insured loans.

“SEC. 713. DETERMINATION OF ELIGIBLE STUDENTS.

“For purposes of determining eligible students under this part, in the case of a public school in a State that offers an accelerated, integrated program of study combining undergraduate premedical education and medical education leading to advanced entry, by contractual agreement, into an accredited four-year school of medicine which provides the remaining training leading to a degree of doctor of medicine, whenever in this part a provision refers to a student at a school of medicine, such reference shall include only a student enrolled in any of the last four years of such accelerated, integrated program of study.

“If a borrower who has received a loan dies or becomes permanently and totally disabled (as determined in accordance with regulations of the Secretary), the Secretary shall discharge the borrower's liability on the loan by repaying the amount owed on the loan from the account established under section 710.

“SEC. 715. ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR INSTITUTIONS AND LENDERS.

“(a) In General.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this subpart, the Secretary is authorized to prescribe such regulations as may be necessary to provide for—

“(1) a fiscal audit of an eligible institution with regard to any funds obtained from a borrower who has received a loan insured under this subpart;

“(2) the establishment of reasonable standards of financial responsibility and appropriate institutional capability for the administration by an eligible institution of a program of student financial aid with respect to funds obtained from a student who has received a loan insured under this subpart;

“(3) the limitation, suspension, or termination of the eligibility under this subpart of any otherwise eligible institution, whenever the Secretary has determined, after notice and affording an opportunity for hearing, that such institution has violated or failed to carry out any regulation prescribed under this subpart;

“(4) the collection of information from the borrower, lender, or eligible institution to assure compliance with the provisions of section 705;

“(5) the assessing of tuition or fees to borrowers in amounts that are the same or less than the amount of tuition and fees assessed to nonborrowers;

“(6) the submission, by the institution or the lender to the Office of Health Education Assistance Loan Default Reduction, of information concerning each loan made under this subpart, including the date when each such loan was originated, the date when each such loan is sold, the identity of the loan holder and information concerning a change in the borrower's status;

“(7) the withholding of services, including academic transcripts, financial aid transcripts, and alumni services, by an institution from a borrower upon the default of such borrower of a loan under this subpart, except in case of a borrower who has filed for bankruptcy; and “(8) the offering, by the lender to the borrower, of a variety of repayment options, including fixed-rate, graduated repayment with negative amortization permitted, and income dependent payments for a limited period followed by level monthly payments.

“(b) RECORDING BY INSTITUTION OF INFORMATION ON STUDENTS.—The Secretary shall require an eligible institution to record, and make available to the lender and to the Secretary upon request, the name, address, postgraduate destination, and other reasonable identifying information for each student of such institution who has a loan insured under this subpart.

“(c) WORKSHOP FOR STUDENT BORROWERS.—Each participating eligible institution must have, at the beginning of each academic year, a workshop concerning the provisions of this subpart that all student borrowers shall be required to attend.

“SEC. 719. DEFINITIONS.

“For purposes of this subpart:

“(1) The term ‘eligible institution’ means, with respect to a fiscal year, a school of medicine, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, optometry, podiatric medicine, pharmacy, public health, allied health, or chiropractic, or a graduate program in health administration or clinical psychology.

“(2) The term ‘eligible lender’ means an eligible institution that became a lender under this subpart prior to September 15, 1992, an agency or instrumentality of a State, a financial or credit institution (including an insurance company) which is subject to examination and supervision by an agency of the United States or of any State, a pension fund approved by the Secretary for this purpose, or a nonprofit private entity designated by the State, regulated by the State, and approved by the Secretary.

“(3) The term ‘line of credit’ means an arrangement or agreement between the lender and the borrower whereby a loan is paid out by the lender to the borrower in annual installments, or whereby the lender agrees to make, in addition to the initial loan, additional loans in subsequent years.

“(4) The term ‘school of allied health’ means a program in a school of allied health (as defined in section 799) which leads to a masters' degree or a doctoral degree.

“(5)(A) The term ‘default rate’, in the case of an eligible entity, means the percentage constituted by the ratio of—

“(i) the principal amount of loans insured under this subpart—

“(I) that are made with respect to the entity and that enter repayment status after April 7, 1987; and

“(II) for which amounts have been paid under section 707(a) to insurance beneficiaries, exclusive of any loan for which amounts have been so paid as a result of the death or total and permanent disability of the borrower; exclusive of any loan for which the borrower begins payments to the Secretary on the loan pursuant to section 707(b) and maintains payments for 12 consecutive months in accordance with the agreement involved (with the loan subsequently being included or excluded, as the case may be, as amounts paid under section 707(a) according to whether further defaults occur and whether with respect to the default involved compliance with such requirement regarding 12 consecutive months occurs); and exclusive of any loan on which payments may not be recovered by reason of the obligation under the loan being discharged in bankruptcy under title 11, United States Code; to

“(ii) the total principal amount of loans insured under this subpart that are made with respect to the entity and that enter repayment status after April 7, 1987.

“(B) For purposes of subparagraph (A), a loan insured under this subpart shall be considered to have entered repayment status if the applicable period described in subparagraph (B) of section 705(a)(2) regarding the loan has expired (without regard to whether any period described in subparagraph (C) of such section is applicable regarding the loan).

“(C) For purposes of subparagraph (A), the term ‘eligible entity’ means an eligible institution, an eligible lender, or a holder, as the case may be.

“(D) For purposes of subparagraph (A), a loan is made with respect to an eligible entity if—

“(i) in the case of an eligible institution, the loan was made to students of the institution; “(ii) in the case of an eligible lender, the loan was made by the lender; and “(iii) in the case of a holder, the loan was purchased by the holder.

“SEC. 720. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

“(a) IN GENERAL.—For fiscal year 1993 and subsequent fiscal years, there are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary for the adequacy of the student loan insurance account under this subpart and for the purpose of administering this subpart.

“(b) AVAILABILITY OF SUMS.—Sums appropriated under subsection (a) shall remain available until expended.

“Subpart II—Federally-Supported Student Loan Funds

“SEC. 721. AGREEMENTS FOR OPERATION OF SCHOOL LOAN FUNDS.

“(a) FUND AGREEMENTS.—The Secretary is authorized to enter into an agreement for the establishment and operation of a student loan fund in accordance with this subpart with any public or other nonprofit school of medicine, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, podiatric medicine, optometry, or veterinary medicine.

“(b) REQUIREMENTS.—Each agreement entered into under this section shall—

“(1) provide for establishment of a student loan fund by the school;

“(2) provide for deposit in the fund of—

“(A) the Federal capital contributions to the fund;

“(B) an amount equal to not less than one-ninth of such Federal capital contributions, contributed by such institution;

“(C) collections of principal and interest on loans made from the fund;

“(D) collections pursuant to section 722(j); and

“(E) any other earnings of the fund;

“(3) provide that the fund shall be used only for loans to students of the school in accordance with the agreement and for costs of collection of such loans and interest thereon;

“(4) provide that loans may be made from such funds only to students pursuing a full-time course of study at the school leading to a degree of doctor of medicine, doctor of dentistry or an equivalent degree, doctor of osteopathy, bachelor of science in pharmacy or an equivalent degree, doctor of pharmacy or an equivalent degree, doctor of podiatric medicine or an equivalent degree, doctor of optometry or an equivalent degree, or doctor of veterinary medicine or an equivalent degree;

“(5) provide that the school shall advise, in writing, each applicant for a loan from the student loan fund of the provisions of section 722 under which outstanding loans from the student loan fund may be paid (in whole or in part) by the Secretary; and

“(6) contain such other provisions as are necessary to protect the financial interests of the United States.

“(c) FAILURE OF SCHOOL TO COLLECT LOANS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—Any standard established by the Secretary by regulation for the collection by schools of medicine, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, podiatric medicine, optometry, or veterinary medicine of loans made pursuant to loan agreements under this subpart shall provide that the failure of any such school to collect such loans shall be measured in accordance with this subsection. This subsection may not be construed to require such schools to reimburse the student loan fund under this subpart for loans that became uncollectible prior to August 1985 or to penalize such schools with respect to such loans.

“(2) EXTENT OF FAILURE.—The measurement of a school's failure to collect loans made under this subpart shall be the ratio (stated as a percentage) that the defaulted principal amount outstanding of such school bears to the matured loans of such school.

“(3) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this subsection:

“(A) The term ‘default’ means the failure of a borrower of a loan made under this subpart to—

“(i) make an installment payment when due; or

“(ii) comply with any other term of the promissory note for such loan, except that a loan made under this subpart shall not be considered to be in default if the loan is discharged in bankruptcy or if the school reasonably concludes from written contracts with the borrower that the borrower intends to repay the loan.

“(B) The term ‘defaulted principal amount outstanding’ means the total amount borrowed from the loan fund of a school that has reached the repayment stage (minus any principal amount repaid or canceled) on loans—

“(i) repayable monthly and in default for at least 120 days; and “(ii) repayable less frequently than monthly and in default for at least 180 days;.

“(C) The term ‘grace period’ means the period of one year beginning on the date on which the borrower ceases to pursue a full-time course of study at a school of medicine, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, podiatric medicine, optometry, or veterinary medicine; and

“(D) The term ‘matured loans’ means the total principal amount of all loans made by a school under this subpart minus the total principal amount of loans made by such school to students who are—

“(i) enrolled in a full-time course of study at such school; or

“SEC. 722. LOAN PROVISIONS.

“(a) LIMITATION ON AMOUNT.—Loans from a student loan fund (established under an agreement with a school under section 721) may not exceed for any student for each school year (or its equivalent) the sum of—

“(1) the cost of tuition for such year at such school, and

“(b) TERMS AND CONDITIONS.—Subject to section 723, any such loans shall be made on such terms and conditions as the school may determine, but may is be made only to a student—

“(1) who is in need of the amount thereof to pursue a full-time course of study at the school leading to a degree of doctor of medicine, doctor of dentistry or an equivalent degree, doctor of osteopathy, bachelor of science in pharmacy or an equivalent degree, doctor of pharmacy or an equivalent degree, doctor of podiatric medicine or an equivalent degree, doctor of optometry or an equivalent degree, or doctor of veterinary medicine or an equivalent degree;

“(2) who, if pursuing a full-time course of study at the school leading to a degree of doctor of medicine or doctor of osteopathy, is of exceptional financial need (as defined by regulations of the Secretary); and

"(3) who, if required under section 3 of the Military Selective Service Act to present himself for and submit to registration under such section, has presented himself and submitted to registration under such section.

"(c) Repayment; Exclusions From Ten-Year Period.—Such loans shall be repayable in equal or graduated periodic installments (with the right of the borrower to accelerate repayment) over the ten-year period which begins one year after the student ceases to pursue a full-time course of study at a school of medicine, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, podiatry, optometry, or veterinary medicine, excluding from such ten-year period—

"(1) all periods—

"(A) not in excess of three years of active duty performed by the borrower as a member of a uniformed service;

"(B) not in excess of three years during which the borrower serves as a volunteer under the Peace Corps Act;

"(C) during which the borrower participates in advanced professional training, including internships and residencies; and

"(D) during which the borrower is pursuing a full-time course of study at such a school; and

"(2) a period—

"(A) not in excess of two years during which a borrower who is a full-time student in such a school leaves the school, with the intent to return to such school as a full-time student, in order to engage in a full-time educational activity which is directly related to the health profession for which the borrower is preparing, as determined by the Secretary; or

"(B) not in excess of two years during which a borrower who is a graduate of such a school is a participant in a fellowship training program or a full-time educational activity which—

"(i) is directly related to the health profession for which such borrower prepared at such school, as determined by the Secretary; and

"(ii) may be engaged in by the borrower during such a two-year period which begins within twelve months after the completion of the borrower's participation in advanced professional training described in paragraph (1)(C) or prior to the completion of such borrower's participation in such training.

"(d) Cancellation of Liability.—The liability to repay the unpaid balance of such a loan and accrued interest thereon shall be canceled upon the death of the borrower, or if the Secretary determines that he has become permanently, and totally disabled.

"(e) Rate of Interest.—Such loans shall bear interest, on the unpaid balance of the loan, computed only for periods for which the loan is repayable, at the rate of 5 percent per year.

"(f) Security or Endorsement.—Loans shall be made under this subpart without security or endorsement, except that if the borrower is a minor and the note or other evidence of obligation executed by him would not, under the applicable law, create a binding obligation, either security or endorsement may be required.

"(g) Transferring and Assigning Loans.—No note or other evidence of a loan made under this subpart may be transferred or assigned by the school making the loan except that, if the borrowers transfer to another school participating in the program under this subpart, such note or other evidence of a loan may be transferred to such other school.

"(h) Charge With Respect to Insurance for Certain Cancellations.—Subject to regulations of the Secretary, a school may assess a charge with respect to loans made under this subpart to cover the costs of insuring against cancellation of liability under subsection (d).

"(i) Charge With Respect to Late Payments.—Subject to regulations of the Secretary, and in accordance with this section, a school shall assess a charge with respect to a loan made under this subpart for failure of the borrower to pay all or any part of an installment when it is due and, in the case of a borrower who is entitled to deferment of the loan under subsection (c), for any failure to file timely and satisfactory evidence of such entitlement. No such charge may be made if the payment of such installment or the filing of such evidence is made within 60 days after the date on which such installment or filing is due. The amount of any such charge may not exceed an amount equal to 6 percent of the amount of such installment. The school may elect to add the amount of any such charge to the principal amount of the loan as of the first day after the day on which such installment or evidence was due, or to make the amount of the charge payable to the school not later than the due date of the next installment after receipt by the borrower of notice of the assessment of the charge.

"(j) Authority of Schools Regarding Rate of Payment.—A school may provide, in accordance with regulations of the Secretary, that during the repayment period of a loan from a loan fund established pursuant to an agreement under this subpart payments of principal and interest by the borrower with respect to all the outstanding loans made to him from loan funds so established shall be at a rate equal to not less than $15 per month.

"(k) Authority Regarding Repayments by Secretary.—Upon application by a person who received, and is under an obligation to repay, any loan made to such person as a health professions student to enable him to study medicine, osteopathy, dentistry, veterinary medicine, optometry, pharmacy, or podiatry, the Secretary may undertake to repay (without liability to the applicant) all or any part of such loan, and any interest or portion thereof outstanding thereon, upon his determination, pursuant to regulations establishing criteria therefor, that the applicant—

"(1) failed to complete such studies leading to his first professional degree;

"(2) is in exceptionally needy circumstances;

"(3) is from a low-income or disadvantaged family as those terms may be defined by such regulations; and

"(4) has not resumed, or cannot reasonably be expected to resume, the study of medicine, osteopathy, dentistry, veterinary medicine, optometry, pharmacy, or podiatric medicine, within two years following the date upon which he terminated such studies.

"(l) Collection Efforts by Secretary.—The Secretary is authorized to attempt to collect any loan which was made under this subpart, which is in default, and which was referred to the Secretary by a school with which the Secretary has an agreement under this subpart, on behalf of that school under such terms and conditions as the Secretary may prescribe (including reimbursement from the school's student loan fund for expenses the Secretary may reasonably incur in attempting collection), but only if the school has complied with such requirements as the Secretary may specify by regulation with respect to the collection of loans under this subpart. A loan so referred shall be treated as a debt subject to section 5514 of title 5, United States Code. Amounts collected shall be deposited in the school's student loan fund. Whenever the Secretary desires the institution of a civil action regarding any such loan, the Secretary shall refer the matter to the Attorney General for appropriate action.

"SEC. 723. MEDICAL SCHOOLS AND PRIMARY HEALTH CARE.

"(a) Requirements for Students.—

"(1) In General.—Subject to the provisions of this subsection, in the case of student loan funds established under section 721 by schools of medicine or osteopathic medicine, each agreement entered into under such section with such a school shall provide (in addition to the provisions required in subsection (b) of such section) that the school will make a loan from such fund to a student only if the student agrees—

"(A) to enter and complete a residency training program in primary health care not later than 4 years after the date on which the student graduates from such school; and

"(B) to practice in such care through the date on which the loan is repaid in full.

"(2) Inapplicability to Certain Students.—

"(A) The requirement established in paragraph (1) regarding the student loan fund of a school does not apply to a student if—

"(i) the first loan to the student from such fund is made before July 1, 1993; or

"(ii) the loan is made from—

"(I) a Federal capital contribution under section 721 that is made from amounts appropriated under section 724(f) (in this section referred to as an 'exempt Federal capital contribution'); or

"(II) a school contribution made under section 721 pursuant to such a Federal capital contribution (in this section referred to as an 'exempt school contribution').

"(B) A Federal capital contribution under section 721 may not be construed as being an exempt Federal capital contribution if the contribution was made from amounts appropriated before October 1, 1990. A school contribution under section 721 may not be construed as being an exempt school contribution if the contribution was made pursuant to a Federal capital contribution under such section that was made from amounts appropriated before such date.

"(3) Noncompliance by Student.—Each agreement entered into with a student pursuant to paragraph (1) shall provide that, if the student fails to comply with the agreement—

"(A) the balance due on the loan involved will be immediately recomputed from the date of issuance at an interest rate of 12 percent per year, compounded annually; and

"(B) the recomputed balance will be paid not later than the expiration of the 3-year period beginning on the date on which the student fails to comply with the agreement.

"(b) Requirements for Schools.—

"(1) In General.—Subject to the provisions of this subsection, in the case of student loan funds established under section 721 by schools of medicine or osteopathic medicine, each agreement entered into under such section with such a school shall provide (in addition to the provisions required in subsection (b) of such section) that, for the 1-year period ending on June 30, 1994, and for the 1-year period ending on June 30 of each subsequent fiscal year, the school will meet not less than 1 of the conditions described in paragraph (2) with respect to graduates of the school whose date of graduation from the school occurred approximately 4 years before the end of the 1-year period involved.

"(2) Description of Conditions.—With respect to graduates described in paragraph (1) (in this paragraph referred to as 'designated graduates'), the conditions referred to in such paragraph for a school for a 1-year period are as follows:

"(A) Not less than 50 percent of designated graduates of the school meet the criterion of either being in a residency training program in primary health care, or being engaged in a practice in such care (having completed such a program).

"(B) Not less than 15 percent of the designated graduates of the school meet such criterion, and such percentage is not less than 5 percentage points above the percentage of such graduates meeting such criterion for the preceding 1-year period.

"(C) In the case of schools of medicine or osteopathic medicine with student loans funds under section 721, the school involved is at or above the 75th percentile of such schools whose designated graduates meet such criterion.

"(3) DETERMINATIONS BY SECRETARY.—Not later than 90 days after the close of each 1-year period described in paragraph (1), the Secretary shall make a determination of whether the school involved has for such period complied with such paragraph and shall in writing inform the school of the determination. Such determination shall be made only after consideration of the report submitted to the Secretary by the school under paragraph (6).

"(4) NONCOMPLIANCE BY SCHOOL.—

"(A)(i) Subject to subparagraph (C), each agreement under section 721 with a school of medicine or osteopathic medicine shall provide that, if the school fails to comply with paragraph (1) for a 1-year period under such paragraph, the school—

"(I) will pay to the Secretary the amount applicable under subparagraph (B) for the period; and

"(II) will pay such amount not later than 90 days after the school is informed under paragraph (3) of the determination of the Secretary regarding such period.

"(ii) Any amount that a school is required to pay under clause (i) may be paid from the student loan fund of the school under section 721.

"(B) For purposes of subparagraph (A), the amount applicable for a school, subject to subparagraph (C), is—

"(i) for the 1-year period ending June 30, 1994, an amount equal to 10 percent of the income received during such period by the student loan fund of the school under section 721;

"(ii) for the 1-year period ending June 30, 1995, an amount equal to 20 percent of the income received during such period by the student loan fund; and

"(iii) for any subsequent 1-year period under paragraph (1), an amount equal to 30 percent of the income received during such period by the student loan fund.

"(C) In determining the amount of income that a student loan fund has received for purposes of subparagraph (B), the Secretary shall exclude any income derived from exempt contributions. Payments made to the Secretary under subparagraph (A) may not be made with such contributions or with income derived from such contributions.

"(5) EXPENDITURE OF PAYMENTS.—

"(A) Amounts paid to the Secretary under paragraph (4) shall be expended to make Federal capital contributions to student loan funds under section 721 of schools that are in compliance with paragraph (1).

"(B) A Federal capital contribution under section 721 may not be construed as being an exempt Federal capital contribution if the contribution is made from payments under subparagraph (A). A school contribution under such section may not be construed as being an exempt school contribution if the contribution is made pursuant to a Federal capital contribution from such payments.

"(6) REPORTS BY SCHOOLS.—Each agreement under section 721 with a school of medicine or osteopathic medicine shall provide that the school will submit to the Secretary a report for each 1-year period under paragraph (1) that provides such information as the Secretary determines to be necessary for carrying out this subsection. Each such report shall include statistics concerning the current training or practice status of all graduates of such school whose date of graduation from the school occurred approximately 4 years before the end of the 1-year period involved.

"(c) REPORTS BY SECRETARY.—The Secretary shall each fiscal year submit to the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives, and the Committee on Labor and Human Resources of the Senate, a report regarding the administration of this section, including the extent of compliance with the requirements of this section, during the preceding fiscal year.

"(d) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section:

"(1) The term 'exempt contributions' means exempt Federal capital contributions and exempt school contributions.

"(2) The term 'exempt Federal capital contribution' means a Federal capital contribution described in subclause (I) of subsection (a)(2)(A)(ii).

"(3) The term 'exempt school contribution' means a school contribution described in subclause (II) of subsection (a)(2)(A)(ii).

"(4) The term 'income', with respect to a student fund under section 721, means payments of principal and interest on any loan made from the fund, and any other earnings of the fund.

"(5) The term 'primary health care' means family medicine, general internal medicine, general pediatrics, preventive medicine, or osteopathic general practice.

SEC. 724. INDIVIDUALS FROM DISADVANTAGED BACKGROUNDS.

"(a) FUND AGREEMENTS REGARDING CERTAIN AMOUNTS.—With respect to amounts appropriated under subsection (f), each agreement entered into under section 721 with a school shall provide (in addition to the provisions required in subsection (b) of such section) that—

"(1) any Federal capital contribution made to the student loan fund of the school from such amounts, together with the school contribution appropriate under subsection (b)(2)(B) of such section to the amount of the Federal capital contribution, will be utilized only for the purpose of—

"(A) making loans to individuals from disadvantaged backgrounds; and

"(B) the costs of the collection of the loans and interest on the loans; and

"(2) collections of principal and interest on loans made pursuant to paragraph (1), and any other earnings of the student loan fund attributable to amounts that are in the fund pursuant to such paragraph, will be utilized only for the purpose described in such paragraph.

"(b) MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS FOR SCHOOLS.—The Secretary may not make a Federal capital contribution for purposes of subsection (a) for a fiscal year unless the health professions school involved—

"(1) is carrying out a program for recruiting and retaining students from disadvantaged backgrounds, including racial and ethnic minorities; and

"(2) is carrying out a program for recruiting and retaining minority faculty.

"(c) CERTAIN AGREEMENTS REGARDING EDUCATION OF STUDENTS; DATE CERTAIN FOR COMPLIANCE.—The Secretary may not make a Federal capital contribution for purposes of subsection (a) for a fiscal year unless the health professions school involved agrees—

"(1) to ensure that adequate instruction regarding minority health issues is provided for in the curricula of the school;

"(2) with respect to health clinics providing services to a significant number of individuals who are from disadvantaged backgrounds, including members of minority groups, to enter into arrangements with 1 or more such clinics for the purpose of providing students of the school with experience in providing clinical services to such individuals;

"(3) with respect to public or nonprofit private secondary educational institutions and undergraduate institutions of higher education, to enter into arrangements with 1 or more such institutions for the purpose of carrying out programs regarding the educational preparation of disadvantaged students, including minority students, to enter the health professions and regarding the recruitment of such individuals into the health professions;

"(4) to establish a mentor program for assisting disadvantaged students, including minority students, regarding the completion of the educational requirements for degrees from the school;

"(5) to be carrying out each of the activities specified in any of paragraphs (1) through (4) by not later than 1 year after the date on which the first Federal capital contribution is made to the school for purposes of subsection (a); and

"(6) to continue carrying out such activities, and the activities specified in paragraphs (1) and (2) of subsection (b), throughout the period during which the student loan fund established pursuant to section 721(b) is in operation.

"(d) AVAILABILITY OF OTHER AMOUNTS.—With respect to Federal capital contributions to student loan funds under agreements under section 721(b), any such contributions made before October 1, 1990, together with the school contributions appropriate under paragraph (2)(B) of such section to the amount of the Federal capital contributions, may be utilized for the purpose of making loans to individuals from disadvantaged backgrounds, subject to section 723(a)(2)(B).

"(e) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this section, the term 'disadvantaged', with respect to an individual, shall be defined by the Secretary.

"(f) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—With respect to making Federal capital contributions to student loan funds for purposes of subsection (a), there is authorized to be appropriated for such contributions $15,000,000 for fiscal year 1993.

"(2) SPECIAL CONSIDERATION FOR CERTAIN SCHOOLS.—In making Federal capital contributions to student loan funds for purposes of subsection (a), the Secretary shall give special consideration to health professions schools that have enrollments of underrepresented minorities above the national average for health professions schools.

"SEC. 725. ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS.

"The Secretary may agree to modifications of agreements or loans made under this subpart, and may compromise, waive, or release any right, title, claim, or demand of the United States arising or acquired under this subpart.

"SEC. 726. PROVISION BY SCHOOLS OF INFORMATION TO STUDENTS.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—With respect to loans made by a school under this subpart after June 30, 1986, each school, in order to carry out the provisions of sections 721 and 722, shall, at any time such school makes such a loan to a student under this subpart, provide thorough and adequate loan information on loans made under this subpart to the student. The loan information required to be provided to the student by this subsection shall include—

"(1) the yearly and cumulative maximum amounts that may be borrowed by the student;

"(2) the terms under which repayment of the loan will begin;

"(3) the maximum number of years in which the loan must be repaid;

"(4) the interest rate that will be paid by the borrower and the minimum amount of the required monthly payment.

"(5) the amount of any other fees charged to the borrower by the lender;

"(6) any options the borrower may have for deferral, cancellation, prepayment, consolidation, or other refinancing of the loan;

"(7) a definition of default on the loan and a specification of the consequences which will result to the borrower if the borrower defaults, including a description of any arrangements which may be made with credit bureau organizations;

''(8) to the extent practicable, the effect of accepting the loan on the eligibility of the borrower for other forms of student assistance; and

''(9) a description of the actions that may be taken by the Federal Government to collect the loan, including a description of the type of information concerning the borrower that the Federal Government may disclose to (A) officers, employees, or agents of the Department of Health and Human Services, (B) officers, employees, or agents of schools with which the Secretary has an agreement under this subpart, or (C) any other person involved in the collection of a loan under this subpart.

''(b) STATEMENT REGARDING LOAN.—Each school shall, immediately prior to the graduation from such school of a student who receives a loan under this subpart after June 30, 1986, provide such student with a statement specifying—

''(1) each amount borrowed by the student under this subpart;

''(2) the total amount borrowed by the student under this subpart; and

''(3) a schedule for the repayment of the amounts borrowed under this subpart, including the number, amount, and frequency of payments to be made.

"SEC. 727. PROCEDURES FOR APPEAL OF TERMINATION OF AGREEMENTS.

''In any case in which the Secretary intends to terminate an agreement with a school under this subpart, the Secretary shall provide the school with a written notice specifying such intention and stating that the school may request a formal hearing with respect to such termination. If the school requests such a hearing within 30 days after the receipt of such notice, the Secretary shall provide such school with a hearing conducted by an administrative law judge.

"SEC. 728. DISTRIBUTION OF ASSETS FROM LOAN FUNDS.

''(a) DISTRIBUTION AFTER TERMINATION OF FUND.—If a school terminates a loan fund established under an agreement pursuant to section 721(b), or if the Secretary for good cause terminates the agreement with the school, there shall be a capital distribution as follows:

''(1) The Secretary shall first be paid an amount which bears the same ratio to such balance in such fund on the date of termination of the fund as the total amount of the Federal capital contributions to such fund by the Secretary pursuant to section 721(b)(2)(A) bears to the total amount in such fund derived from such Federal capital contributions and from funds deposited therein pursuant to section 721(b)(2)(B).

''(2) The remainder of such balance shall be paid to the school.

''(b) PAYMENT OF PROPORTIONATE SHARE TO SECRETARY.—If a capital distribution is made under subsection (a), the school involved shall, after the capital distribution, pay to the Secretary, not less often than quarterly, the same proportionate share of amounts received by the school in payment of principal or interest on loans made from the loan fund established pursuant to section 721(b) as was determined by the Secretary under subsection (a).

"SEC. 735. GENERAL PROVISIONS.

''(a) DATE CERTAIN FOR APPLICATIONS.—The Secretary shall from time to time set dates by which schools must file applications for Federal capital contributions.

''(b) CONTINGENT REDUCTION IN ALLOTMENTS.—If the total of the amounts requested for any fiscal year in such applications exceeds the amounts appropriated under this section for that fiscal year, the allotment to the loan fund of each such school shall be reduced to whichever of the following is the smaller: the amount requested in its application; or an amount which bears the same ratio to the amounts appropriated as the number of students estimated by the Secretary to be enrolled in such school during such fiscal year bears to the estimated total number of students in all such schools during such year. Amounts remaining after allotment under the preceding sentence shall be reallotted in accordance with clause (B) of such sentence among schools whose applications requested more than the amounts so allotted to their loan funds, but with such adjustments as may be necessary to prevent the total allotted to any such school's loan fund from exceeding the total so requested by it.

''(c) ALLOTMENT OF EXCESS FUNDS.—Funds available in any fiscal year for payment to schools under this subpart which are in excess of the amount appropriated pursuant to this section for that year shall be allotted among schools in such manner as the Secretary determines will best carry out the purposes of this subpart.

''(d) PAYMENT OF INSTALLMENTS TO SCHOOLS.—Allotments to a loan fund of a school shall be paid to it from time to time in such installments as the Secretary determines will not result in unnecessary accumulations in the loan fund at such school.

''(e) DISPOSITION OF FUNDS RETURNED TO SECRETARY.—

''(1) EXPENDITURE FOR FEDERAL CAPITAL CONTRIBUTIONS.—Subject to section 723(b)(5), any amounts from student loan funds under section 721 that are returned to the Secretary by health professions schools shall be expended to make Federal capital contributions to such funds.

''(2) DATE CERTAIN FOR CONTRIBUTIONS.—Amounts described in paragraph (1) that are returned to the Secretary before the fourth quarter of a fiscal year shall be obligated before the end of such fiscal year, and may not be obligated before the fourth quarter. For purposes of the preceding sentence, amounts returned to the Secretary during the last quarter of a fiscal year are deemed to have been returned during the first three quarters of the succeeding fiscal year.

''(3) PREFERENCE IN MAKING CONTRIBUTIONS.—In making Federal capital contributions to student loans funds under section 721 for a fiscal year from amounts described in paragraph (1), the Secretary shall give preference to health professions schools of the same disciplines as the health professions schools returning such amounts for the period during which the amounts expended for such contributions were received by the Secretary. Any such amounts that, prior to being so returned, were available only for the purpose of loans under this subpart to individuals from disadvantaged backgrounds shall be available only for such purpose.

"PART B—STUDENTS FROM DISADVANTAGED BACKGROUNDS

"SEC. 736. SCHOLARSHIPS FOR STUDENTS OF EXCEPTIONAL FINANCIAL NEED.

''(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall make grants to public and nonprofit private schools of medicine, osteopathic medicine, and dentistry for scholarships to be awarded by the schools to full-time students thereof who are of exceptional financial need, subject to section 795 (relating to residency training and practice in primary health care).

''(b) REQUIREMENTS REGARDING SCHOLARSHIPS.—

''(1) ACCEPTANCE FOR FULL-TIME ENROLLMENT.—Scholarships may be awarded by a school from a grant under subsection (a) only to individuals who have been accepted by it for enrollment as full-time students.

''(2) AUTHORIZED EXPENDITURES.—A scholarship provided to a student for a school year under a grant under subsection (a) shall consist of payment to, or (in accordance with paragraph (4)) on behalf of, the student of an amount (except as provided in section 798(c)) equivalent to the amount of—

''(A) the tuition of the student in such school year; and

''(B) all other reasonable educational expenses, including fees, books, and laboratory expenses, incurred by the student in such year.

''(3) AUTHORITY REGARDING PAYMENTS TO EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION.—The Secretary may contract with an educational institution in which is enrolled a student who has received a scholarship with a grant under subsection (a) for the payment to the educational institution of the amounts of tuition and other reasonable educational expenses described in paragraph (2). Payment to such an educational institution may be made without regard to section 3324 of title 31, United States Code.

''(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of making grants under this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $11,000,000 for fiscal year 1993.

"SEC. 737. SCHOLARSHIPS GENERALLY; CERTAIN OTHER PURPOSES.

''(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF PROGRAM.—

''(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subsection (e), the Secretary may make grants to health professions schools for the purpose of assisting such schools in providing scholarships to individuals described in paragraph (2).

''(2) ELIGIBLE INDIVIDUALS.—The individuals referred to in paragraph (1) are individuals who—

''(A) are from disadvantaged backgrounds; and

''(B) are enrolled (or accepted for enrollment) as full-time students in such schools.

''(2) HEALTH PROFESSIONS SCHOOLS.—For purposes of this section, the term 'health professions schools' means schools of medicine, nursing (as schools of nursing are defined in section 853), osteopathic medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, podiatric medicine, optometry, veterinary medicine, public health, or allied health, or schools offering graduate programs in clinical psychology.

''(b) MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS OF GRANTEES.—The Secretary may not make a grant under subsection (a) unless the health professions school—

''(1) is carrying out a program for recruiting and retaining students from disadvantaged backgrounds, including racial and ethnic minorities; and

''(2) is carrying out a program for recruiting and retaining minority faculty.

''(c) PREFERENCES IN PROVIDING SCHOLARSHIPS.—The Secretary may not make a grant under subsection (a) unless the health professions school involved agrees that, in providing scholarships pursuant to the grant, the school will give preference to students—

''(1) who are from disadvantaged backgrounds; and

''(2) for whom the costs of attending the school would constitute a severe financial hardship.

''(d) USE OF SCHOLARSHIP.—A scholarship provided pursuant to subsection (a) for attendance at a health professions school—

''(1) may be expended only for tuition expenses, other reasonable educational expenses, and reasonable living expenses incurred in such attendance; and

''(2) may not, for any year of such attendance for which the scholarship is provided, provide an amount exceeding the total amount required for the year for the expenses specified in paragraph (1).

''(e) PROVISIONS REGARDING PURPOSES OTHER THAN SCHOLARSHIPS.—

"(1) AUTHORITY REGARDING ASSISTANCE FOR UNDERGRADUATES.—With respect to undergraduates who have demonstrated a commitment to pursuing a career in the health professions, a health professions school may expend not more than 25 percent of a grant under subsection (a) for the purpose of providing financial assistance to such undergraduates in order to facilitate the completion of the educational requirements for such careers.

"(2) REQUIRED ACTIVITIES OF SCHOOL.—The Secretary may not make a grant under subsection (a) unless the health professions school involved agrees—

"(A) to ensure that adequate instruction regarding minority health issues is provided for in the curricula of the school;

"(B) with respect to health clinics providing services to a significant number of individuals who are from disadvantaged backgrounds, including members of minority groups, to enter into arrangements with 1 or more such clinics for the purpose of providing students of the school with experience in providing clinical services to such individuals;

"(C) with respect to public or nonprofit secondary educational institutions and undergraduate institutions of higher education, to enter into arrangements with 1 or more such institutions for the purpose of carrying out programs regarding the educational preparation of disadvantaged students, including minority students, to enter the health professions and regarding the recruitment of such students into the health professions;

"(D) to establish a mentor program for assisting disadvantaged students, including minority students, regarding the completion of the educational requirements for degrees from the school;

"(E) to be carrying out the activities specified in subparagraphs (A) through (D) by not later than 1 year after the date on which a grant under subsection (a) is first made to the school; and

"(F) to continue carrying out such activities, and the activities specified in paragraphs (1) and (2) of subsection (b), throughout the period during which the school is receiving a grant under subsection (a).

"(3) RESTRICTIONS ON USE OF GRANT.—The Secretary may not make a grant under subsection (a) for a fiscal year unless the health professions school involved agrees that the grant will not be expended to carry out the activities specified in paragraph (1) or (2) of subsection (b), or in any of subparagraphs (A) through (D) of paragraph (2) of this subsection.

"(f) REQUIREMENT OF APPLICATION.—The Secretary may not make a grant under subsection (a) unless an application for the grant is submitted to the Secretary and the application is in such form, is made in such manner, and contains such agreements, assurances, and information as the Secretary determines to be necessary to carry out this section.

"(g) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this section, the term 'school of nursing' has the meaning given such term in section 853.

"(h) FUNDING.—

"(1) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary for fiscal year 1993.

"(2) ALLOCATIONS BY SECRETARY.—In making grants under subsection (a), the Secretary—

"(A) shall, of the amounts appropriated under paragraph (1), make available 30 percent for such grants to schools of nursing; and

"(B) shall give special consideration to health professions schools that have enrollments of underrepresented minorities above the national average for health professions schools.

"SEC. 738. LOAN REPAYMENTS AND FELLOWSHIPS REGARDING FACULTY POSITIONS.

"(a) LOAN REPAYMENTS.—

"(1) ESTABLISHMENT OF PROGRAM.—The Secretary shall establish a program of entering into contracts with individuals described in subsection (b) under which the individuals agree to serve as members of the faculties of schools described in paragraph (3) in consideration of the Federal Government agreeing to pay, for each year of such service, not more than $20,000 of the principal and interest of the educational loans of such individuals.

"(2) ELIGIBLE INDIVIDUALS.—The individuals referred to in paragraph (1) are individuals from disadvantaged backgrounds who—

"(A) have a degree in medicine, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, or another health profession;

"(B) are enrolled in an approved graduate training program in medicine, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, or other health profession; or

"(C) are enrolled as a full-time student—

"(i) in an accredited (as determined by the Secretary) school described in paragraph (3); and

"(ii) in the final year of a course of a study or program, offered by such institution and approved by the Secretary, leading to a degree from such a school.

"(3) ELIGIBLE HEALTH PROFESSIONS SCHOOLS.—The schools described in this paragraph are schools of medicine, nursing (as schools of nursing are defined in section 853), osteopathic medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, podiatric medicine, optometry, veterinary medicine, or public health, or schools offering graduate programs in clinical psychology.

"(4) ADDITIONAL LIMITATION ON AMOUNT OF REPAYMENTS.—Payments made under this subsection regarding the educational loans of an individual may not, for any year for which the payments are made, exceed an amount equal to 20 percent of the outstanding principal and interest on the loans.

"(5) REQUIREMENTS REGARDING FACULTY POSITIONS.—The Secretary may not enter into a contract under paragraph (1) unless—

"(A) the individual involved has entered into a contract with a school described in paragraph (3) to serve as a member of the faculty of the school for not less than 2 years, and the individual has not been a member of the faculty of any school at any time during the 18-month period preceding the date on which the Secretary receives the request of the individual for a contract under paragraph (1); and

"(B) the contract referred to in subparagraph (A) provides that—

"(i) the school will, for each year for which the individual will serve as a member of the faculty under the contract with the school, make payments of the principal and interest due on the educational loans of the individual for such year in an amount equal to the amount of such payments made by the Secretary for the year; and

"(ii) the payments made by the school pursuant to clause (i) on behalf of the individual will be in addition to the pay that the individual would otherwise receive for serving as a member of such faculty.

"(6) WAIVER REGARDING SCHOOL CONTRIBUTIONS.—The Secretary may waive the requirement established in paragraph (5)(B) if the Secretary determines that the requirement will impose an undue financial hardship on the school involved. If the Secretary grants such a waiver, paragraph (4) shall not apply with respect to the individual involved.

"(7) APPLICABILITY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS.—The provisions of sections 338B, 338C, and 338E shall apply to the program established in paragraph (1) to the same extent and in the same manner as such provisions apply to the National Health Service Corps Loan Repayment Program established in subpart III of part D of title III, including the applicability of provisions regarding reimbursements for increased tax liability and regarding bankruptcy.

"(b) FELLOWSHIPS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with schools of medicine, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, optometry, podiatric medicine, pharmacy, public health, health administration, clinical psychology, and other public or private nonprofit health or educational entities of the type described in section 799, to assist such schools in increasing the number of underrepresented minority faculty members at such schools.

"(2) APPLICATIONS.—To be eligible to receive a grant or contract under this subsection, a school shall prepare and submit to the Secretary an application at such time, in such manner, and containing such information as the Secretary may require, including an assurance that—

"(A) amounts received under such a grant or contract will be used to award a fellowship to an individual only if—

"(i) the individual has not been a member of the faculty of any school at any time during the 18-month period preceding the date on which the individual submits a request for the fellowship; and

"(ii) the individual meets the requirements of paragraphs (3) and (4); and

"(B) each fellowship awarded pursuant to the grant or contract will include a stipend in an amount not exceeding 50 percent of the regular salary of a similar faculty member, or $30,000, whichever is less.

"(3) ELIGIBILITY.—To be eligible to receive a grant or contract under paragraph (1), an applicant shall demonstrate to the Secretary that such applicant has or will have the ability to—

"(A) identify, recruit and select individuals from underrepresented minorities in health professions who have the potential for teaching, administration, or conducting research at a health professions institution;

"(B) provide such individuals with the skills necessary to enable them to secure a tenured faculty position at such institution, which may include training with respect to pedagogical skills, program administration, the design and conduct of research, grants writing, and the preparation of articles suitable for publication in peer reviewed journals;

"(C) provide services designed to assist such individuals in their preparation for an academic career, including the provision of mentors; and

"(D) provide health services to rural or medically underserved populations.

"(4) REQUIREMENTS.—To be eligible to receive a grant or contract under paragraph (1) an applicant shall—

"(A) provide an assurance that such applicant will make available (directly through cash donations) $1 for every $1 of Federal funds received under this section for the fellowship;

"(B) provide an assurance that institutional support will be provided for the individual for a second year at a level that is not less than the total amount of Federal and institutional funds provided in the year in which the grant or contract was awarded;

"(C) provide an assurance that the individual that will receive the fellowship will be a member of the faculty of the applicant school; and

"(D) provide an assurance that the individual that will receive the fellowship will have, at a minimum, appropriate advanced preparation (such as a master's or doctoral degree) and special skills necessary to enable such individual to teach and practice.

"(5) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this subsection, the term 'minority' means an individual from a racial or ethnic group that is underrepresented in the health professions.

"(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $4,000,000 for fiscal year 1993.

"SEC. 739. CENTERS OF EXCELLENCE.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall make grants to health professions schools described in subsection (c) for the purpose of assisting the schools in supporting programs of excellence in health professions education for minority individuals.

"(b) REQUIRED USE OF FUNDS.—The Secretary may not make a grant under subsection (a) unless the health professions school involved agrees to expend the grant—

"(1) to establish, strengthen, or expand programs to enhance the academic performance of minority students attending the school;

"(2) to establish, strengthen, or expand programs to increase the number and quality of minority applicants to the school;

"(3) to improve the capacity of such school to train, recruit, and retain minority faculty;

"(4) with respect to minority health issues, to carry out activities to improve the information resources and curricula of the school and clinical education at the school; and

"(5) to facilitate faculty and student research on health issues particularly affecting minority groups.

"(c) CENTERS OF EXCELLENCE.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—

"(A) The health professions schools referred to in subsection (a) are such schools that meet each of the conditions specified in subparagraph (B), and that—

"(i) meet each of the conditions specified in paragraph (2)(A);

"(ii) meet each of the conditions specified in paragraph (3);

"(iii) meet each of the conditions specified in paragraph (4); or

"(iv) meet each of the conditions specified in paragraph (5).

"(B) The conditions specified in this subparagraph are that a health professions school—

"(i) has a significant number of minority individuals enrolled in the school, including individuals accepted for enrollment in the school;

"(ii) has been effective in assisting minority students of the school to complete the program of education and receive the degree involved;

"(iii) has been effective in recruiting minority individuals to attend the school, including providing scholarships and other financial assistance to such individuals and encouraging minority students of secondary educational institutions to attend the health professions school; and

"(iv) has made significant recruitment efforts to increase the number of minority individuals serving in faculty or administrative positions at the school.

"(C) In the case of any criteria established by the Secretary for purposes of determining whether schools meet the conditions described in subparagraph (B), this section may not, with respect to racial and ethnic minorities, be construed to authorize, require, or prohibit the use of such criteria in any program other than the program established in this section.

"(2) CENTERS OF EXCELLENCE AT CERTAIN HISTORICALLY BLACK COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES.—

"(A) The conditions specified in this subparagraph are that a health professions school—

"(i) is a school described in section 799(1); and

"(ii) received a contract under section 788B for fiscal year 1987, as such section was in effect for such fiscal year.

"(B) In addition to the purposes described in subsection (b), a grant under subsection (a) to a health professions school meeting the conditions described in subparagraph (A) may be expended—

"(i) to develop a plan to achieve institutional improvements, including financial independence, to enable the school to support programs of excellence in health professions education for minority individuals; and

"(ii) to provide improved access to the library and informational resources of the school.

"(3) HISPANIC CENTERS OF EXCELLENCE.—The conditions specified in this paragraph are that—

"(A) with respect to Hispanic individuals, each of clauses (i) through (iv) of paragraph (1)(B) applies to the health professions school involved; and

"(B) the health professions school agree, as a condition of receiving a grant under subsection (a), that the school will, in carrying out the duties described in subsection (b), give priority to carrying out the duties with respect to Hispanic individuals.

"(4) NATIVE AMERICAN CENTERS OF EXCELLENCE.—Subject to subsection (e), the conditions specified in this paragraph are that—

"(A) with respect to Native Americans, each of clauses (i) through (iv) of paragraph (1)(B) applies to the health professions school involved;

"(B) the health professions school agree, as a condition of receiving a grant under subsection (a), that the school will, in carrying out the duties described in subsection (b), give priority to carrying out the duties with respect to Native Americans; and

"(C) the health professions school agree, as a condition of receiving a grant under subsection (a), that—

"(i) the school will establish an arrangement with 1 or more public or nonprofit private institutions of higher education whose enrollment of students has traditionally included a significant number of Native Americans, the purpose of which arrangement will be to carry out a program—

"(I) to identify Native American students of the institution who are interested in a career in the health profession or professions involved; and

"(II) to facilitate the educational preparation of such students to enter the health professions school; and

"(ii) the health professions school will make efforts to recruit Native American students, including students who have participated in the undergraduate program carried out under arrangements established by the school pursuant to clause (i) and will assist Native American students regarding the completion of the educational requirements for a degree from the health professions school.

"(5) OTHER CENTERS OF EXCELLENCE.—The conditions specified in this paragraph are that a health professions school has an enrollment of underrepresented minorities above the national average for such enrollments of health professions schools.

"(d) DESIGNATION AS CENTER OF EXCELLENCE.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Any health professions school receiving a grant under subsection (a) and meeting the conditions described in paragraph (2) or (5) of subsection (c) shall, for purposes of this section, be designated by the Secretary as a Center of Excellence in Minority Health Professions Education.

"(2) HISPANIC CENTERS OF EXCELLENCE.—Any health professions school receiving a grant under subsection (a) and meeting the conditions described in subsection (c)(3) shall, for purposes of this section, be designated by the Secretary as a Hispanic Center of Excellence in Health Professions Education.

"(3) NATIVE AMERICAN CENTERS OF EXCELLENCE.—Any health professions school receiving a grant under subsection (a) and meeting the conditions described in subsection (c)(4) shall, for purposes of this section, be designated by the Secretary as a Native American Center of Excellence in Health Professions Education. Any consortium receiving such a grant pursuant to subsection (e) shall, for purposes of this section, be so designated.

"(e) AUTHORITY REGARDING NATIVE AMERICAN CENTERS OF EXCELLENCE.—

"(1) AUTHORITY FOR COLLECTIVELY MEETING RELEVANT REQUIREMENTS.—With respect to meeting the conditions specified in subsection (c)(4), the Secretary may make a grant under subsection (a) to any school of medicine, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, or pharmacy that has in accordance with paragraph (2) formed a consortium of schools that meets such conditions (without regard to whether the schools of the consortium individually meet such conditions).

"(2) REQUIREMENTS REGARDING CONSORTIUM.—A consortium of schools has been formed in accordance with this paragraph if—

"(A) the consortium consists of a school seeking a grant pursuant to paragraph (1) and 1 or more schools of medicine, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, nursing, allied health, or public health;

"(B) the schools of the consortium have entered into an agreement for the allocation of such grant among the schools;

"(C) each of the schools agrees to expend the grant in accordance with this section; and

"(D) each of the schools of the consortium—

"(i) is part of the same institution of higher education as the school seeking the grant; or

"(ii) is located not farther than 50 miles from the school seeking the grant.

"(f) DURATION AND AMOUNT OF GRANT.—

"(1) DURATION.—The period during which payments are made under a grant under subsection (a) may not exceed 3 years. Such payments shall be subject to annual approval by the Secretary and to the availability of appropriations for the fiscal year involved to make the payments.

"(2) AMOUNT.—A grant under subsection (a) for a fiscal year may not be made in an amount that is less than $500,000.

"(g) MAINTENANCE OF EFFORT.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—With respect to activities for which a grant under subsection (a) is authorized to be expended, the Secretary may not make such a grant to a health professions school for any fiscal year unless the school agrees to maintain expenditures of non-Federal amounts for such activities at a level that is not less than the level of such expenditures maintained by the school for the fiscal year preceding the fiscal year for which the school receives such a grant.

"(2) USE OF FEDERAL FUNDS.—With respect to any Federal amounts received by a health professions school and available for carrying out activities for which a grant under subsection (a) is authorized to be expended, the Secretary may not make such a grant to the school for any fiscal year unless the school agrees that the school will, before expending the grant, expend the Federal amounts obtained from sources other than the grant.

"(h) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section:

"(1)(A) The term 'health professions school' means, except as provided in subparagraph (B), a school of medicine, a school of osteopathic medicine, a school of dentistry, or a school of pharmacy.

"(B) The definition established in subparagraph (A) shall not apply to the use of the term 'health professions school' for purposes of subsection (c)(2).

"(2) The term 'program of excellence' means any program carried out by a health professions school with a grant made under subsection (a), if the program is for purposes for which the school involved is authorized in subsection (b) or (c) to expend the grant.

“(3) The term 'Native Americans' means American Indians, Alaskan Natives, Aleuts, and Native Hawaiians.

“(i) FUNDING.—

“(1) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of making grants under subsection (a), there are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary for fiscal year 1993.

“(2) ALLOCATIONS BY SECRETARY.—

“(A) Of the amounts appropriated under paragraph (1) for a fiscal year, the Secretary shall make available $12,000,000 for grants under subsection (a) to health professions schools that are eligible for such grants pursuant to meeting the conditions described in paragraph (2)(A) of subsection (c).

“(B) Of the amounts appropriated under paragraph (1) for a fiscal year and available after compliance with subparagraph (A), the Secretary shall make available 60 percent for grants under subsection (a) to health professions schools that are eligible for such grants pursuant to meeting the conditions described in paragraph (3) or (4) of subsection (c) (including meeting conditions pursuant to subsection (e)).

“(C) Of the amounts appropriated under paragraph (1) for a fiscal year and available after compliance with subparagraph (A), the Secretary shall make available 40 percent for grants under subsection (a) to health professions schools that are eligible for such grants pursuant to meeting the conditions described in paragraph (5) of subsection (c).

“SEC. 740. EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE REGARDING UNDERGRADUATES.

“(a) IN GENERAL.—

“(1) AUTHORITY FOR GRANTS.—For the purpose of assisting individuals from disadvantaged backgrounds, as determined in accordance with criteria prescribed by the Secretary, to undertake education to enter a health profession, the Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with schools of medicine, osteopathic medicine, public health, dentistry, veterinary medicine, optometry, pharmacy, allied health, chiropractic, and podiatric medicine, public and nonprofit private schools which offer graduate programs in clinical psychology, and other public or private nonprofit health or educational entities to assist in meeting the costs described in paragraph (2).

“(2) AUTHORIZED EXPENDITURES.—A grant or contract under paragraph (1) may be used by the health or educational entity to meet the cost of—

“(A) identifying, recruiting, and selecting individuals from disadvantaged backgrounds, as so determined, for education and training in a health profession,

“(B) facilitating the entry of such individuals into such a school,

“(C) providing counseling or other services designed to assist such individuals to complete successfully their education at such a school,

“(D) providing, for a period prior to the entry of such individuals into the regular course of education of such a school, preliminary education designed to assist them to complete successfully such regular course of education at such a school, or referring such individuals to institutions providing such preliminary education,

“(E) publicizing existing sources of financial aid available to students in the education program of such a school or who are undertaking training necessary to qualify them to enroll in such a program,

“(F) paying such scholarships as the Secretary may determine for such individuals for any period of health professions education at a school of medicine, osteopathic medicine, or dentistry, “(G) paying such stipends as the Secretary may approve for such individuals for any period of education in student-enhancement programs (other than regular courses) at any school described in subsection (a)(1), except that such a stipend may not be provided to an individual for more than 12 months, and such a stipend shall be in an amount of $40 per day (notwithstanding any other provision of law regarding the amount of stipends).

The term 'regular course of education of such a school' as used in subparagraph (D) includes a graduate program in clinical psychology.

“(b) REQUIREMENTS REGARDING ENROLLMENT; PRIORITY IN MAKING GRANTS.—

“(1) INCREASED ENROLLMENT OF INDIVIDUALS FROM DISADVANTAGED BACKGROUNDS.—Schools of medicine, osteopathic medicine, public health, dentistry, veterinary medicine, optometry, pharmacy, allied health, chiropractic, podiatric medicine and public and nonprofit schools that offer graduate programs in clinical psychology that receive a grant under subsection (a) shall, during a period of 3 years commencing on the date of the award of the grant, increase their first year enrollments of individuals from disadvantaged backgrounds by at least 20 percent over enrollments in the base year 1987.

“(2) CONDITIONS FOR SCHOOLS TO RECEIVE PRIORITY.—The Secretary shall give priority for funding, in years subsequent to the expiration of the 3-year period described in paragraph (1)—

“(A) to schools that attain such increase in their first year enrollment by the end of such 3-year period, and

“(B) to schools that attain a 20 percent increase over such base year enrollment.

“(3) APPLICABILITY OF CERTAIN CONDITION FOR PRIORITY.—The requirement for at least a 20 percent increase in such enrollment shall apply only to those schools referred to in paragraph (1) that have a proportionate enrollment of such individuals from disadvantaged backgrounds that is less than 200 percent of the national average percentage of such individuals in all schools of each health professions discipline.

“(4) DETERMINATION OF ENROLLMENT.—Determination of both first year and total enrollment of such individuals shall be made by the Secretary in accordance with section 792.

“(c) EQUITABLE ALLOCATION OF FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE.—The Secretary shall ensure that services and activities under subsection (a) are equitably allocated among the various racial and ethnic populations.

“(d) FUNDING.—

“(1) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of grants and contracts under subsection (a)(1), there is authorized to be appropriated $31,500,000 for fiscal year 1993.

“(2) ALLOCATIONS.—Of the amounts appropriated under paragraph (1) for any fiscal year, the Secretary shall obligate amounts in accordance with the following:

“(A) 70 percent shall be obligated for grants or contracts to institutions of higher education.

“(B) 20 percent shall be obligated for scholarships under subsection (a)(2)(F) to individuals of exceptional financial need (as defined by the Secretary under section 736) who are students at schools of medicine, osteopathic medicine, or dentistry. The provision of such scholarships to such individuals shall be subject to section 795 (relating to residency training and practice in primary health care). Such scholarships shall be administered and awarded in the same manner and subject to the same requirements as scholarships under section 736.

“(C) 10 percent shall be obligated for community-based programs.

“(D) Not more than 5 percent may be obligated for grants and contracts having the primary purpose of informing individuals about the existence and general nature of health careers.

“PART C—TRAINING IN PRIMARY HEALTH CARE

“SEC. 746. AREA HEALTH EDUCATION CENTER PROGRAMS.

“(a) AUTHORITY FOR PROVISION OF FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE.—

“(1) ASSISTANCE FOR PLANNING, DEVELOPMENT, AND OPERATION OF PROGRAMS.—

“(A) The Secretary shall provide financial assistance to schools of medicine and osteopathic medicine for the planning, development, and operation of area health education center programs.

“(B)(i) Subject to clause (ii), the period during which payments are made from an award under subparagraph (A) may not exceed 12 years. The provision of the payments shall be subject to annual approval by the Secretary of the payments and subject to the availability of appropriations for the fiscal year involved to make the payments. The preceding sentence may not be construed as establishing a limitation on the number of awards under such subparagraph that may be made to the school involved.

“(ii) In the case of an area health education center planned, developed, or operated with an award under subparagraph (A), the period during which the award is expended for the center may not exceed 6 years.

“(2) ASSISTANCE FOR CERTAIN PROJECTS OF EXISTING PROGRAMS.—

“(A) The Secretary shall provide financial assistance to schools of medicine and osteopathic medicine—

“(i) which have previously received Federal financial assistance for an area health education center program under section 802 of the Health Professionals Educational Assistance Act of 1976 in fiscal year 1979 or under paragraph (1), or to carry out projects described in subparagraph (B) through area health education centers for which Federal financial assistance was provided under paragraph (1) and which are no longer eligible to receive such assistance.

“(ii) which are receiving assistance under paragraph (1),

“(B) Projects for which assistance may be provided under subparagraph (A) are—

“(i) projects to improve the distribution, supply, quality, utilization, and efficiency of health personnel in the health services delivery system;

“(ii) projects to encourage the regionalization of educational responsibilities of the health professions schools; and

“(iii) projects designed to prepare, through preceptorships and other programs, individuals subject to a service obligation under the National Health Service Corps Scholarship Program to effectively provide health services in health professional shortage areas.

“(C) In the case of the requirement established in section 3804(e)(1) of part 57 of title 42, Code of Federal Regulations (42 CFR 57.3804(e)(1)) (relating to the location of area health education centers), the Secretary shall waive such requirement with respect to an area health education center having, at the time of initial application for financial assistance under this section or under a previous authorizing law, an operating program supported by both appropriations of a State legislature and local resources.

“(A) In the case of any school of medicine or osteopathic medicine that is operating an area health education center program and that is not receiving financial assistance under paragraph (1), the Secretary may provide financial assistance to the school for the costs of operating the program, and for carrying out activities described in subparagraph (E), if the school makes the agreements described in subparagraphs (B) through (D).

"(B)(i) For purposes of subparagraph (A), the agreement described in this subparagraph for a school is that, with respect to the costs of operating the area health education center program of the school, the school will make available (directly or through donations from public or private entities) non-Federal contributions in cash toward such costs in an amount that is not less than 50 percent of such costs.

"(ii) Amounts provided by the Federal Government may not be included in determining the amount of non-Federal contributions in cash made for purposes of the requirement established in clause (i).

"(C) For purposes of subparagraph (A), the agreement described in this subparagraph for a school is that, in operating the area health education program of the school, the school will—

"(i) coordinate the activities of the program with the activities of any office of rural health established by the State or States in which the program is operating;

"(ii) conduct health professions education and training activities consistent with national and State priorities in the area served by the program in coordination with the National Health Service Corps, entities receiving funds under section 329 or 330, and public health departments; and

"(iii) cooperate with any entities that are in operation in the area served by the program and that receive Federal or State funds to carry out activities regarding the recruitment and retention of health care providers.

"(D) For purposes of subparagraph (A), the agreement described in this subparagraph for a school is that, with respect to the costs of operating the area health education center program of the school, the school will maintain expenditures of non-Federal amounts for such costs at a level that is not less than the level of such expenditures maintained by the school for the fiscal year preceding the first fiscal year for which the school receives an award under subparagraph (A).

"(E) A school may expend not more than 10 percent of an award under subparagraph (A) for demonstration projects for any or all of the following purposes:

"(i) The establishment of computer-based information programs or telecommunication networks that will link health science centers and service delivery sites.

"(ii) The provision of disease specific educational programs for health providers and students in areas of concern to the United States.

"(iii) The development of information dissemination models to make available new information and technologies emerging from biological research centers to the practicing medical community.

"(iv) The institution of new minority recruitment and retention programs, targeted to improved service delivery in areas the program determines to be medically underserved.

"(v) The establishment of programs to place physicians from health manpower shortage areas into similar areas to encourage retention of physicians and to provide flexibility to States in filling positions in health professional shortage areas.

"(vi) The establishment or improvement of education and training programs for State emergency medical systems.

"(vii) The establishment of programs to train health care providers in the identification and referral of cases of domestic violence.

"(F) The aggregate amount of awards provided under subparagraph (A) to schools in a State for a fiscal year may not exceed the lesser of—

"(i) $2,000,000; and

"(ii) an amount equal to the product of $250,000 and the aggregate number of area health education centers operated in the State by the schools.

*"(b) S*TRUCTURE OF *P*ROGRAMS*.—*

*"(1) I*N GENERAL*.—An area health education center program shall be a cooperative program of one or more medical (M.D. and D.O.) schools and one or more nonprofit private or public area health education centers.*

*"(2) C*ERTAIN REQUIREMENTS*.—With respect to an area health education center program, a school may not receive an award under paragraph (1) of subsection (a) for operational expenses, or an award under paragraph (2) or (3) of such subsection, unless the program—*

"(A) maintains preceptorship educational experiences for health science students;

"(B) maintains community-based primary care residency programs or is affiliated with such programs;

"(C) maintains continuing education programs for health professionals or coordinates with such programs;

"(D) maintains learning resource and dissemination systems for information identification and retrieval;

"(E) has agreements with community-based organizations for the delivery of education and training in the health professions;

"(F) is involved in the training of health professionals (including nurses and allied health professionals), except to the extent inconsistent with the law of the State in which the training is conducted; and

"(G) carries out recruitment programs for the health science professions, or programs for health-career awareness, among minority and other elementary or secondary students from areas the program has determined to be medically underserved.

*"(c) R*EQUIREMENTS FOR *S*CHOOLS*.—Each medical (M.D. and D.O.) school participating in an area health education center program shall—*

"(1) provide for the active participation in such program by individuals who are associated with the administration of the school and each of the departments (or specialties if the school has no such departments) of internal medicine, pediatrics, obstetrics and gynecology, surgery, psychiatry, and family medicine;

"(2) provide that no less than 10 percent of all undergraduate medical (M.D. and D.O.) clinical education of the school will be conducted in an area health education center and at locations under the sponsorship of such center;

"(3) be responsible for, or conduct, a program for the training of physician assistants (as defined in section 799) or nurse practitioners (as defined under section 822) which gives special consideration to the enrollment of individuals from, or intending to practice in, the area served by the area health education center of the program; and

"(4) provide for the active participation of at least 2 schools or programs of other health professions (including a school of dentistry and a graduate program of mental health practice if there are ones affiliated with the university with which the school of medicine or osteopathic medicine is affiliated) in the educational program conducted in the area served by the area health education center.

The requirement of paragraph (3) shall not apply to a medical (M.D. and D.O.) school participating in an area health education center program if another such school participating in the same program meets the requirement of that paragraph.

*"(d) R*EQUIREMENTS FOR *C*ENTERS*.—*

*"(1) S*ERVICE AREA*.—Each area health education center shall specifically designate a geographic area in which it will serve, or shall specifically designate a medically underserved population it will serve (such area or population with respect to such center in this section referred to as 'the area served by the center'), which area or population is in a location remote from the main site of the teaching facilities of the school or schools which participate in the program with such center.*

*"(2) O*THER REQUIREMENTS*.—Each area health education center shall—*

"(A) provide for or conduct training in health education services, including education in nutrition evaluation and counseling, in the area served by the center;

"(B) assess the health manpower needs of the area served by the center and assist in the planning and development of training programs to meet such needs;

"(C) provide for or conduct a rotating osteopathic internship or a medical residency training program in family medicine, general internal medicine, or general pediatrics in which no fewer than four individuals are enrolled in first-year positions in such program;

"(D) provide opportunities for continuing medical education (including education in disease prevention) to all physicians and other health professionals (including allied health personnel) practicing within the area served by the center;

"(E) provide continuing medical education and other educational support services to the National Health Service Corps members serving within the area served by the center;

"(F) conduct interdisciplinary training and practice involving physicians and other health personnel including, where practicable, physician assistants, nurse practitioners, and nurse midwives;

"(G) arrange and support educational opportunities for medical and other students at health facilities, ambulatory care centers, and health agencies throughout the area served by the center; and

"(H) have an advisory board of which at least 75 percent of the members shall be individuals, including both health service providers and consumers, from the area served by the center.

Any area health education center which is participating in an area health education center program in which another center has a medical residency training program described in subparagraph (C) need not provide for or conduct such a medical residency training program.

*"(e) C*ERTAIN *P*ROVISIONS *R*EGARDING *F*UNDING*.—*

*"(1) P*ROGRAMS*.—Subject to paragraph (2), in providing financial assistance under this section to a school, the Secretary shall assure that—*

"(A) at least 75 percent of the total funds provided to the school are expended by an area health education center program in the area health education centers, and that the school enters into an agreement with each of such centers for purposes of specifying the allocation of such 75 percent;

"(B) with respect to the operating costs of the area health education program of the school, non-Federal contributions for such costs are made in an amount that is not less than 25 percent of such costs; and

"(C) no award provides funds solely for the planning or development of such a program for a period exceeding two years.

The Secretary may vest in entities which have received financial assistance under section 802 of the Health Professions Educational Assistance Act of 1976, section 774 as in effect before October 1, 1977, or under subsection (a) of this section for area health education centers programs title to any property acquired on behalf of the United States by that entity (or furnished to that entity by the United States) under that award.

*"(2) C*ENTERS*.—With respect to the period during which an area health education center is* planned, developed or operated pursuant to an award under subsection (a)(1), not more than 55 percent of the total amounts expended for the center in any fifth or sixth year of such period may be provided by the Secretary, subject to paragraph (3).

"(3) APPLICABILITY OF PROVISION REGARDING CENTERS.—Paragraph (2) shall apply only in the case of an area health education center program for which the initial award under subsection (a)(1) is provided on or after the date of the enactment of the Health Professions Education Extension Amendments of 1992.

"(f) HEALTH EDUCATION AND TRAINING CENTERS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall provide financial assistance to schools of medicine and osteopathic medicine for the purpose of planning, developing, establishing, maintaining, and operating health education and training centers—

"(A) to improve the supply, distribution, quality, and efficiency of personnel providing health services in the State of Florida or (in the United States) along the border between the United States and Mexico;

"(B) to improve the supply, distribution, quality, and efficiency of personnel providing, in other urban and rural areas (including frontier areas) of the United States, health services to any population group, including Hispanic individuals, that has demonstrated serious unmet health care needs; and

"(C) to encourage health promotion and disease prevention through public education in the areas described.

"(2) ARRANGEMENTS WITH OTHER ENTITIES.—The Secretary may not provide financial assistance under paragraph (1) unless the applicant for such assistance agrees, in carrying out the purpose described in such paragraph, to enter into arrangements with one or more public or nonprofit private entities in the State that have expertise in providing health education to the public.

"(3) SERVICE AREA.—The Secretary shall, after consultation with health education and training centers, designate the geographic area in which each such center will carry out the purpose described in paragraph (1). The service area of such a center shall be located entirely within the State in which the center is located. Each border health education and training center shall be located in a county (or other political subdivision) of the State in close proximity to the border between the United States and Mexico.

"(4) ADVISORY GROUP; OPERATIONAL PLAN.—The Secretary may not provide financial assistance under paragraph (1) unless the applicant for such assistance agrees—

"(A) to establish an advisory group comprised of health service providers, educators and consumers from the service area and of faculty from participating schools;

"(B) after consultation with such advisory group, to develop a plan for carrying out the purpose described in paragraph (1) in the service area;

"(C) to enter into contracts, as needed, with other institutions or entities to carry out such plan; and

"(D) to be responsible for the evaluation of the program.

"(5) CERTAIN ACTIVITIES.—The Secretary may not provide financial assistance under paragraph (1) unless the applicant for such assistance agrees—

"(A) to evaluate the specific service needs for health care personnel in the service area;

"(B) to assist in the planning, development, and conduct of training programs to meet the needs identified pursuant to subparagraph (A);

"(C) to conduct or support not less than one training and education program for physicians and one program for nurses for at least a portion of the clinical training of such students;

"(D) to conduct or support training in health education services, including training to prepare community health workers to implement health education programs in communities, health departments, health clinics, and public schools that are located in the service area;

"(E) to conduct or support continuing medical education programs for physicians and other health professionals (including allied health personnel) practicing in the service area;

"(F) to support health career educational opportunities designed to provide students residing in the service area with counseling, education, and training in the health professions;

"(G) with respect to border health education and training centers, to assist in coordinating its activities and programs carried out pursuant to paragraph (1)(A) with any similar programs and activities carried out in Mexico along the border between the United States and Mexico;

"(H) to make available technical assistance in the service area in the aspects of health care organization, financing and delivery; and

"(I) in the case of any school of public health located in the service area of the health education and training center operated with the assistance, to permit any such school to participate in the program of the center if the school makes a request to so participate.

"(6) ALLOCATION OF FUNDS BY CENTERS.—In carrying out this subsection, the Secretary shall ensure that—

"(A) not less than 75 percent of the total funds provided to a school or schools of medicine or osteopathic medicine will be expended in the development and operation of the health education and training center in the service area of such program;

"(B) to the maximum extent feasible, the school of medicine or osteopathic medicine will obtain from nongovernmental sources the amount of the total operating funds for such program which are not provided by the Secretary;

"(C) no award shall provide funds solely for the planning or development of a health education and training center program for a period in excess of two years;

"(D) not more than 10 percent of the annual budget of each program may be utilized for the renovation and equipping of clinical teaching sites; and

"(E) no award shall provide funds to be used outside the United States except as the Secretary may prescribe for travel and communications purposes related to the conduct of a border health education and training center.

"(7) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this subsection:

"(A) The term 'border health education and training center' means an entity that is a recipient of an award under paragraph (1) and that is carrying out (or will carry out) the purpose described in subparagraph (A) of such paragraph.

"(B) The term 'health education and training center' means an entity that is a recipient of an award under paragraph (1).

"(C) The term 'service area' means, with respect to a health education and training center, the geographic area designated for the center under paragraph (3).

"(8) ALLOCATION OF FUNDS BY SECRETARY.—

"(A) Of the amounts appropriated pursuant to subsection (i)(2) for a fiscal year, the Secretary shall make available 50 percent for allocations each fiscal year for applications approved by the Secretary for border health education and training centers. The amount of the allocation for each such center shall be determined in accordance with subparagraph (B).

"(B) The amount of an allocation under subparagraph (A) for a fiscal year shall be determined in accordance with a formula prescribed by the Secretary, which formula shall be based—

"(i) with respect to the service area of the border health education and training center involved, on the low-income population, including Hispanic individuals, in the State of Florida and along the border between the United States and Mexico, and the growth rate of such population;

"(ii) on the need of such population for additional personnel to provide health care services along such border; and

"(iii) on the most current information concerning mortality and morbidity and other indicators of health status for such population.

"(g) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section:

"(1) The term 'area health education center program' means a program which is organized as provided in subsection (b) and under which the participating medical (M.D. and D.O.) schools and the area health education centers meet the requirements of subsections (c) and (d).

"(2) The term 'award' means an award of financial assistance.

"(3) The term 'financial assistance' means a grant, cooperative agreement, or contract.

"(h) CRITERIA AND STANDARDS.—The Secretary shall establish standards and criteria for the requirements of this section.

"(i) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

"(1) AREA HEALTH EDUCATION CENTER PROGRAMS.—

"(A) For the purpose of carrying out this section other than subsection (f), there is authorized to be appropriated $25,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"(B) Of the amounts appropriated under paragraph (1) for a fiscal year, the Secretary may not obligate more than 20 percent for awards under subsection (a)(2).

"(C) Of the amounts appropriated under paragraph (1) for fiscal year 1993, the Secretary shall obligate for awards under subsection (a)(3) such amounts as are appropriated in excess of $19,200,000. Of the amounts appropriated under paragraph (1) for each of the fiscal years 1994 and 1995, the Secretary shall obligate for such awards such amounts as are appropriated in excess of $18,700,000.

"(2) HEALTH EDUCATION AND TRAINING CENTERS.—For the purpose of carrying out subsection (f), there is authorized to be appropriated $5,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"SEC. 747. FAMILY MEDICINE.

"(a) TRAINING GENERALLY.—The Secretary may make grants to, or enter into contracts with, any public or nonprofit private hospital, school of medicine or osteopathic medicine, or to or with a public or private nonprofit entity (which the Secretary has determined is capable of carrying out such grant or contract)—

"(1) to plan, develop, and operate, or participate in, an approved professional training program (including an approved residency or internship program) in the field of family medicine for medical (M.D. and D.O.) students, interns (including interns in internships in osteopathic medicine), residents, or practicing physicians;

"(2) to provide financial assistance (in the form of traineeships and fellowships) to medical (M.D. and D.O.) students, interns (including interns in internships in osteopathic medicine), residents, practicing physicians, or other medical personnel, who are in need thereof, who are participants in any such program, and who plan to specialize or work in the practice of family medicine;

"(3) to plan, develop, and operate a program for the training of physicians who plan to teach in family medicine training programs; and

"(4) to provide financial assistance (in the form of traineeships and fellowships) to physicians who are participants in any such program and who plan to teach in a family medicine training program.

"(b) ACADEMIC ADMINISTRATIVE UNITS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to or enter into contracts with schools of medicine or osteopathic medicine to meet the costs of projects to establish, maintain, or improve academic administrative units (which may be departments, divisions, or other units) to provide clinical instruction in family medicine.

"(2) PREFERENCE IN MAKING AWARDS.—In making awards of grants and contracts under paragraph (1), the Secretary shall give preference to any qualified applicant for such an award that agrees to expend the award for the purpose of—

"(A) establishing an academic administrative unit for programs in family medicine; or

"(B) substantially expanding the programs of such a unit.

"(c) DURATION OF AWARD.—The period during which payments are made to an entity from an award of a grant or contract under subsection (a) may not exceed 5 years. The provision of such payments shall be subject to annual approval by the Secretary of the payments and subject to the availability of appropriations for the fiscal year involved to make the payments.

"(d) FUNDING.—

"(1) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $54,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"(2) ALLOCATION.—Of the amounts appropriated under paragraph (1) for a fiscal year, the Secretary shall make available not less than 20 percent for awards of grants and contracts under subsection (b).

"SEC. 748. GENERAL INTERNAL MEDICINE AND GENERAL PEDIATRICS.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with schools of medicine and osteopathic medicine, public or private nonprofit hospital, or any other public or private nonprofit entity to meet the costs of projects—

"(1) to plan, develop, and operate, or participate in, an approved professional training program (including an approved residency or internship program) in the field of internal medicine or pediatrics for medical (M.D. and D.O.) students, interns (including interns in internships in osteopathic medicine), residents, or practicing physicians, which training program emphasizes training for the practice of general internal medicine or general pediatrics (as defined by the Secretary in regulations);

"(2) to provide financial assistance (in the form of traineeships and fellowships) to medical (M.D. and D.O.) students, interns (including interns in internships in osteopathic medicine), residents, practicing physicians, or other medical personnel, who are in need thereof, who are participants in any such training program, and who plan to specialize in or work in the practice of general internal medicine or general pediatrics;

"(3) to plan, develop, and operate a program for the training of physicians who will teach in a general internal medicine or general pediatrics training program; and

"(4) which provide financial assistance (in the form of traineeships and fellowships) to physicians who are participants in any such program and who plan to teach in a general internal medicine or general pediatrics training program.

"(b) DURATION OF AWARD.—The period during which payments are made to an entity from an award of a grant or contract under subsection (a) may not exceed 5 years. The provision of such payments shall be subject to annual approval by the Secretary of the payments and subject to the availability of appropriations for the fiscal year involved to make the payments.

"(e) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $25,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"SEC. 749. GENERAL PRACTICE OF DENTISTRY.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to, and enter into contracts with, any public or nonprofit private school of dentistry or accredited postgraduate dental training institution—

"(1) to plan, develop, and operate an approved residency program in the general practice of dentistry or an approved advanced educational program in the general practice of dentistry;

"(2) to provide financial assistance (in the form of traineeships and fellowships) to participants in such a program who are in need of financial assistance and who plan to specialize in the practice of general dentistry; and

"(3) to fund innovative, nontraditional models for the provision of postdoctoral General Dentistry training.

"(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $6,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"SEC. 750. PHYSICIAN ASSISTANTS.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with public or nonprofit private schools of medicine and osteopathic medicine and other public or nonprofit private entities to meet the costs of projects to plan, develop, and operate or maintain programs—

"(1) for the training of physician assistants (as defined in section 799); and

"(2) for the training of individuals who will teach programs of such training.

"(b) REGULATIONS.—After consultation with appropriate organizations, the Secretary shall prescribe regulations for programs receiving assistance under subsection (a) for the training of physician assistants. Such regulations shall, as a minimum, require that such a program—

"(1) extend for at least one academic year and consist of—

"(A) supervised clinical practice; and

"(B) at least four months (in the aggregate) of classroom instruction, directed toward preparing students to deliver health care;

"(2) have an enrollment of not less than eight students; and

"(3) train students in primary care, disease prevention, health promotion, geriatric medicine, and home health care.

"(c) PLACEMENT OF GRADUATES.—No grant or contract may be made under subsection (a) unless the school or other entity involved provides assurances satisfactory to the Secretary that the school or entity has appropriate mechanisms for placing graduates of the training program with respect to which the application is submitted in positions for which they have been trained.

"(d) FUNDING.—

"(1) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $9,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"(2) LIMITATION.—Not more than 10 percent of the amounts appropriated under paragraph (1) may be expended for carrying out subsection (a)(2).

"SEC. 751. PODIATRIC MEDICINE.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to, and enter into contracts with, public and nonprofit private hospitals and schools of podiatric medicine for the purpose of planning and implementing projects in primary care training for podiatric physicians in approved or provisionally approved residency programs which shall provide financial assistance in the form of traineeships to residents who participate in such projects and who plan to specialize in primary care.

"(b) PREFERENCE IN MAKING GRANTS.—In making grants under subsection (a), the Secretary shall give preference to qualified applicants that provide clinical training in podiatric medicine in a variety of medically underserved communities.

"(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $1,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"SEC. 752. GENERAL PROVISIONS.

"(a) TRAINEESHIPS AND FELLOWSHIPS.—

"(1) TRAINEESHIPS.—Payments by recipients of grants or contracts under this part for traineeships shall be limited to such amounts as the Secretary finds necessary to cover the cost of tuition and fees of, and stipends and allowances (including travel and subsistence expenses and dependency allowances) for the trainees.

"(2) FELLOWSHIPS.—Payments by recipients of grants or contracts under this part for fellowships shall be limited to such amounts as the Secretary finds necessary to cover the cost of advanced study by, and stipends and allowances (including travel and subsistence expenses and dependency allowances) for, the fellows.

"(b) AMOUNT OF GRANT.—The amount of any grant or contract under this part shall be determined by the Secretary.

"PART D—TRAINING IN CERTAIN HEALTH PROFESSIONS

"Subpart I—Public Health and Preventive Medicine

"SEC. 761. PUBLIC HEALTH TRAINEESHIPS.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to accredited schools of public health, and to other public or nonprofit private institutions accredited for the provision of graduate or specialized training in public health, for the purpose of assisting such schools and institutions in providing traineeships to individuals described in subsection (b)(3).

"(b) CERTAIN REQUIREMENTS.—

"(1) APPLICATION FOR GRANT.—No grant for traineeships may be made under subsection (a) unless an application therefor has been submitted to, and approved by, the Secretary. Such application shall be in such form, be submitted in such manner, and contain such information, as the Secretary by regulation may prescribe. Traineeships under such a grant shall be awarded in accordance with such regulations as the Secretary shall prescribe. The amount of any such grant shall be determined by the Secretary.

"(2) USE OF GRANT.—Traineeships awarded under grants made under subsection (a) shall provide for tuition and fees and such stipends and allowances (including travel and subsistence expenses and dependency allowances) for the trainees as the Secretary may deem necessary.

"(3) ELIGIBLE INDIVIDUALS.—The individuals referred to in subsection (a) are individuals who are pursuing a course of study in a health professions field in which there is a severe shortage of health professionals (which fields include the fields of epidemiology, environmental health, biostatistics, toxicology, and nutrition).

"SEC. 762. PUBLIC HEALTH SPECIAL PROJECTS.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with accredited schools of public health for the costs of planning, developing, demonstrating, operating, and evaluating projects that are in furtherance of the goals established by the Secretary for the year 2000 in the area of—

"(1) preventive medicine;

"(2) health promotion and disease prevention;

"(3) improving access to and quality of health services in medically underserved communities; or

"(4) reducing the incidence of domestic violence.

"(b) Preferences in Making Awards.—In making awards of grants and contracts under subsection (a), the Secretary shall give preference to qualified schools agreeing that the project for which the award is made—

"(1) will establish or strengthen field placements for students in public or nonprofit private health agencies or organizations; and

"(2) will involve faculty members and students in collaborative projects to enhance public health services to medically underserved communities.

"(c) Participation and Training of Students.—The Secretary may make an award of a grant or contract under subsection (a) only if the school involved agrees that the students of the school will, through participation in the project for which the award is made, receive training in the activities carried out by the project.

"(d) Application for Award.—The Secretary may make an award of a grant or contract under subsection (a) only if an application for the award is submitted to the Secretary and the application is in such form, is made in such manner, and contains such agreements, assurances, and information as the Secretary determines to be necessary to carry out this section.

"(e) Establishment of Goals; Related Reports.—

"(1) Goals.—

"(A) The Secretary shall establish goals for projects under subsection (a) (including goals regarding the training of students), and shall require that, as a condition of the receipt of grants and contracts under such subsection, schools carry out activities in furtherance of meeting the goals.

"(B) The Secretary shall establish and implement a methodology for measuring the extent of progress that has been made toward the goals established under subparagraph (A) by schools receiving grants or contracts under subsection (a).

"(2) Reports.—Not later than February 1, 1994, the Secretary shall submit to the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives, and the Committee on Labor and Human Resources of the Senate, a report describing the progress made by projects under subsection (a) during the preceding fiscal years toward the goals established under paragraph (1). For purposes of the report, the extent of such progress shall be measured through the methodology established under subparagraph (B) of such paragraph.

"SEC. 763. PREVENTIVE MEDICINE; DENTAL PUBLIC HEALTH.

"(a) In general.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with schools of medicine, osteopathic medicine, public health, and dentistry to meet the costs of projects—

"(1) to plan and develop new residency training programs and to maintain or improve existing residency training programs in preventive medicine and dental public health; and

"(2) to provide financial assistance to residency trainees enrolled in such programs.

"(b) Administration.—

"(1) Amount.—The amount of any grant under subsection (a) shall be determined by the Secretary.

"(2) Application.—No grant may be made under subsection (a) unless an application therefor is submitted to and approved by the Secretary. Such an application shall be in such form, submitted in such manner, and contain such information, as the Secretary shall by regulation prescribe.

"(3) Eligibilty.—To be eligible for a grant under subsection (a), the applicant must demonstrate to the Secretary that it has or will have available full-time faculty members with training and experience in the fields of preventive medicine or dental public health and support from other faculty members trained in public health and other relevant specialties and disciplines.

"(4) Other funds.—Schools of medicine, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, and public health may use funds committed by State, local, or county public health officers as matching amounts for Federal grant funds for residency training programs in preventive medicine.

"SEC. 765. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

"(a) In General.—For the purpose of carrying out this subpart, there is authorized to be appropriated $15,500,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"(b) Limitation Regarding Certain Program.—In obligating amounts appropriated under subsection (a), the Secretary may not obligate more than 40 percent for carrying out section 762.

"Subpart II—Allied Health Professions

"SEC. 766. ADVANCED TRAINING.

(a) In General.—The Secretary may award grants to and enter into contracts with eligible entities to assist such entities in meeting the costs associated with projects designed to—

(1) plan, develop, establish or expand postbaccalaureate programs for the advanced training of allied health professionals; and

(2) provide financial assistance, in the form of traineeships or fellowships, to postbaccalaureate students who are participants in any such program and who commit to teaching in the allied health profession involved.

(b) Preference.—In awarding grants under subsection (a), the Secretary shall give preference to qualified projects demonstrating that not less than 50 percent of the graduates of such schools or programs during the preceding 2-year period are engaged as full-time teaching faculty in an allied health shortage specialty.

(c) Limitation.—The Secretary shall limit grants and contracts awarded or entered into under subsection (a) to those allied health fields or specialties as the Secretary shall, from time to time, determine to have—

(1) the most significant national or regional shortages of practitioners;

(2) insufficient numbers of qualified faculty in entry level or advanced educational programs; or

(3) a significant role in the care and rehabilitation of patients who are elderly or disabled including physical therapists and occupational therapists.

"(d) Eligible Entities.—For purposes of this section, the term 'eligible entities' means entities that are—

"(1) public or private nonprofit schools, universities, or other educational entities that provide for education and training in the allied health professions and that meet such standards as the Secretary may by regulation prescribe; or

"(2) public or nonprofit private entities capable, as determined by the Secretary, of carrying out projects described in subsection (a).

(e) Authorization of Appropriations.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $5,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"SEC. 767. PROJECT GRANTS AND CONTRACTS.

"(a) Projects Related to Strengthening Training and Increasing Enrollment in the Allied Health Professions.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with eligible entities to assist such entities in meeting the costs associated with expanding or establishing programs that will increase the number of individuals trained in allied health professions. Programs and activities funded under this section may include—

"(1) those that expand enrollments in allied health professions with the greatest shortages or whose services are most needed by the elderly;

"(2) those that provide rapid transition training programs in allied health fields to individuals who have baccalaureate degrees in health-related sciences;

"(3) those that establish community-based allied health training programs that link academic centers to rural clinical settings;

"(4) those that provide career advancement training for practicing allied health professionals;

"(5) those that expand or establish clinical training sites for allied health professionals in medically underserved or rural communities in order to increase the number of individuals trained;

"(6) those that develop curriculum that will emphasize knowledge and practice in the areas of prevention and health promotion, geriatrics, long-term care, home health and hospice care, and ethics;

"(7) those that expand or establish interdisciplinary training programs that promote the effectiveness of allied health practitioners in geriatric assessment and the rehabilitation of the elderly;

"(8) those that expand or establish demonstration centers to emphasize innovative models to link allied health clinical practice, education, and research; and

"(9) those that provide financial assistance (in the form of traineeships) to students who are participants in any such program, and

"(A) who plan to pursue a career in an allied health field that has a demonstrated personnel shortage; and

"(B) who agree upon completion of the training program to practice in a medically underserved community; that shall be utilized to assist in the payment of all or part of the costs associated with tuition, fees and such other stipends as the Secretary may consider necessary.

"(b) Application.—

"(1) Requirement.—No grant may be awarded or contract entered into under this section unless an application therefore has been submitted to, and approved by, the Secretary. Such application shall be in such form, submitted in such manner, and contain such information, as the Secretary shall by regulation prescribe.

"(2) Preference.—In considering an application submitted for a grant under this section, the Secretary shall give preference to qualified applicants that—

"(A) expand and maintain first-year enrollment by not less than 10 percent over enrollments in base year 1992; or

"(B) demonstrate that not less than 20 percent of the graduates of such training programs during the preceding 2-year period are working in medically underserved communities.

"(c) Eligible Entities.—For purposes of this section, the term 'eligible entities' has the meaning given such term in section 766.

"(d) Authorization of Appropriation.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $5,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"Subpart III—Health Administration

"SEC. 771. TRAINEESHIPS AND SPECIAL PROJECTS.

"(a) In General.—The Secretary may make grants to public or nonprofit private educational entities (including graduate schools of social work but excluding accredited schools of public health) that offer a program described in subsection (b)—

"(1) to provide traineeships for students enrolled in such a program; and

"(2) to assist programs of health administration in the development or improvement of programs to prepare students for employment with public or nonprofit private entities.

"(b) Relevant Programs.—The program referred to in subsection (a) is a program in health administration, hospital administration, or health policy analysis and planning, which program is accredited by a body or bodies approved for such purpose by the Secretary of Education and which meets such other quality standards as the Secretary of Health and Human Services by regulation may prescribe.

"(c) Preference in Making Grants.—In making grants under subsection (a), the Secretary shall give preference to qualified applicants that meet the following conditions:

"(1) Not less than 25 percent of the graduates of the applicant are engaged in full-time practice settings in medically underserved communities.

"(2) The applicant recruits and admits students from medically underserved communities.

"(3) For the purpose of training students, the applicant has established relationships with public and nonprofit providers of health care in the community involved.

"(4) In training students, the applicant emphasizes employment with public or nonprofit private entities.

"(d) Certain Provisions Regarding Traineeships.—

"(1) Use of grant.—Traineeships awarded under grants made under subsection (a) shall provide for tuition and fees and such stipends and allowances (including travel and subsistence expenses and dependency allowances) for the trainees as the Secretary may deem necessary.

"(2) Preference for certain students.—Each entity applying for a grant under subsection (a) for traineeships shall assure to the satisfaction of the Secretary that the entity will give priority to awarding the traineeships to students who demonstrate a commitment to employment with public or nonprofit private entities in the fields with respect to which the traineeships are awarded.

"(e) Application for Grant.—No grant may be made under subsection (a) unless an application therefor has been submitted to, and approved by, the Secretary. Such application shall be in such form, be submitted in such manner, and contain such information, as the Secretary may prescribe. Traineeships under such a grant shall be awarded in accordance with such requirements as the Secretary shall prescribe. The amount of any such grant shall be determined by the Secretary.

"(f) Funding.—

"(1) Authorization of appropriations.—For payments under grants under subsection (a), there is authorized to be appropriated $2,500,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"(2) Limitation.—In obligating amounts appropriated under paragraph (1) for a fiscal year, the Secretary may not obligate more than 30 percent for grants under subsection (a)(2).

"PART E—SPECIAL TRAINING PROJECTS

"SEC. 776. ACQUIRED IMMUNE DEFICIENCY SYNDROME.

"(a) Schools; Centers.—

"(1) In general.—The Secretary may make grants and enter into contracts to assist public and nonprofit private entities and schools and academic health science centers in meeting the costs of projects—

"(A) to train the faculty of schools of, and graduate departments or programs of, medicine, nursing, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, public health, allied health, and mental health practice to teach health professions students to provide for the health care needs of individuals with HIV disease;

"(B) to train practitioners to provide for the health care needs of such individuals;

"(C) with respect to improving clinical skills in the diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of such disease, to educate and train the health professionals and clinical staff of schools of medicine, osteopathic medicine, and dentistry; and

"(D) to develop and disseminate curricula and resource materials relating to the care and treatment of individuals with such disease and the prevention of the disease among individuals who are at risk of contracting the disease.

"(2) Preference in making grants.—In making grants under paragraph (1), the Secretary shall give preference to qualified projects which will—

"(A) train, or result in the training of, health professionals who will provide treatment for minority individuals with HIV disease and other individuals who are at high risk of contracting such disease; and

"(B) train, or result in the training of, minority health professionals and minority allied health professionals to provide treatment for individuals with such disease.

"(3) Application.—No grant or contract may be made under paragraph (1) unless an application is submitted to the Secretary in such form, at such time, and containing such information, as the Secretary may prescribe.

"(b) Dental Schools.—

"(1) In general.—The Secretary may make grants to assist dental schools and programs described in section 777(b)(4)(B) with respect to oral health care to patients with HIV disease.

"(2) Application.—Each dental school or program described in section 777(b)(4)(B) may annually submit an application documenting the unreimbursed costs of oral health care provided to patients with HIV disease by that school or hospital during the prior year.

"(3) Distribution.—The Secretary shall distribute the available funds among all eligible applicants, taking into account the number of patients with HIV disease served and the unreimbursed oral health care costs incurred by each institution as compared with the total number of patients served and costs incurred by all eligible applicants.

"(4) Maintenance of effort.—The Secretary shall not make a grant under this subsection if doing so would result in any reduction in State funding allotted for such purposes.

"(c) Definition.—For purposes of this section:

"(1) The term 'HIV disease' means infection with the human immunodeficiency virus, and includes any condition arising from such infection.

"(2) The term 'human immunodeficiency virus' means the etiologic agent for acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

"(d) Authorization of Appropriations.—

"(1) Schools; centers.—For the purpose of grants under subsection (a), there is authorized to be appropriated $23,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"(2) Dental schools.—For the purpose of grants under subsection (b), there is authorized to be appropriated $7,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"SEC. 777. GERIATRICS.

"(a) Geriatric Education Centers.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with accredited health professions schools or programs described in paragraph (1), (3), or (4) of section 799 or in section 853(2) to assist in meeting the costs of such schools or programs of projects to—

"(1) improve the training of health professionals in geriatrics;

"(2) develop and disseminate curricula relating to the treatment of the health problems of elderly individuals;

"(3) expand and strengthen instruction in methods of such treatment;

"(4) support the training and retraining of faculty to provide such instruction;

"(5) support continuing education of health professionals and allied health professionals who provide such treatment; and

"(6) establish new affiliations with nursing homes, chronic and acute disease hospitals, ambulatory care centers, and senior centers in order to provide students with clinical training in geriatric medicine.

"(b) Geriatric Training Regarding Physicians and Dentists.—

"(1) In general.—The Secretary may make grants to, and enter into contracts with, schools of medicine, schools of osteopathic medicine, teaching hospitals, and graduate medical education programs, for the purpose of providing support (including residencies, traineeships, and fellowships) for geriatric training projects to train physicians and dentists who plan to teach geriatric medicine, geriatric psychiatry, or geriatric dentistry.

"(2) Requirements.—Each project for which a grant or contract is made under this subsection shall—

"(A) be staffed by full-time teaching physicians who have experience or training in geriatric medicine or geriatric psychiatry;

"(B) be staffed, or enter into an agreement with an institution staffed by full-time or part-time teaching dentists who have experience or training in geriatric dentistry;

"(C) be based in a graduate medical education program in internal medicine or family medicine or in a department of geriatrics or psychiatry;

"(D) provide training in geriatrics and exposure to the physical and mental disabilities of elderly individuals through a variety of service rotations, such as geriatric consultation services, acute care services, dental services, geriatric psychiatry units, day and home care programs, rehabilitation services, extended care facilities, geriatric ambulatory care and comprehensive evaluation units, and community care programs for elderly mentally retarded individuals; and

"(E) provide training in geriatrics through one or both of the training options described in subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph (3).

"(3) Training options.—The training options referred to in subparagraph (F) of paragraph (2) shall be as follows:

"(A) A 1-year retraining program in geriatrics for—

"(i) physicians who are faculty members in departments of internal medicine, family medicine, gynecology, geriatrics, and psychiatry at schools of medicine and osteopathic medicine; and

"(ii) dentists who are faculty members at schools of dentistry or at hospital departments of dentistry.

"(B) A 2-year internal medicine or family medicine fellowship program providing emphasis in geriatrics, which shall be designed to provide training in clinical geriatrics and geriatrics research for—

"(i) physicians who have completed graduate medical education programs in internal medicine, family medicine, psychiatry, neurology, gynecology, or rehabilitation medicine; and

"(ii) dentists who have demonstrated a commitment to an academic career and who have completed postdoctoral dental training, including postdoctoral dental education programs or who have relevant advanced training or experience.

"(4) Definitions.—For purposes of this subsection:

"(A) The term 'graduate medical education program' means a program sponsored by a school of medicine, a school of osteopathic medicine, a hospital, or a public or private institution that—

"(i) offers postgraduate medical training in the specialties and subspecialties of medicine; and

"(ii) has been accredited by the Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education or the American Osteopathic Association through its Committee on Postdoctoral Training.

"(B) The term 'post-doctoral dental education program' means a program sponsored by a school of dentistry, a hospital, or a public or private institution that—

"(i) offers post-doctoral training in the specialties of dentistry, advanced education in general dentistry, or a dental general practice residency; and

"(ii) has been accredited by the Commission on Dental Accreditation.

"(c) GERIATRIC TRAINING REGARDING OPTOMETRISTS.—The Secretary may make grants to, and enter into contracts with, schools and colleges of optometry for the purpose of providing support for projects—

"(1) to plan, develop, and operate projects in postgraduate geriatric care training for optometrists who will teach geriatric optometry;

"(2) to provide financial assistance (in the form of residencies, traineeships, and fellowships) to participants in such projects; and

"(3) to establish new affiliations with nursing homes, ambulatory care centers, senior centers, and other public or nonprofit private entities.

"(d) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

"(1) EDUCATION CENTERS; TRAINING.—For grants and contracts under subsections (a) and (b), there is authorized to be appropriated $17,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"(2) OPTOMETRY.—For grants and contracts under subsection (c), there is authorized to be appropriated $400,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"SEC. 778. RURAL AREAS.

"(a) GRANTS.—The Secretary may make grants to, or enter into contracts with, any eligible applicant to help such applicant fund authorized activities under an application approved under subsection (d).

"(b) USE OF AMOUNTS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Amounts provided under subsection (a) shall be used by the recipients to fund interdisciplinary training projects designed to—

"(A) use new and innovative methods to train health care practitioners to provide services in rural areas;

"(B) demonstrate and evaluate innovative interdisciplinary methods and models designed to provide access to cost-effective comprehensive health care;

"(C) deliver health care services to individuals residing in rural areas;

"(D) enhance the amount of relevant research conducted concerning health care issues in rural areas; and

"(E) increase the recruitment and retention of health care practitioners in rural areas and make rural practice a more attractive career choice for health care practitioners.

"(2) METHODS.—A recipient of funds under subsection (a) may use various methods in carrying out the projects described in paragraph (1), including—

"(A) the distribution of stipends to students of eligible applicants;

"(B) the establishment of a post-doctoral fellowship program;

"(C) the training of faculty in the economic and logistical problems confronting rural health care delivery systems; or

"(D) the purchase or rental of transportation and telecommunication equipment where the need for such equipment due to unique characteristics of the rural area is demonstrated by the recipient.

"(3) ADMINISTRATION.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—An applicant shall not use more than 10 percent of the funds made available to such applicant under subsection (a) for administrative expenses.

"(B) TRAINING.—Not more than 10 percent of the individuals receiving training with funds made available to an applicant under subsection (a) shall be trained as doctors of medicine or doctors of osteopathy.

"(C) LIMITATION.—An institution that receives a grant under this section shall use amounts received under such grant to supplement, not supplant, amounts made available by such institution for activities of the type described in subsection (b)(1) in the fiscal year preceding the year for which the grant is received.

"(c) ELIGIBLE APPLICANTS.—Applicants eligible to obtain funds under subsection (a) shall include local health departments, nonprofit organizations and public or nonprofit colleges, universities, or schools of, or programs that specialize in, nursing, mental health practice, optometry, public health, dentistry, osteopathy, physicians assistants, pharmacy, podiatry, medicine, chiropractic, and allied health professions if such applicants submit applications approved by the Secretary under subsection (d). Applicants eligible to obtain funds under subsection (a) shall not include for-profit entities, either directly or through a subcontract or subgrant.

"(d) APPLICATIONS.—

"(1) SUBMISSION.—In order to receive a grant under subsection (a) an entity shall submit an application to the Secretary.

"(2) FORMS.—An application submitted under this subsection shall be in such form, be submitted by such date, and contain such information as the Secretary shall require.

"(3) APPLICATIONS.—Applications submitted under this subsection shall—

"(A) be jointly submitted by at least two eligible applicants with the express purpose of assisting individuals in academic institutions in establishing long-term collaborative relationships with health care providers in rural areas;

"(B) designate a rural health care agency or agencies for clinical treatment or training, including hospitals, community health centers, migrant health centers, rural health clinics, community mental health centers, long-term care facilities, Native Hawaiian Health centers, or facilities operated by the Indian Health Service or an Indian tribe or tribal organization or Indian organization under a contract with the Indian Health Service under the Indian Self-Determination Act; and

"(C) provide any additional information required by the Secretary.

"(e) DEFINITIONS.—For the purposes of this section, the term 'rural' means geographic areas that are located outside of standard metropolitan statistical areas.

"(f) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $7,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"PART F—MISCELLANEOUS PROGRAMS

"SEC. 781. RESEARCH ON CERTAIN HEALTH PROFESSIONS ISSUES.

"(a) EDUCATIONAL INDEBTEDNESS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (2), the Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with public and nonprofit private entities for the purpose of conducting research on the extent to which the debt incurred by medical students for attendance at educational institutions has had a detrimental effect on the decisions made by the students on entering primary care specialities.

"(2) EVALUATION OF RATE OF INCREASE.—In carrying out paragraph (1), the Secretary shall provide for a determination of the reasons underlying the rate of increase occurring since January 1, 1981, in tuition and fees for attending health professions schools. The Secretary shall ensure that the determination includes the justifications of such schools for such rate.

"(b) EFFECT OF PROGRAMS FOR MINORITY AND DISADVANTAGED INDIVIDUALS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with public and nonprofit private entities for the purpose of conducting research on the effects that Federally-funded educational programs or policies for minority or disadvantaged individuals have on—

"(A) the number of such individuals attending health professions school;

"(B) the number of such individuals completing the programs of education involved; and

"(C) the decisions made by such individuals on which of the health professions specialities to enter.

"(2) SEPARATE SPECIFICATIONS FOR CERTAIN CATEGORIES OF SCHOOLS.—The Secretary may provide a grant or contract under paragraph (1) only if the applicant involved agrees that in conducting research under such paragraph the applicant will make findings specific to the following categories of health professions schools:

"(A) Health professions schools of historically black colleges and universities.

"(B) Other health professions schools attended by a substantial number of minority individuals.

"(C) Health professions schools generally.

"(c) EXTENT OF INVESTIGATIONS AND DISCIPLINARY ACTIONS BY STATE LICENSING AUTHORITIES.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with public and nonprofit private entities for the purpose of conducting research on the effectiveness of the States in protecting the public health through—

"(1) identifying health care providers with respect to whom investigations of professional qualifications are warranted;

"(2) conducting such investigations; and

"(3) taking disciplinary actions against health care providers determined through such investigations to have engaged in conduct inconsistent with protecting the public health.

"(d) PRIMARY HEALTH CARE.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with public and nonprofit private entities for the purpose of conducting research—

"(A) to determine the extent to which Federal programs and related financial incentives influence the percentage of medical school graduates selecting a primary care career;

"(B) to determine the extent to which Federal programs and related financial incentives adequately support the training of mid-level primary care providers relative to other health professions education receiving Federal assistance;

"(C) to assess the impact that direct and indirect payments for graduate medical education (including the appropriateness of payments for independent, ambulatory training sites) have on increasing the percentage of physicians graduating from medical school who enter primary care careers;

"(D) to assess the impact of medical school admission policies on specialty selection and recommend ways admission policies can better facilitate and promote the selection of primary care as a medical career;

"(E) to assess the impact that Federal funding for biomedical research influences the design of medical school curriculum and the availability of primary care educational opportunities;

"(F) to assess the impact of medical school curriculum, including the availability of clinical training in ambulatory care settings, influences the percentage of physicians selecting primary care residencies and selecting primary care as a medical career; and

"(G) to assess the extent to which current physician payment policies under resource based relative value scale are sufficient to encourage physicians graduating from medical school to enter and remain in primary care careers.

"(2) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this subsection:

"(A) The term 'primary care careers', with respect to medicine, means family practice, general internal medicine and general pediatrics.

"(B) The term 'mid-level primary care health professions' means physician assistants, nurse practitioners, and nurse midwives.

"(e) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $4,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"SEC. 782. CHIROPRACTIC DEMONSTRATION PROJECTS.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with schools, colleges, and universities of chiropractic for the purpose of carrying out demonstration projects in which chiropractors and physicians collaborate to identify and provide effective treatment for spinal and lower-back conditions.

"(b) PARTICIPATION OF MEDICAL SCHOOLS.—The Secretary may make an award of a grant or contract under subsection (a) only if the applicant involved has entered into such agreements as may be necessary to ensure that in the project under such subsection a school of medicine or osteopathic medicine will participate in the project.

"(c) PEER REVIEW.—Each peer review group under section 798(a) reviewing proposals for grants or contracts under subsection (a) shall include no fewer than two, and no more than three, chiropractors.

"(d) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall prepare a report that—

"(A) summarizes the applications submitted to the Secretary for grants or contracts under subsection (a);

"(B) specifies the identity of entities receiving the grants or contracts; and

"(C) evaluates the effectiveness of the programs operated with the grants and contracts.

"(2) DATE CERTAIN FOR SUBMISSION.—Not later than February 10, 1995, the Secretary shall complete the report required in paragraph (1) and submit the report to the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Labor and Human Resources of the Senate.

"(e) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $1,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

"PART G—GENERAL PROVISIONS

"SEC. 791. PREFERENCES AND REQUIRED INFORMATION IN CERTAIN PROGRAMS.

"(a) PREFERENCES IN MAKING AWARDS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (2), in making awards of grants or contracts under any of sections 747 through 751, under section 763, or under section 766 or 767, the Secretary shall give preference to any qualified applicant that—

"(A) has a high rate for placing graduates in practice settings having the principal focus of serving residents of medically underserved communities; or

"(B) during the 2-year period preceding the fiscal year for which such an award is sought, has achieved a significant increase in the rate of placing graduates in such settings.

"(2) LIMITATION REGARDING PEER REVIEW.—For purposes of paragraph (1), the Secretary may not give an applicant preference if the proposal of the applicant is ranked at or below the 20th percentile of proposals that have been recommended for approval by peer review groups under section 798(a).

"(b) REQUIRED SUBMISSION OF INFORMATION.—The Secretary may make an award of a grant or contract under any of sections 747 through 751 or under section 763 only if the applicant for the award submits to the Secretary (through the application required in section 752(a)) the following information regarding the programs of the applicant:

"(1) A description of rotations or preceptorships for students, or clinical training programs for residents, that have the principal focus of providing health care to medically underserved communities.

"(2) The number of faculty on admissions committees who have a clinical practice in community-based ambulatory settings in medically underserved communities.

"(3) With respect to individuals who are from disadvantaged backgrounds or from medically underserved communities, the number of such individuals who are recruited for academic programs of the applicant, the number of such individuals who are admitted to such programs, and the number of such individuals who graduate from such programs.

"(4) If applicable, the number of recent graduates who have chosen careers in primary health care.

"(5) The number of recent graduates whose practices are serving medically underserved communities.

"(6) A description of whether and to what extent the applicant is able to operate without Federal assistance under this title.

"(c) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this section, the term 'graduate' means, unless otherwise specified, an individual who has successfully completed all training and residency requirements necessary for full certification in the health profession selected by the individual.

"SEC. 792. HEALTH PROFESSIONS DATA.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall establish a program, including a uniform health professions data reporting system, to collect, compile, and analyze data on health professions personnel which program shall initially include data respecting all physicians and dentists in the States. The Secretary is authorized to expand the program to include, whenever he determines it necessary, the collection, compilation, and analysis of data respecting pharmacists, optometrists, podiatrists, veterinarians, public health personnel, audiologists, speech pathologists, health care administration personnel, nurses, allied health personnel, medical technologists, chiropractors, clinical psychologists, and any other health personnel in States designated by the Secretary to be included in the program. Such data shall include data respecting the training, licensure status (including permanent, temporary, partial, limited, or institutional), place or places of practice, professional specialty, practice characteristics, place and date of birth, sex, and socio-economic background of health professions personnel and such other demographic information regarding health professions personnel as the Secretary may require.

"(b) CERTAIN AUTHORITIES AND REQUIREMENTS.—

"(1) SOURCES OF INFORMATION.—In carrying out subsection (a), the Secretary shall collect available information from appropriate local, State, and Federal agencies and other appropriate sources.

"(2) CONTRACTS FOR STUDIES OF HEALTH PROFESSIONS.—The Secretary shall conduct or enter into contracts for the conduct of analytic and descriptive studies of the health professions, including evaluations and projections of the supply of, and requirements for, the health professions by specialty and geographic location. Such studies shall include studies determining by specialty and geographic location the number of health professionals (including allied health professionals and health care administration personnel) who are members of minority groups, including Hispanics, and studies providing by specialty and geographic location evaluations and projections of the supply of, and requirements for, health professionals (including allied health professionals and health care administration personnel) to serve minority groups, including Hispanics.

"(3) GRANTS AND CONTRACTS REGARDING STATES.—The Secretary is authorized to make grants and to enter into contracts with States (or an appropriate nonprofit private entity in any State) for the purpose of participating in the program established under subsection (a). The Secretary shall determine the amount and scope of any such grant or contract. To be eligible for a grant or contract under this paragraph a State or entity shall submit an application in such form and manner and containing such information as the Secretary shall require. Such application shall include reasonable assurance, satisfactory to the Secretary, that—

"(A) such State (or nonprofit entity within a State) will establish a program of mandatory annual registration of the health professions personnel described in subsection (a) who reside or practice in such State and of health institutions licensed by such State, which registration shall include such information as the Secretary shall determine to be appropriate;

"(B) such State or entity shall collect such information and report it to the Secretary in such form and manner as the Secretary shall prescribe; and

"(C) such State or entity shall comply with the requirements of subsection (e).

"(d) REPORTS TO CONGRESS.—The Secretary shall submit to the Congress on October 1, 1993, and biennially thereafter, the following reports:

"(1) A comprehensive report regarding the status of health personnel according to profession, including a report regarding the analytic and descriptive studies conducted under this section.

"(2) A comprehensive report regarding applicants to, and students enrolled in, programs and institutions for the training of health personnel, including descriptions and analyses of student indebtedness, student need for financial assistance, financial resources to meet the needs of students, student career choices such as practice specialty and geographic location and the relationship, if any, between student indebtedness and career choices.

"(e) REQUIREMENTS REGARDING PERSONAL DATA.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary and each program entity shall in securing and maintaining any record of individually identifiable personal data (hereinafter in this subsection referred to as 'personal data') for purposes of this section—

"(A) inform any individual who is asked to supply personal data whether he is legally required, or may refuse, to supply such data and inform him of any specific consequences, known to the Secretary or program entity, as the case may be, of providing or not providing such data;

"(B) upon request, inform any individual if he is the subject of personal data secured or maintained by the Secretary or program entity, as the case may be, and make the data available to him in a form comprehensible to him;

"(C) assure that no use is made of personal data which use is not within the purposes of this section unless an informed consent has been obtained from the individual who is the subject of such data; and

"(D) upon request, inform any individual of the use being made of personal data respecting such individual and of the identity of the individuals and entities which will use the data and their relationship to the programs under this section.

"(2) CONSENT AS PRECONDITION TO DISCLOSURE.—Any entity which maintains a record of personal data and which receives a request from the Secretary or a program entity for such data for purposes of this section shall not transfer any such data to the Secretary or to a program entity unless the individual whose personal data is to be so transferred gives an informed consent for such transfer.

"(3) DISCLOSURE BY SECRETARY.—

"(A) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, personal data collected by the Secretary or any program entity under this section may not be made available or disclosed by the Secretary or any program entity to any person other than the individual who is the subject of such data unless (i) such person requires such data for purposes of this section, or (ii) in response to a demand for such data made by means of compulsory legal process. Any individual who is the subject of personal data made available or disclosed under clause (ii) shall be notified of the demand for such data.

"(B) Subject to all applicable laws regarding confidentiality, only the data collected by the Secretary under this section which is not personal data shall be made available to bona fide researchers and policy analysts (including the Congress) for the purposes of assisting in the conduct of studies respecting health professions personnel.

"(4) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this subsection, the term 'program entity' means any public or private entity which collects, compiles, or analyzes health professions data under a grant, contract, or other arrangement with the Secretary under this section.

"(g) TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.—The Secretary shall provide technical assistance to the States and political subdivisions thereof in the development of systems (including model laws) concerning confidentiality and comparability of data collected pursuant to this section.

"(h) GRANTS AND CONTRACTS REGARDING NONPROFIT ENTITIES.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—In carrying out subsection (a), the Secretary may make grants, or enter into contracts and cooperative agreements with, and provide technical assistance to, any nonprofit entity in order to establish a uniform allied health professions data reporting system to collect, compile, and analyze data on the allied health professions personnel.

"(2) REPORTS.—With respect to reports required in subsection (d), each such report made on or after October 1, 1991, shall include a description and analysis of data collected pursuant to paragraph (1).

"SEC. 793. STATISTICS; ANNUAL REPORT.

"(a) STATISTICS AND OTHER INFORMATION.—The Secretary shall, in coordination with the National Center for Health Statistics (established under section 306), continuously develop, publish, and disseminate on a nationwide basis statistics and other information respecting public and community health personnel, including—

"(1) detailed descriptions of the various types of activities in which public and community health personnel are engaged,

"(2) the current and anticipated needs for the various types of public and community health personnel, and

"(3) the number, employment, geographic locations, salaries, and surpluses and shortages of public and community health personnel, the educational and licensure requirements for the various types of such personnel, and the cost of training such personnel.

"(b) REQUIREMENTS REGARDING PERSONAL DATA.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary and each program entity shall in securing and maintaining any record of individually identifiable personal data (in this subsection referred to as 'personal data') for purposes of this section—

"(A) inform any individual who is asked to supply personal data whether he is legally required, or may refuse, to supply such data and inform him of any specific consequences, known to the Secretary or program entity as the case may be, of providing or not providing such data;

"(B) upon request, inform any individual if he is the subject of personal data secured or maintained by the Secretary or program entity, as the case may be, and make the data available to him in a form comprehensible to him;

"(C) assure that no use is made of personal data which is not within the purposes of this section unless an informed consent has been obtained from the individual who is the subject of such data; and

"(D) upon request, inform any individual of the use being made of personal data respecting such individual and of the identity of the individuals and entities which will use the data and their relationship to the activities conducted under this section.

"(2) CONSENT AS PRECONDITION TO TRANSFER OF INFORMATION.—Any entity which maintains a record of personal data and which receives a request from the Secretary or a program entity to use such data for purposes of this section shall not transfer any such data to the Secretary or to a program entity unless the individual whose personal data is to be so transferred gives an informed consent for such transfer.

"(3) DISCLOSURE BY SECRETARY.—

"(A) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, personal data collected by the Secretary or any program entity for purposes of this section may not be made available or disclosed by the Secretary or any program entity to any person other than the individual who is the subject of such data unless (i) such person requires such data for purposes of this section, or (ii) in response to a demand for such data made by means of compulsory legal process. Any individual who is the subject of personal data made available or disclosed under clause (ii) shall be notified of the demand for such data.

"(B) Subject to all applicable laws regarding confidentiality, only the data collected by the Secretary under this section which is not personal data shall be made available to bona fide researchers and policy analysts (including the Congress) for the purposes of assisting in the conduct of studies respecting health professions personnel.

"(4) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this subsection, the term 'program entity' means any public or private entity which collects, compiles, or analyzes health professions data under an arrangement with the Secretary for purposes of this section.

"(c) REPORT.—The Secretary shall submit biennially to the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives and to the Committee on Labor and Human Resources of the Senate a report on—

"(1) the statistics and other information developed pursuant to subsection (a); and

"(2) the activities conducted under subparts I and II of part D, including an evaluation of such activities.

Such report shall contain such recommendations for legislation as the Secretary determines are needed to improve the programs authorized under such subparts. The Office of Management and Budget may review such report before its submission to such Committees, but the Office may not revise the report or delay its submission beyond the date prescribed for its submission and may submit to such Committees its comments respecting such report.

"(d) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section, the term 'public and community health personnel' means individuals who are engaged in—

"(1) the planning, development, monitoring, or management of health care or health care institutions, organizations, or systems,

"(2) research on health care development and the collection and analysis of health statistics, data on the health of population groups, and any other health data,

"(3) the development and improvement of individual and community knowledge of health (including environmental health and preventive medicine) and the health care system, or

"(4) the planning and development of a healthful environment and control of environmental health hazards.

"SEC. 794. PROHIBITION AGAINST DISCRIMINATION ON BASIS OF SEX.

"The Secretary may not make a grant, loan guarantee, or interest subsidy payment under this title to, or for the benefit of, any school of medicine, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, optometry, pharmacy, podiatric medicine, or public health or any training center for allied health personnel, or graduate program in clinical psychology, unless the application for the grant, loan guarantee, or interest subsidy payment contains assurances satisfactory to the Secretary that the school or training center will not discriminate on the basis of sex in the admission of individuals to its training programs. The Secretary may not enter into a contract under this title with any such school or training center unless the school, training center, or graduate program furnishes assurances satisfactory to the Secretary that it will not discriminate on the basis of sex in the admission of individuals to its training programs. In the case of a school of medicine which—

"(1) on the date of the enactment of this sentence is in the process of changing its status as an institution which admits only female students to that of an institution which admits students without regard to their sex, and

"(2) is carrying out such change in accordance with a plan approved by the Secretary, the provisions of the preceding sentences of this section shall apply only with respect to a grant, contract, loan guarantee, or interest subsidy to, or for the benefit of such a school for a fiscal year beginning after June 30, 1979.

"SEC. 795. OBLIGATED SERVICE REGARDING CERTAIN PROGRAMS.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—In the case of any program under this title under which a scholarship, stipend, or other financial assistance is provided to an individual with respect to education as a health professional (including a program that provides for the repayment of loans), if the program provides that the provision of the financial assistance involved is subject to this section, then the assistance may be provided only if the individual makes agreements as follows:

"(1) The individual will complete the program of education with respect to which such assistance is provided (in the case of assistance provided for purposes other than the repayment of loans).

"(2) In the case of an individual who receives such assistance with respect to attendance at a school of medicine or osteopathic medicine, the individual will—

"(A) enter and complete a residency training program in a specialty in primary health care not later than 4 years after completing the program of education described in paragraph (1); and

"(B) practice in the specialty for 5 years after completing the residency training program.

"(3) in the case of an individual who receives such assistance with respect to attendance at a school of dentistry, the individual will practice in general dentistry for 5 years (exclusive of any period during which the individual is attending a residency training program in general dentistry).

"(4) Subsection (b) applies with respect to the breach of agreements made under any of paragraphs (1) through (3).

"(b) BREACH OF AGREEMENTS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of subsection (a)(4), the following applies:

"(A) In the case of a program under this title that provides financial assistance for attendance at a program of education in a health profession, the individual is liable to the Federal Government for the amount of the award (including amounts provided for expenses related to such attendance), and for interest on such amount at the maximum legal prevailing rate, if the individual—

"(i) fails to maintain an acceptable level of academic standing in the program of education (as indicated by such program in accordance with requirements established by the Secretary);

"(ii) is dismissed from the program for disciplinary reasons; or

"(iii) voluntarily terminates the program.

"(B) The individual is liable to the Federal Government for the amount of the award (including amounts provided for expenses related to such attendance), and for interest on such amount at the maximum legal prevailing rate, if the individual fails to comply with the agreement made under subsection (a)(2).

"(2) WAIVER OR SUSPENSION OF LIABILITY.—In the case of an individual making agreements under subsection (a), the Secretary shall provide for the waiver or suspension of liability under paragraph (1) if compliance by the individual with the agreements involved is impossible, or would involve extreme hardship to the individual, and if enforcement of the agreements with respect to the individual would be unconscionable.

"(3) DATE CERTAIN FOR RECOVERY.—Subject to paragraph (2), any amount that the Federal Government is entitled to recover under paragraph (1) shall be paid to the United States not later than the expiration of the three-year period beginning on the date the United States becomes so entitled.

"SEC. 798. CERTAIN GENERAL PROVISIONS.

"(a) PEER REVIEW.—Each application for a grant or contract under this title shall be submitted to a peer review group for an evaluation of the merits of the proposals made in the application. The Secretary may not approve such an application unless a peer review group has recommended the application for approval. Each peer review group under this subsection shall be composed principally of individuals who are not officers or employees of the Federal Government. This subsection shall be carried out by the Secretary acting through the Administrator of the Health Resources and Services Administration.

"(b) DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY OF SECRETARY.—The Secretary may delegate the authority to administer any program authorized by this title to the administrator of a central or regional office or offices of the Department, except that the authority to make such a grant, enter into such a contract, continue such a grant or contract, or modify such a contract, shall not be delegated to any administrator of, or officer in, a regional office or offices of the Department.

"(c) DIFFERENTIAL TUITION AND FEES.—The Secretary may not enter into a contract with, or make a grant, loan guarantee, or interest subsidy payment under this title or title VIII, to or for the benefit of, any school, program, or training center if the tuition levels or educational fees at such school, program, or training center are higher for certain students solely on the basis that such students are the recipients of traineeships, loans, loan guarantees, service scholarships, or interest subsidies from the Federal Government.

"(d) APPLICABILITY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS ON CONTRACTS.—Contracts authorized by this title may be entered into without regard to section 3324 of title 31, United States Code, or section 3709 of the Revised Statutes (41 U.S.C. 5).

"(e) RECORDS AND AUDITS.—

"(1) MAINTENANCE OF RECORDS.—

"(A) Each entity which receives a grant, loan, loan guarantee, or interest subsidy or which enters into a contract with the Secretary under this title, shall establish and maintain such records as the Secretary shall by regulation or order require.

"(B) The Secretary may specify, by regulation, the form and manner in which such records, required by subparagraph (A), shall be established and maintained.

"(2) BIENNIAL AUDITS.— Each entity which received a grant or entered into a contract under this title shall provide for a biennial financial audit of any books, accounts, financial records, files, and other papers and property which relate to the disposition or use of the funds received under such grant or contract and such other funds received by or allocated to the project or undertaking for which such grant or contract was made. For purposes of assuring accurate, current, and complete disclosure of the disposition or use of the funds received, each such audit shall be conducted in accordance with such requirements concerning the individual or agency which conducts the audit, and such standards applicable to the performance of the audit, as the Secretary may by regulation provide. A report of each such audit shall be filed with the Secretary at such time and in such manner as he may require.

"(3) APPLICABILITY TO STUDENTS.—A student recipient of a scholarship, traineeship, loan, or loan guarantee under this title shall not be required to establish or maintain the records required in paragraph (1) or provide for an audit required in paragraph (2).

"(4) AVAILABILITY OF DOCUMENTS, ETC..—

"(A) Each entity which is required to establish and maintain records or to provide for an audit under this subsection shall make such books, documents, papers, and records available to the Secretary or the Comptroller General of the United States, or any of their duly authorized representatives, for examination, copying, or mechanical reproduction on or off the premises of such entity upon a reasonable request therefor.

"(B) The Secretary and the Comptroller General of the United States, or any of their duly authorized representatives, shall have the authority to carry out the purposes of this paragraph.

"(f) MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.—

"(1) PAYMENTS UNDER GRANTS.—Grants made under this title may be paid (A) in advance or by way of reimbursement, (B) at such intervals and on such conditions as the Secretary may find necessary, and (C) with appropriate adjustments on account of overpayments or underpayments previously made.

"(2) APPLICATIONS FOR GRANTS AND CONTRACTS.—No grant may be made or contract entered into under this title unless an application therefor has been submitted to and approved by the Secretary. Such application shall be in such form, submitted in such manner, and contain such information, as the Secretary shall by regulation prescribe.

"(3) ASSURANCES.—Whenever in this title an applicant is required to provide assurances to the Secretary, or an application is required to contain assurances or be supported by assurances, the Secretary shall determine before approving the application that the assurances provided are made in good faith.

"(4) TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.—Funds appropriated under this title may be used by the Secretary to provide technical assistance in relation to any of the authorities under this title.

"(5) GRADUATES OF FOREIGN MEDICAL SCHOOLS.—The Secretary may make an award of a grant, cooperative agreement, or contract under this title to an entity (including a school) that provides graduate training in the health professions only if the entity agrees that, in considering applications for admissions to a program of such training, the entity will not refuse to consider an application solely on the basis that the application is submitted by a graduate of a foreign medical school. This paragraph may not be construed as establishing any private right of action.

"SEC. 799. DEFINITIONS.

"(10)(A) Subject to subparagraph (B), the term 'underrepresented minorities' means, with respect to a health profession, racial and ethnic populations that are underrepresented in the health profession relative to the number of individuals who are members of the population involved.

"(B) For purposes of subparagraph (A), Asian individuals shall be considered by the various subpopulations of such individuals.".

SEC. 103. EFFECTIVE DATE.

The amendment made by section 102 takes effect on the date of the enactment of this Act, except that section 708 of the Public Health Service Act, as added by section 102 of this Act, takes effect January 1, 1993. Until such date, section 732(c) of the Public Health Service Act, as in effect on the day before the date of the enactment of this Act, continues in effect in lieu of such section 708.

TITLE II—NURSE EDUCATION

SEC. 201. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be referred to as the Nurse Education and Practice Improvement Amendments of 1992.

SEC. 202. SPECIAL PROJECT GRANTS AND CONTRACTS.

(a) In General.—Section 820 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 296k) is amended to read as follows:

"SPECIAL PROJECT GRANTS AND CONTRACTS

"Sec. 820. (a) Expansion of Enrollment in Professional Nursing Programs.—

"(1) In general.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with public and nonprofit private schools of nursing with programs of education in professional nursing for the purpose of assisting the schools in increasing the number of students enrolled in such programs. Such a grant or contract may be made only with respect to such programs that are in operation on the date of the enactment of the Health Professions Education Extension Amendments of 1992.

"(2) Preference.—In making awards of grants and contracts under paragraph (1), the Secretary shall give preference to any qualified school that provides students of the school with clinical training in the provision of primary health care in publicly-funded—

"(A) urban or rural outpatient facilities, home health agencies, or public health agencies; or

"(B) rural hospitals.

"(3) Matching funds.—

"(A) With respect to the costs of the program to be carried out by a school pursuant to paragraph (1), the Secretary may provide an award of a grant or contract under such paragraph only if the school agrees to make available (directly or through donations from public or private entities) non-Federal contributions toward such costs in an amount that—

"(i) for the first fiscal year for which the school receives such an award, is not less than $1 for each $9 of Federal funds provided through the award (10 percent of such costs);

"(ii) for any second such fiscal year, is not less than $1 for each $3 of Federal funds provided through the award (25 percent of such costs);

"(iii) for any third such fiscal year, is not less than $1 for each $1 of Federal funds provided through the award (50 percent of such costs); and

"(iv) for any fourth or fifth such fiscal year, is not less than $3 for each $1 of Federal funds provided through the award (75 percent of such costs).

"(B) Non-Federal contributions required in subparagraph (A) may be in cash or in kind, fairly evaluated, including plant, equipment, or services. Amounts provided by the Federal Government, or services assisted or subsidized to any significant extent by the Federal Government, may not be included in determining the amount of such non-Federal contributions.

"(b) Primary Health Care in Noninstitutional Settings.—

"(1) In general.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with public and nonprofit private schools of nursing for the establishment or expansion of nursing practice arrangements in noninstitutional settings to demonstrate methods to improve access to primary health care in medically underserved communities.

"(2) Operation and staffing of programs.—The Secretary may make an award of a grant or contract under paragraph (1) only if the school involved agrees that the program carried out with the award will be operated and staffed by the faculty and students of the school.

"(3) Design.—The Secretary may make an award of a grant or contract under paragraph (1) only if the program to be carried out under such paragraph by the school involved is designed to provide at least 25 percent of the students of the school with a structured clinical experience in primary health care.

"(c) Continuing Education for Nurses in Medically Underserved Communities.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with public and nonprofit private entities for the purpose of providing continuing education for nurses serving in medically underserved communities.

"(d) Long-term Care Fellowships for Certain Paraprofessionals.—

"(1) In general.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with public and nonprofit private entities that operate accredited programs of education in professional nursing, or State-board approved programs of practical or vocational nursing, for the purpose of providing fellowships to individuals described in paragraph (2) for attendance in such programs.

"(2) Eligible individuals.—The individuals referred to in paragraph (1) are individuals who are employed by nursing facilities or home health agencies as nursing paraprofessionals.

"(3) Preference for schools with rapid transition programs.—In making awards of grants and contracts under paragraph (1), the Secretary shall give preference to any qualified applicant operating an accredited program of education in professional nursing that provides for the rapid transition to status as a professional nurse from status as a nursing paraprofessional.

"(4) Preference in award of fellowships.—The Secretary may make an award of a grant or contract under paragraph (1) only if the applicant involved agrees that, in providing fellowships under the award, the applicant will give preference to individuals described in paragraph (2) who—

"(A) are economically disadvantaged individuals, particularly such individuals who are members of a minority group that is underrepresented among registered nurses; or

"(B) are employed by a nursing facility that will assist in paying the costs or expenses described in paragraph (5)(A) with respect to the individuals.

"(5) USE OF AWARD.—The Secretary may make an award of a grant or contract under paragraph (1) only if the applicant involved agrees that fellowships provided with the award will pay all or part of the costs of—

"(A) the tuition, books, and fees of the program of nursing respect to which the fellowship is provided; and

"(B) reasonable living expenses of the individual during the period for which the fellowship is provided.

"(6) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this section:

"(A) The term 'home health agency' has the meaning given such term in section 1861 of the Social Security Act.

"(B) The term 'nursing facility' has the meaning given such term in section 1919 of the Social Security Act.

"(e) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $10,500,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 and 1994.".

(b) DEFINITION OF MEDICALLY UNDERSERVED COMMUNITIES.—Section 853 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 298b) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(11) The term 'medically underserved community' has the meaning given such term in section 799.".

(c) SAVINGS PROVISION FOR CURRENT PROJECTS.—In the case of any authority for making awards of grants or contracts that is terminated by the amendment made by subsection (a), the Secretary of Health and Human Services may, notwithstanding the termination of the authority, continue in effect any grant or contract made under the authority that is in effect on the day before the date of the enactment of this Act, subject to the duration of any such grant or contract not exceeding the period determined by the Secretary in first approving such financial assistance, or in approving the most recent request made (before the date of such enactment) for continuation of such assistance, as the case may be.

SEC. 203. ADVANCED NURSE EDUCATION.

Section 821 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 296l) is amended to read as follows:

"ADVANCED NURSE EDUCATION

"SEC. 821. (a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with public and nonprofit private collegiate schools of nursing to meet the costs of projects that, in the case of programs described in susbsection (b)—

"(1) plan, develop, and operate new such programs; or

"(2) significantly expand existing such programs.

"(b) AUTHORIZED PROGRAMS.—The programs referred to in subsection (a) are programs leading to advanced degrees that prepare nurses to serve as nurse educators or public health nurses, or in other clinical nurse specialties determined by the Secretary to require advanced education.

"(c) FUNDING.—

"(1) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there are authorized to be appropriated $12,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 and 1994.

"(2) LIMITATION.—Of the amounts appropriated under paragraph (1), the Secretary may not obligate more than 10 percent for providing grants or contracts under subsection (a) for programs leading to doctoral degrees.".

SEC. 204. NURSE PRACTITIONER AND NURSE MIDWIFE PROGRAMS.

Section 822 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 296m) is amended to read as follows:

"NURSE PRACTITIONER AND NURSE MIDWIFE PROGRAMS

"SEC. 822. (a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with public and nonprofit private schools of nursing or other public and nonprofit private entities to meet the costs of projects that, with respect to programs described in subsection (b)—

"(1) plan, develop, and operate new such programs; or

"(2) maintain or significantly expand existing such programs.

"(b) AUTHORIZED PROGRAMS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The programs referred to in subsection (a) are educational programs for registered nurses (irrespective of the type of school of nursing in which the nurses received their training) that—

"(A) meet guidelines prescribed by the Secretary in accordance with paragraph (2); and

"(B) have as their objective the education of nurses who will, upon completion of their studies in such programs, be qualified to effectively provide primary health care, including primary health care in homes and in ambulatory care facilities, long-term care facilities and other health care institutions.

"(2) GUIDELINES.—After consultation with appropriate educational organizations and professional nursing and medical organizations, the Secretary shall prescribe guidelines for programs described in paragraph (1). Such guidelines shall, as a minimum, require that such a program—

"(A) extend for at least one academic year and consist of—

"(i) supervised clinical practice directed toward preparing nurses to deliver primary health care; and

"(ii) at least four months (in the aggregate) of classroom instruction that is so directed; and

"(B) have an enrollment of not less than six full-time equivalent students.

"(c) CERTAIN CONSIDERATIONS IN MAKING AWARDS.—

"(1) PREFERENCE.—In making awards of grants and contracts under subsection (a), the Secretary shall give preference to any qualified applicant that, with respect to programs described in subsection (b), agree to expend the award to plan, develop, and operate new such programs or to significantly expand existing such programs.

"(2) SPECIAL CONSIDERATION.—In making awards of grants and contracts under subsection (a), the Secretary shall give special consideration to qualified applicants that agree to expend the award to train individuals as nurse practitioners and nurse midwives who will practice in health professional shortage areas designated under section 332.

"(d) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $20,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 and 1994.".

SEC. 205. SPECIAL PROJECTS REGARDING DISADVANTAGED INDIVIDUALS.

Section 827(c) of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 296r(c)) is amended

(1) by striking "and" after "1990,"; and

(2) by inserting before the period the following: ", $5,000,000 for fiscal year 1993, and $6,000,000 for fiscal year 1994".

SEC. 206. TRAINEESHIPS FOR ADVANCED EDUCATION OF PROFESSIONAL NURSES.

Section 830 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 297) is amended to read as follows:

"TRAINEESHIPS FOR ADVANCED EDUCATION OF PROFESSIONAL NURSES

"SEC. 830. (a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to public and nonprofit private entities to meet the cost of traineeships for individuals in advanced-degree programs in order to educate the individuals to serve in and prepare for practice as nurse practitioners, nurse midwives, nurse educators, public health nurses, or in other clinical nursing specialties determined by the Secretary to require advanced education.

"(b) SPECIAL CONSIDERATION IN MAKING GRANTS.—In making grants for traineeships under subsection (a), the Secretary shall give special consideration to applications for traineeship programs that conform to guidelines established by the Secretary under section 822(b)(2).

"(c) PREFERENCE IN PROVISION OF TRAINEESHIPS.—The Secretary may make a grant under subsection (a) only if the applicant involved agrees that, in providing traineeships under such subsection, the applicant will give preference to individuals who are residents of health professional shortage areas designated under section 332.

"(d) ELIGIBILITY OF INDIVIDUALS IN MASTER'S DEGREE PROGRAMS.—The Secretary may make a grant under subsection (a) only if the applicant involved agrees that the applicant will not provide a traineeship under such subsection to an individual enrolled in a masters of nursing program unless the individual has completed basic nursing preparation, as determined by the applicant.

"(e) USE OF GRANT.—The Secretary may make a grant under subsection (a) only if the applicant involved agrees that traineeships provided with the grant will pay all or part of the costs of—

"(A) the tuition, books, and fees of the program of nursing with respect to which the traineeship is provided; and

"(B) reasonable living expenses of the individual during the period for which the traineeship is provided.

"(f) FUNDING.—

"(1) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out this section, there is authorized to be appropriated $20,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 and 1994.

"(2) LIMITATION REGARDING CERTAIN TRAINEESHIPS.—Of the amounts appropriated under paragraph (1) for a fiscal year, the Secretary may not obligate more than 10 percent for providing traineeships under subsection (a) for individuals in doctoral degree programs.".

SEC. 207. NURSE ANESTHETISTS.

(a) PREFERENCES REGARDING GRANTS AND TRAINEESHIPS; USE OF GRANT.—Section 831(a) of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 297–1(a)) is amended—

(1) by striking paragraph (2); and

(2) by inserting after paragraph (1) the following paragraphs:

"(2)(A) In making grants under paragraph (1), the Secretary shall give preference to qualified applicants carrying out traineeship programs whose participants gain significant experience in providing health services at rural health facilities.

"(B) The Secretary may make a grant under paragraph (1) only if the institution involved agrees that, in providing traineeships under such paragraph, the institution will give preference to individuals who are residents of health professional shortage areas designated under section 332.

"(3) The Secretary may make a grant under paragraph (1) only if the applicant involved agrees that traineeships provided with the grant will pay all or part of the costs of—

"(A) the tuition, books, and fees of the program of nursing with respect to which the traineeship is provided; and

"(B) reasonable living expenses of the individual during the period for which the traineeship is provided.".

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Section 831(c) of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 297–1(c)) is amended in the first sentence by inserting before the period the following: ", $3,000,000 for fiscal year 1993, and $4,000,000 for fiscal year 1994".

SEC. 208. STUDENT LOANS.

(a) ALLOTMENTS AND PAYMENTS OF FEDERAL CAPITAL CONTRIBUTIONS.—Section 838(a)(3) of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 297d(a)(3)) is amended—

(1) by striking subparagraph (B); and

(2) in subparagraph (A)—

(A) in the first sentence, by striking "available for allotment" and all that follows and inserting the following: "available for allotment until expended.";

(B) in the second sentence, by striking "this subpart, except" and all that follows and inserting "this subpart."; and

(C) by striking the subparagraph designation.

(b) DISTRIBUTION OF ASSETS FROM LOAN FUNDS.—Section 839 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 297e) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a), by striking out "1991" and inserting in lieu thereof "1996"; and

(2) in subsections (a) and (b), by striking "1994" each place such term appears and inserting "1999".

SEC. 209. CERTAIN GENERALLY APPLICABLE PROVISIONS.

Title VIII of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 296k et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following section:

"CERTAIN GENERALLY APPLICABLE PROVISIONS

"SEC. 860. (a) APPLICATION FOR GRANTS, COOPERATIVE AGREEMENTS, OR CONTRACTS.—The Secretary may make an award of a grant, cooperative agreement, or contract under this title only if an application for the award is submitted to the Secretary and the application is in such form, is made in such manner, and contains such agreements, assurances, and information as the Secretary determines to be necessary to carry out the program authorizing the award.

"(b) DURATION OF ASSISTANCE.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (2), in the case of an award to an entity of a grant, cooperative agreement, or contract under this title, the period during which payments are made to the entity under the award may not exceed 5 years. The provision of payments under the award shall be subject to annual approval by the Secretary of the payments and subject to the availability of appropriations for the fiscal year involved to make the payments. This paragraph may not be construed as limiting the number of awards under the program involved that may be made to the entity.

"(2) LIMITATION.—In the case of an award to an entity of a grant, cooperative agreement, or contract under this title, paragraph (1) shall apply only to the extent not inconsistent with any other provision of this title that relates to the period during which payments may be made under the award.

"(c) BREACH OF AGREEMENTS FOR OBLIGATED SERVICE.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—In the case of any program under this title under which an individual makes an agreement to provide health services for a period of time in accordance with such program in consideration of receiving an award of Federal funds regarding education as a nurse (including an award for the repayment of loans), the following applies if the agreement provides that this subsection is applicable:

"(A) In the case of a program under this title that makes an award of Federal funds for attending an accredited program of nursing (in this subsection referred to as 'nursing program'), the individual is liable to the Federal Government for the amount of such award (including amounts provided for expenses related to such attendance), and for interest on such amount at the maximum legal prevailing rate, if the individual—

"(i) fails to maintain an acceptable level of academic standing in the nursing program (as indicated by the program in accordance with requirements established by the Secretary);

"(ii) is dismissed from the nursing program for disciplinary reasons; or

"(iii) voluntarily terminates the nursing program.

"(B) The individual is liable to the Federal Government for the amount of such award (including amounts provided for expenses related to such attendance), and for interest on such amount at the maximum legal prevailing rate, if the individual fails to provide health services in accordance with the program under this title for the period of time applicable under the program.

"(2) WAIVER OR SUSPENSION OF LIABILITY.—In the case of an individual or health facility making an agreement for purposes of paragraph (1), the Secretary shall provide for the waiver or suspension of liability under such paragraph if compliance by the individual or the health facility, as the case may be, with the agreements involved is impossible, or would involve extreme hardship to the individual or facility, and if enforcement of the agreements with respect to the individual or facility would be unconscionable.

"(3) DATE CERTAIN FOR RECOVERY.—Subject to paragraph (2), any amount that the Federal Government is entitled to recover under paragraph (1) shall be paid to the United States not later than the expiration of the three-year period beginning on the date the United States becomes so entitled.

"(4) AVAILABILITY.—Amounts recovered under paragraph (1) with respect to a program under this title shall be available for the purposes of such program, and shall remain available for such purposes until expended.

"(d) PEER REVIEW REGARDING CERTAIN PROGRAMS.—Each application for a grant or contract under any of sections 821, 822, 830, and 831 shall be submitted to a peer review group for an evaluation of the merits of the proposals made in the application. The Secretary may not approve such an application unless a peer review group has recommended the application for approval. Each peer review group under this subsection shall be composed principally of individuals who are not officers or employees of the Federal Government. This subsection shall be carried out by the Secretary acting through the Administrator of the Health Resources and Services Administration.

"(e) PREFERENCES AND REQUIRED INFORMATION IN CERTAIN PROGRAMS.—

"(1) PREFERENCES IN MAKING AWARDS.—

"(A) Subject to subparagraph (B), in awarding grants or contracts under any of sections 821, 822, 830, and 831, the Secretary shall give preference to any qualified applicant that—

"(i) has a high rate for placing graduates in practice settings having the principal focus of serving residents of medically underserved communities; or

"(ii) during the 2-year period preceding the fiscal year for which such an award is sought, has achieved a significant increase in the rate of placing graduates in such settings.

"(B) For purposes of subparagraph (A), the Secretary may not give an applicant preference if the proposal of the applicant is ranked at or below the 20th percentile of proposals that have been recommended for approval by peer review groups under subsection (d).

"(2) REQUIRED SUBMISSION OF INFORMATION.—The Secretary may make an award of a grant or contract under any of sections 821, 822, 830, and 831 only if the applicant for the award submits to the Secretary (through the application for the award) the following information regarding the programs of the applicant:

"(A) A description of rotations or preceptorships for students that have the principal focus of providing health care to medically underserved communities.

"(B) The number of faculty on admissions committees who have a clinical practice in community-based ambulatory settings in medically underserved or rural communities.

"(C) With respect to individuals who are from disadvantaged backgrounds or from medically underserved communities, the number of such individuals who are recruited for academic programs of the applicant, the number of such individuals who are admitted to such programs, and the number of such individuals who graduate from such programs.

"(D) If applicable to the applicant, the number of recent graduates who have chosen careers in primary health care.

"(E) The number of recent graduates whose practices are serving medically underserved communities.

"(F) A description of whether and to what extent the applicant is able to operate without Federal assistance under this title.

"(3) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this subsection, the term 'graduate' means, unless otherwise specified, an individual who has successfully completed all training requirements necessary for full certification in the health profession selected by the individual.".

SEC. 210. DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM REGARDING SERVICE IN CERTAIN HEALTH CARE FACILITIES.

Part B of title VIII of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 297 et seq.) is amended by striking subpart IV.

SEC. 211. TRANSFER OF LOAN REPAYMENT PROGRAM.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Part B of title VIII of the Public Health Service Act, as amended by section 210 of this Act, is amended—

(1) in section 836—

(A) by striking subsection (h); and

(B) by redesignating subsections (i) through (k) as subsections (h) through (j), respectively;

(2) by striking section 837A; and

(3) by adding at the end the following subpart:

"Subpart IV—Loan Repayment Program

"LOAN REPAYMENT PROGRAM

"SEC. 846. (a) IN GENERAL.—In the case of any individual—

"(1) who has received a baccalaureate or associate degree in nursing (or an equivalent degree), a diploma in nursing, or a graduate degree in nursing;

"(2) who obtained (A) one or more loans from a loan fund established under subpart II, or (B) any other educational loan for nurse training costs; and

"(3) who enters into an agreement with the Secretary to serve as nurse for a period of not less than two years in an Indian Health Service health center, in a Native Hawaiian health center, in a public hospital, in a migrant health center, in a community health center, in a rural health clinic, or in a public or nonprofit private health facility determined by the Secretary to have a critical shortage of nurses;

the Secretary shall make payments in accordance with subsection (b), for and on behalf of that individual, on the principal of and interest on any loan of that individual described in paragraph (2) of this subsection which is outstanding on the date the individual begins the service specified in the agreement described in paragraph (3) of this subsection.

"(b) Manner of Payments.—The payments described in subsection (a) shall be made by the Secretary as follows:

"(1) Upon completion by the individual for whom the payments are to be made of the first year of the service specified in the agreement entered into with the Secretary under subsection (a), the Secretary shall pay 30 percent of the principal of, and the interest on each loan of such individual described in subsection (a)(2) which is outstanding on the date he began such practice.

"(2) Upon completion by that individual of the second year of such service, the Secretary shall pay another 30 percent of the principal of, and the interest on each such loan.

"(3) Upon completion by that individual of a third year of such service, the Secretary shall pay another 25 percent of the principal of, and the interest on each such loan.

"(c) Payment by Due Date.—Notwithstanding the requirement of completion of practice specified in subsection (b), the Secretary shall, on or before the due date thereof, pay any loan or loan installment which may fall due within the period of service for which the borrower may receive payments under this subsection, upon the declaration of such borrower, at such times and in such manner as the Secretary may prescribe (and supported by such other evidence as the Secretary may reasonably require), that the borrower is then serving as described by subsection (a)(3), and that the borrower will continue to so serve for the period required (in the absence of this subsection) to entitle the borrower to have made the payments provided by this subsection for such period; except that not more than 85 percent of the principal of any such loan shall be paid pursuant to this subsection.

"(d) Breach of Agreement.—The Secretary may make payments under subsection (a) on behalf of an individual only if the agreement under such subsection provides that section 860(c) is applicable to the individual.

"(e) Preferences Regarding Participants.—In entering into agreements under subsection (a), the Secretary shall give preference—

"(1) to qualified applicants with the greatest financial need; and

"(2) to qualified applicants that, with respect to health facilities described in such subsection, agree to serve in such health facilities located in geographic areas with a shortage of and need for nurses, as determined by the Secretary.

"(f) Definitions.—For purposes of this section:

"(1) The term "community health center" has the meaning given such term in section 330(a).

"(2) The term "migrant health center" has the meaning given such term in section 329(a)(1).

"(3) The term "rural health clinic" has the meaning given such term in section 1861(aa)(2) of the Social Security Act.

"(g) Authorization of Appropriations.—For the purpose of payments under agreements entered into under subsection (a), there are authorized to be appropriated $5,000,000 for fiscal year 1993, and $6,000,000 for fiscal year 1994.".

(b) Rule of Construction.—With respect to section 836(h) of the Public Health Service Act, as in effect prior to the date of the enactment of this Act, any agreement entered into under such section that is in effect on the day before such date remains in effect in accordance with the terms of the agreement, notwithstanding the amendment made by subsection (a) of this section.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 428C of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 1078-3) is amended—

(1) by redesignating subsection (d) as subsection (e); and

(2) by inserting after subsection (c) the following new subsection:

"(d) SPECIAL PROGRAM AUTHORIZED.—

"(1) GENERAL RULE AND DEFINITION OF ELIGIBLE STUDENT LOAN.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Subject to the provisions of this subsection, the Secretary or a guaranty agency shall enter into agreements with eligible lenders described in subparagraphs (A), (B), and (C) of subsection (a)(1) for the consolidation of eligible student loans.

"(B) APPLICABILITY RULE.—Unless otherwise provided in this subsection, the agreements entered into under subparagraph (A) and the loans made under such agreements for the consolidation of eligible student loans under this subsection shall have the same terms, conditions, and benefits as all other agreements and loans made under this section.

"(C) DEFINITION.—For the purpose of this subsection, the term 'eligible student loans' means loans—

"(i) of the type described in subparagraphs (A), (B), and (C) of subsection (a)(4); and

"(ii) made under subpart I of part A of title VII of the Public Health Service Act.

"(2) INTEREST RATE RULE.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The portion of each consolidated loan that is attributable to an eligible student loan described in paragraph (1)(C)(ii) shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed the rate determined under subparagraph (B).

"(B) DETERMINATION OF THE MAXIMUM INTEREST RATE.—For the 12-month period beginning after July 1, 1992, and for each 12-month period thereafter, beginning on July 1 and ending on June 30, the interest rate applicable under subparagraph (A) shall be equal to the average of the bond equivalent rates of the 91-day Treasury bills auctioned for the quarter prior to July 1, for each 12-month period for which the determination is made, plus 3 percent.

"(C) PUBLICATION OF MAXIMUM INTEREST RATE.—The Secretary shall determine the applicable rate of interest under subparagraph (B) after consultation with the Secretary of the Treasury and shall publish such rate in the Federal Register as soon as practicable after the date of such determination.

"(3) SPECIAL RULES.—

"(A) NO SPECIAL ALLOWANCE RULE.—No special allowance under section 438 shall be paid with respect to the portion of any consolidated loan under this subsection that is attributable to any loan described in paragraph (1)(C)(ii).

"(B) NO INTEREST SUBSIDY RULE.—No interest subsidy under section 428(a) shall be paid on behalf of any eligible borrower for any portion of a consolidated loan under this subsection that is attributable to any loan described in paragraph (1)(C)(ii).

"(C) ADDITIONAL RESERVE RULE.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, additional reserves shall not be required for any guaranty agency with respect to a loan made under this subsection.

"(D) INSURANCE RULE.—Any insurance premium paid by the borrower under subpart I of part A of title VII of the Public Health Service Act with respect to a loan made under that subpart and consolidated under this subsection shall be retained by the student loan insurance fund established under section 710 of the Public Health Service Act.

"(4) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary is authorized to promulgate such regulations as may be necessary to facilitate carrying out the provisions of this subsection.".

(b) TECHNICAL AMENDMENT.—Section 428(e) of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (as redesignated by subsection (a)) is amended by striking "1992" and inserting "1997".

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section take effect 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 307. NATIONAL ADVISORY COUNCIL ON MEDICAL LICENSURE.

(a) ADVISORY COUNCIL.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Health and Human Services shall establish an advisory council to be known as the "National Advisory Council on Medical Licensure".

(2) DUTIES.—

(A) ADVICE.—The Council shall provide advice to the Secretary regarding the operation of the system established by the American Medical Association for the purpose of verifying and maintaining information regarding the qualifications of individuals to practice medicine, and advice regarding the establishment and operation of any similar system.

(B) ACTIVITIES.—In carrying out subparagraph (A), the Council shall—

(i) monitor and review the operation of the private credentials verification system and develop recommendations regarding methods by which the system can be improved, and make recommendations for the establishment of nondiscriminatory policies and practices for the operation of the system;

(ii) determine to what extent the system has expedited and otherwise improved the efficiency and equitable operation of the process in the States for licensing individuals to practice medicine who previously have been licensed by another State (commonly known as licensure by endorsement); and

(iii) review the policies and practices of the States (including any relevant laws) in licensing international medical graduates and in licensing domestic medical graduates, and determine the effects of the policies.

(3) COMPOSITION.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The Council shall be composed of 15 voting members selected in accordance with subparagraphs (B) and (C).

(B) HEALTH RESOURCES AND SERVICES ADMINISTRATION.—The Secretary shall designate one official or employee of the Health Resources and Services Administration to serve as a member of the Council. The official or employee so designated shall be a graduate of a medical school located in the United States.

(C) APPOINTMENTS.—From among individuals who are not officers or employees of the Federal Government, the Secretary shall, subject to subparagraph (D), make appointments to the Council as follows:

(i) One individual from an organization representing State authorities that license individuals to practice medicine.

(ii) One individual representing a national organization that represents practicing physicians in the United States.

(iii) One individual representing an organization in the United States that tests international medical graduates regarding medical knowledge.

(iv) One individual representing an organization in the United States that tests individuals who are graduates of medical schools located in the United States regarding medical knowledge.

(v) One physician representing one or more medical schools located in the United States.

(vi) One individual who is a representative of the private credentials verification system.

(vii) One individual who is a graduate of a medical school located in the United States, who has been licensed to practice medicine by a State and has been so licensed by such State for a continuous period of at least 20 years, and who has applied for and received licensure by endorsement during the 5-year period ending on the date of the enactment of this Act.

(viii) One individual who is a graduate of a medical school located in the United States and who represents a State authority that licenses individuals to practice medicine, which State either has a significant number of practicing physicians who are international medical graduates or has a significant shortage of physicians.

(ix) One individual who is an international medical graduate and who represents a coalition representing such graduates.

(x) One individual who is an international medical graduate and who is a native of the United States.

(xi) One individual who is a native of a country located in southern or eastern Asia (including southern or eastern Asian islands) and who is an international medical graduate by virtue of being a graduate of a medical school located in such a country.

(xii) One individual who is a native of a European country or of Australia or New Zealand and who is an international medical graduate by virtue of being a graduate of a medical school located in such a country.

(xiii) One individual who is a native of a Latin American or Caribbean country and who is an international medical graduate by virtue of being a graduate of a medical school located in such a country.

(xiv) One individual who is a native of a country located in sub-Saharan Africa and who is an international medical graduate by virtue of being a graduate of a medical school located in such a country.

At least one member appointed by the Secretary under this subparagraph shall be a physician who is practicing in a medically underserved community, as defined in section 799 of the Public Health Service Act. A physician may serve on the Council only if the physician is licensed by one or more States to practice medicine.

(D) CONSULTATION.—The Secretary shall make the appointments described in subparagraph (C) only after consultation with relevant organizations and coalitions.

(4) CHAIR.—From among the members appointed under paragraph (3)(C), the Council shall designate an individual to serve as the chair of the Council.

(5) DURATION.—The Council shall continue in existence until the submission of the report required under paragraph (7), or not later than September 30, 1995, whichever is earlier.

(6) INTERIM REPORT.—Not later than September 30, 1993, the Council shall submit to the Secretary, the Committee on Labor and Human Resources of the Senate and the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives, an interim report describing the findings and recommendations of the Council pursuant to the duties established in paragraph (2). The Secretary shall provide a copy of the report to the private credentials verification system.

(7) FINAL REPORT.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Not later than September 30, 1995, the Council shall prepare and submit to the Secretary, the Committee on Labor and Human Resources of the Senate and the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives, a final report that shall include recommendations regarding activities conducted pursuant to paragraph (2), that shall include a determination as to whether the private credentials verification system is operating with a reasonable degree of efficiency and whether the policies and practices of the system are nondiscriminatory.

(B) RECOMMENDATIONS.—If the Secretary determines that the private credentials verification system fails to meet either of the criteria with respect to the determination described in subparagraph (A), the Secretary, in consultation with the Council and relevant organizations, shall make a recommendation concerning the establishment of an alternative private system and concerning the specifications for such a system as described in paragraph (2)(B).

(b) STUDY OF STATE LICENSURE PROCESS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—With respect to the licensure by the States of individuals to practice medicine, the Secretary, in consultation with the Council, shall conduct a study of not less than 10 States for the purpose of determining—

(A) the average length of time required for the States involved to process the licensure applications of domestic medical graduates and the average length of time required for the States to process the licensure applications of international medical graduates, and the reasons underlying any significant differences in such times; and

(B) the percentage of licensure applications from domestic medical graduates that are approved and the percentage of licensure applications from graduates of international medical schools that are approved, and the reasons underlying any significant differences in such percentages.

(2) REPORT.—Not later than September 30, 1994, the Secretary shall submit to the Committee on Labor and Human Resources of the Senate and the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives a report describing the findings made as a result of the study required in paragraph (1) for the fiscal year.

(c) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section:

(1) COUNCIL.—The term "Council" means the National Advisory Council on Medical Licensure established in subsection (a)(1).

(2) DOMESTIC MEDICAL GRADUATE.—The term "domestic medical graduate" means an individual who is a graduate of a medical school located in the United States or Canada.

(3) INTERNATIONAL MEDICAL GRADUATE.—The term "international medical graduate" means an individual who is a graduate of a medical school located in a country other than the United States or Canada.

(4) MEDICAL SCHOOL.—The term "medical school" means a school of medicine or a school of osteopathic medicine, as such terms are defined in section 799 of the Public Health Service Act.

(5) NONDISCRIMINATORY.—The term "nondiscriminatory", with respect to policies and practices, means that such policies and practices do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, gender, national origin, age, disability, marital status, or educational affiliation.

(6) PRIVATE CREDENTIALS VERIFICATION SYSTEM.—The term "private credentials verification system" means the system described in subsection (a)(2)(A) and established by the American Medical Association.

(7) SECRETARY.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Health and Human Services.

(8) STATE.—The term "State" means each of the several States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, American Samoa, Guam, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands.

(d) NECESSARY RESOURCES.—The Secretary shall ensure that necessary resources are made available to implement the provisions of this section.

SEC. 308. REQUIRED ASSURANCES REGARDING BLOODBORNE DISEASES.

With respect to awards of grants or contracts under title VII or VIII of the Public Health Service Act, the Secretary of Health and Human Services may make such an award for the provision of traineeships only if the applicant for the award provides assurances satisfactory to the Secretary that all trainees will, as appropriate, receive instruction in the utilization of universal precautions and infection control procedures for the prevention of the transmission of bloodborne diseases.

SEC. 309. STUDY ON EFFECTIVENESS OF HEALTH PROFESSIONS PROGRAMS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall conduct a study of the programs carried out under titles VII and VIII of the Public Health Service Act (as amended by this Act) for the purpose of determining the effectiveness of such programs in—

(1) increasing the number of primary care providers (physicians, physician assistants, nurse midwives, nurse practitioners and general dentists), nurses and allied health personnel;

(2) improving the geographic distribution of health professionals in medically underserved and rural areas; and

(3) recruiting and retaining as students in health professions schools individuals who are members of a minority group.

(b) CERTAIN REQUIREMENTS.—The study conducted under subsection (a) shall determine—

(1) whether funding under title VII of the Public Health Service Act has increased the number of primary care practitioners (family medicine, general internal medicine, general pediatrics, general dentistry, and physician assistants) in medically underserved communities (as defined in section 799 of such Act);

(2) whether or not funding under such title VII has increased the number of allied health professionals in medically underserved or rural communities;

(3) whether or not funding under title VIII of such Act has increased the number of nurses in medically underserved or rural communities;

(4) whether or not the various mechanisms under such titles VII and VIII (such as scholarships, fellowships, traineeships, loan repayment programs, project grants, and education centers) have been effective in producing health care professionals who work or practice in medically underserved and rural communities and the relative impact or effectiveness of each mechanism;

(5) the duration of service in medically underserved communities (as defined in section 799 of such Act) of health professionals whose training was funded by such titles or who received financial incentives under such titles to practice in such communities;

(6) the geographic distribution of former trainees under such titles who are practicing in medically underserved communities (as so defined);

(7) with respect to the programs of such titles whose purpose is improving the health of individuals who are members of minority groups, whether such programs have had a significant impact on the number of such individuals entering the health professions; and

(8) such other such factors as may be relevant to the reauthorization of such title VII or VIII.

(c) REPORT.—Not later than January 1, 1994, the Comptroller General of the United States shall complete the study required in subsection (a) and submit to the Committee on Labor and Human Resources of the Senate, and the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives, a report describing the findings made as a result of the study and making such recommendations regarding the programs carried out under titles VII and VIII of the Public Health Service Act as the Comptroller General determines to be appropriate.

SEC. 310. DELAYED APPLICABILITY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, section 403A(a)(1) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 343-1(a)(1)) shall not apply with respect to any requirement of any State or political subdivision regarding maple syrup until September 1, 1994.

SEC. 311. CERTAIN APPLICATION PROCEDURES.

Section 633 of Public Law 100-607 (42 U.S.C. 295g-10a) is repealed.

SEC. 312. CERTAIN PROJECTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 205(a)(2)(B) of Public Law 102-321 is amended by adding at the end the following clause:

"(iii) In the case of amounts reserved under this subparagraph for programs of services in the city of San Francisco, California, the Secretary shall ensure that such amounts are administered by such city and shall authorize the city to select providers for such programs and determine the allocation of such payments among the providers.".

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 205(a)(2)(B)(i) of Public Law 102-321 is amended—

(1) in subclause (I), by striking "clause (ii)" and inserting "clauses (ii) and (iii)"; and

(2) in subclause (II), by inserting ", subject to clause (iii)" before the period.

JOINT EXPLANATORY STATEMENT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

The managers on the part of the House and the Senate at the conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the bill (H.R. 3508) to amend the Public Health Service Act to revise and extend certain programs relating to the education of individuals as health professionals, and for other purposes, submit the following joint statement to the House and the Senate in explanation of the effect of the action agreed upon by the managers and recommended in the accompanying conference report:

The Senate amendment struck out all of the House bill after the enacting clause and inserted a substitute text.

The House recedes from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate with an amendment which is a substitute for the House bill and the Senate amendment. The differences between the House bill, the Senate amendment, and the substitute agreed to in conference are noted below, except for clerical corrections, conforming changes made necessary by agreements reached by the conferees, and minor drafting and clarifying changes.

INTRODUCTION TO STATEMENT OF MANAGERS

The Conference agreement provides for the reauthorization of health professions programs authorized by titles VII and VIII of the Public Health Service Act. In contrast with previous reauthorization periods, the Conferees have restructured these programs and related authorization levels to place greatest emphasis upon activities that will improve health care access and delivery by increasing the training of health care providers most important to the provision of primary care services, particularly in medically underserved areas.

The Conference agreement represents the first comprehensive reform of the Federal health professions and nursing education authorities since their inception. The agreement reflects the consensus of the Conferees that especially at a time when Federal funding for these programs is frozen or declining, steps must be taken to prioritize the allocation of Federal funds. Therefore, the authorization levels have been constrained and program priorities specified.

The Conferees note that while Federal funding for programs under titles VII and VIII has sharply declined in both real and constant dollars since the 1970's, the program priorities have remained relatively unfocused. In an era of declining Federal resources available to health professions training, Congress must establish clearer priorities for the distribution of limited funding. The Conference agreement directs the Secretary to give preference to those health professions training programs that have demonstrated success in the placement of graduates in medically underserved areas or to individuals who are committed to pursuing careers in primary care.

The Conferees believe Federal support for health professions training, with renewed emphasis on setting priorities that reflect important health care needs, continues to play an important role in the overall goal of expanding the numbers of mid-level health professionals and in increasing the percentage of medical and dental school graduates pursuing careers in primary care medicine and general dentistry.

Most physicians continue to select specialty careers. This trend has accelerated with declining match rates for primary care residencies in recent years. The Conferees have singled out programs in family medicine, general internal medicine, and general pediatrics, and training of physician assistants, nurse practitioners, and nurse midwives for priority in the allocation of federal assistance because these professions will play a pivotal role in reaching the national goal of making access to primary health care more widely available and of reducing unnecessary health care costs.

The Conference agreement restructures the Health Professions Student Loan program to give priority to osteopathic and allopathic medical students who will enter postgraduate residency training programs that lead to careers in family practice, general internal medicine or general pediatrics.

The Conference agreement restructures the Health Education Assistance Loan Program (HEAL). Increasing numbers of health professions students are dependent on the federal government for assistance to finance their education. In 1976, the Health Education Assistance Loan Program was created to provide insurance so that loan funds could be made available to graduate students in high-tuition health professions schools. The program was extended to assure that any American, regardless of his or her economic status, could have access to a health professions education. Since its inception, HEAL has insured more than 300,000 loans totaling over $2.7 billion in loan principal to students in 11 health professions.

Unfortunately, problems have existed in the HEAL program that must be addressed. Default rates have continued to rise. The program was intended to be self-financing through an up-front loan origination fee charged to borrowers. However, the fee is now insufficient to cover the costs of the yearly defaults, and Congress has appropriated funds for this purpose in the last two fiscal years ($25 million in fiscal year 1991 and $48 million in fiscal year 1992). The Conference agreement makes significant changes in the HEAL authority that place greater responsibility on health professions schools, lenders, holders and on borrowers; requires payments of premiums, by both schools and borrowers, that are based on default rates; and authorize the Secretary to bar participation in the HEAL program by schools that continue to have excessive default rates. The Conferees believe that these and other reforms will reduce the student default rate and restore credibility to the program.

TITLE I—HEALTH PROFESSIONS EDUCATION

HEALTH EDUCATION ASSISTANCE LOANS

Congress is increasingly concerned about the default rates under the Health Education Assistance Loans program (HEAL) exceeding the capacity of the student loan insurance fund to cover the costs of defaults. In fiscal year 1992, the House and Senate Appropriations Committees provided $48 million to cover losses on federally guaranteed HEAL loans. In providing these funds, the Appropriations Committees expressed their continuing concern about the high rate of defaults in the HEAL program and called upon the authorizing committees to develop legislation to replace or substantially modify the HEAL program to reduce the number of defaults.

The Conferees find the current level of loan defaults unacceptable. The Conference agreement responds to the call for substantive reform of the HEAL program and includes new provisions which will enhance the solvency of the student loan insurance fund and reduce student default rates.

For example, in an effort to reduce the number of defaults by chiropractic borrowers, the Conference agreement in Section 705 provides one year of deferment for borrowers who have graduated from a college, school, or university of chiropractic. The Conferees are hopeful that by extending the period of forbearance, chiropractic borrowers will have sufficient time to become licensed and establish practices and therefore avoid default within the first year.

SCOPE AND DURATION OF THE LOAN INSURANCE PROGRAM

Section 702 authorizes that the Federal loan insurance program will not exceed $350 million for fiscal year 1993, $375 million for fiscal year 1994 and $425 million for fiscal year 1995.

RISK-BASED PREMIUMS

The Conferees are aware that HEAL default rates, whether measured on an aggregated or annual cohort basis, have tended to vary by health profession and by institution. For example, the cumulative default rate for students at allopathic medical schools is 4.9%, while that for students at chiropractic schools is 10%. For the cohort of loans originated in 1984, the estimated default rate for osteopathic students is 7.9%, while that for chiropractic students is 18.9%. Under current law, all HEAL borrowers pay an 8% default insurance premium regardless of their relative risk of default. As a result, students at low risk of default (those attending schools with default rates less than 5%) are subsidizing those at higher risk of default. Under the provisions of this Conference agreement, each institution's default record will be used to determine the level of the student's premium and for levying an institution default penalty fee.

Section 708 provides that HEAL loans made on or after January 1, 1993, be assessed a risk-based premium based on the default rate of the eligible institution. There are four categories: low-risk, medium risk, high-risk, and ineligible for the program.

The low-risk category includes institutions whose default rates do not exceed 5 percent. Borrowers would be required to pay a risk premium of 6 percent.

The medium-risk category includes institutions whose default rates exceed 5 percent but are less than 10 percent. Borrowers attending these institutions will be required to pay a risk premium of 8 percent and the institution would be required to pay a risk premium of 5 percent.

The high-risk category includes institutions whose default rate is in excess of 10 percent but not exceeding 20 percent. Borrowers attending these institutions will be required to pay a risk premium of 8 percent and the institution will be required to pay a risk premium of 10 percent.

In addition, institutions in the medium- and high-risk categories are required to develop a default reduction management plan. The purpose of this planning provision is to ensure that higher risk schools make a good faith effort and have in place a set of procedures to minimize student defaults. The requirements for a default management plan would be developed by the Secretary.

Institutions with default rates exceeding 20 percent will be ineligible to participate in the program, except as outlined in section 708(d). Historically black colleges or universities will be exempt from the ineligibility requirement for a 3-year period beginning with the effective date of this section. Borrowers at those institutions will be required to comply with all guidelines applicable to institutions in the high-risk default category.

The Conference agreement also prohibits institutions required to pay risk premiums from charging different tuition or fees to HEAL borrowers than to non-HEAL borrowers.

Section 708(c) requires lenders to reduce the risk premium by 50 percent for eligible borrowers who have a credit worthy parent or other responsible party co-sign the loan note.

Section 708(d) authorizes administrative waivers. The Secretary will grant an institution a hearing to consider mitigating circumstances prior to making that institution ineligible to participate in the program. The Secretary may grant an institution a waiver of the requirements of the risk categories only if the Secretary determines that the default rate is not an accurate indicator because the volume of loans has been insufficient. for example, some schools of public health may have default rates that exceed 30%. However, since these default rates are based on a small number of loans (in some cases, only two to five loans) they may be a misleading measure of the institution's ability to control defaults.

Section 708(e) allows institutions to reduce their risk category by paying off the outstanding principal and interest owed by their students.

EASING BURDEN ON BORROWERS

The Conferees are sensitive to the fact that HEAL is an expensive way to finance an education and the conference agreement contains changes aimed at easing the burden on the students and reducing the chances that borrowers will default on their loans. Currently, students pay an 8% up-front fee and are charged an interest rate that may not exceed 3 percent over the Treasury bill rate. The interest rate is compounded semi-annually. The following is a possible scenario: a medical student borrows $80,000 in principal at an average interest rate of 12 percent and repays it over the entire 25-year repayment period. The student would repay $642,000 ($80,000 of the original principal and $562,000 in interest).

The Conference agreement includes a number of provisions intended to alleviate such situations. Section 705(b) requires that the interest rate on HEAL loans be compounded annually, rather than semi-annually. Section 705(e) provides that extensions of time prior to the beginning of loan repayment for purposes of forbearance not be included in the 25-year total loan repayment period. Section 705(f) requires that lenders and holders offer borrowers graduated loan repayment schedules during the first 5 years of loan repayment, based on the borrower's debt-to-income ratio.

Section 706 is revised to authorize loan consolidation but prohibits federal subsidy of interest rates on the HEAL portions of any consolidated loan. The Conference agreement also requires that lenders or loan holders provide full disclosure to the borrower concerning the advantages and disadvantages of loan consolidation.

MINIMIZING HEAL DEFAULTS

The Conferees expect that schools, lenders, and holders to assume and share the responsibility for minimizing HEAL defaults. Consistent with reforms recently enacted in the Guaranteed Student Loan program, Section 707 requires the Secretary to establish performance standards for lenders and holders of loans including fees to be imposed for failing to meet such standards. Section 705(a) authorizes lenders to obtain appropriate demographic information from borrowers including racial or ethnic background and provide this information to the Secretary. Section 705 (a)(2)(H) authorizes institutions or training programs attended by HEAL borrowers to assist in the collection of loans that become delinquent.

The Conferees note that current law already provides two methods to collect from defaulters. The first authorizes the Secretary to offset Medicare reimbursement for services rendered by HEAL defaulters. The Conferees urge the Secretary to take immediate action to ensure that this authority is used to increase HEAL collections. The second permits the Federal government to pursue a claim against a defaulter.

Section 707 authorizes any United States attorney to register any State court judgment obtained by a lender or holder with the Federal Courts for enforcement and provides that obligations to repay HEAL loans will be enforceable without regard to any Federal or State statutory, regulatory, or administrative limitation on the period within which debts may be enforced. Section 707(f) provides that any amounts recovered from HEAL defaulters be deposited into the student loan insurance fund.

Section 715 includes additional requirements on institutions and lenders: (1) tuition and fees charged to HEAL borrowers may not exceed the tuition and fees for non-HEAL borrowers; (2) institutions are required to provide detailed information on borrowers; (3) institutions are required to withhold all services including academic transcripts, financial aid transcripts, and alumni services from borrowers who have defaulted except, in the case of bankruptcy; and (4) lenders are required to offer borrowers a variety of prepayment options including fixed-rate, graduated repayment with negative amortization, and income-dependent payments for 5 years followed by level monthly payments. This section also provides that at the beginning of each academic year, each participating institution is required to conduct a workshop for all HEAL borrowers.

OFFICE FOR HEALTH EDUCATION ASSISTANCE LOAN DEFAULT REDUCTION

Section 709 establishes an Office for Health Education Assistance Loan Default Reduction within the Division of Student Assistance of the Bureau of Health Professions of the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA). The Conferees recognize that many of the HEAL loan tracking and debt collection functions are dispersed within HRSA and the Department of Health and Human Services and believe that consolidation of these existing functions into a single office will improve the management of and return on HEAL debt collection activities.

The Conferees expect that the new Office will undertake a thorough review of current collection requirements and recommend additional steps to improve loan servicing and collection where warranted. The Office will carry out activities designed to reduce loan defaults. The functions of the Office are specified in the Conference agreement. Starting March 31, 1993, the Office is required to submit each year a report to Congress detailed activities of the Office, including information on institution-specific default rates and default rates of lenders and holders participating in the program.

The Office will also compile and publish in the Federal Register a list of borrowers who have defaulted on their HEAL loans. In addition, the Office will send notices that the borrower has defaulted to Federal agencies, schools, professional and specialty associations, State licensing boards, hospitals and other relevant organizations which the borrowers may be associated.

Section 709 authorizes the allocation of up to $1 million annually for the Office from funds in the student loan insurance fund for the functions and activities of the Office. This source of additional funding will facilitate the addition of seven full-time equivalent positions to improve debt collection and reduce the number of defaults. The funds allocated from the insurance fund are to be used to expand program activities and not to supplant funds appropriated for current activities.

DEFINITIONS

Section 719 is amended by the Conference agreement to include definitions for "eligible lender" and "default rate." The "default rate" would be calculated on loans entering repayment status after April 7, 1987, for which insurance claims have been paid, excluding claims paid as a result of death or disability, loans that have been brought into repayment for a period of not fewer than 12 consecutive months or the equivalent, or amounts not recoverable because of bankruptcy. The Conference agreement defines an academic institution as an eligible lender if the institution became a lender under this subpart prior to September 15, 1992. This action is required by the escalating number of defaults and the need to impose greater accountability on academic institutions that are lenders.

PRIMARY CARE LOAN PROGRAM

Section 723 of the conference agreement establishes a primary care loan program, as a component of the health professions student loan program, under which schools of allopathic and osteopathic medicine may make loans to students who commit themselves to careers in family medicine, general internal medicine, general pediatrics, preventive medicine, or osteopathic general practice. If the borrower fails to enter and complete a primary care residency and to practice in a primary care field, the loan balance will be recomputed from the date of issuance at an interest rate of 12 percent per year, compounded annually. The conference agreement also establishes performance standards for schools regarding the proportion of graduates in primary care, with specific penalties assessed if schools fail to maintain such standards. The Conference agreement also requires participating schools to prepare annual reports concerning the operation of the program and include data concerning current training and practice status of graduates who were in their fourth postgraduate year at that time.

The health professions student loan program provides the single largest source of Federal low interest loan funds for students attending allopathic and osteopathic schools. The Conferees believe that here, as with other Title VII programs, Federal support of medical education should be targeted in a manner that will provide consistent incentives to encourage more young men and women to pursue careers in primary care. The success of health care reform requires that the number of medical students pursuing a primary care career increase. Particularly, in light of fiscal constraints on Federal support for health professions education it is no longer appropriate to provide Federal funds for the subsidy of medical specialties education. Although the Conference agreement is just one small step in achieving needed reform in the production of primary care providers, it represents an important beginning.

PROGRAMS FOR STUDENTS FROM DISADVANTAGED BACKGROUND

The Conference agreement extends through fiscal year 1993 the authorization of appropriations for the scholarship program for exceptionally financially needy students and the Health Careers Opportunity Program. The authorization is limited to permit Congress time to consider a long reauthorization in the context of reauthorizing other health professions programs for disadvantaged students which expire at the end of fiscal year 1993.

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR STUDENTS OF EXCEPTIONAL FINANCIAL NEED

Section 736 is renamed Scholarships for Students with Exceptional Financial Need to reflect the working title of these scholarships. The substantive changes made to the program in the conference agreement include limiting scholarship grants only to schools of allopathic and osteopathic medicine, and dentistry and adding a new requirement that students who receive scholarship assistance under this program enter into obligation for service as outlined in section 795, a new section dealing with repayment. The authorization for this program is extended through fiscal year 1993. The Conferees intend that schools of pharmacy, optometry, veterinary medicine, and podiatric medicine continue to receive assistance under the disadvantaged student assistance program authorized in section 740. The Conference agreement authorizes $11 million for fiscal year 1993.

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR DISADVANTAGED STUDENTS

The Conference agreement requires that schools give preference for scholarships to students who are from disadvantaged backgrounds and for whom the costs of attending the school would constitute a severe financial hardship.

LOAN REPAYMENT AND DISADVANTAGED FACULTY DEVELOPMENT

Section 738 of the Conference agreement clarifies who is eligible to participate in the loan repayment program and the amount of payments made to the individual. In addition, this provision establishes a Disadvantaged Faculty Development Fellowship program. The intent of this program is to increase the number of faculty members of disadvantaged backgrounds, including racial and ethnic minorities, in the health professions. The program requires matching funds from the institution to ensure that the institution has a commitment to identify, recruit, and retain individuals from disadvantaged backgrounds who have the potential for teaching, administering programs, or conducting research as faculty members. The authorization level for this program is $4 million for fiscal year 1993.

CENTERS OF EXCELLENCE

Section 739 of the Conference agreement clarifies that schools of osteopathic medicine are eligible grantees for this program.

Given the availability of a large increase in funding for this section that was unforeseen at the time of the last authorization, the Conference agreement includes a number of revisions that preserve the original intent of the program. The allocation of funds language is amended to clarify that the first $12 million appropriated shall go to the four original recipients under this section: Meharry Medical College Schools of Medicine and Dentistry, Xavier University College of Pharmacy, and the Tuskegee University School of Veterinary Medicine.

Of the amounts available after compliance with the above requirement, the Secretary is directed to make available 60 percent of funds for Hispanic and Native American Centers of Excellence and 40 percent to "Other" Centers of Excellence. The Conference agreement clarifies that it was not the intent of the original legislation to create dozens of centers around the country funded at levels not much higher than the average Health Careers Opportunity Program award. The very name of the program, Centers of Excellence, implies a few well-funded centers that will attract and focus resources and expertise and serve as models to other academic institutions. The Conferees have set the minimum award amount for new and continuing centers under this section at $500,000 starting in FY93. Authorization levels remain the same as under current law.

EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE TO STUDENTS FROM DISADVANTAGED BACKGROUNDS

Section 740 of the Conference agreement requires the Secretary to ensure that Health Careers Opportunity Program (HCOP) grants and contracts are equitably distributed to reflect the changing demographics and geographic location of individuals from disadvantaged backgrounds, and that services and activities are equitably allocated among various racial and ethnic populations. The Conferees support the language in the House Committee report for H.R. 3508 describing the current distribution of participation among different racial and ethnic groups and the recommendations made to ameliorate this inequity. The Conferees offer as guidance to the Secretary a definition of an individual from a disadvantaged background as a U.S. citizen who (1) comes from a family with an annual income at or below the poverty level according to family size as defined by the United States Bureau of the Census; or (2) comes from a social or educational background that has inhibited such individual from obtaining the knowledge, skills, and abilities necessary to enroll in and graduate from a health career training program. The Conference agreement authorizes $31.5 million for fiscal year 1993.

AREA HEALTH EDUCATION CENTERS

Section 746 of the Conference agreement makes substantive changes to the Area Health Education Centers (AHEC) and Health Education Training Centers (HETC) programs, incorporating both House- and Senate-passed amendments with some technical modifications. The matching requirement for State-supported AHEC's is changed to require a non-Federal contribution of 50 percent starting in the first year. The existing requirement for participation of a dental school, if there is one affiliated with the medical school's university, is modified to provide also for the participation of a program in clinical psychology, clinical social work, or marriage and family therapy, if there is one affiliated.

For the HETC program, the agreement broadens the current authority to address health personnel needs in "other high-impact urban and rural areas," including establishing HETCs in those areas, and adds Florida to the list of eligible border areas.

The Conference agreement authorizes $25 million for the AHEC program in each of fiscal years 1993–1995. Of this amount, not more than 20 percent could be obligated to special AHEC initiatives undertaken by the original AHEC programs. In fiscal year 1993, any funds appropriated in excess of $19.2 million ($18.7 million in fiscal year 1994) are to be used for the State-supported AHEC program, and of these amounts, no more than 10 percent is to be used to fund demonstration projects described in section 746 under the new program. The Conference agreement authorizes $5 million for the HETC program in each of fiscal years 1993–1995.

FAMILY MEDICINE

Section 747 of the Conference agreement consolidates the funding authorization for department and residency training programs and makes substantive changes to give the Secretary greater discretion in allocating funds between Department and Residency program. The Conferees note that U.S. medical school graduates are entering residency training programs in the primary care specialties in decreasing numbers; over the last seven years, there has been a significant downturn in the number of medical school graduates entering family practice residencies; and since 1986 there has been a 29% reduction in the number of fourth year medical students choosing family practice programs through the National Resident Matching Program (NRMP). The failure of medical students to choose residency training programs in primary care specialities is not based on the unavailability of residency slots in these specialities. Data from the 1992 NRMP "match" show that only 56 percent of the first-year residency positions offered in family practice were filled by U.S. graduates. When graduates of foreign medical schools are included, the percentage of filled positions was 68 percent.

The Conferees believe that all schools of allopathic and osteopathic medicine should have departments of family medicine. The Conference agreement reflects the Conferees' strong support for increasing efforts to establish new or significantly expanded departments of family medicine. It is increasingly clear that only through the establishment of such administrative entities within medical schools will the number of providers increase to meet the needs both of medically underserved communities and national health care reform. In this regard, the Conferees specify that not less than 20 percent of annual appropriations under the consolidated family medicine authority be allocated to departments which propose to establish new departments or significantly expand existing departments. This policy also reflects a relative redirection of funding priorities to programs that increase the number of students entering family medicine. The Conference agreement authorizes $54 million for each of the fiscal years 1993–1995.

GENERAL INTERNAL MEDICINE AND GENERAL PEDIATRICS

Section 748 of the conference agreement makes substantive changes to the programs for training, traineeships, and fellowships in General Internal Medicine and General Pediatrics. The Conference agreement adds a provision to support training of undergraduate medical students and practicing physicians in the specialties of general internal medicine and general pediatrics. The Conferees believe that exposure of students to primary care role models in community or ambulatory settings, and clerkships or rotations in primary care will have a positive impact on their career choice, and selection of primary care residencies and, subsequently, on primary care specialty practice. In addition, the Conferees recognize need for primary care faculty development programs, like the program at the Massachusetts General Hospital, that produce our future primary care teachers and role models. The Conference agreement authorizes $25 million for each of fiscal years 1993–95.

DENTISTRY

Section 749 includes only one substantive change by including an authorization for inclusion of innovative, non-traditional models in the general practice of dentistry. The program is authorized for $6 million for each of fiscal years 1993–95.

PHYSICIAN ASSISTANTS

Section 750 has been modified by the Conference agreement to authorize 10% of appropriated funds to be used for a faculty development program. The program is authorized for $9 million for each of fiscal years 1993–1995.

PODIATRISTS

Section 751 of the Conference agreement amends the program for primary care podiatric medical training to direct the Secretary to give preference to programs that provide training in a variety of community settings, including community-based clinics and long-term care facilities, and to programs that prepare students for practice in rural or underserved areas by training students in those settings. The program is authorized at $1 million for each of fiscal years 1993–1995.

PUBLIC HEALTH

This new subpart consolidates the three existing programs (Public Health Special Projects, Public Health Traineeships and Preventive Medicine Residencies) and a new program (Dental Public Health Residencies) under a single authorization of appropriations. The Conferees emphasize the equal importance of public health traineeships and the preventive medicine tracks in promoting the Healthy People 2000 Objectives and expect that at least 60 percent of the funds appropriated will be allocated for these activities. The program is authorized at $15.5 million for each of fiscal years 1993–1995.

Public health traineeships

Section 761 of the conference agreement makes substantive changes to the program of public health traineeships as follows. Individuals eligible for traineeships are individuals who are pursuing a course of study in which there is a severe shortage of health professionals, including the fields of epidemiology, environmental health, toxicology, nutrition, and biostatistics.

Public health special projects

Section 762 makes substantive changes to the program of Public Health Special Projects. Grants may be awarded to schools of public health to meet the costs of planning, developing, demonstrating, operating, and evaluating projects that further the goals established by Healthy People 2000 in the areas of preventive medicine, health promotion and disease prevention, to improve access and quality of public health services to medically underserved communities or to reduce cases of domestic violence.

The Conference agreement gives preference to schools that will establish or strengthen field placement for students in state, local and other public or nonprofit private health agencies or involve faculty and students in collaborative projects to enhance public health services to medically underserved communities. The Conferees are aware of several programs that have developed linkages to public or nonprofit private health agencies. For example, the Columbia University School of Public Health has strengthened their ties with the New York City

Health Department to improve the capacity of both entities to meet the objectives set forth in "Healthy People 2000". The University of Washington project forged significant linkages to the State Health Department and Portland Area Indian Health Service. These projects have been successful in providing students with an understanding of, and the ability to assess the strengths/weaknesses of the organizational structure, functions, and plans of local, state and regional public health agencies.

The Conferees considered expanding eligibility to include accredited graduate programs in public health. Most of the accredited graduate programs in public health are new and small, and they were established specifically to fill a geographic void where there was no school of public health. In many cases they serve disadvantaged population and concentrate on addressing the needs of medically underserved communities. Collectively they offer the same range of degrees and are equally committed to "Healthy People 2000 Objectives" in the areas of preventive medicine, health promotion and disease prevention, and improving access to quality of health care services in medically underserved communities. Notwithstanding strong argument in favor of broadening the applicant pool, the Conferees agreed to defer expanding eligibility until the next reauthorization.

Training in preventive medicine and dental public health

Section 763 makes substantive changes to the program of grants for training in preventive medicine by adding authority to found a dental public health program. The Secretary may make grants to and enter into contracts with schools of allopathic and osteopathic medicine, public health, and dentistry to plan and develop new residency training programs, maintain or improve existing residency training programs, or provide financial assistance to residency trainees enrolled in such programs. Eligible schools must make available full-time faculty members with the appropriate training, and provide additional support from faculty trained in public health or other relevant specialties.

Authorization of appropriations

Section 765 is a new section that provides a single authorization of appropriations for carrying out sections 761, 762, and 763 in Subpart I of Part D. For these activities, there is appropriated $15.5 million in each of fiscal years 1993 through 1995. Not more than 40 percent of total appropriations shall go to Public Health Special Projects authorized in section 762.

ALLIED HEALTH TRAINEESHIPS AND SPECIAL PROJECTS

Sections 766 and 767 revise and extend the authorization of appropriations for allied health traineeships and special projects. Although historically only the special projects authority has received appropriations, the Conferees believe the provision of traineeships and other assistance designed to increase enrollment in allied health fields with critical shortages is an appropriate investment of limited health professions funding. The contribution of allied health professions to health reform becomes increasingly important with the growing sophistication of medical technology and the effect that an aging population has on demand for skilled health providers who are not physicians, nurses, or dentists.

In addition, the agreement lifts the restriction of current law which limited traineeship support to doctoral programs. The Conferees believe that individuals trained at the master's level can be effective educators. In view of the need to establish new or significantly expand training programs in such critical professions as physical and occupational therapy, the limited funds made available during this reauthorization period should be channeled into programs that will expand the number of educational opportunities available to students desiring to enter these professions.

The Conference agreement authorizes $5 million for each of the fiscal years 1993–1995 for the Traineeship program, and $5 million for each of the fiscal years 1993–1995 for the Special Projects program.

HEALTH ADMINISTRATION

Section 771 of the Conference agreement consolidates and makes substantive changes to programs for training health professionals in the field of health administration. The traineeships program has been modified to give preference to students who are committed to careers with public or nonprofit private entities requiring the skills of graduates of health administration programs.

The Conference agreement further requires that the Secretary give preference for Special Projects grants to applicants that demonstrate that not less than 25 percent of their graduates are working in medically underserved communities. Such grantees must demonstrate success in the recruitment and admission of students from medically underserved communities, that establish student training sites with public or nonprofit community-based providers of health care including community health centers, and emphasize employment with public or nonprofit private organizations. The Conference agreement further requires that all grants be peer reviewed. The intent of the Conferees is to ensure that grants are awarded to educational entities that develop or improve programs to prepare students for employment with public or nonprofit private health organizations.

The Conference agreement authorizes $2.5 million for health administration activities for each of fiscal years 1993 through 1995. Of the appropriated amounts in any fiscal year, not more than 30 percent shall be obligated for grants to programs of health administration to assist them in development or improvement of programs that prepare students for employment with the kinds of public or nonprofit entities described previously by training them in such settings.

HUMAN IMMUNODEFICIENCY VIRUS TRAINING

Section 776 includes the following substantive changes with respect to the program of HIV training for health professionals. In general, wherever references are made in current law to "acquired immune deficiency syndrome", these references are changed to "human immunodeficiency virus". The list of entities eligible to apply for grants is expanded to include "other public or private nonprofit health or educational entities" and in the new subsection (a)(1), the reference to "graduate programs of psychology" is replaced with "graduate programs in mental health practice", which includes clinical psychology, clinical social work, and marriage and family therapy. In addition, the Conferees make clear that training of clinical practitioners is an eligible use of funds under this program. The program is authorized for $25 million for each of fiscal years 1993–1995.

Section 776(b) authorizes $7 million for each of the fiscal years 1993–1995 for the dental AIDS health services program. While funds provided for this program fall short of meeting the unreimbursed costs of these dental education institutions, this authority serves as a type of "matching fund" that recognizes the expenditures incurred by dental programs in providing clinical training to students or general dentistry residents who are providing dental care to AIDS/HIV patients.

GERIATRICS

Section 777 includes substantive changes to the program of grants for geriatric education centers and geriatric training. The Conference agreement expands the list of eligible entities to include schools of nursing. The agreement allows for the full participation of geriatric psychiatry programs in the geriatric training program. The addition of authority to train geriatric psychiatrists and to base projects in a department of geriatric psychiatry reflects the reality that comprehensive geriatric care requires the involvement of the psychiatric profession, in particular those in the profession who specialize in geriatrics. Geriatric psychiatrists serve multi-faceted roles of consultant, diagnostician, and clinician to elderly patients suffering from organic as well as mental disorders.

The Conference agreement requires that dentists receiving assistance be committed to academic careers in geriatrics.

The Conference agreement authorizes the Secretary to make grants to schools and colleges of optometry for the purpose of providing support for projects to plan, develop and operate postgraduate geriatric training for optometrists, providing financial assistance to program participants, and establishing training affiliations with nursing homes, ambulatory care centers, senior centers, and other settings where elderly individuals live.

It is the intent of the Conferees that in awarding funds for geriatric education and training that special consideration be given to programs that provide training and continuing education to health care professionals (including allied health professionals) in the delivery of health and long-term care services to persons with Alzheimer's disease.

The geriatric programs of education centers and training are authorized at $17 million for each of fiscal years 1993–1995. The geriatric optometry program is authorized at $400,000 for each of fiscal years 1993–1995.

RURAL AREA PROJECTS

Section 778 extends the authorization of appropriations for the health care for rural areas program. The reference in subsection (c) to "programs of psychology" is replaced with a reference to "mental health practices", which includes graduate departments and programs of clinical psychology, clinical social work, and marriage and family therapy. The rules regarding administration of grants are expanded to include a limitation that precludes a grantee from supplanting existing program funds with other Federal funds awarded under this section. The program is authorized at $7 million for each of the fiscal years 1993–1995.

RESEARCH OF CERTAIN HEALTH PROFESSIONS ISSUES

Section 781 authorizes the Secretary to support research in the following areas: (1) the impact of student indebtedness on specialty choice and practice location and the reasons for the rising cost of medical education; (2) the impact of minority health professions programs on recruitment, retention, and practice choices of minority health personnel; (3) the effectiveness of investigations and disciplinary actions by State licensing authorities; and (4) the specific actions that are necessary to increase the percentage of primary care physicians, and the number of mid-level primary care providers, graduating from health professions schools. In carrying out this section, the Secretary shall ensure that the project is focussed and the evaluation and findings are relevant to the charge outlined in the Conference agreement. The program is authorized at $4 million for each of the fiscal years 1993–1995.

CHIROPRACTIC DEMONSTRATION PROJECTS

Section 782 provides new authority for grants and contracts with accredited colleges, schools, and universities of chiropractic to develop training programs in which chiropractic providers and physicians collaborate to identify and provide effective treatment for spinal and lower-back conditions. Each application for an award under this new authority is required to be submitted to a peer review group for an evaluation of the merits of the proposal. At least two members of the peer review group must be chiropractors. The Conferees expect that existing peer groups, supplemented if necessary with new members who are chiropractors, would be used for these evaluations. The Secretary should not establish new peer review groups for evaluations of those projects. Not later than February 10, 1995, the Secretary is required to submit to the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee and the House Committee on Energy and Commerce a comprehensive report summarizing the applications submitted, grants and contracts awarded, and the effectiveness of this program. The program is authorized at $1 million for each of the fiscal years 1993–1995.

PREFERENCES AND REQUIRED INFORMATION

Section 791 establishes funding preferences for qualified applicants who demonstrate a high placement rate of their graduates into practice settings that provide health services to residents of medically underserved communities or who demonstrate a significant increase in the placement of graduates into such settings. The intent of this provision is to provide an incentive for the development of programs that will train health professionals to meet the health service needs of medically underserved communities. The goals of this reauthorization are to increase the number of primary care providers and to provide the access to health services to residents of medically underserved communities. The Conferees encourage the Secretary to develop selection criteria that will insure that only the applicants with quality proposals would be approved.

To ensure that only quality proposals are funded, the Conference agreement specifies that preference not be given to applicants that score in the bottom twenty percent of approved applications.

The Conferees are aware of several programs that have outstanding records of training primary care providers and placing them in rural or medically underserved communities. For example, University of Minnesota School of Medicine at Duluth has achieved a great deal of success in training rural family physicians. At this institution more than 50 percent of all graduates have selected careers in family practice and more than 41 percent have chosen practice sites with a population fewer than 20,000. The Conferees expect that the Secretary will encourage other institutions to demonstrate a similar commitment.

The Conferees wish to emphasize that the definition of medically underserved community encompasses not only currently designated health professions shortage areas (HPSA) and populations served by existing community (CHC), migrant (MHC) or homeless health center but also communities and practice sites which may fit the standards for either of these designations, but which are not, in fact, so designated. One example of a situation in which such flexibility would apply would be a rural or urban community that meets the objective criteria necessary for designation as a HPSA, but which has not sought or received official designation as such from the Department. Another instance might be a church- or locally-run community primary care clinic which is not officially designated as a CHC or MHC, but which nevertheless has as its primary purpose the care of disadvantaged populations whose characteristics are equivalent to those served by CHCs or MHCs.

OBLIGATED SERVICE REGARDING CERTAIN PROGRAMS

Section 795 contains new language regarding service obligations for a number of student assistance programs, including scholarships for exceptionally financially needy students (section 736) and the scholarship program described in section 740.

Given the Conferees' concern that despite substantial Federal support for health professions education, many health needs go unaddressed due to the lack of primary care providers particularly in underserved areas, the Conferees have tied receipt of Federal scholarship funds to the completion of primary care training programs and the practice of primary care.

Under the terms of the service provisions, students eligible for financial assistance under one of the designated programs will receive the costs of tuition, books and fees of the program. After graduation from allopathic or osteopathic school of medicine or dental school, the individual must enter general dentistry practice, or will have five years to complete a residency program in either family medicine, general pediatrics, general internal medicine, or general dentistry.

CERTAIN GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 798 contains new language regarding international medical graduates applying for graduate medical education training (internships and residencies). As a condition of receiving funds under this title, eligible institutions must assure the Secretary that applications from graduates of foreign medical schools for postgraduate residency training programs at their institutions will be considered. The Conferees note, however, this provision is not intended to affect criteria used by the institutions to evaluate applicants including criteria relating to domestic or foreign medical school attended. Furthermore, nothing in this provision may be construed as establishing any private right of action.

TWO-YEAR SCHOOLS OF MEDICINE OR OSTEOPATHIC MEDICINE

The Conference agreement repeals section 788(a) of the Public Health Service Act. The original purpose of this grant program for two-year schools of allopathic or osteopathic medicine was to provide assistance in maintaining and improving programs at those institutions. The program was created at a time when it was projected that there would be a shortage of physicians. The Conferees have placed an emphasis on training programs designed to increase the number of primary care physicians and to improve the geographic maldistribution problem rather than programs designed simply to increase the number of physicians.

Two-year schools of allopathic and osteopathic medicine are eligible to apply for funds under the Area Health Education Center program (section 746), Family Medicine program (section 747), General Internal Medicine and General Pediatrics program (748), Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome program (section 776), and Rural Health program (778).

TITLE II—NURSE EDUCATION ACT

When the Congress last reauthorized the Nursing Education Act in 1988, it called for an evaluation of projects funded under title VIII of the Public Health Service Act. In May 1991, the Secretary issued a final report to Congress on the evaluation of these projects. The report provided an overview of how and to what extent the grants carried out under each of the title VIII sections had met their legislative objectives. A major conclusion from the evaluation study was that Federal funds provided to schools of nursing were an important source of development and start-up funds for graduate nursing education, and served as an incentive for innovation in nursing practice.

The Conferees recognize that many steps have been taken to address the current shortage of registered nurses and that the Nursing Education Act has helped to address this critical shortage. The goals of this reauthorization are to train more nurse practitioners, nurse midwives, and nurse anesthetists, and to improve access to health care in medically underserved and rural areas.

AUTHORIZATION PERIOD

The Conference agreement extends for two fiscal years the authorization of appropriations for expiring nurse education programs. This will ensure that when Congress considers the reauthorization of title VIII programs, neither the disadvantaged student assistance programs nor other title VII programs are being reauthorized. Maintaining the discrete focus of Federal assistance on nursing education underscores the continued importance that Congress places on the contribution of nursing to the provision of health care generally and health care reform in particular.

SPECIAL PROJECT GRANTS AND CONTRACTS

Section 202 of the Conference agreement streamlines the nursing special projects authority to place greater emphasis on a smaller number of categorical areas. The Conferees were concerned about the growing diversity of special projects at a time of declining resources. Accordingly, the Conference agreement sharpens the focus of the special projects statute by limiting assistance to four specific categories. These categories include: (1) expanding enrollment in professional nursing programs; (2) promoting career mobility programs which upgrade the skills of licensed vocational or practical nurses, nursing assistants, other paraprofessional nursing personnel; (3) supporting programs that provide continuing education for nurses providing care in medical underserved or rural communities; and (4) developing or expanding programs that improve access to primary care in noninstitutional settings in medically underserved or rural communities. By specifying only a limited number of eligible project categories, the Conferees intend to focus resources on activities that will make the most important contribution to expanding the number of educational opportunities available to individuals desiring to pursue a nursing career.

One of the four priority projects is education and training programs for nursing assistants and other paraprofessional nursing personnel to become licensed vocational or practical nurses or, potentially, registered nurses. The Conferees intend that this demonstration be coordinated with similar special projects to provide a comprehensive career development ladder for all categories of nursing personnel. The proposal is modeled in many respects after reports of the successful New York City Project "Ladders in Nursing Careers" (LINC), which provides counseling services as well as tuition assistance to nursing students. The Conferees believe that nursing providers and the professional nursing profession generally should look toward entry level nursing personnel as viable candidates to pursue educational opportunities to become professional nurses. With respect to LPN-LVN programs, the Conferees intend that funding be awarded solely to schools whose educational curriculum is approved, certified, or otherwise endorsed by the applicable State board as meeting the requirements for such programs.

The Conference agreement modestly reduces the authorization level below the comparable fiscal year 1992 appropriations, consistent with the Conferees' beliefs that additional funds are necessary to expand support for the training of nurse midwives and nurse practitioners. The Conferees recommend that funds no longer necessary to maintain the fiscal year 1992 level of special projects program activity be allocated to nurse practitioner and nurse midwife training activities under section 822. The program is authorized for $10.5 million for each of the fiscal years 1993–1994.

The Conferees recognize that a number of grants originally awarded under the old special projects authority involve multi-year project periods. Subject to the Secretary's discretion, the Conference agreement contains a provision to permit continued support of such projects through the originally agreed upon project period.

ADVANCED NURSE EDUCATION

Section 203 of the Conference agreement makes substantive changes to the program of grants for Advanced Nurse Education (section 821). The Conference agreement continues the Congress' commitment to support the education of nurses who are pursuing advanced education, especially in clinical specialities and public health nursing. The Conference agreement eliminates grants or contracts for programs training nurse researchers and nurse administrators and requires that not more than 10 percent of the appropriation in any fiscal year be used for providing grants or contracts for programs leading to doctoral degrees. The Conferees are aware of the need for nurse researchers. The National Center for Nursing Research (NCNR) was established in 1986 at the National Institutes of Health to foster, conduct, administer, and support research training programs directed at promoting the growth and quality of research related to nursing and patient care. The fiscal year 1992 appropriation for the NCNR is $45 million, and the Conferees note there are funds available through the recently designated National Institute of Nursing Research (NINR) to support training. NINR supports nursing research through research grants, cooperative agreements, and research and development contracts. The Conferees believe that the NINR provides an appropriate source of funds for training nurse researchers. In addition, nurses interested in pursuing careers in administration can receive support on a case by case basis in traineeships in public health and health administration. There is authorized to be appropriated $12 million for fiscal year 1993 and 1994 for section 821.

NURSE PRACTITIONER AND NURSE MIDWIFE PROGRAMS

Section 204 of the Conference agreement makes changes to the program of grants and contracts for Nurse Practitioner and Nurse Midwife training. Nurse practitioner and nurse midwifery programs have contributed to improving the quality of care by expanding the nurse's role in assessment and case management and in increasing access to primary health care, particularly in medically underserved or rural communities. The Conference agreement emphasizes the need for recipients of funds to work in medically underserved or rural communities. The Conference agreement expands funding for nurse practitioner programs that train providers to treat adolescents and children by removing the special consideration previously provided for geriatric and gerontological nursing applications. There is authorized to be appropriated $20 million for fiscal years 1993 and 1994.

NURSING EDUCATION OPPORTUNITIES FOR INDIVIDUALS FROM DISADVANTAGED BACKGROUNDS

Section 205 makes no changes to the program of grants for Nursing Education Opportunities for Individuals from Disadvantaged Backgrounds. This program assists students from disadvantaged backgrounds to overcome financial, education, or cultural barriers that prevent entry into nursing schools and interfere with successful completion of their studies. The Conferees emphasize that students who may have an associate degree in nursing would be eligible to receive funding under this section if they are financially, educationally or culturally disadvantaged. There is authorized to be appropriated $5 million for fiscal year 1993 and $6 million for fiscal year 1994.

TRAINEESHIPS FOR ADVANCED EDUCATION OF PROFESSIONAL NURSES

Section 206 of the Conference agreement includes substantive changes to the Traineeships for Advanced Education of Professional Nurses. The Conference agreement allows all individuals interested in pursuing graduate level training as nurse clinicians the opportunity to become registered nurses. This will also allow students in graduate-level nursing programs to participate in traineeships when they have completed their basic nursing preparation, as defined by their schools. No longer will licensure as a registered nurse be a prerequisite for recipients of these stipends. The Conference agreement emphasizes preference for clinicians but authorizes traineeships for public health nurses and nurse educators. The Conference agreement eliminates the post-baccalaureate faculty fellowship and requires that not more than 10 percent of funds appropriated under this section in any fiscal year be used for providing traineeships to individuals pursuing doctoral degrees. To support traineeships for the advanced education of nurses, the Conference agreement authorizes $20 million for each of the fiscal years 1993 and 1994.

NURSE ANESTHETISTS

Section 207 makes changes to the program of grants and contracts for training nurse anesthetists. Recognizing the important role that nurse anesthetists fill in medically underserved and rural communities, the Conference agreement supports additional funding to maintain, expand, or establish new programs for training nurse anesthetists and to provide additional traineeships to the students. The Secretary will give preference to applicants that provide their students with clinical training in rural health settings. Grant recipients must give preference in awarding traineeships to individuals who are residents of medical underserved areas. The Conference agreement authorizes $3 million for fiscal year 1993 and $4 million for fiscal year 1994.

STUDENT LOANS

Section 208 of the Conference agreement makes changes to the program of Allotment and Payment of Federal Capital Contributions to schools of nursing. The Conference agreement amends section 838 (a)(3)(A) to require that funds remain in the Nursing Student Loan Program until expended, rather than only for the current two year period, after which time they could have been spent for other Department of Health and Human Services' purposes. The Conference agreement ensures that nursing student loan money will be used only for nursing loan programs and will not be diverted to other purposes in the Department.

PREFERENCES AND REQUIRED INFORMATION

Section 209 establishes funding preferences for qualified applicants who demonstrate a high placement rate of their graduates into practice settings that provide health services to residents of medically underserved communities or who demonstrate a significant increase in the placement of their graduates into such settings. The intent of this provision is to provide an incentive for the development of programs that will train health professionals to meet the health service needs of medically underserved communities. These preferences are substantively identical to the preferences applied to title VII programs under section 791 of this Act.

TRANSFER OF LOAN REPAYMENT PROGRAM

Section 211 of the Conference agreement includes substantive changes to the loan repayment program. Subsection (h) and section 837A have been deleted and the authority for the Loan Repayment Program is transferred to a new subpart. Section 846 facilitates the employment of nurses in medically underserved or rural areas by providing federal funds to repay student loans for those agreeing to serve in such areas. The Conference agreement supports the implementation of the loan repayment program as a method of reducing or eliminating financial barriers to nursing education. The Conference agreement authorizes $5 million for fiscal year 1993 and $6 million for fiscal year 1994.

ADVISORY COUNCIL ON NURSES EDUCATION AND PRACTICE

Section 212 of the Conference agreement redesignates the National Advisory Council on Nurses Education as the National Advisory Council on Nursing Education and Practice.

TITLE III—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

ADVISORY COUNCIL ON GRADUATE MEDICAL EDUCATION

Section 301 of the Conference agreement makes substantial changes to the provisions for the Advisory Council on Graduate Medical Education. The Conference agreement deletes the separate authorization of appropriations for the Council on Graduate Medical Education (COGME). The Conferees expect that funding for COGME's activities will continue to be provided by the Health Resources and Services Administration from general administrative sources. In addition, the Conference agreement revises the statutory authority of COGME to reflect the temporary nature of its mandate and specifies that a final report will be presented to the Secretary and to the Congress no later than April 1, 1995. Under the Conference agreement, the COGME will expire on September 30, 1995. It is anticipated that the final report of COGME will be thoroughly considered by the Congress during the scheduled reauthorization for health professions programs under title VII of the Public Health Service Act that will occur during fiscal year 1995.

The Conferees believe that in its final 3 years, the COGME should play an increasingly active role in analyzing and making policy recommendations concerning such issues as supply of critical health professionals to serve in shortage areas and the effect of funding and reimbursement policies as potential disincentives to the choice of primary care training and service in underserved areas.

COMMISSION ON ALLIED HEALTH

Section 302 of the Conference agreement establishes a national commission to make recommendations to the Secretary and appropriate Committees of Congress on issues such as the supply and distribution of allied health personnel, and current and future shortages of allied health personnel.

STUDY REGARDING CLINICAL LABORATORY TECHNOLOGISTS FOR MEDICALLY UNDERSERVED AND RURAL COMMUNITIES

Section 303 of the Conference agreement provides authority for the Secretary to conduct a study on the shortage of clinical laboratory technologists. The Conferees are concerned about the reports of a nationwide shortage of clinical laboratory technologists and the adverse impact such a shortage could have on rural and other underserved areas. The Conferees expect the Secretary to consider, in carrying out this study, the need for and appropriateness of alternative mechanisms for increasing the supply of clinical laboratory technologists including certification through a competency-based examination and recognition of private certifying organizations.

RESIDENCY TRAINING PROGRAMS IN EMERGENCY MEDICINE

Section 304 of the Conference agreement authorizes the Secretary to make grants for planning and developing residency training programs in emergency medicine (section 1251) if the training programs will provide education and training in identification and appropriate referral of cases of domestic violence. The program is authorized at $400,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

CERTAIN CLINICAL TRAINEESHIPS

Section 305 of the Conference agreement amends Section 303(d)(2) of the Public Health Service Act to expand the locations that fulfill required service obligation by including the provision of mental health services in local or federal prisons or correctional facilities for individuals receiving clinical traineeship in psychology, psychiatry, nursing, marriage and family therapy, or social work.

SPECIAL CONSOLIDATION LOAN PROGRAM

Section 306 of the Conference agreement amends Section 428C of the Higher Education Act of 1965 to allow Health Education Assistance Loans (HEAL) to be made part of a consolidated loan without a Federal subsidy. HEAL loans are authorized under Subpart I of Part A of Title VII of the Public Health Service Act.

NATIONAL ADVISORY COUNCIL ON MEDICAL LICENSURE

Section 307 of the Conference agreement provides authority for the establishment of a National Advisory Council on Medical Licensure ("The Council"). The Council will provide advice to the Secretary regarding the operation of the system established by the American Medical Association for the purpose of verifying and maintaining information regarding the qualifications of individuals to practice medicine regarding the establishment and operation of any similar system. The Council will also determine the extent to which the verification system has expedited or otherwise improved the efficiency and equitable operation of the process of licensure by endorsement. In addition, the Council will also review policies, practices, and laws of States in licensing international and domestic medical graduates, determine the effects of these policies, and consult with State authorities that license individuals to practice medicine to recommend non-discriminatory practices in licensure and licensure by endorsement.

The Conferees expect that the deliberations of the Council, will be conducted in an objective setting, will promote constructive dialogue between concerned organizations, and will systematically review all facets of State policies and practices affecting licensure and licensure by endorsement for graduates of both U.S. and international medical schools.

The Council will continue in existence until the submission of its final report or not later than September 30, 1995, whichever is earlier. The Council is required to prepare and submit a report to the Secretary, the Senate Committee on Labor and Human Resources, and the House Committee on Energy and Commerce on its findings and recommendations.

INSTRUCTION ON PREVENTION OF TRANSMISSION OF BLOODBORNE DISEASES

Section 308 of the Conference agreement requires assurances by applicants that all trainees, as appropriate, will receive instruction in the utilization of universal precautions and infection control procedures for the prevention of transmission of bloodborne diseases. The Conferees believe that it is critical that all health professions trainees receive instruction in universal precautions and infection control procedures for the prevention of transmission of bloodborne diseases.

STUDY ON THE EFFECTIVENESS OF HEALTH PROFESSIONS PROGRAMS

Section 309 of the Conference agreement provides for a study by the General Accounting Office (GAO) of the effectiveness of programs funded under titles VII and VIII. Six months prior to the next reauthorization of Titles VII and VIII, the Conferees expect to be able to be guided by findings from a comprehensive GAO assessment of the effectiveness of the programs to achieve stated goals, including alleviating shortages and encouraging practice in underserved and rural communities; and of the relative effectiveness of the various funding mechanisms, the duration of service of former program participants in medically underserved or rural communities, and the geographic distribution of former program participants. In this context, the conferees request that the GAO include in its study a review of the continued fragmentation of funding to categorical groups of health professionals, and recommend alternative models of funding the training of health professionals.

DELAYED APPLICABILITY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS

Section 310 of the Conference agreement amends section 403A(a)(1) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act to allow states with their own maple syrup regulatory programs to continue to enforce existing state standards until September 1, 1994 without being preempted by federal regulations. During this time it is expected that the Food and Drug Administration will act on petitions for exemption from preemption filed by any interested state under the Nutrition Labeling and Education Act of 1990 (NLEA).

Passage of the NLEA had the effect of preempting any state standard of identity for maple syrup which is more stringent than the federal standard established under regulation. A number of states, such as Vermont, Maine and New York, have established standards for maple syrup which are stricter than federal requirements.

NATIONAL ADVISORY COUNCIL ON HEALTH PROFESSIONS

The Conference agreement provides for the repeal of the National Advisory Council on Health Professions effective October 1, 1992. The Conferees believe that the function and the priority of the health professions programs under title VII has changed sufficiently as a result of the Conference agreement and the Disadvantaged Minority Health Improvement Act of 1990 that a single advisory council is no longer an appropriate vehicle for providing guidance to the Secretary on the appropriate direction of health manpower policy in areas as diverse as veterinary medicine, pharmacy, podiatric medicine, allied health, clinical psychology, allopathic and osteopathic medicine, and dentistry.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the provisions of clause 5 of rule I, the Chair announces that he will postpone further proceedings today on each motion to suspend the rules on which a recorded vote or the yeas and nays are ordered, or on which the vote is objected to under clause 4 of rule XV.

Such roll votes, if postponed, will be taken on Wednesday, September 30, 1992.

PRINTING OF "THOMAS JEFFERSON'S MANUAL OF PARLIAMENTARY PRACTICE"

Mr. ANNUNZIO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and concur in the Senate concurrent resolution (S. Con.

Res. 112) to authorize printing of "Thomas Jefferson's Manual of Parliamentary Practice," as prepared by the Office of the Secretary of the Senate.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. CON. RES. 112

Whereas parliamentary bodies require written rules of order for their proceedings to be conducted fairly and efficiently;

Whereas the Senate's first code of rules provided that "every question of order shall be decided by the presiding officer, without debate";

Whereas Thomas Jefferson, serving as the Senate's second president from 1797 to 1801, prepared for his own guidance a manual of legislative practice that included, under 53 topical headings, precedents from major authorities on parliamentary conduct;

Whereas "Jefferson's Manual" set the framework for the evolution of the Senate's rules and procedures, served to inspire respect for parliamentary law in the new Nation, and stands as one of Jefferson's most enduring intellectual ventures;

Whereas "Jefferson's Manual" was first printed for the use of the Senate in 1801 and was subsequently published by the Senate on a regular basis from 1828, 1975;

Whereas the House of Representatives in 1837 provided by rule, which still exists, that the provisions of "Jefferson's Manual" should "govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House"; and

Whereas April 13, 1993, marks the 250th anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson and it is fitting on this occasion to honor Jefferson and the continued development of parliamentary law: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That there shall be printed as a Senate document, the book entitled "A Manual of Parliamentary Practice for the Use of the Senate of the United States" by Thomas Jefferson (with the editorial assistance of the Senate Historical Office under the supervision of the Secretary of the Senate).

SEC. 2. Such document shall include illustrations, and shall be in such style, form, manner, and binding as directed by the Joint Committee on Printing after consultation with the Secretary of the Senate.

SEC. 3. In addition to the usual number of copies, there shall be printed with suitable binding 10,000 copies for the use of the Senate and House of Representatives, to be allocated as determined jointly by the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ANNUNZIO] will be recognized for 20 minutes and the gentleman from California [Mr. THOMAS] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ANNUNZIO].

Mr. ANNUNZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, Senate Concurrent Resolution 112 is sponsored by the Honorable WENDELL FORD, chairman of the Senate Rules and Administration Committee. The resolution calls for the printing of a new edition of "Thomas Jefferson's Manual of Parliamentary Practice," as a Senate document. Jefferson's manual, the first volume of parliamentary procedure ever compiled in the United States, was written while Thomas Jefferson served as Vice President of the United States from 1797 to 1801. Jefferson wrote the manual to instruct Members of Congress on proper legislative procedure. Drawing on the precedents of the British Parliament and the precepts of the Constitution, he sought to establish for future presiding officers "some known system of rules."

Jefferson's "Manual of Parliamentary Practice," known more simply as "Jefferson's Manual" was first published in 1801, the year that Jefferson was inaugurated President of the United States. A second edition, with some minor revisions appeared in 1812. In 1837, the House of Representatives adopted a rule that the practices comprised in "Jefferson's Manual" "shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House." That rule remains in effect today.

From 1801 to the mid-1970's, various editors updated and perfected Jefferson's style in successive versions of the House and Senate editions, changing punctuation and inserting text embodying procedural developments agreed to long after Jefferson's time. In the continued development of parliamentary law, the Senate Historical Office has proposed a new and complete edition true to Jefferson's original version. The new edition of "Jefferson's Manual" will be available to Members of Congress as we commemorate the upcoming 250th anniversary of Thomas Jefferson's birth in 1993.

Mr. Speaker I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. THOMAS of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this is a reauthorization for the printing of "Jefferson's Manual of Procedures." There are to be 10,000 copies printed, 5,000 for the Senate and 5,000 for the House, which seems appropriate, because with 100 Members in the Senate and 435 Members in the House, they have three office buildings and we have three office buildings.

I hope Members will read their copies that are given to them. As the gentleman from Illinois indicated, Jefferson originally created the manual so that some known system of rules would be available.

It is not just the rules, it is the precedents that are determined from those rules that really govern us in our daily behavior here. And I hope as the majority reads the book they understand that precedents are rules for the long term, not for the exigencies of the moment. We will keep an eye on the parliamentary procedure of this House as though Jefferson were here.

I support Senate Concurrent Resolution 112.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ANNUNZIO. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ANNUNZIO] that the House suspend the rules and concur in the Senate concurrent resolution (S. Con. Res. 112).

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate concurrent resolution was concurred in.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ANNUNZIO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on Senate Concurrent Resolution 112, the Senate concurrent resolution just concurred in.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA JUSTICE REFORM ACT OF 1992

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 4096) to amend title 11, District of Columbia Code, to increase the maximum amount in controversy permitted for cases under the jurisdiction of the small claims and conciliation branch of the Superior Court of the District of Columbia, and to authorize the corporation counsel for the District of Columbia to conduct criminal prosecutions of certain juvenile defendants, as amended.

H.R. 4096

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "District of Columbia Justice Reform Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. INCREASE IN MAXIMUM AMOUNT IN CONTROVERSY PERMITTED FOR CASES UNDER JURISDICTION OF SMALL CLAIMS AND CONCILIATION BRANCH OF SUPERIOR COURT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 11–1321, D.C. Code, is amended by striking "$2,000" and inserting "$5,000".

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply to cases filed with the Superior Court of the District of Columbia on or after the date of the enactment of this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON] will be recognized for 20 minutes and the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. BLILEY] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON].

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this legislation, as amended, is to increase the maximum amount in controversy permitted for cases under the jurisdiction of the Small Claims and Conciliation Branch of the Superior Court of the District of Columbia.

Mr. Speaker, I would first like to note that a bipartisan compromise was reached and agreed to which had the effect of dispensing with one of the provisions of H.R. 4096 as reported. Both majority and minority members of the Committee on the District of Columbia agreed to strike from the bill section 3, which would have authorized the Corporation Counsel for the District of Columbia to conduct criminal prosecutions of certain juvenile defendants, except in those cases where an individual would otherwise be a codefendant with another person who was to be tried as an adult by the U.S. attorney for a crime with a common set of facts. In such cases, the U.S. attorney would have notified the Corporation Counsel of such facts and conducted any subsequent prosecution of the transferred individual.

After having agreed to strike this section of the bill, the only remaining provision of the legislation amends title 11, District of Columbia Code, to increase the maximum amount in controversy permitted for cases under the jurisdiction of the Small Claims and Conciliation Branch of the District of Columbia from the existing maximum of $2,000 to $5,000.

This legislation was introduced at the request of the Mayor and Corporation Counsel of the District of Columbia. The need for this legislation and its expected positive benefits are unquestioned. The Mayor, Corporation Counsel, the chief judge of the D.C. Superior Court, and this Member are all in agreement that this legislation will enhance and increase the capability of D.C. courts to deal more effectively with the overwhelming caseload in criminal matters and other areas of the court's docket. Presently, it has been estimated that 5,000 of the 15,000 cases now on the court's civil docket would be removed by this legislation. That represents a 35-percent reduction in the court's caseload.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 4096 as amended, was passed by a voice vote of the District of Columbia Committee and favorably reported on August 11, 1992. As I indicated earlier, one section of the bill over which there was disagreement, was struck with the mutual consent of both the majority and the minority. The present form of the bill, as amended, enjoys the support of both sides of our committee. For this support, I would like to thank each of our members, especially Mr. BILL LOWERY, the ranking member of the Judiciary and Education Subcommittee, who agreed to have the bill considered directly by the full committee; and, of course, my colleague from Virginia, Mr. THOMAS J. BLILEY, the ranking minority member of our full committee, who has offered his support for that section of H.R. 4096 which we are urging the passage of today.

I would also like to thank both the majority and minority staff members of the committee for their diligence and long-term hard work which produced this legislation as it was brought before the full committee and, finally, the compromise which allowed us to agree on an important section of the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I very much appreciate the willingness of Chairman DELLUMS to author this legislation at the request of Mayor Sharon Pratt Kelly. This bill raises the jurisdictional limit on cases which may be brought to the District of Columbia's Small Claims Court from $2,000 to $5,000. This will enable our trial court to handle criminal matters much more quickly by shifting judicial resources from the civil to the criminal dockets.

H.R. 4096 represents just one of several elements of Mayor Kelly's youth and crime initiative. Chairman DELLUMS agreed to introduce it because, regrettably, the District's Mayor and the city council have no authority under the District of Columbia Self-Government and Governmental Reorganization Act to amend title 11 of the D.C. Code which deals with judicial matters. Mayor Kelly's initiative, particularly its focus on the pipeline that leads to crime, has won praise from criminologists and other experts who have investigated the effectiveness of various approaches to crime. I also deeply regret the fact that the Congress could not follow through on its initial commitment to provide $30 million for the Mayor's initiative because of the President's threat to veto appropriations bills which exceeded his own spending request. The funding could have provided District residents and visitors real relief from violent crime, unlike the death penalty which has brought no relief to those jurisdictions which employ it.

Violent crime is a problem confronting the District of Columbia and many other large cities today. A vicious, high crime rate hovers over other issues because it is feeding them all. Efforts at decent housing, improved health, high quality education and productive social welfare practices are often short-circuited by the atmosphere and events produced by suffocating criminal activity. The District has been diligently seeking solutions. No jurisdiction in the United States can yet claim the success most seek. Exclusive reliance on increasingly more severe sanctions, including the death penalty and mandatory sentences, with little attention to and funding for prevention, have not so much as even slowed the crime and murder rate here or elsewhere.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, I regret that circumstances will not permit this House to also consider before adjournment legislation creating a Supreme Court for the District. The crime rate in the District has made a D.C. Supreme Court especially urgent this year. The District courts are clogged both at the bottom and the top. That bill, H.R. 5811, would have brought relief at both ends. Today, many inappropriate cases linger in the trial court, although they involve questions of law which could be certified to and disposed of in a Supreme Court, making room for urgent criminal matters. This single improvement insuring swift and sure justice is one of the few known to have a direct affect on crime rates. Yet while it has been twice reported by the District Committee and passed once by this House, we are forced to wait even longer to implement a system which is found in 38 other states.

Mr. Speaker, again, I appreciate the hard work of Chairman DELLUMS on the bill before us, and urge all of my colleagues to support it.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BLILEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I am happy to join my colleague, the chairman of the D.C. Committee, Mr. DELLUMS, in support of the amended District of Columbia Justice Reform Act of 1992. As amended, the bill will increase the jurisdictional maximum amount in controversy in small claims proceedings from $2,000 to $5,000.

Under home rule, the judicial system in the District of Columbia remains a Federal institution. The courts are article 1 Federal courts whose judges are appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. Under the Home Rule Act, any change in the jurisdiction of either the D.C. Court of Appeals or the D.C. Superior Court require congressional action.

Congress last amended the jurisdictional maximum amount for D.C. small claims in 1984.

Mr. Speaker, even though President Bush, and President Reagan before him, enjoyed enormous success in controlling inflation, it should be clear that $2,000 is an antiquated maximum amount for small claims. And, indeed, since 1986 there has been a study decline in small claims filings as the dollar amount in controversy either forced simple cases into more expensive and complex proceedings or discouraged litigants from entering the courthouse at all.

Last year, the D.C. Superior Court had almost a quarter of a million cases before it that were available for disposition. H.R. 4096 will allow more of those cases to be resolved through informal small claims procedures and allow the court's resources to be more efficiently employed.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 4096.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MONTGOMERY). The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 4096, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

The title was amended so as to read: "A bill to amend title 11, District of Columbia Code, to increase the maximum amount in controversy permitted for cases under the jurisdiction of the Small Claims and Conciliation Branch of the Superior Court of the District of Columbia."

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 4096, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia?

There was no objection.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA SPOUSE EQUITY ACT OF 1988 AMENDMENTS

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 1880) to amend the District of Columbia Spouse Equity Act of 1988.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 1880

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the District of Columbia Spouse Equity Act of 1988, effective March 16, 1988 (D.C. Law 7-214; D.C. Code, section 1-3001 et seq.) is amended—

(1) in section 2 (section 1-3001) by striking the period at the end thereof and inserting ", or an officer, member, or retiree of the United States Park Police Force, or an officer, member, or retiree of the United States Secret Service to whom the District of Columbia Policemen and Firemen's Retirement and Disability Act (sections 4-607 et seq. of the D.C. Code) applies.";

(2) in section 3(1) (section 1-3002(a)) by striking "a District" and inserting "an"; and

(3) in section 3(2) (section 1-3002(b)) by striking the period at the end thereof and inserting "or an officer, member, or retiree of the United States Park Police Force or an officer, member, or retiree of the United States Secret Service to whom the District of Columbia Policemen and Firemen's Retirement and Disability Act (sections 4-607 et seq. of the D.C. Code) applies.".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON] will be recognized for 20 minutes and the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. BLILEY] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON].

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the purpose of S. 1880 is to amend the District of Columbia Spouse Equity Act of 1988 to include under its coverage certain employees of the U.S. Secret Service and U.S. Park Police hired prior to 1984, who participate in a retirement system of the District of Columbia and who are not currently covered by the provisions of either the D.C. Spouse Equity Act or its Federal counterpart.

Both the Federal Government and the District have enacted laws which currently afford former spouses of Federal civil service and District employees, respectively, legal rights with regard to the receipt of annuity benefits. These rights are afforded to former spouses, because Congress and the District have determined that spouses are entitled to a share of the annuity benefits earned during the course of a marriage.

The District of Columbia Corporation Counsel and the Office of Personnel Management [OPM], when contacted by the Secret Service regarding this issue in 1990, were in agreement that there was, in fact, a gap in coverage for these individuals and that an amendment to the Federal or District Spouse Equity Acts would be an appropriate remedy. OPM recommended that the amendment be made to the D.C. Spouse Equity Act due to the fact that, although the Federal Treasury was funding the annuities of Federal employees who are covered by the District's retirement system, the District performs the administrative function of sending out annuity and survivor benefits for these individuals.

There are no significant costs associated with this legislation. I ask that my colleagues join me in support of this small but needed change to close this inadvertent gap and provide rightful legal protections to those entitled employees and their spouses.

On Friday, September 25, 1992, the Senate passed S. 1880 without amendment by voice vote. I recommend that the House agree to S. 1880 and that it do pass.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BLILEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 1880, a bill to amend the District of Columbia Spouse Equity Act of 1988. The Senate passed this legislation last week and sent it to the House for immediate consideration.

The Spouse Equity Act simply brings a small number of Federal employees under the same personnel retirement system rules as other Federal and District employees. Both the Federal Government and the District government already provide certain rights to former spouses to nearly all of their employees. But there is a gap in the law in regards to members and retirees of the U.S. Secret Service and the U.S. Park Police. S. 1880 brings this small group of people, perhaps no more than 20 individuals, into conformity with the vast majority.

There should be no cost to the Federal Government as S. 1880 does not increase the amount of benefits, but merely addresses how benefits are distributed. It simply requires the Mayor of the District of Columbia to recognize an annuity or benefits award which is the subject of a qualifying court order. Any additional paperwork burden on the District government should be minimal.

Mr. Speaker, I understand that S. 1880 is consistent with the administration's personnel policies. I am not aware of any opposition to this legislation. I commend the chairman of the Committee on the District of Columbia, Mr. DELLUMS, and the Delegate from the District, Ms. NORTON, for bringing this legislation to the floor for immediate consideration as it corrects an apparent flaw in the convoluted and often confusing retirement system.

I urge all of my colleagues to support S. 1880 and I yield back the balance of my time.

☐ 1230

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MONTGOMERY). The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON] that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 1880.

The question was taken and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof), the rules were suspended and the Senate bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on S. 1880, the Senate bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia?

There was no objection.

COLUMBIA HOSPITAL FOR WOMEN LAND PURCHASE

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 3703) to authorize the conveyance to the Columbia Hospital for Women of certain parcels of land in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 3703

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. CONVEYANCE OF LAND.

(a) ADMINISTRATOR OF GENERAL SERVICES.—Subject to sections 2 and 4, the Administrator of General Services (hereinafter in this Act referred to as the "Administrator") shall convey, for $12,800,000 to be paid in accordance with the terms set forth in subsection (d)(2) and other consideration required by this Act, to the Columbia Hospital for Women (formerly Columbia Hospital for Women and Lying-in Asylum; hereinafter in this Act referred to as "Columbia Hospital"), located in Washington, District of Columbia, all right, title, and interest of the United States in and to those pieces or parcels of land in the District of Columbia, described in subsection (b), together with all improvements thereon and appurtenances thereto. The purpose of the conveyance is to provide a site for the construction by Columbia Hospital of a facility to house the National Women's Health Resource Center (hereinafter in this Act referred to as the "Resource Center"), as described in the Certificate of Need issued for the Resource Center in conformance with District of Columbia law and in effect on the date of conveyance.

(b) PROPERTY DESCRIPTION.—The land referred to in subsection (a) was conveyed to the United States of America by deed dated May 2, 1888, from David Fergusson, widower, recorded in liber 1314, folio 102, of the land records of the District of Columbia, and is that portion of square numbered 25 in the city of Washington in the District of Columbia which was not previously conveyed to such hospital by the Act of June 28, 1952 (Public Law 82-423). Such property is more particularly described as square 25, lot 803, or as follows: all that piece or parcel of land situated and lying in the city of Washington in the District of Columbia and known as part of square numbered 25, as laid down and distinguished on the plat or plan of said city as follows: beginning for the same at the northeast corner of the square being the corner formed by the intersection of the west line of Twenty-fourth Street Northwest, with the south line of north M Street Northwest and running thence south with the line of said Twenty-fourth Street Northwest for the distance of two hundred and thirty-one feet ten inches, thence running west and parallel with said M Street Northwest for the distance of two hundred and thirty feet six inches and running thence north and parallel with the line of said Twenty-fourth Street Northwest for the distance of two hundred and thirty-one feet ten inches to the line of said M Street Northwest and running thence east with the line of said M Street Northwest to the place of beginning two hundred and thirty feet and six inches together with all the improvements, ways, easements, rights, privileges, and appurtenances to the same belonging or in anywise appertaining.

(c) DATE OF CONVEYANCE.—

(1) DATE.—The date of the conveyance of property required under subsection (a) shall be the date which is 1 year after the date of receipt by the Administrator of written notification from Columbia Hospital that the hospital needs such property for use as a site to provide housing for the Resource Center.

(2) DEADLINE FOR SUBMISSION OF NOTIFICATION.—A written notification of need from Columbia Hospital shall not be effective for purposes of subsection (a) and paragraph (1) unless the notification is received by the Administrator before the date which is 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(d) CONVEYANCE TERMS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The conveyance of property required under subsection (a) shall be subject to such terms and conditions as may be determined by the Administrator to be necessary to safeguard the interests of the United States. Such terms and conditions shall be consistent with the terms and conditions set forth in this Act.

(2) PAYMENT OF PURCHASE PRICE.—Columbia Hospital shall pay the $12,800,000 purchase price in full by not later than the date of conveyance under subsection (c).

(3) QUITCLAIM DEED.—Any conveyance of property to Columbia Hospital under this Act shall be by quitclaim deed.

(e) TREATMENT OF AMOUNTS RECEIVED.—Amounts received by the United States as payment under this Act shall be paid into, administered, and expended as part of the fund established by section 210(f) of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949 (40 U.S.C. 490(f)).

SEC. 2. LIMITATION ON CONVEYANCE.

No part of any land conveyed under section 1 may be used, during the 30-year period beginning on the date of conveyance under section 1(c)(1), for any purpose other than to provide a site for a facility to house the Resource Center and any necessary related appurtenances to that facility.

SEC. 3. SATELLITE HEALTH CENTERS.

(a) REQUIREMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 4 years after the date of the conveyance under section 1, Columbia Hospital, after consultation with the District of Columbia Commission of Public Health and the District of Columbia State Health Planning and Development Agency, shall establish, maintain, and operate 3 satellite health centers.

(2) PERSONS TO BE SERVED.—One of the satellite health centers shall provide comprehensive health and counseling services exclusively for teenage women and their children. The other 2 satellite health centers shall provide comprehensive health and counseling services for women (including teenage women) and their children.

(3) LOCATION.—The satellite health centers shall be located in areas of the District of Columbia in which the District of Columbia Department of Public Health has determined that the need for comprehensive health and counseling services provided by the centers is the greatest. In locating such centers, special consideration shall be given to the areas of the District with the highest rates of infant death and births by teenagers.

(b) COMPREHENSIVE HEALTH AND COUNSELING SERVICES.—In subsection (a), comprehensive health and counseling services include—

(1) examination of women;

(2) medical treatment and counseling of women, including prenatal and postnatal services;

(3) treatment and counseling of substance abusers and those who are at risk of substance abuse;

(4) health promotion and disease prevention services;

(5) physician and hospital referral services; and

(6) extended and flexible hours of service.

(c) REQUIRED CONSIDERATION.—The establishment, operation, and maintenance of satellite health centers by Columbia Hospital in accordance with this section shall be part of the consideration required by this Act for the conveyance under section 1.

SEC. 4. REVERSIONARY INTEREST.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The property conveyed under section 1 shall revert to the United States—

(1) on the date which is 4 years after the date of such conveyance if Columbia Hospital is not operating the Resource Center on such property; and

(2) on any date in the 30-year period beginning on the date of such conveyance, on which the property is used for a purpose other than that referred to in section 2.

(b) REPAYMENT.—If property reverts to the United States under subsection (a), the Administrator shall pay to Columbia Hospital, from amounts otherwise appropriated from the fund established by section 210(f) of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949 (40 U.S.C. 490(f)), an amount equal to all sums received by the United States as payments for the conveyance under section 1, without interest on such amount.

(c) ENFORCING REVERSION.—The Administrator shall perform all acts necessary to enforce any reversion of property to the United States under this section.

(d) INVENTORY OF PUBLIC BUILDINGS SERVICE.—Property that reverts to the United States under this section—

(1) shall be under the control of the General Services Administration; and

(2) shall be assigned by the Administrator to the inventory of the Public Buildings Service.

SEC. 5. DAMAGES.

(a) DAMAGES.—Subject to subsection (b), for each year in the 26-year period beginning on the date which is 4 years after the date of conveyance under section 1(c)(1), in which Columbia Hospital does not operate 3 satellite health centers in accordance with section 3 for a period of more than 60 days, the Columbia Hospital shall be liable to the United States for damages in an amount equal to $200,000, except that this subsection shall not apply after the date of any reversion of property under section 4.

(b) LIMITATION IN DAMAGES.—The maximum amount of damages for which Columbia Hospital may be liable under this section shall be $3,000,000.

(c) ADJUSTMENTS FOR INFLATION.—The amount of damages specified in subsection (a) and the maximum amount of damages specified in subsection (b) shall be adjusted biennially to reflect changes in the consumer price index that have occurred since the date of the enactment of this Act.

(d) ASSESSMENT AND WAIVER.—For any failure by Columbia Hospital to operate a satellite health center in accordance with section 3, the Administrator may—

(1) seek to recover damages under this section; or

(2) waive all or any part of damages recoverable under this section for that failure, if the Administrator—

(A) determines the failure is caused by exceptional circumstances; and

(B) submits a statement to the District of Columbia Commission of Public Health and the Congress, that sets forth the reasons for the determination;

(e) CONVEYANCE DOCUMENTS.—The Administrator shall include in the documents for any conveyance under this Act appropriate provisions to—

(1) ensure that payment of damages under this section is a contractual obligation of Columbia Hospital; and

(2) require the Administrator to provide to Columbia Hospital notice and an opportunity to respond before the Administrator seeks to recover such damages.

SEC. 6. REPORTS.

During the 5-year period beginning one year after the date of the conveyance under section 1, Columbia Hospital shall submit to the Administrator, the appropriate committees of the Congress, and the Comptroller General of the United States annual reports on the establishment, maintenance, and operation of the Resource Center and the satellite health centers.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rules, the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON] will be recognized for 20 minutes and the gentleman from California [Mr. COX] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON].

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 3703, as amended, authorizes GSA to sell land to the Columbia Hospital for Women that is adjacent to the hospital.

The hospital intends to build a facility to house its Women's Health Resource Center on this land. The resource center will make major contributions to the health care of women.

As further compensation to the Government for the land, the amendment provides that the hospital will establish, operate, and pay for three satellite health care centers. The health care centers will be located in this district where the need for health care for women and children is the greatest. This legislation will benefit many deserving people and at no Federal cost.

I urge adoption of H.R. 3703, as amended.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COX of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 3703 which provides for the sale of Federal land to the Columbia Hospital for Women to establish a national women's health resource center.

I want to commend Chairman SAVAGE for his work in perfecting this bill. The changes that the chairman proposed have contributed significantly to protecting the taxpayer's interests, and expanding the public benefit.

As amended by the Committee on Public Works and Transportation, the bill stipulates that the hospital will also establish three satellite health centers. These three centers, together with the main location, will provide comprehensive health and counseling services for women, and their children. In addition, the bill specifies that if the Women's Health Resource Center is not operational within 4 years of conveyance of the property, the property will revert back to the Federal Government.

The mission of Columbia Hospital for Women is to "improve the health and well-being of women and infants in the Washington metropolitan area and throughout the Nation." Accordingly, Columbia has established itself as a premiere health institution for women and children. In fact, it is the only women's hospital chartered by Congress to meet the specific health needs of women.

Columbia has many accomplishments in women's health. We owe to their efforts increased national awareness of the benefits from the use of mammography and ultra sound equipment. They've been leaders in the fields of obstetrics, gynecology and neonatology. In addition, Columbia is the leading birthing center in the Washington metropolitan area. There are approximately 5,500 births at Columbia each year.

The National Women's Health Resource Center will build on Columbia's leadership in women's health issues. In fact, the center, which was incorporated in 1988, has already devoted much of its energies to education for professional health care providers and health care consumers. Once the center is built and fully operational, it will provide clinical services, clinical investigation, education, and public awareness programs. And while the center is not intended for primary care, patients of the center's clinic will be able to take full advantage of Columbia Hospital's primary care facility as needed.

Mr. Speaker, in addition to the $12.8 million that Columbia will be paying to the taxpayers—to the public building fund—for the property, the American public will benefit greatly over the long term as a result of this transaction. Specific attention to women's health care issues is long overdue. This bill, H.R. 3703 is a major step in correcting this oversight. I support H.R. 3703 and urge my colleagues to do the same.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. BLILEY] a member of the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. BLILEY. I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, under the terms of H.R. 3703, the General Services Administration will be directed to sell 1.2 acres of Federal property in Northwest District of Columbia to the Columbia Hospital for Women for $12.8 million. If passed and signed into law, H.R. 3703 will end a long running feud between Columbia Hospital, GSA, and the surrounding neighborhood over the development of this valuable property. Those Members who know the area around 24th and M Streets Northwest as I do will understand why this property has been so coveted. As one of the last parcels of land owned by the Federal Government in that part of the District, it would have been grossly unfair to agree to Columbia Hospital's original terms. But I can assure my colleagues that the work done by the Committee on the District of Columbia and the Committee on Public Works and Transportation have improved the terms in favor of the Federal Government.

The purchase price has been increased and the hospital must pay the entire cost at the time of conveyance. Furthermore, if Columbia Hospital fails to live up to the conditions of this legislation, the property will revert to the Federal Government. Some of our initial objections to this legislation have been satisfied. All of the improvements made in H.R. 3703 result in a better deal for the American taxpayer.

Mr. COX of California. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from the State of Washington [Mr. MCDERMOTT], a member of the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. MCDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, the purpose of H.R. 3703, as amended, is to authorize the Columbia Hospital for Women to purchase adjacent Federal land. H.R. 3703 as amended will allow the nonprofit hospital to purchase for $12.8 million the 1.2 acres of adjoining land. The hospital occupies the remainder of the square block bordered by L, M, 25th, and 24th Streets. The hospital proposes to house its National Women's Health Resource Center in a building to be constructed on this site with private funds. The new center will become a major source of medical knowledge, information, and research in the critical health care needs of women, prenatal, and infant care. In addition, the Columbia Hospital will establish and operate three satellite health centers to provide health services in areas where the incidence of infant deaths and teenage pregnancy are the greatest.

The full committee on the District of Columbia voted to report H.R. 3703 on November 7, 1991, by majority voice vote. Bills similar to this bill were first introduced over 6 years ago. Bills similar to H.R. 3703 have been favorably reported by the House District of Columbia Committee in the 100th and the 101st Congress. H.R. 3703 was referred to three House committees: The Committee on the District of Columbia, Government Operations, and Public Works and Transportation. I want to thank the chairman of each of the other committees, Chairman ROE of the House Public Works Committee and Chairman CONYERS of House Government Operations, for their support of this matter and the chair of the three subcommittees who considered this bill in all of its drafts. I especially want to thank Congressman GUS SAVAGE, chair of the Subcommittee on Public Buildings and Grounds, who, this Congress, held extensive hearings on the H.R. 3703 and drafted the final amended version of the bill that all three committees could support. Finally, I want to thank Congresswoman NORTON who saw the importance of this measure for women's health issues nationally and for local women in areas where the needs are the greatest. My thanks to the staffs of all the committees for their diligent work.

The amended version of H.R. 3703, unanimously approved by the House Public Works Committee, requires that the Columbia Hospital for Women pay $12.8 million in total on the date of conveyance of the land instead of purchasing the land over a 10-year period. The amended version establishes damages of $200,000 if the hospital fails to operate any or all of the three satellite health centers. The amended version requires that for the next 30 years, the land conveyed must be used to house the National Women's Health Resource Center.

With these amendments and assurances, there is agreement that H.R. 3703 as amended pass.

I note that the second from the last paragraph in the additional views of our committee Report 102–912, part I, has dropped a line that is important to understanding the legislative history of the bill. The line should read:

> All three Committees have either in the 101st or 102nd Congress fully considered through hearings bills similar to H.R. 3703. On September 24, 1992, the House Public Works Committee unanimously approved H.R. 3703 with an amendment in the nature of a substitute.

Mrs. SCHROEDER. Mr. Speaker, today I rise in strong support of H.R. 3703 to purchase land for the Columbia Hospital for Women.

H.R. 3703 is a simple proposal. It authorizes the sale of a plot of land next to the Columbia Hospital for Women to be privately developed as the new headquarters for the National Women's Health Resource Center [NWHRC]. No Federal funds would be used in this transaction, as Columbia Hospital for Women is in fact a private not-for-profit medical center for women, and the National Women's Health Resource Center is a subsidiary of the hospital. The land in question is now occupied by a dilapidated General Services Administration building, and if the NWHRC cannot develop the land within 4 years, the plot will be given back to the Federal Government.

The District of Columbia has twice the national average of infant mortality and low-birth weight babies. The Columbia Hospital for Women provides critical services for these women and is the largest birthing center in the District. The NWHRC provides a novel combination of referral, counseling, and outreach services. It also works directly with clinics to create unique health care programs serving low income and other underserviced women. Giving the NWHRC a permanent home at the Columbia Hospital for Women allows the NWHRC to concentrate on what they do best—caring for women.

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MONTGOMERY). The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 3703, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE ELECTRONIC INFORMATION ACCESS ENHANCEMENT ACT OF 1992

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5983) to establish in the Government Printing Office a means of enhancing electronic public access to a wide range of Federal electronic information, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5983

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Government Printing Office Electronic Information Access Enhancement Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. AMENDMENTS TO TITLE 44, UNITED STATES CODE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Title 44, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new chapter:

"CHAPTER 41—ACCESS TO FEDERAL ELECTRONIC INFORMATION

"Sec.
"4101. Electronic directory of Federal electronic information; online access to the Congressional Record and the Federal Register.
"4102. Fees.

"§ 4101. Electronic directory of Federal electronic information; online access to the Congressional Record and the Federal Register

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Superintendent of Documents, under the direction of the Public Printer, shall—

"(1) maintain an electronic directory of Federal public information stored electronically; and

"(2) provide a system of online access to the Congressional Record, the Federal Register, and, as determined by the Superintendent of Documents, other appropriate publications distributed by the Superintendent of Documents.

"(b) DEPARTMENTAL REQUESTS.—To the extent practicable, the Superintendent of Documents shall accommodate any request by the head of a department or agency to include in the system of access referred to in subsection (a)(2) information that is under the control of the department or agency involved.

"(c) CONSULTATION.—In carrying out this section, the Superintendent of Documents shall consult—

"(1) users of the directory and the system of access provided for under subsection (a); and

"(2) other providers of similar information services.

The purpose of such consultation shall be to assess the quality and value of the directory and the system, in light of user needs.

"§ 4102. Fees

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Superintendent of Documents, under the direction of the Public Printer, may charge reasonable fees for use of the directory and the system of access provided for under section 4101, except that use of the directory and the system shall be made available to depository libraries without charge. The fees received shall be treated in the same manner as moneys received from sale of documents under section 1702 of this title.

"(b) COST RECOVERY.—The fees charged under this section should be set so as to recover the incremental cost of dissemination of the information involved, with the cost to be computed without regard to section 1708 of this title.".

(b) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of chapters for title 44, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new item:

"41. Access to Federal Electronic Information .... 4101".

(c) SPECIAL RULE.—The directory and the system of access referred to in section 4101 of title 44, United States Code, as added by subsection (a), shall be operational not later than one year after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 3. FEASIBILITY STUDY BY THE SUPERINTENDENT OF DOCUMENTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Superintendent of Documents, under the direction of the Public Printer, shall conduct a study of the feasibility of enhancing public access to Federal electronic information. In conducting the study, the Superintendent of Documents shall—

(1) consult the heads of departments and agencies of the Government, other users of Federal electronic information, and other persons likely to be affected by such enhanced public access;

(2) assess the maximum use feasible of computer systems, data storage systems, and retrieval software that are maintained by the departments and agencies of the Government to enhance access to Federal electronic information;

(3) determine the feasibility of providing access to Federal electronic information through a wide range of electronic networks, including the Internet and the National Research and Education Network;

(4) in consultation with the National Institute of Standards and Technology and other appropriate persons, study the development of compatible standards for dissemination of Federal electronic information throughout the Government.

(5) specify the development and maintenance costs of the directory and the system of access provided for under chapter 41 of title 44, United States Code;

(6) analyze the cost savings to be derived from the directory and the system of access; and

(7) obtain, from the Comptroller General, an independent evaluation of the utility and efficiency of the directory and the system of access.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than 2 years after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Superintendent of Documents shall submit a report of the study to the Congress. The report shall include, as a separate part, the evaluation referred to in subsection (a)(7).

(c) DEFINITION.—As used in this section, the term "Federal electronic information" means Federal public information stored electronically.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. ROSE] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from California [Mr. THOMAS] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. ROSE].

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. Mr. Speaker, this is another historic moment in the House. We are about to consider a bill which will require the Government Printing Office to make the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD and the Federal Register available electronically to millions of Americans who use depository libraries throughout the country. The timing and the technology are just right for this initiative. It will test GPO's ability to use technology efficiently;

It will test the utility of electronic products for use by depository libraries; and it will provide important and necessary public access. Our committee, and the Senate Rules Committee, held a joint hearing on July 23d. We have testimony from dozens of witnesses—from the printing and information industries, to the library community and academic institutions, to the research and technology community, and the administration. The committee worked with all of these interests, and this bill has made an effort to accommodate everyone.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. THOMAS of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, at a time when taxpayers can file their taxes electronically and access numerous information bases, both public and private, for their computers at home, it is time for us to increase the access of the public to information of the Federal Government in electronic form; so I rise today to support H.R. 5983, which is a giant step in that direction.

Mr. THOMAS of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. ROSE] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5983, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include therein extraneous material on H.R. 5983, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from North Carolina?

There was no objection.

REPORT ON RESOLUTION PROVIDING FUNDS FOR EXPENSES OF INVESTIGATIONS AND STUDIES BY TASK FORCE ON THE HOLDING OF AMERICANS AS HOSTAGES IN IRAN IN 1980

Mr. ROSE, from the Committee on House Administration, submitted a privileged report (Rept. No. 102-930) on the resolution (H. Res. 512) providing amounts from the contingent fund of the House for expenses of investigations and studies by the Task Force to Investigate Certain Allegations Concerning the Holding of Americans as Hostages in Iran in 1980 in the second session of the One Hundred Second Congress, which was referred to the House Calendar and ordered to be printed.

NATIONAL AIR AND SPACE MUSEUM EXPANSION SITE SELECTION ACT OF 1992

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 3281), to establish the National Air and Space Museum Expansion Site Advisory Panel for the purpose of developing a national competition for the evaluation of possible expansion sites for the National Air and Space Museum, and to authorize the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution to select, plan, and design such site as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 3281

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "National Air and Space Museum Expansion Site Selection Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. NATIONAL AIR AND SPACE MUSEUM EXPANSION SITE ADVISORY PANEL.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT AND DEADLINE.—There is established a panel to recommend to the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution an expansion site for the National Air and Space Museum. The panel shall—

(1) be known as the "National Air and Space Museum Expansion Site Advisory Panel"; and

(2) complete its work not later than one year after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(b) SITE PROPOSALS AND CRITERIA.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—As part of the recommendation process, the Panel shall—

(A) in a nationwide competition, obtain proposals for expansion sites; and

(B) develop and promulgate criteria for site evaluation.

(2) CRITERIA.—The criteria referred to in paragraph (1)(B) shall include—

(A) long-term costs, including capital, operational, and administrative costs;

(B) access to operational runway facilities;

(C) ready accessibility to the public; and

(D) other administrative and curatorial factors related to the storage, management, and display of the Smithsonian Institution's collection of aircraft and spacecraft.

The criteria may not include the proximity to the District of Columbia, except that administrative and curatorial advantages of a site in the District of Columbia region may be included.

(c) REPORT.—Not later than the deadline specified in subsection (a), the Panel shall submit to the Congress and the Board of Regents a report that—

(1) evaluates each proposal submitted to the panel under subsection (b) in light of the criteria promulgated under that subsection; and

(2) contains a single recommendation of an expansion site for the National Air and Space Museum.

(d) MEMBERSHIP.—

(1) NUMBER AND APPOINTMENT.—The Panel shall be composed of 9 members, who shall be appointed not more than 2 months after the date of the enactment of this Act as follows:

(A) 4 individuals from private life appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the minority leader of the House of Representatives, the President pro tempore of the Senate, and the minority leader of the Senate, acting jointly;

(B) one Member of the House of Representatives appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and one Member of the House of Representatives appointed by the minority leader of the House of Representatives;

(C) one Senator appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate and one Senator appointed by the minority leader of the Senate; and

(D) one individual appointed by the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution from among the officers and employees of the Smithsonian Institution.

(2) GEOGRAPHIC DIVERSITY.—Two of the members appointed under paragraph (1)(A) shall be individuals who reside and work in States with territory that is west of the Mississippi River.

(3) CONTINUATION OF MEMBERSHIP.—A member appointed under paragraph (1)(B), (1)(C), or (1)(D) who ceases to hold the position on which membership is based may continue as a member for not longer than 60 days after the date on which the member ceases to hold the position.

(4) TERMS AND VACANCIES.—Members shall be appointed for the life of the Panel and any vacancy shall be filled in the manner in which the original appointment is made.

(5) PAY AND TRAVEL.—Members from private life shall serve without pay and the other members shall not receive additional pay by reason of service on the panel. Members shall be entitled to receive travel expenses, including per diem in lieu of subsistence, in accordance with sections 5702 and 5703 of title 5, United States Code.

(e) QUORUM AND PROCEDURES.—A majority of the members shall constitute a quorum, but a lesser number may hold hearings. The panel shall be responsible for selecting its officers and otherwise establishing procedures for the conduct of its business.

(f) EXPERTS AND CONSULTANTS; DETAILS.—The Panel may procure temporary and intermittent services under section 3109(b) of title 5, United States Code, at rates for individuals not to exceed the maximum annual rate of basic pay payable for grade GS–18 of the General Schedule. Upon request of the Panel, the head of any department or agency of the United States may, on a reimbursable basis, detail personnel to assist the Panel in carrying out its duties under this Act.

(g) HEARINGS AND RELATED MATTERS.—The Panel may—

(1) hold hearings, sit and act at appropriate times and places, take testimony, and receive evidence;

(2) administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses; and

(3) authorize any member or agent of the Panel to take any action which the Panel is authorized to take under this section.

(h) MAILS.—The Panel may use the United States mails in the same manner and under the same conditions as departments of the United States.

(i) OFFICIAL INFORMATION AND ADMINISTRATIVE SUPPORT.—Upon the request of the Panel—

(1) the heads of departments and agencies of the Government shall furnish information to the Panel; and

(2) on a reimbursable basis, the Administrator of General Services shall provide to the Panel administrative support services and office space necessary for the Panel to carry out its responsibilities.

(j) CONTRACT AUTHORITY.—The Panel may enter into contracts for research, surveys, and other services.

(k) TERMINATION.—The Panel shall cease to exist 30 days after the date on which the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution selects the expansion site under section 4.

SEC. 3. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

Amounts shall be available to carry out section 2 only to the extent such amounts are made available in advance in appropriations Acts.

SEC. 4. SELECTION OF THE NATIONAL AIR AND SPACE MUSEUM EXPANSION SITE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution shall select an expansion site for the National Air and Space Museum in accordance with subsection (b). The Board may conduct planning and design activities with respect to such expansion site only to the extent that amounts for such activities are made available in appropriations Acts enacted after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(b) SELECTION REQUIREMENTS.—In selecting an expansion site, the Board of Regents shall consider—

(1) the criteria developed by the Panel pursuant to section 2(b); and

(2) the recommendation of the expansion site submitted by the Panel pursuant to section 2(c).

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Texas [Mr. FROST] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. DICKINSON] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas [Mr. FROST].

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 3281 establishes an advisory panel for the purpose of developing a national competition to select a site for the National Air and Space Museum expansion.

This legislation was introduced in response to the concerns raised regarding the process employed by the Smithsonian Institution in its selection of a site for the National Air and Space Museum expansion.

After reviewing the report of the onsite visit made by the staffs of both the committee and of the subcommittee, it became apparent that an urgent need exists for additional storage, preservation and exhibition space in order to ensure that the historic aircraft and artifacts of the National Air and Space Museum are adequately housed and properly protected.

But at the same time, it also became apparent that grave concern had surfaced about the equitability of the Smithsonian's processes for selecting one site over competing sites.

Consequently, the investigation was expanded by visiting one of the proposed alternate sites for the expansion and by conducting additional interviews with the Smithsonian and other interested parties.

At the hearing on H.R. 3281, compelling testimony was presented regarding the monetary benefits to the Smithsonian of conducting an open competition; at that time, it also was revealed that the timetable for completing the site evaluation process would not necessarily delay the construction of the expansion.

The concept of the Smithsonian Institution operating a museum or an expansion outside of Washington is not new. In fact, the Institution already operates the Cooper-Hewitt Museum in New York, and plans an off-the-Mall expansion of the National Museum of the American Indians in the next 3 years.

Since the H.R. 3281 hearing, certain significant concerns regarding this legislation have been raised, among which are:

First, there is some questions as to whether H.R. 3281 encroaches upon the decisionmaking authority of the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution;

Second, the site selection process has already run its course, and may not need to be repeated in toto; and,

Third, the entire project, the formation and operating costs of conducting the competition may be far too costly relative to the benefits it would yield.

First, the bill does not encroach on the Board of Regents' decisionmaking authority. In fact, this bill sets up a new site selection process to make nonbinding recommendations to the Smithsonian Board of Regents.

Second, this process is not redundant. Rather, it offers to all our States and localities the first fair and equitable opportunity to compete for the site of the expansion of the National Air and Space Museum.

And finally, as to the costs; the fact that the Smithsonian had chosen research methods previously which have resulted in costs in excess of $450,000 to analyze three sites, is no indication that the advisory panel cannot establish an equally fruitful method at one-half or one-quarter of that cost.

Estimates of $5 to $7 million have been forwarded for this project, but to estimate the cost of operating this panel based on an extrapolation of the way the Smithsonian does business, forecloses the exploration of more economic measures.

Furthermore, much of the responsibility for preparing proposals will in the end devolve to the individual States and localities competing for the expansion site, where most of the information has already been compiled and collated.

Like the Smithsonian, which spent its own money and had an interest in the direction results would take, each of the competing States and localities will spend their money and will have accomplished the lion's share of the research and analysis. This distribution of the efforts of research and analyses over a so much broader spectrum would afford the States and localities an opportunity equal to that enjoyed by the Smithsonian to highlight the advantages of the sites each would bring to the table. This distribution of effort would also result in each State or locality spending far less to research and analyze than the Smithsonian would have had to spend.

Therefore, since we will not have to rely on independent contractors to research and analyze the sites, I reject the argument that this project is too costly based simply on the Smithsonian's estimates.

I urge my colleagues to support and adopt H.R. 3281, as amended.

☐ 1250

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DICKINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, let me say that I am in a unique position here in that some of my friends are for this bill and some of my friends are opposed to it, and I am for my friends.

Now I am accustomed to North-South conflicts, but this really is an East-West conflict. There is a very good reason and rationale for putting the Smithsonian exhibit here in Virginia, and there have been very compelling arguments for putting it elsewhere, someplace other than had been originally proposed.

But, as I said, I am for my friends.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 7 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. WOLF], one of my friends.

Mr. WOLF. Mr. Speaker, this bill is a disgrace.

This bill, the American people should know, is a pork barrel bill. The Board of Regents have on five different occasions, beginning in 1983, selected with the responsibility to site this extension at Dulles Airport. Five different occasions.

Now who are the Board of Regents? The gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. WHITTEN], the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, and I do not think my colleagues are going to question Mr. WHITTEN's integrity, the gentleman from California [Mr. MINETA], the new chairman of the House Committee on Public Works and Transportation, the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. MCDADE], the ranking member of the committee, Mr. MOYNIHAN, Mr. SASSER, and Mr. GARN. This issue has been debated over and over and over.

The Congress made a mistake when they helped Denver with regard to the new airport. Now Denver does not know what to do with Stapleton. They have hired a lobbyist, and my colleagues should know that if they vote for this bill, they are voting with a lobbyist who has manipulated and changed this whole process.

I will say to my colleagues that the people in Denver listening today ought to ask, "Why did your Government have to hire lobbyists to come and pervert the process that this Congress is going through, to distort what's been going on. Thirty-eight thousand to influence this disgraceful pork barrel bill."

Second, Mr. Speaker, let me tell the Members: "If you vote for this bill, don't go home on Sunday night or Monday night and tell your constituents, whether you be from Denver or whether you be from somewhere else, that you care about the deficit, and you're a big budget cutter, and you want to do what's right."

This bill adds $5 to $7½ million additional to duplicate a process that has already been completed.

I also want my colleagues to know that if passed, this bill is going to be vetoed. This bill will be vetoed. Let me read from a letter from the nonpartisan Board of Regents from the Smithsonian.

> The Smithsonian Institution is opposed to the bill because it is inconsistent with the authority and the objectives of the Institution's Board of Regents, redundant of a carefully considered site selection process that has already taken place and very costly.

Second, what the Smithsonian has said is:

> The Smithsonian has spent almost $450,000, in addition to staff time, to analyze sites in Virginia, Maryland, and Colorado. Because many communities are interested in economic development, benefits perceived to be associated with the Institution, 40 or 50 proposals could well be received if the bill is enacted.

The sponsor of the bill and his "Dear Colleague" letter gives my colleagues the impression that if they support this bill, they may get a museum in their region. In fact, as the "Dear Colleague" headline says, "Here's your chance to get a Smithsonian Museum in your district."

The Smithsonian continues:

> To assure the same level of analysis utilized in the initial reviews, the proposed site selection panel, which would appear to be established within the legislative branch, would require $6 to 7½ million in addition to funding for staffing, cost, travel per diem in lieu of subsistence, which could range from 2 to 2.5.

So, we are talking about a minimum $7, maybe $9½ million additional.

Then the Smithsonian letter goes on to say its management has been given to a Board of Regents which includes three Members of the House: Mr. WHITTEN, Mr. MINETA, and Mr. MCDADE, and three Members of the Senate, Mr. MOYNIHAN, Mr. SASSER, and Mr. GARN, as well as the Chief Justice, the Vice President, and nine citizens. The Board of Regents is not an advisory group. It bears full responsibility as trustees for carrying out the Smithsonian trust.

The letter continues that in September 1983 the Regents first considered a proposal to replace the inadequate, outmoded structures near Suitland, MD, that currently house the restoration laboratory, exhibition production and maintenance services, archives and collections storage functions of the National Air and Space Museum. In the years since, the Institution has conducted a number of described studies of various options, as well as the analysis.

And the letter closes: "It would be inappropriate to use Smithsonian resources to engage in an expensive site selection process and to raise public expectations,"—and that is what is happening. We are raising public expectations on something that we know is not going to happen. We ought to be candid about it and say it—"to raise public expectations about museum expansion for what there is neither justification nor the prospect, of the substantially increased levels of Federal program and operating funds that it will require."

In closing, this is one of the reasons why this body is beginning to be held in such low regard. This is a pure political raid, to be able to take something home to demonstrate that my colleagues were able to manipulate the Congress.

□ 1300

I ask every Member, do not vote for this bill. Do not vote for this bill and then go back home and say that you care about the deficit or support a line-item veto or a balanced budget. This bill wastes taxpayer dollars and politicizes a process that has never been politicized for as long as the Smithsonian has been in existence.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION,
Washington, DC, September 25, 1992.

Hon. CHARLES ROSE,
Chairman, Committee on House Administration, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: I note that on September 23rd the Committee ordered reported H.R. 3281, as amended, which would provide for the selection of an expansion site for the National Air and Space Museum. The Smithsonian Institution is opposed to the bill because it is inconsistent with the authority and the objectives of the Institution's Board of Regents; redundant of a carefully considered site selection process that already has taken place; and very costly. If H.R. 3281 were presented to the President, I would recommend that he veto the bill.

The Smithsonian has spent almost $450,000, in addition to staff time, to analyze sites in Virginia, Maryland, and Colorado. Because many communities are interested in economic development benefits perceived to be associated with the Institution, forty or fifty proposals could well be received if the bill is enacted. Thus, to assure the same level of analysis utilized in the initial reviews, the proposed site selection panel, which would appear to be established within the Legislative Branch, would require $6,000,000 to $7,500,000 in addition to funding for staffing costs, travel, and per diem in lieu of subsistence which could range from $2.0 to $2.5 million.

The Smithsonian is a trust instrumentality of the United States. The origins of the Institution are in the Act of July 1, 1836 (5 Stat. 64) in which Congress accepted the trust created by the Will of James Smithson, an English scientist who died in 1829, and pledged the faith of the United States that all monies involved in the trust would be received and applied to the establishment of the Institution ". . . for the increase and diffusion of knowledge" as set forth by Mr. Smithson.

The Act of August 10, 1846 (9 Stat. 102) chartered the Smithsonian in its present form and entrusted its management to a Board of Regents which includes three Members of the House (Mr. WHITTEN, Mr. MINETA, and Mr. MCDADE) and three Members of the Senate (Mr. MOYNIHAN, Mr. SASSER, and Mr. GARN), as well as the Chief Justice, the Vice President, and nine citizens. The Board of Regents is not an advisory group; it bears full responsibility as trustee for carrying out the Smithson trust. It sets Institution policy and oversees the management of Smithsonian assets and activities. This independent authority, however, is exercised subject to the obligations imposed by law on all trustees: the obligation to exercise good judgement in carrying out trust purposes; to be faithful to the trust; to exercise prudent oversight of trust activities; to maintain strict records of trust assets; and to be prepared to justify their stewardship to all proper authorities.

The Regents, as public trustees, over the years have made a series of decisions about activities of the Institution that assist in the fulfillment of its mandate "for the increase and diffusion of knowledge. . ." Since the 1960s they have recognized the need for an extension to the National Air and Space Museum because in planning for the Museum's building on the Mall it became clear that it would not have the capacity to accommodate the entire collection of the Museum, allow for additions to it, or provide adequate support services.

The Regents anticipated that another structure at a nearby location ultimately would be required if the Museum was to honor its mandate to "collect, preserve, and display aeronautical and space flight equipment of historical interest and significance." Such a structure always has been viewed as extending the on-going activities of the Museum on the Mall, rather than providing for any programmatic expansion of them.

In September, 1983 the Regents first considered a proposal to replace the inadequate and outmoded structures near Suitland, Maryland that currently house the restoration laboratory, exhibition production and maintenance services, archives, and collections storage functions of the National Air and Space Museum on the Mall. In the years since, the Institution has conducted a number of studies of various options, as well as the analyses previously described.

In February of 1991 the Smithsonian and the General Accounting Office (GAO) began a series of discussions about the extension project which centered on the manner in which the Institution had conducted its site selection process and the assumptions on which its needs were based. In a statement prepared for the Subcommittee on Libraries and Memorials in July, 1991, the GAO summarized those discussions which resulted in a more careful definition of the Institution's proposal; clarified the need for the nearby location; and provided a discounted, thirty-year life-cycle analysis which demonstrated that the costs of implementing the project at Washington Dulles International Airport would be substantially less than those at other locations. The GAO concluded that "the Smithsonian's choice of Dulles can now be objectively defended. . ."

Inasmuch as the Fiscal Year 1993 appropriation for Smithsonian operations is not sufficient to maintain its activities at current levels, we are engaged in a comprehensive organization realignment that will include staff and program reductions, the streamlining or combining of various programs, and certain alterations in public services. It would be inappropriate to use Smithsonian resources to engage in an expensive site selection process and to raise public expectations about museum expansion for which there is neither justification nor the prospect of the substantially increased levels of Federal program and operating funds that it would require.

The Office of Management and Budget advises that there is no objection to the submission of this report from the standpoint of the Administration's program.

Sincerely,

ROBERT MCC. ADAMS,
Secretary.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 3281, the national museum sweepstakes bill, exemplifies what is wrong with Congress in the eyes of the American people.

H.R. 3281, takes a purely educational program and throws it into that huge pork barrel that is helping drive our national deficit up at the rate of $1.9 billion every day.

This bill takes a decision made by the nonpartisan Smithsonian Board of Regents and throws it in the trash. In its place, this bill would mandate a costly nationwide competition that would cost a minimum of $5 million. It comes as no surprise that the bill does not specify where that money will come from.

Because of crowded Mall facilities, the Board of Regents, acting under its vested authority, has been trying for the last decade to build an extension to the Air and Space Museum to properly house and exhibit such artifacts as the Enola Gay, the S.R. 72 spy plane, and the space shuttle Enterprise. No less than five times, the Smithsonian board has voted to locate this extension at Washington Dulles International Airport. In fact, the space shuttle is already housed there in a temporary warehouse.

It is common sense that such an extension of the Mall facility should be in close proximity for two reasons. Number 1, it holds down expenses because the extension of the main Mall can be supervised by and staffed with personnel from the main Mall facility. In terms of overhead and personnel costs, locating this museum extension far away from the main Mall facility will cost the American taxpayer twice as much annually as an extension in the Washington region.

Second, most of the families that come to the Nation's capital from all over the Nation have the Air and Space Museum at the top of their sightseeing list. These families ought to have the opportunity to also see some of history's most important contributions to modern aviation, many of which are too large to be housed on the Mall.

In addition to cost. H.R. 3281 means more delay, on top of the 10 years that already have passed while Congress has been haggling over this decision and micromanaging the deliberations of the Smithsonian Regents. During that decade, scores of American children have grown up and gone off to college without the privilege of viewing some of these historic artifacts. And remember, while Congress is standing in the way of this program, these artifacts are deteriorating and housing spiders in various warehouse facilities.

Is it any wonder that the public holds the Congress in such low esteem?

I urge my colleagues to say "no" to micromanagement and higher costs. Vote "no" on H.R. 3281. Save the American taxpayers millions of dollars. And, for our children, unlock the door to some of our Nation's history.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire, how much time do I have remaining?

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MONTGOMERY). The gentleman from Texas [Mr. FROST] has 15 minutes remaining.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 6 minutes to the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. SKAGGS], the author of the legislation.

Mr. SKAGGS. Mr. Speaker, as the prime sponsor of H.R. 3281, the National Air and Space Museum Expansion Site Selection Act, I urge my colleagues to join me, a bipartisan coalition of more than 40 cosponsors, and the House Administration Committee in supporting this important legislation.

H.R. 3281 will set up a national competition to select the location of the Smithsonian Institution's National Air and Space Museum [NASM] extension—a facility that will house aviation treasures like the space shuttle Enterprise, a Concorde jet, and the Enola Gay. This legislation has the potential to save the Federal Government $100 or $200 million or more.

As some of my colleagues may know, the Smithsonian wants to locate the extension at Dulles Airport. However, many of us feel that the process used to pick that site was not fiscally prudent, fair, or comprehensive. That's the way the General Accounting Office sees it, too.

By way of example, over 2 years ago, the city of Denver, along with community and business leaders, put together a plan to build the NASM extension at no capital cost to the Federal Government—a plan that could save the Federal Government as much as $160 million in capital and operating costs. Given the budget climate around here, any proposal that has the potential for saving that kind of money is worthy of serious consideration. But that didn't happen. The Smithsonian rejected it out of hand.

And there may be even better proposals out there that haven't yet surfaced. The problem is, the current site-selection process would shut them out, too. That's just not the way we should do business. And that's why I'm convinced we need to do something.

And I might add, it's a little ironic to see such a misleading "Dear Colleague" from my friend and colleague from Virginia, declaring that this bill would cost $5 million. That's a number the Smithsonian pulled from thin air—when in fact there is documentation that this bill could save over $100 million.

Those of us who don't believe the Smithsonian's site-selection process has been fair are in good company. As I mentioned, the GAO concluded in a 1991 report that the Smithsonian's selection process:

> * * * Cannot be relied upon to objectively defend the selection of Dulles. A fair and reasonable way to assure it has selected the best site and maximized the incentives received from localities would be for the Smithsonian to use a more formal, systematic, and cost-conscious process.

The bill before the House today would set up just such a process.

Our approach would not only end up saving the Federal Government money, but would also give more States the chance to compete for the museum. And that's important. Beyond questions of cost and good process, there are philosophical issues concerning the national equity and the national interest in having the Smithsonian's facilities located almost exclusively in the Washington, DC, area.

The Smithsonian admits it will have to address the issue of geographic diversification in the future, but refuses to do so on the NASM extension facility. I believe it's time to begin the future now.

It's hard to quantify fairness. Still, statistics show that though most of the Nation's population lives west of the Mississippi, proportionately few of them ever are able to visit the Smithsonian's museums. Western citizens pay their fair share of taxes to support the Smithsonian, yet too often are unable to share in its National treasures. Western States should have the opportunity—at the very least—to compete for the NASM facility.

The bill we're considering today provides only for a fair shot for interested sites outside the Washington, DC area, with an objective process to determine what's in the National interest. Our bill would, first, set up a panel to develop fair criteria to judge proposals, second, invite States and cities to compete for the facility, and third, provide for an objective review of the proposals and for a final site selection.

Mr. Speaker, the Smithsonian Institution receives approximately 85 percent of its funds from U.S. taxpayers. I believe, therefore, that we in Congress have the responsibility to insist on an open site-selection process that permits fair consideration of all legitimate, competitive options.

Finally, I want to express my sincere thanks to Chairman BILL CLAY and CHARLIE ROSE, and the gentleman from Texas [Mr. FROST] for their hard work and interest in this important issue. Chairman CLAY held a series of comprehensive hearings on this legislation before determining that the approach incorporated in H.R. 3281 was the best course to pursue. I'm grateful for his thoughtful consideration. I also appreciate the consistent support of Interior Appropriations Chairman SID YATES.

Based both on the potential for significant savings in scarce federal dollars, and a need to strike a better regional balance in the distribution of national resources, I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting the National Air and Space Museum Expansion Site Selection Act of 1991.

Mr. DICKINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Texas [Mr. DELAY].

Mr. DELAY. Mr. Speaker, Let me say that here we are involved with the politics of sour grapes. We as a House are asked to come down here and overturn this very extensive process because Denver did not get the Air and Space Museum.

Denver got itself in a big bind. They wanted to build a new airport, one just a little bit bigger than their present airport, and it cost them tons of money to operate the new airport and they are going to leave Stapleton Airport like a ghost town. We went through this whole process, and in fact the gentleman from Colorado asked the GAO to look at the site selection process and do a study, and in a letter to the chairman of the Interior Subcommittee, the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. YATES], they said:

> We now believe the choice of Dulles International Airport as the preferred site can be objectively defended by the Smithsonian.

So I do not know which study of the GAO the gentleman is quoting. Maybe it is one that was done a long time ago.

But let us talk about what the gentleman said, that it is going to cost us $100 million to extend the Air and Space Museum to a facility out at Dulles Airport. Let me look at the figure, the real figures. It is true that the one-time cost out at Dulles is going to be about $167 million versus Denver's $152 million, but what the gentleman did not tell us is that $50 million of that $167 million is coming from the State of Virginia, so that Federal taxpayers are only going to have to spend about $117 million versus $152 million by the Federal Government taxpayers.

But the most important part is the annual cost. The annual cost is going to be $9.5 million a year at Dulles, versus $16.5 million a year at Denver, annually. It is almost double the cost to run it in Denver.

Then in the study done for Denver's cost of operation, where they very conveniently got it down below what it would cost to build the same facility at Dulles, they put in there a renovation cost at Stapleton of $4 a square foot.

Now, if one believes they can renovate anything in this country for $4 a square foot, then they ought to vote for this bill, because it costs anywhere from $15 to $20 a square foot to renovate any building in this country.

Mr. SKAGGS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DELAY. I would be glad to yield to the gentleman from Colorado.

Mr. SKAGGS. Mr. Speaker, as the gentleman knows, this legislation does not put this museum at Denver. It creates a national competition.

Mr. DELAY. Mr. Speaker, reclaiming my time, I understand that, and that is not the point I was making that the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. SKAGGS] rose on. The point was that the gentleman said this is going to cost the Federal taxpayer $100 million more to build it in Dulles. So the gentleman is just totally wrong and uses figures that have been skewed to make it look like it is going to be cheaper to build it in Denver than it is going to be to build it outside of Washington at Dulles.

The Smithsonian does not want to build a brand new facility for the Smithsonian. The Smithsonian, as has been said, has gone through an extensive bipartisan process to pick this new site. The Smithsonian only requires a Washington location for a new facility, like Suitland out there, which would be an extension of the existing museum, rather than to duplicate it out in Denver.

With the nearby entity the collection, which is the museum's core, could be consolidated, documented, preserved, and exhibited as a whole. It will cost less money to put it at Dulles than it will to bail out Denver.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from Colorado [Mrs. SCHROEDER].

Mrs. SCHROEDER. Mr. Speaker, I want to begin by complimenting the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. SKAGGS] for his hard work on this.

Mr. Speaker, I want to go right immediately to where the last speaker, the gentleman from Texas [Mr. DELAY], left off. This does not have anything to do with bailing out Denver. This is about a very important issue. Is the Smithsonian, which is funded by taxpayers from all America, is it allowed to let the rest of America to compete, or is it kept here as a private club for people who can then afford to visit? After they have sent their tax money here, will they have enough money left to get on an airplane and fly here to visit it?

I have to remind Members over and over again this is not a country, it is a continent. It is a very, very large continent. I realize how painful it is for people to see those of us in other parts saying "Let us at least be able to have a competition on this."

There is absolutely no one who is saying who is going to win the competition. My guess is very many cities will apply, because the prestige of having an air and space museum run by the Smithsonian would be very great.

Mr. Speaker, the tremendous opportunity to spread some of these national treasures out and to spread them out at the lowest possible cost to the taxpayers and also make them available to the average person by having them more geographically diverse is very, very hard to quarrel with, unless you live here and have been used to having all this culture nicely locked into this corridor. I think it is nice for the people who live here and have access to it. But for the average person to come here or bring their family here, these are some of the highest cost hotels, the highest cost tickets to get in here, and the highest cost eating expenses, and so forth. Members have all seen statistics showing that the average family cannot get here and spend very many days. It is very costly.

Mr. Speaker, if one realizes that this tremendous collection of items at the Air and Space Museum came from all over the country, that they did not just come from this area, why do we have to keep them all in this area and have them available only for those who can afford to come here?

This bill is an excellent bill. The Government Accounting Office is saying this is the way we ought to do it. Why not have a national competition? It is just like open bidding. We are supposed to have that on all Government contracts. Where is it written that the Government cultural events can only be in Washington, DC, or their immediate environs? I do not think it is written anywhere, and I think it is time we realize how this country has grown, how the population has shifted, and how other parts of the population have contributed very much to the history of aviation and also would like to be able to share in that.

Mr. Speaker, I salute the gentleman and urge an aye vote on the bill.

Mr. DICKINSON. Mr. Speaker, how much time does each side have remaining?

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. McDERMOTT). The gentleman from Alabama [Mr. DICKINSON] has 8 minutes remaining, and the gentleman from Texas [Mr. FROST] has 6 minutes remaining.

Mr. DICKINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Virginia [Mr. MORAN].

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to H.R. 3281, the National Air and Space Museum Expansion Site Selection Act.

In July 1836, more than 150 years ago, Congress accepted a trust from Mr. James Smithson, an English scientist, "to establish an institution in Washington for the increase and diffusion of knowledge by man." The Government received this money in return for accepting its provisions, one of which was clear and unequivocal that the institution be established in the Washington area.

This trust has given this Nation one of its most treasured assets, the Smithsonian Institution.

Few visitors come to the Nation's Capital without visiting this great institution.

Its collections are as impressive as they are extensive.

And in 1976, when the Smithsonian opened the doors of the National Air and Space Museum, it began to chronicle America's historic leadership in human flight and space achievement.

Today, the National Air and Space Museum is the most popular museum in the Nation and perhaps the world.

Unfortunately, this proposal to create a national site selection contest, divorced from the judgment of their Board of Regents, will undermine efforts to house this collection's larger artifacts and exhibits.

Visitors who come to Washington to see the Wright brothers plane will be told they will have to book a flight somewhere else to see the space shuttle and the Enola Gay.

Mr. Speaker, this is wrong.

The proposal before you today sells itself as an economic development opportunity.

It demeans the intent of James Smithson's trust and subverts the authority of the Smithsonian Board of Regents, six of whom are members of Congress, that has already completed its own site selection process.

This sets a dangerous precedent.

Should we dismantle the current Smithsonian collections and disperse them across the Nation for the sake of a municipality's bid to spur its economy?

I would hope not.

Enactment of this legislation would also add costly delays to a process that has already denied a generation the opportunity to see this important collection.

There are also additional tax expenditures to consider.

The competition the legislation envisions could cost up to $5 million, although the legislation does not specify where the funds will come from.

Moving the collection from its present warehoused locations around the Metropolitan DC region will cost millions more.

And, staffing the operations of two separate facilities will cost more millions.

At a time of tight budget constraints, this proposal doesn't make good fiscal sense.

Throughout the Smithsonian's site selection process it recognized the strong interests of numerous communities across the United States which would like to have an extension of the Air and Space Museum in their communities.

Many of these communities were visited by the Smithsonian Regents and their staff.

In January 1990, the Regents voted and reaffirmed Dulles Washington International Airport as the most appropriate site.

The logic behind this selection was obvious: Such a site was within a short drive, and before too long will be linked by light rail, to the Smithsonian Museum on The Mall.

The location, adjacent to the Washington Dulles International Airport, is on Federal property, making it site neutral.

And, the Commonwealth of Virginia has offered significant economic assistance to meet the Smithsonian's infrastructure and transportation needs.

The problem with the proposal before us today is that it would reopen the bidding on a process that already has been reviewed by the Smithsonian Board of Regents—a board made up of three of our esteemed colleagues of the House, Mr. WHITTEN, Mr. MINETA, and Mr. McDADE, three Members of the Senate, Mr. MOYNIHAN, Mr. SASSER, and Mr. GARN, the Vice President, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and nine private citizens from across the country.

This Board was not governed by bias in choosing the Dulles site but by responsible fiscal, logistical, and managerial considerations.

Please reaffirm their decision and do not reopen this site selection process.

□ 1320

Mr. DICKINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Wyoming [Mr. THOMAS], just to show that I am yielding to friends on both sides.

Mr. THOMAS of Wyoming. Mr. Speaker, I am on the other side. I come from a different part of the country where I think maybe we ought to share a little bit in some of the activities that go on here.

I am a little confused. I would say to my friend from Virginia [Mr. WOLF] that I thought the Smithsonian was a national treasure. I sort of thought it was financed by the taxpayers from throughout the country. It is not something that is exclusively for northern Virginia. I did not realize that the funds that supported it came only from one part of the country. It seemed to me that they come from all over.

Mr. Speaker, it would seem to me that a process that might bring a little bit more diversity into it might not be a bad idea. Forty percent of the people live west of the Mississippi. Only 3 percent of them visit Washington. Tourism numbers are declining here. They are increasing in the West. I do not think it would be a bad idea to take a look at something else.

That is what I think we ought to do, put in a process that takes a look at some other areas, and takes a look at the West. We have some things to offer there. It would be kind of nice if folks were able to look at some of their national treasures without coming across the country.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 additional minutes to the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. SKAGGS].

Mr. SKAGGS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Before we close on this, Mr. Speaker, I just think it is important to clarify some very important points in this. If there is a pork barrel aspect to this, it is the status quo, which would just ratify the Regents' single decision, repeated several times, that this ought to go conveniently into the northern Virginia area, represented by my friends from northern Virginia.

The question about Denver's interest in this is clearly conceded. What we are doing, however, is not proposing siting this facility anywhere, but opening up a competition so that there can be a fair and objective site selection, and if the merits of the Dulles site are as overwhelming as these gentlemen suggest that they are, I would expect that Dulles will do quite well in that open and objective competition.

However, to invoke the Regents, as if they are tantamount to the Holy Grail in this process, also ignores at least the questions that have been raised about conflict of interest within the Board of Regents, not the congressional Members, in making this decision.

We are not divorcing the process from the Regents' ultimate authority. In fact, the nature of this bill is to offer a final recommendation to the Regents, but it is their decision. It would not split any existing collections but merely take advantage of the unique opportunity we have now, with a new museum being proposed, to put it perhaps somewhere other than in the Washington area.

Finally, we need to realize that this is not going to delay anything. There are simply no moneys available in the current budget circumstance to begin this project unless we can find someplace much less expensive than the Dulles site at which to site it. Otherwise, we are going to be facing years and years of delay before the deficit is brought into a position where we can afford this kind of major capital expense for the Smithsonian.

Mr. DICKINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Virginia [Mr. WOLF].

Mr. WOLF. Mr. Speaker, let me say that nobody is saying what should or should not go wherever. This was bid on and competitively bid on five times. People have looked at this carefully, not discriminating against Wyoming or the West, but in a fair, objective way.

Second, I think the Congress ought to know that Denver has hired a lobbyist on this issue for $38,000. Virginia did not hire a lobbyist. The Board of Regents did not hire a lobbyist. We did not get involved in the process. We let the Regents do their job without influence. No one from Virginia got involved.

The gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. WHITTEN] is not from Washington, DC. The gentleman from California [Mr. MINETA] is not from Washington, DC. The gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. MCDADE] is not from Washington, DC. The Board of Regents has carefully considered this.

This bill, H.R. 3281, has politicized the process as we get close to the election. I would tell my colleagues on both sides, this is not a partisan issue. But to pretend that it is not a battle by Denver to fill up an empty airport, Stapleton Airport, and put something there so the citizens of Denver can say, "Look, at least we got something." I would say to the gentleman from Wyoming [Mr. THOMAS], the site for the museum extension was voted on five different occasions. It was done in a fair way.

The State of Virginia did not hire any lobbyists, and Denver did. We say, "Let it go, and wherever it goes, it goes." Once the decision is made, then I think this body ought not to come in and interfere.

Mr. DICKINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the 1 remaining minute to close debate.

Mr. Speaker, I really have no dog in this fight as far as a regional area being concerned, but I am concerned about the process. I do not care whether we have it in Colorado or whether we have it in San Diego or here in Virginia or in Maryland, but I am concerned about the process.

We have set up a Board of Regents. They have made an objective, as far as I can tell, study. The people on there are certainly not biased toward Virginia, I do not think. I think what we are doing is subverting a process that has been put in place. For that reason I will oppose the bill and support the decision of the Regents.

I think that is what the ultimate decision should be, not whether we are for the West or for Colorado over Virginia, but are we going to support the decision of the Board of Regents, which is fair and objective. I think they have done the best they could for all concerned.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Colorado [Mrs. SCHROEDER].

Mrs. SCHROEDER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman again for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I just want to set the record straight on a couple of issues. Yes, the city of Denver did hire a lobbyist. The gentleman from Virginia [Mr. WOLF] is absolutely correct. Actually, it was a controversial decision in Denver as to why they would hire a lobbyist for an open competition. That is really rather startling. Very few cities hire a lobbyist to have an open competition so that all cities in America could compete.

If this bill were to pass, it says there will be a national competition. Second, they had no choice, because let me say that the other side was being lobbied with Federal money. They were not called lobbyists, but it is called the Smithsonian congressional relations.

There was an idea that all of these wonderful facilities that are here in Washington, DC belonged to the people here, and it is like a goose that lays golden eggs for this region. I understand that, but I am only saying there are a lot of people who cannot get here to share in the things that they are funding here.

We are not talking about dispersing things or transporting things. We are talking about where should the expansion of this be. I think where the expansion of the population has gone ought to be able to bid and say, "We ought to have a piece of the expansion," because this great Nation has expanded since the trust was created. There was not even any such thing as aviation when the trust was created. If we went back to the original Thirteen Colonies and what the original everything was, believe me, this country would be a lot different.

I am just saying, this is a new Nation. I come from the West, where people really believe the Federal Government should have competition. If the State of Virginia has such a great idea, they can bid like everyone else. This was a bid in-house. We are now saying let us have it open. Government is not a fungus. It can thrive in sunshine, even the Smithsonian.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, in conclusion, Mr. McC. Adams, in the Smithsonian magazine, stated the view recently that it was time for the Smithsonian to start considering dispersing some of its collection; specifically, to areas distant from Washington, DC.

All this legislation does is permit a serious consideration to the proposition first put forward by the Secretary of the Smithsonian himself.

Mr. DORNAN of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 3281, which would establish an advisory board to conduct a nationwide search and competition to select a site for expansion of the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum.

For those not familiar with this issue, the Air and Space Museum here in Washington, DC, is too small to display all of the many outstanding aircraft within the Smithsonian's collection. In order to allow the public access to these additional aircraft, the Smithsonian would like to open another museum site. However, rather than allowing the entire Nation to compete for this new location, museum officials have sought to keep the new site here in the Washington, DC, area without even looking at any other deserving areas around the country.

Although the Air and Space Museum has thrilled millions of visitors from around the world, many in our districts are unable to travel to Washington to view these displays of our truly unique American aviation heritage. By limiting a new museum to the Washington area, we will also limit the number of Americans who can view these magnificent displays of man's ingenuity and courage in the design and flight of aircraft. However, this bill, H.R. 3281, would open up a nationwide competition for the new Air and Space Museum site. Just think of the millions of more people that could enjoy the riches of the museum collection if a new site was located on our west coast or in the Midwest.

Perhaps the advisory board created by this bill will end up choosing a location here in the Washington area. However, if we do not pass this legislation, we may never know the benefits of considering hundreds of other deserving locations around the country, locations that could increase the chance of every citizen in our great Nation experiencing the rich aviation heritage that has helped make the United States a world military and economic superpower.

I urge all of my colleagues and all the citizens of this country to join me in supporting DAVE SKAGGS of Colorado and H.R. 3281, the National Air and Space Museum Expansion Site Advisory Panel.

Mr. BARRETT. Mr. Speaker, in 1981 the Smithsonian Museum staff began the search for a location for an annex for the popular Air and Space Museum. The extension is needed to replace the inadequate and out-of-date structures near Suitland, MD, that house the staff and facilities critical to the efficient operations of the museum on The Mall. The most urgent need was to provide permanent storage for the largest airplanes and spacecraft that were too big for the museum on The Mall.

Since the investigation of possible sites began, the Smithsonian Board of Regents has reaffirmed Dulles as the preferred site on five occasions. Now, 11 years later, we are considering a bill that will begin the entire selection process over again.

There are 535 Members of Congress who could probably build a great case as to why their district and State would make a great place for a Smithsonian Museum. So, this bill proposes to make a contest out of the site selection. And, my colleagues, as you dream about bringing home the grand prize, you'll have to just overlook the fact that the Smithsonian only needs a storage facility, not an entirely new museum to maintain. Never mind that the Smithsonian has estimated that this competition itself will cost over $5 million. Never mind the fact that by passing this legislation, Congress will micromanage the decisions of the Smithsonian Board of Regents, which is duly vested by law to make site determinations. Just forget that nearly $450,000 has already been spent to evaluate possible sites. But, as we wake up to the reality of an out-of-control deficit and wasteful Government spending, I ask how can my colleagues close their eyes to these facts, and still claim to be responsible lawmakers?

Proponents of this competition claim that reopening the site selection will ultimately save taxpayer money because the contest will supposedly generate offers from certain communities who will be willing to foot the bill to build the facility. However, keeping this presumptuous argument in mind, let's consider the cost of the legislation at hand.

The Smithsonian estimated cost of this competition keeps growing and growing. In a September 25, 1992, letter to House Administration Committee Chairman, Mr. ROSE, Secretary Robert McC. Adams states, "the proposed site selection panel, which would appear to be established within the legislative branch, would require $6,000,000 to $7,500,000 in addition to funding for staffing costs, travel, and per diem in lieu of subsistence which could range from $2.0 to $2.5 million." That's a pretty hefty wager to place on an assumption.

I have tried to keep an open mind when considering this legislation—and personally I can certainly see the merits of bringing an expansion to the Midwest. However, this is not about spreading the Smithsonian's treasures throughout the country. The Smithsonian has plans for the geographical diversification of their collections, and this does not fit within their budget constraints. Unfortunately, as with most of the legislation we consider, it all comes back to money, and this is not a responsible way to spend it.

The bottom line is that this competition is being set up to help Members bring home a big piece of pork at the Smithsonian's expense. Whatever support various communities can produce to build their case for the selection process would be quickly outweighed by the long-term operating costs which would cause a burden on the Smithsonian's other programs and museums.

I cannot justify taking more taxpayer dollars to complete a job that has already been done. Our goal should be to protect our national treasures, and instead the politics plaguing our decisionmaking process has allowed those treasures to sit rotting at the run-down building where they have been stored for the past 11 years. The passage of this legislation would delay construction on this extension for at least 2 years. Looking at our past track record, the decision of this panel could very likely be contested again, further delaying proper storage. By the time Congress finally authorizes a site, we may not have any historic artifacts left to display. I urge my colleagues to defeat H.R. 3281.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. McDERMOTT). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Texas [Mr. FROST] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 3281, as amended.

The question was taken.

Mr. DICKINSON. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 5 of rule I, and the Chair's prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

CONSUMER PROTECTION TELEMARKETING ACT

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 3203) to strengthen the authority of the Federal Trade Commission to protect consumers in connection with sales made with a telephone, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 3203

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Consumer Protection Telemarketing Act".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

The Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Telemarketing differs from other sales activities in that it can be carried out by sellers across State lines without direct contact. Telemarketers can also be very mobile, easily moving from State to State.

(2) Interstate telemarketing fraud has become a problem of such magnitude that the resources of the Federal Trade Commission are not sufficient to insure adequate consumer protection from such fraud.

(3) Consumers and others are estimated to lose $1 billion a year in telemarketing fraud.

(4) Consumers are victimized by other forms of telemarketing deception and abuse.

(5) Consequently, Congress should enact legislation that will offer consumers necessary protection from telemarketing deception (including fraud) and abuse.

SEC. 3. TELEMARKETING RULES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—

(1) The Commission shall prescribe rules prohibiting deceptive (including fraudulent) telemarketing activities and other abusive telemarketing activities.

(2) The Commission shall include in such rules respecting deceptive telemarketing activities—

(A) a definition of deceptive telemarketing activities, and

(B) criteria that are symptomatic of deceptive telemarketing as distinguished from ordinary telemarketing business practices.

(3) The Commission shall include in such rules respecting other abusive telemarketing activities a requirement that telemarketers may not undertake a pattern of unsolicited telephone calls which the reasonable consumer would consider coercive or abusive of such consumer's right to privacy. In prescribing the rules described in this paragraph, the Commission shall consider—

(A) including a requirement that goods or services offered by telemarketing be shipped or provided within a specified period and that if the goods or services are not shipped or provided with such period, a refund be required, and

(B) including, where practicable, authority for a person who orders a good or service through telemarketing to cancel the order within a specified period.

(b) RULEMAKING.—

(1) The Commission shall prescribe the rules under subsection (a) within 270 days after the date of enactment of this Act. Such rules shall be prescribed in accordance with section 553 of title 5, United States Code.

(2) A rule issued under subsection (a) shall be considered a rule issued under section 18(a)(1)(B) of the Federal Trade Commission Act.

(c) ENFORCEMENT.—Any violation of any rule prescribed under subsection (a) shall be treated as a violation of a rule under section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45) regarding unfair or deceptive acts or practices.

(d) SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION RULES.—

(1) PROMULGATION.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subparagraph (B), not later than 6 months after the effective date of rules promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission under subsection (a), the Securities and Exchange Commission shall promulgate rules substantially similar to such rules to prohibit deceptive and other abusive telemarketing activities by persons described in paragraph (2).

(B) EXCEPTION.—The Securities and Exchange Commission is not required to promulgate a rule under subparagraph (A) if it determines that—

(i) Federal securities laws or rules adopted by the Securities and Exchange Commission thereunder provide protection from deceptive and other abusive telemarketing by persons described in paragraph (2) substantially similar to that provided by rules promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission under subsection (a); or

(ii) such a rule promulgated by the Securities and Exchange Commission is not necessary or appropriate in the public interest, or for the protection of investors, or would be inconsistent with the maintenance of fair and orderly markets.

If the Securities and Exchange Commission determines that an exception described in clause (i) or (ii) applies, the Commission shall publish in the Federal Register its determination with the reasons for it.

(2) APPLICATION.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The rules promulgated by the Securities and Exchange Commission under paragraph (1)(A) shall apply to a broker, dealer, transfer agent, municipal securities dealer, municipal securities broker, government securities broker, government securities dealer, investment adviser or investment company, or any individual associated with a broker, dealer, transfer agent, municipal securities dealer, municipal securities broker, government securities broker, government securities dealer, investment adviser or investment company. The rules promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission under subsection (a) shall not apply to persons described in the preceding sentence.

(B) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of subparagraph (A)—

(i) the terms "broker", "dealer", "transfer agent", "municipal securities dealer", "municipal securities broker", "government securities broker", and "government securities dealer" have the meanings given such terms by paragraphs (4), (5), (25), (30), (31), (43), and (44) of section 3(a) of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 (15 U.S.C. 78c(a)(4), (5), (25), (30), (31), (43), and (44));

(ii) the term "investment adviser" has the meaning given such term by section 202(a)(11) of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. 80b–2(a)(11)); and

(iii) the term "investment company" has the meaning given such term by section 3(a) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. 80a–3(a)).

(e) COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION RULES.—

(1) APPLICATION.—The rules promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission under subsection (a) shall not apply to persons described in subsection (f)(1) of section 6 of the Commodity Exchange Act (7 U.S.C. 8, 9, 15, 13b, 9a).

(2) PROMULGATION.—Section 6 of the Commodity Exchange Act (7 U.S.C. 8, 9, 15, 13b, 9a) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(f)(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), not later than 6 months after the effective date of rules promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission under section 3(a) of the Consumer Protection Telemarketing Act, the Commission shall promulgate rules substantially similar to such rules to prohibit deceptive and other abusive telemarketing activities by any person registered or exempt from registration under this Act in connection with such person's business as a futures commission merchant, introducing broker, commodity trading advisory, commodity pool operator, leverage transaction merchant, floor broker, or floor trader, or a person associated with any such person.

"(2) The Commission is not required to promulgate rules under paragraph (1) if it determines that—

"(A) rules adopted by the Commission under this Act provide protection from deceptive and abusive telemarketing by persons described under paragraph (1) substantially similar to that provided by rules promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission under section 3(a) of the Consumer Protection Telemarketing Act; or

"(B) such a rule promulgated by the Commission is not necessary or appropriate in the public interest, or for the protection of customers in the futures and options markets, or would be inconsistent with the maintenance of fair and orderly markets.

If the Commission determines that an exception described in subparagraph (A) or (B) applies, the Commission shall publish in the Federal Register its determination with the reasons for it.".

SEC. 4. ACTIONS BY STATES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Whenever an attorney general of any State has reason to believe that the interests of the residents of that State have been or are being threatened or adversely affected because any person has engaged or is engaging in a pattern or practice of telemarketing which violates any rule of the Commission under section 3, the State may bring a civil action on behalf of its residents in an appropriate district court of the United States to enjoin such telemarketing, to enforce compliance with such rule of the Commission, to obtain damages, restitution, or other compensation on behalf of residents of such State, or to obtain such further and other relief as the court may deem appropriate.

(b) NOTICE.—The State shall serve prior written notice of any civil action under subsection (a) upon the Commission and provide the Commission with a copy of its complaint, except that if it is not feasible for the State to provide such prior notice, the State shall serve such notice immediately upon instituting such action. Upon receiving a notice respecting a civil action, the Commission shall have the right (1) to intervene in such action, (2) upon so intervening, to be heard on all matters arising therein, and (3) to file petitions for appeal.

(c) CONSTRUCTION.—For purposes of bringing any civil action under subsection (a), nothing in this Act shall prevent an attorney general from exercising the powers conferred on the attorney general by the laws of such State to conduct investigations or to administer oaths or affirmations or to compel the attendance of witnesses or the production of documentary and other evidence.

(d) ACTIONS BY THE COMMISSION.—Whenever the Commission has instituted a civil action for violation of any rule prescribed under section 3, no State may, during the pendency of such action instituted by the Commission, institute a civil action under subsection (a) against any defendant named in the Commission's complaint for acts or omissions alleged in the complaint for violation of any rule as alleged in the Commission's complaint.

(e) ACTIONS BY OTHER STATE OFFICIALS.—

(1) Nothing contained in this section shall prohibit an authorized State official from proceeding in State court on the basis of an alleged violation of any civil or criminal statute of such State.

(2) In addition to actions brought by an attorney general of a State under subsection (a), such an action may be brought by officers of such State who are authorized by the State to bring actions in such State for protection of consumers and who are designated by the Commission to bring an action under subsection (a) against persons that the Commission has determined have or are engaged in a pattern or practice of telemarketing which violates a rule of the Commission under section 3.

SEC. 5. ACTIONS BY PRIVATE PERSONS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Any person adversely affected by any pattern or practice of telemarketing which violates any rule of the Commission under section 3 or an authorized person acting on such person's behalf may, within 3 years after discovery of the violation, bring a civil action in an appropriate district court of the United States against a person who has engaged or is engaging in such pattern or practice of telemarketing if the amount in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $50,000 in actual damages for each person adversely affected by such telemarketing. Such an action may be brought to enjoin such telemarketing, to enforce compliance with any rule of the Commission under section 3, to obtain damages, or to obtain such further and other relief as the court may deem appropriate.

(b) NOTICE.—The plaintiff shall serve prior written notice of the action upon the Commission and provide the Commission with a copy of its complaint, except in any case where such prior notice is not feasible, in which case the person shall serve such notice immediately upon instituting such action. The Commission shall have the right (A) to intervene in the action, (B) upon so intervening, to be heard on all matters arising therein, and (C) to file petitions for appeal.

(c) ACTIONS BY THE COMMISSION.—Whenever the Commission has instituted a civil action for violation of any rule prescribed under section 3, no person may, during the pendency of such action instituted by the Commission, subsequently institute a civil action against any defendant named in the Commission's complaint for violation of any rule as alleged in the Commission's complaint.

(d) COSTS AND FEES.—The court, in issuing any final order in any action brought under subsection (a), may award costs of suit and reasonable fees for attorneys and expert witnesses to the prevailing party.

(e) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this section shall restrict any right which any person may have under any statute or common law.

SEC. 6. CLEARINGHOUSE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Commission shall establish a clearinghouse for inquiries made to Federal agencies concerning telemarketing. The clearinghouse will provide information (other than information which may not be disclosed under section 552(b) of title 5, United States Code, or under regulations prescribed by the Commission to implement such section) to anyone making inquiries respecting persons engaged in telemarketing or direct such inquiries to the appropriate Federal or State agency.

(b) LIABILITY FOR PROVIDING INFORMATION.—No person who provides information to the clearinghouse established under subsection (a) shall be liable for damages for the provision of such information unless such person provided such information knowing it to be false.

SEC. 7. ADMINISTRATION AND APPLICABILITY OF ACT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Except as otherwise provided in sections 4 and 5, this Act shall be enforced by the Commission under the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.). Consequently, no activity which is outside the jurisdiction of that Act shall be affected by this Act.

(b) ACTIONS BY THE COMMISSION.—The Commission shall prevent any person from violating a rule of the Commission under section 3 in the same manner, by the same means, and with the same jurisdiction, powers, and duties as though all applicable terms and provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.) were incorporated into and made a part of this Act. Any person who violates such rule shall be subject to the penalties and entitled to the privileges and immunities provided in the Federal Trade Commission Act in the same manner, by the same means, and with the same jurisdiction, power, and duties as though all applicable terms and provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act were incorporated into and made a part of this Act.

SEC. 8. DEFINITIONS.

For purposes of this Act:

(1) The term "attorney general" means the chief legal officer of a State.

(2) The term "Commission" means the Federal Trade Commission.

(3) The term "State" means any State of the United States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Northern Mariana Islands, and any territory or possession of the United States.

(4) The term "telemarketing" means a plan, program, or campaign which is conducted to induce purchases of goods or services by significant use of one or more telephones and which involves more than one interstate telephone call. The term does not include the solicitation of sales through the mailing of a catalog which—

(A) contains a written description or illustration of the goods or services offered for sale,

(B) includes the business address of the seller,

(C) includes multiple pages of written material or illustrations, and where the person making the solicitation does not solicit customers by telephone but only receives calls initiated by customers in response to the catalog and during those calls takes orders only without further solicitation.

(D) has been issued not less frequently than once a year,

SEC. 9. REVIEW.

Upon the expiration of 5 years following the date of the enactment of this Act, the Federal Trade Commission shall review the implementation of this Act and its effect on deceptive telemarketing activities and report the results of the review to the Congress.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Washington [Mr. SWIFT] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. MCMILLAN] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington [Mr. SWIFT].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks, and include extraneous material, on the bill presently under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Washington?

There was no objection.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the sale of goods and services over the telephone has proven to be a cost-effective way for many legitimate businesses to reach potential customers. These legitimate telemarketing activities provide useful service to both business operations and their customers. Regulating legitimate, mutually beneficial activities is not the purpose of this legislation. What this legislation goes after are those unscrupulous telemarketing activities where no one benefits but the perpetrator.

The telephone has become a powerful weapon in the hands of those with a persuasive message and a desire to steal. From a boiler room operation perhaps thousands of miles away, a long hand can reach out and into a consumer's pocket. Fraudulent telemarketers have already gotten past the consumer's front door and into their homes every time they make a phone call. When the day of reckoning comes, and consumers discover they have been ripped off, all too often the fraudulent telemarketer has left behind a rented room, a few phone lines, and no forwarding address.

And it is not only consumers, but businesses and financial institutions that suffer loss. At a hearing before my subcommittee, MasterCard and VISA in a joint statement outlined the problem:

> MasterCard and VISA believe that telemarketing fraud losses will continue to mount without an effective federal legislative response to this national problem. State and local enforcement agencies * * * have initiated actions against fraudulent telemarketers only to be frustrated by state law jurisdictional limits. These jurisdictional limits make it difficult to prosecute or obtain relief from fraudulent telemarketers who locate their operations outside the states in which their victims are located or move frequently to avoid detection and prosecution under state law.

The National Consumer's League—which administers a telemarketing coalition of over 80 industry associations and law enforcement agencies—states that reported losses due to telemarketing fraud now amount to $15 billion per year. The Federal Trade Commission estimates that actual losses may run as high as $40 billion per year. The National Consumers League has sent a letter to every Member urging support of this legislation. The National Association of Attorneys General have also written every Member stating the unanimous support of all 50 State attorneys general in support of this bill.

This legislation reflects these concerns of law enforcement agencies, consumer groups, and affected financial institutions. H.R. 3203 directs the FTC to undertake a rulemaking to prohibit fraudulent, deceptive, and abusive telemarketing activities. It will also allow State attorneys general and other State consumer agencies to use the powers of this act to target fly-by-night telemarketers who make deceptive long distance telemarketing calls and then skip across State lines before State authorities are able to stop them under State law. The bill also allows private rights of action in limited circumstances, and directs the FTC to establish a clearinghouse of information so that consumers can better protect themselves.

This is good legislation for consumers who lose billions every year to telemarketing fraud; for the Federal Trade Commission and our State legal officers who need the tools in this bill to ferret out these telemarketing boiler rooms; and for legitimate businesses who are being exploited by fraudulent and deceptive telemarketers. I strongly urge my colleagues to pass this necessary consumer legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of this legislation and urge my colleagues to support it.

I commend the gentleman from the State of Washington, the distinguished chairman of the Subcommittee on Transportation and Hazardous Materials, for his strong and able leadership in bringing this legislation to the floor of the House today. As the author of the bill, Chairman SWIFT has taken an active interest in protecting the rights of consumers from unscrupulous telemarketing fraud artists. I also commend the ranking Republican of our full committee, Mr. LENT, and the ranking Republican of the Subcommittee on Transportation and Hazardous Materials, Mr. RITTER for their significant contributions to this needed legislation.

This bill is the product of many years of bipartisan efforts. Numerous hearings in our committee, a multitude of analyses and reports from Federal and State investigators, enforcement agencies, and consumer protection bureaus, as well as scores of media investigations and reports, have underscored the need for this overdue legislation.

The problem, quite simply, is the greed of scam artists who use the telephone to peddle phony and deceptive schemes to unwary and vulnerable consumers. Numerous examples of these schemes were described in a report released last summer that was sponsored by the National Consumers League, along with the active support of MasterCard, VISA, Citibank's credit card subsidiary, and MCI. According to the report, 9 out of 10 Americans have been approached by telephone scam artists, and 3 out of 10 have responded at some time to these fraudulent and deceptive offers. These schemes range from postcards or phone calls that promise consumers they already have won a big prize to telephone calls that promise help for parents to recover child support payments from deadbeat ex-spouses to solicitations for dirt-cheap land where bogus deeds are provided to the unfortunate consumer. These fraudulent schemes prey on the vulnerable and the unsuspecting, including the elderly, the poor, children, and those with a poor command of the English language, and provide direct access at all times of the day and night to anyone who has a telephone.

The costs of the problem are enormous. The Alliance Against Fraud in Telemarketing—a coalition of more than 80 industry associations and law enforcement agencies—reports that annual losses due to telemarketing fraud exceed $15 billion. The Federal Trade Commission [FTC] has estimated that actual consumer losses may run as high as $40 billion per year. Other estimates put the figure at $70–$80 billion per year. Because of the embarrassment of admitting that one has been bilked, it is clear that most estimates of telemarketing fraud are understated. It is also clear, from the committee's numerous investigations and hearings, the problem continues to proliferate.

In general, there are three classes of victims of telemarketing fraud: First, actual consumers and purchasers; second, credit card companies, that often must absorb the credit charge when the purchaser discovers the fraud and refuses to pay the charge; and third, legitimate telemarketing companies, that not only lose sales to fraudulent firms but also suffer generally from the disrepute that such fraudulent firms bring to legitimate telemarketing practices. The legislation seeks to address unfair and deceptive telemarketing practices to help all three classes of victims.

The FTC has taken the lead in attempting to combat telemarketing fraud. As of May 1, 1991, as stated in testimony before the Subcommittee on Transportation and Hazardous Materials, the FTC had brought over 66 telemarketing fraud cases in Federal district court, "halting fraud by companies with sales of over $912 million." These actions were brought under current FTC authority that prohibits unfair and deceptive acts or practices in or affecting commerce under section 5 of the FTC Act. But these actions may involve expensive and time-consuming court battles as to whether a firm's telemarketing practices in fact should be deemed "unfair or deceptive" and require the Commission only to pursue such actions in Federal district court. H.R. 3203 will give the FTC the additional authority it needs to protect the interests of consumers and others who are affected by telemarketing fraud, as well as creating a partnership of enforcement efforts with the States. The bill directs the Commission to promulgate rules prohibiting deceptive—including fraudulent—and other abusive telemarketing practices. In developing these rules, the Commission is directed to include requirements to prohibit unsolicited telephone calls that a reasonable consumer would consider to be coercive or abusive of privacy rights. The bill gives State's attorneys general authority to enforce the Commission's rules and to obtain damages, restitution, and other appropriate relief, as well as allowing private parties to bring cases in Federal district court in certain situations.

I also wish to express my appreciation to Mr. DE LA GARZA and Mr. ENGLISH, the chairman of the Committee on Agriculture and the chairman of the Subcommittee on Conservation, Credit, and Rural Development, respectively, for their cooperation in ensuring that persons involved in commodities and futures trading are covered by substantially similar requirements developed by the FTC under the terms of the legislation. The amended version of the bill today includes a provision developed by the Committee on Agriculture that is based on section 18 of the FTC Act and that is the functional equivalent of a provision, section 3(d) of the bill, that our committee developed that covers the securities industry. I ask unanimous consent that the letters exchanged between our two committees that indicate the understanding we have reached be inserted into the RECORD following this statement. Finally, I also would note that section 3(d) of the bill requires the Securities and Exchange Commission [SEC] to promulgate "substantially similar" rules to those promulgated by the FTC. This does not mean that the SEC rules must be exactly the same as the FTC rules, but that the SEC rules should offer investors and consumers a comparable level of protection to that provided by the FTC rules, taking into account the specific circumstances of the securities industry.

This bill is supported by a wide range of interests, from the National Association of Attorneys General to the National Consumers League and other consumer associations, and from the American Association of Retired Persons to MasterCard and VISA.

In summary, Mr. Speaker, this legislation will ensure that the full range of enforcement and regulatory tools will be available to Federal, State, and private parties in fighting telemarketing fraud and abuse. I strongly urge my colleagues to support this needed legislation and look forward to working with Mr. HOLLINGS, chairman of the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, and Mr. BRYAN, chairman of the Senate Consumer Subcommittee, to enact consensus telemarketing legislation prior to the adjournment of this Congress.

COMMITTEE ON ENERGY AND COMMERCE,
Washington, DC, September 25, 1992.

Hon. E DE LA GARZA,
Chairman, Committee on Agriculture, Longworth House Office Building, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Committee on Energy and Commerce reported H.R. 3203, relating to telemarketing, on November 20, 1991, and filed a report thereon on July 22, 1992 (H. Rpt. 102-688). We have asked that the bill be listed for consideration on the suspension calendar early next week.

Since filing our report, our Committee has been developing an amendment to the bill that will treat persons subject to the jurisdiction of the Securities and Exchange Commission in a substantially similar manner that banks and financial institutions are treated under section 18 of the Federal Trade Commission Act. My staff has provided a copy of the proposed amendment to your staff, and our staffs have commenced informal discussions with an eye toward allowing the Committee on Agriculture to craft a similar amendment to cover persons subject to the Commodities Futures Trading Commission (CFTC).

If you wish, we would be pleased to include such a CFTC amendment in the suspension vehicle we bring to the floor next week so that commodities transactions will be treated no less favorably or more favorably than securities transactions. We recognize, of course, that the Committee on Agriculture would have jurisdiction over such a CFTC amendment.

I trust this process will allow our Committees to bring the bill, as amended, to the floor next week and hopefully will give our Committees the opportunity to complete discussions with the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation on a final bill prior to the end of this Congress.

Your assistance in this matter is greatly appreciated.

With best wishes.

Sincerely,

JOHN D. DINGELL,
Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON AGRICULTURE,
Washington, DC, September 29, 1992.

Hon. JOHN D. DINGELL,
Chairman, Committee on Energy and Commerce, House of Representatives, Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: This is with reference to your letter regarding H.R. 3203, the Consumer Protection Telemarketing Act, and the inclusion in that bill of an amendment regarding the regulation of telemarketing in the commodity markets when the bill is considered under a motion to suspend the rules. As you know, clause 1(a) (18) of Rule X of the Rules of the House of Representatives provides that the Committee on Agriculture has sole jurisdiction over commodity exchanges. The Committee believes that the amendment enclosed herewith—developed through consultations between our Committees—will serve as a valuable addition to the important legislation reported by the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

Section 3 of H.R. 3203, as reported, requires that the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) prescibe rules prohibiting deceptive (including fraudulent) telemarketing activities and other abusive telemarketing activities. As you know, section 2(a)(1)(A) of the Commodity Exchange Act (CEA) provides that the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (Commission) has exclusive jurisdiction with respect to transactions involving contracts of sale of a commodity for future delivery.

The Committee on Agriculture will support including the enclosed amendment in H.R. 3203 to ensure that customers targeted by entities registered under the CEA will be afforded similar regulatory protections from deceptive and abusive telemarketing activities as will be provided to other consumers under the bill reported from the Committee on Energy and Commerce. The amendment also provides protections for commodities customers parallel to those provided to investors in securities markets by the proposed modification to the bill that requires the Securities and Exchange Commission to regulate the telemarketing activities of individuals registered under the securities laws.

Specifically, the amendment provides that rules promulgated by the FTC under the bill are not to apply to persons who are futures market participants registered or exempt from registration under the CEA. In addition, it adds a new section 6(f) to the CEA to require that not later than 6 months after the promulgation of telemarketing rules by the FTC, the Commission is required to promulgate rules that prohibit deceptive and abusive telemarketing activities by any entity acting in his or her capacity as a registrant subject to regulation under the CEA. The rules promulgated by the Commission are required to be substantially similar to the rules promulgated by the FTC. An exception is included to provide that the Commission is not required to promulgate a new rule if it determines that rules already adopted by the Commission provide sufficient protection, or that such a rule is not necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of customers in the futures and options markets.

The Committee on Agriculture supports the inclusion of the enclosed amendment in H.R. 3203 and will support your request that the bill, as modified, be eligible for consideration under a motion to suspend the rules. Of course, it would be our expectation that members of the Committee on Agriculture would be appointed to serve as conferees regarding this provision and any provision passed by the Senate which relates to the regulation of commodity exchanges. In the event that amendments between the Houses are addressed without the appointment of a conference committee, I would expect our Committee to be included in discussions regarding the process of disposing of such amendments, as has been the practice between our committees in the past.

I am grateful for your cooperation and assistance in this matter and commend you and your Committee for your efforts on this important legislation.

Sincerely,

E (KIKA) DE LA GARZA,
Chairman.

AN AMENDMENT TO H.R. 3203 OFFERED BY MR. DE LA GARZA

At the end of section 3 of the bill (page 4, after line 16) add the following new subsection:

(e) COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION RULES.—

(1) APPLICATION.—The rules promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission under subsection (a) shall not apply to persons described in subsection (f)(1) of section 6 of the Commodity Exchange Act (7 U.S.C. 8, 9, 15, 13b, 9a).

(2) PROMULGATION.—Section 6 of the Commodity Exchange Act (7 U.S.C. 8, 9, 15, 13b, 9a) is amended by adding a new subsection (f) to read as follows:

"(f)(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), not later than 6 months after the effective date of rules promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission under section 3(a) of the Consumer Protection Telemarketing Act, the Commission shall promulgate, or require each registered futures association to promulgate, rules substantially similar to such rules to prohibit deceptive and other abusive telemarketing activities by any person registered or exempt from registration under this Act in connection with such person's business as a futures commission merchant, introducing broker, commodity trading advisor, commodity pool operator, leverage transaction merchant, floor broker, or floor trader, or a person associated with any such person.

"(2) The Commission is not required to promulgate rules under paragraph (1) if it determines that—

"(A) rules adopted by the Commission under this Act provide protection from deceptive and abusive telemarketing by persons described under paragraph (1) substantially similar to that provided by rules promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission under section 3(a) of the Consumer Protection Telemarketing Act; or

"(B) such a rule promulgated by the Commission is not necessary or appropriate in the public interest, or for the protection of customers in the futures and options markets, or would be inconsistent with the maintenance of fair and orderly markets.

If the Commission determines that an exception described in subparagraph (A) or (B) applies, the Commission shall publish in the Federal Register its determination with the reasons for it.".

Mr. McMILLAN of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 3203. I want to commend our committee leadership for the diligent effort that produced this bipartisan legislation. I especially want to compliment our chairman, Mr. DINGELL; our ranking Republican member, Mr. LENT; the Transportation Subcommittee chairman, Mr. SWIFT; and our ranking subcommittee member, Mr. RITTER.

Telemarketing fraud is currently inflicting a $40 billion a year toll on American consumers and businesses, according to Federal Trade Commission estimates. This is an outrageous and unacceptable burden on our economy. Those harmed are not merely the consumers who are taken in by deceptive practices, but also legitimate businesses who lose sales and prospective customers due to the bad experiences of telemarketing fraud victims.

Among those often caught in the middle are the credit card companies, who through no fault of their own, are left holding the bag when charge-backs from fraudulent transactions cannot be collected. And we all know that when this kind of uncollectible and fraudulent cost is inflicted on a business, both the business and its customers must ultimately bear that burden.

This legislation is constructed around a core concept of State-Federal cooperation. The Federal Trade Commission is directed to adopt antifraud rules to combat deceptive telemarketing practices. At the same time, both the FTC and State attorneys general are given new and much-needed enforcement tools to apprehend and prosecute telemarketing fraud operations before they can flee the long arm of the law. The FTC will also maintain a central information clearinghouse to enable consumers and law enforcement officials to check up more easily on any past offenses by fraudulent and deceptive telemarketers. Besides providing useful information, this clearinghouse will be able to draw upon the extensive data that can voluntarily be made available by the national credit card operations, who are among the principal victims of fraudulent telemarketing practices.

Finally, this legislation specifically directs the FTC to include in its rules a profile of fraudulent telemarketing—the characteristics or symptoms of deceptive operations that will help consumer and law enforcement official alike to recognize more easily the hallmarks of a telemarketing scam.

This is carefully targeted, constructive, bipartisan legislation, unanimously approved by the Energy and Commerce Committee. I strongly urge its approval.

Mr. RITTER. Mr. Speaker, I want to commend the leadership of the Energy and Commerce Committee—our chairman, Mr. DINGELL; our ranking Republican, Mr. LENT; and our Transportation Subcommittee chairman, Mr. SWIFT—for their diligent efforts to fashion this constructive, bipartisan legislation.

It sometimes seems that Federal legislation is an answer in search of a problem. But not in this case. Almost everyone has encountered—or knows someone who has encountered—some of the shady boiler room operators who use the telephone to deceive and defraud Americans in their homes. The most recent estimate of the Federal Trade Commission is that this kind of nefarious activity cost Americans $40 billion every year. And all too often, the victims include those least able to fend for themselves—the young, the elderly, and the disabled.

Federal legislation is needed, because one of the recurring problems in this area has been the ability of fraudulent telemarketing operations to flee across State lines and avoid prosecution. This bill will help correct the situation by strengthening the partnership between Federal enforcement by the Federal Trade Commission and State prosecutions of fraudulent telemarketers. It will also allow victims of fraudulent telemarketing actions to pursue the wrongdoers through civil actions in the Federal courts.

The FTC will also adopt rules to help identify fraudulent telemarketing practices, and to aid in antifraud enforcement efforts at both the State and Federal levels.

While conferring these much-needed enforcement tools on the Nation's consumer-protection officials, we should not lose sight that we are not only protecting American consumers: We are also protecting legitimate American businesses who responsibly use telemarketing as a modern business tool.

After all, the telephone has made it possible to conduct business virtually without regard to the location of the buyer and the seller. Telemarketing allows a business to make much better use of its personnel and other resources, and to respond quickly to consumer demands and interests.

But it only takes a few bad apples to endanger the reputation of a growing and vibrant industry. By helping our State and Federal officials root out fraudulent practices, we will help preserve the integrity and reputation that are so vital to any competitive, consumer-oriented industry. In this respect, the legislation we are considering today fits hand-in-glove with our efforts—of which I am strong supporter—to use modern telecommunications technology to enhance and improve the productivity and competitiveness of American industry.

I strongly support this legislation and urge its prompt approval.

Mr. LENT. Mr. Speaker, I wish to commend my colleagues on the Energy and Commerce Committee, particularly chairman, Mr. DINGELL, Transportation Subcommittee chairman, Mr. SWIFT, and ranking subcommittee member, Mr. RITTER, for their constructive, cooperative efforts to fashion this important bipartisan legislation.

Telemarketing fraud is a menace to the American consumer, and the integrity of legitimate American businesses. At present, the Federal Trade Commission estimates the take of crooked telemarketers at approximately $40 billion a year. This is an outrageous and unacceptable financial injury to Americans—especially to the elderly and the disabled, who are among the leading victims of such practices.

This legislation seeks to leverage the resources of Federal and State enforcement efforts in order to improve efforts to combat telemarketing fraud. At the Federal level, the Federal Trade Commission will be directed to adopt basic rules helping to identify and profile deceptive telemarketing practices. These rules will be the foundation for a cooperative State-Federal enforcement effort, which should help prevent what happens all too often today—the flight of telemarketing scam operations across a State line before it can be successfully prosecuted.

In most instances, the victims of telemarketing are individual consumers. But we should not overlook what our committee has learned in its hearings on telemarketing fraud in recent years—that many of the victims are businesses, often small- and medium-sized companies who can ill afford the loss. These firms may be targeted by phony office supply operators or others who seek to rely upon the good faith of the American business man to extract crooked profits. Similarly, fraudulent credit card sales by phone harm not only the credit card companies and the consumer victim, but also the very integrity of our credit and retailing system. Bad experiences with fraudulent operations merely make it that much harder for legitimate businesses to incorporate good faith telephone sales into their normal sales operations.

Many times, legislative actions at the Federal level have the effect of adding additional burdens for the American consumer and the American businessperson. But in this bill, we are confident that we are helping to remove the dead weight of fraud and deception from an increasingly important sector of our economy—telephone sales.

I strongly support this legislation, Mr. Speaker, and urge its prompt approval.

Mr. McMILLAN of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I have no requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Washington [Mr. SWIFT] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 3203, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the Senate bill (S. 1392) to strengthen the authority of the Federal Trade Commission regarding fraud committed in connection with sales made with a telephone, and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Washington?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill, as follows:

S. 1392

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SHORT TITLE

SECTION 1. This Act may be cited as the "Telemarketing and Consumer Fraud and Abuse Prevention Act".

DEFINITIONS

SEC. 2. As used in this Act, the term—

(1) "attorney general" means the chief legal officer of a State;

(2) "Commission" means the Federal Trade Commission;

(3) "State" means any State of the United States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Northern Mariana Islands, and any territory or possession of the United States;

(4) "telemarketing" means a plan, program, or campaign which is conducted to induce purchases of goods or services by significant use of one or more telephones and which has involved interstate telephone calls; the term does not include other use of a telephone in connection with business or personal transactions, nor does the term include the solicitation of sales through the mailing of a catalog which—

(A) contains a written description or illustration of the goods or services offered for sale;

(B) includes the business address of the seller;

(C) includes multiple pages of written material or illustrations;

(D) is issued not less frequently than once a year; and

(E) is at least the third catalog satisfying the requirements of subparagraphs (A) through (D) that has been issued by the seller within the last five years, where the seller does not place calls to customers but only receives calls initiated by customers in response to the catalog and during those calls takes orders only without further solicitation; and

(5) "credit card laundering" means—

(A) the act or practice by a person engaged in telemarketing (other than an act or practice permitted in a valid agreement with a member of a credit card system or the member's agent) of transferring to another person to be presented to a member of a credit card system or the member's agent, for payment, one or more evidences or records of transactions involving goods or services offered by telemarketing and paid for by credit card;

(B) the act or practice by a person acting on behalf of a person engaged in telemarketing (other than an act or practice permitted in a valid agreement with a member of a credit card system or the member's agent) of causing or arranging for a third person to present to a member of a credit card system or the member's agent, for payment, one or more evidences or records of transactions involving goods or services offered by telemarketing and paid for by credit card;

(C) the act or practice by a person (other than an act or practice permitted in a valid agreement with a member of a credit card system or the member's agent) of knowingly presenting to a member of a credit card system or the member's agent, for payment, one or more evidences or records received from another person of transactions involving goods or services offered by telemarketing and paid for by credit card; or

(D) such other acts or practices defined in the rules of the Commission as credit card laundering.

TELEMARKETING RULES

SEC. 3. (a) RULES ON TELEMARKETING ACTIVITIES.—The Commission shall prescribe rules regarding telemarketing activities. In prescribing such rules, the Commission shall consider the inclusion of—

(1) a requirement that goods or services offered by telemarketing be shipped or provided within a specified period and that if the goods or services are not shipped or provided within such period a refund be required;

(2) authority for a person who orders a good or service through telemarketing to cancel the order within a specified period;

(3) restrictions on the hours of the day when unsolicited telephone calls can be made to consumers;

(4) a prohibition of telemarketing generated by computers on equipment that does not permit the individual called to terminate the telephone call; and

(5) recordkeeping requirements.

(b) PROHIBITION OF FRAUDULENT TELEMARKETING ACTS OR PRACTICES.—The Commission also shall prescribe rules prohibiting fraudulent telemarketing acts or practices and shall include in such rules a definition of the term "fraudulent telemarketing acts or practices". Credit card laundering shall be a fraudulent telemarketing act or practice.

(c) DEADLINE; ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE.—The Commission shall prescribe the rules under subsections (a) and (b) of this section within 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act. Such rules shall be prescribed in accordance with section 553 of title 5, United States Code.

(d) TREATMENT OF RULE VIOLATIONS.—Any violation of any rule prescribed under subsection (a) or (b) of this section shall be treated as a violation of a rule under section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45) regarding unfair or deceptive acts or practices (subject to any remedy or penalty applicable to any violation thereof).

(e) EFFECT ON STATE LAW.—The rules promulgated under this section shall not be construed as preempting State law.

ACTIONS BY STATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL

SEC. 4. (a) AUTHORITY OF STATES.—Whenever the attorney general of any State has reason to believe that the interests of the residents of that State have been or are being threatened or adversely affected because any person has engaged or is engaging in a pattern or practice of telemarketing which violates any rule, regulation, or order of the Commission under this Act, the State may bring a civil action on behalf of its residents to enjoin such telemarketing, to enforce compliance with any rule, regulation, or order of the Commission under this Act, to obtain damages on behalf of their residents, or to obtain such further and other relief as the court may deem appropriate.

(b) COURT JURISDICTION.—The district courts of the United States, the United States courts of any territory, and the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia shall have exclusive jurisdiction over all civil actions brought under this section to enforce any liability or duty created by any rule, regulation, or order of the Commission under this Act, or to obtain damages or other relief with respect thereto. Upon proper application, such courts shall also have jurisdiction to issue writs of mandamus, or orders affording like relief, commanding the defendant to comply with the provisions of any rule, regulation, or order of the Commission under this Act, including the requirement that the defendant take such action as is necessary to remove the danger of violation of any such rule, regulation, or order. Upon a proper showing, a permanent or temporary injunction or restraining order shall be granted without bond.

(c) RIGHTS OF COMMISSION.—The State shall serve prior written notice of any such civil action upon the Commission and provide the Commission with a copy of its complaint, except in any case where such prior notice is not feasible, in which case the State shall serve such notice immediately upon instituting such action. The Commission shall have the right (1) to intervene in the action, (2) upon so intervening, to be heard on all matters arising therein, and (3) to file petitions for appeal.

(d) VENUE; SERVICE OF PROCESS.—Any civil action brought under this section in a district court of the United States may be brought in the district wherein the defendant is found or is an inhabitant or transacts business or wherein the telemarketing occurred or is occurring, and process in such cases may be served in any district in which the defendant is an inhabitant or wherever the defendant may be found.

(e) EFFECT ON STATE POWERS OF ATTORNEYS GENERAL.—For purposes of bringing any civil action under this section, nothing in this Act shall prevent the attorney general from exercising the powers conferred on the attorney general by the laws of such State to conduct investigations or to administer oaths or affirmations or to compel the attendance of witnesses or the production of documentary and other evidence.

(f) EFFECT ON ACTIONS UNDER STATE STATUTE.—Nothing contained in this section shall prohibit an authorized State official from proceeding in State court on the basis of an alleged violation of any general civil or criminal statute of such State.

(g) CIVIL ACTION BY COMMISSION.—Whenever the Commission has instituted a civil action for violation of any rule prescribed under this Act, no State may, during the pendency of such action instituted by the Commission, subsequently institute a civil action against any defendant named in the Commission's complaint for violation of any rule as alleged in the Commission's complaint.

ACTIONS BROUGHT BY PRIVATE PERSONS

SEC. 5. (a) DEFINITION.—As used in this section, the term "person adversely affected by telemarketing" means—

(1) any person who has incurred loss or damage in connection with telemarketing and who actually purchased goods or services through telemarketing, or paid or is obligated to pay for goods or services purchased through telemarketing;

(2) any financial institution that has incurred loss or damage in connection with telemarketing; or

(3) any member organization comprised of financial institution members, or any parent organization of such member organization, if one or more of the financial institution members is eligible to bring a civil action under this subsection.

Such term does not include a governmental entity.

(b) PRIVATE RIGHT OF ACTION.—(1) Any person adversely affected by any pattern or practice of telemarketing which violates any rule, regulation, or order of the Commission under this Act may, within 3 years after discovery of the violation, bring a civil action against a person who has engaged or is engaging in such pattern or practice of telemarketing if the amount in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $50,000 in actual damages for each person adversely affected by such telemarketing. Such an action may be brought to enjoin such telemarketing, to enforce compliance with any rule, regulation, or order of the Commission under this Act, to obtain damages, or to obtain such further and other relief as the court may deem appropriate.

(2) The district courts of the United States, the United States courts of any territory, and the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia shall have exclusive jurisdiction over all civil actions brought under this section to enforce any liability or duty created by any rule, regulation, or order of the Commission under this Act, or to obtain damages or other relief with respect thereto. Upon proper application, such courts shall also have jurisdiction to issue writs of mandamus, or orders affording like relief, commanding the defendant to comply with the provisions of any rule, regulation, or order of the Commission under this Act, including the requirement that the defendant take such action as is necessary to remove the danger of violation or of any such rule, regulation, or order. Upon a proper showing, a permanent or temporary injunction or restraining order shall be granted without bond.

(3) The plaintiff shall serve prior written notice of the action upon the Commission and provide the Commission with a copy of its complaint, except in any case where such prior notice is not feasible, in which case the person shall serve such notice immediately upon instituting such action. The Commission shall have the right (A) to intervene in the action, (B) upon so intervening, to be heard on all matters arising therein, and (C) to file petitions for appeal.

(4) Whenever the Commission has instituted a civil action for violation of any rule prescribed under this Act, no person may, during the pendency of such action instituted by the Commission, subsequently institute a civil action against any defendant named in the Commission's complaint for violation of any rule as alleged in the Commission's complaint.

(5) Any civil action brought under this section in a district court of the United States may be brought in the district wherein the defendant is found or is an inhabitant or transacts business or wherein the telemarketing occurred or is occurring and process in such case may be served in any district in which the defendant is an inhabitant or wherever the defendant may be found.

(c) AWARD OF COSTS AND FEES.—The court, in issuing any final order in any action brought under subsection (b), may award costs of suit and reasonable fees for attorneys and expert witnesses to the prevailing party.

(d) RIGHTS UNDER STATUTE OR COMMON LAW.—Nothing in this section shall restrict any right which any person may have under any statute or common law.

VENUE

SEC. 6. Subsections (a) and (b) of section 13 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 53) are each amended by adding at the end thereof the following: "Whenever it appears to the court that the interests of justice require that any other person, partnership, or corporation should be a party in such suit, the court may cause such person, partnership, or corporation to be summoned without regard to whether they reside or transact business in the district in which the suit is brought, and to that end process may be served wherever the person, partnership, or corporation may be found.".

SUBPOENA

SEC. 7. (a) PHYSICAL EVIDENCE DEFINED.—Section 20(a) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 57b–1(a)) is amended—

(1) by redesignating paragraph (7) as paragraph (8); and

(2) by inserting immediately after paragraph (6) the following new paragraph:

"(7) The term 'physical evidence' means any object or device, including any medical device, food product, drug, nutritional product, cosmetic product, or audio or video recording.".

(b) ISSUANCE OF DEMAND.—Section 20(c)(1) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 57b–1(c)(1)) is amended—

(1) by inserting "physical evidence or" immediately after "any" the second time it appears;

(2) by inserting "to produce such physical evidence for inspection," immediately before "to produce";

(3) by inserting "physical evidence," immediately after "concerning"; and

(4) by inserting "evidence," immediately before "material, answers,".

(c) CONTENTS OF DEMAND.—Section 20(c)(3) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 57b–1(c)(3)) is amended—

(1) by inserting "physical evidence or" immediately before "documentary material";

(2) in subparagraph (A)—

(A) by inserting "physical evidence or" immediately before "documentary"; and

(B) by inserting "evidence or" immediately after "permit such";

(3) in subparagraph (B), by inserting "evidence or" immediately before "material"; and

(4) in subparagraph (C), by inserting "evidence or" immediately before "material".

(d) PRODUCTION OF EVIDENCE IN RESPONSE TO DEMAND.—Section 20(c)(10) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 57b–1(c)(10)) is amended by inserting "physical evidence or" immediately before "documentary material" each place it appears.

FALSE ADVERTISEMENTS CONCERNING SERVICES

SEC. 8. Section 12(a) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 52(a)) is amended by inserting "services," immediately after "devices," each place it appears.

CLEARINGHOUSE

SEC. 9. The Commission shall establish a clearinghouse for inquiries made to Federal agencies concerning telemarketing. The clearinghouse will provide information (other than information which may not be disclosed under section 552(b) of title 5, United States Code, or under regulations prescribed by the Commission to implement sections 552(b) of title 5, United States Code) to anyone making inquiries respecting persons engaged in telemarketing or direct such inquiries to the appropriate Federal or State agency.

FINANCIAL DATA

SEC. 10. Section 1109(a)(3) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act of 1978 (12 U.S.C. 3409(a)(3)) is amended—

(1) by redesignating subparagraph (E) as subparagraph (F);

(2) by striking "or" at the end of subparagraph (D); and

(3) by inserting immediately after subparagraph (D) the following new subparagraph:

"(E) dissipation, removal, or destruction of assets that are subject to forfeiture, seizure, redress, or restitution under any law of the United States by reason of having been obtained in violation of law; or".

CRIMINAL CONTEMPT AUTHORITY

SEC. 11. Section 16(a)(1) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 56(a)(1)) is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (A) by striking "civil" the first place it appears and inserting in lieu thereof "Federal court"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following: "The Commission may bring a criminal contempt action for violations of orders obtained in cases brought under section 13(b) of this Act in the same manner as civil penalty and other Federal court actions to which this subsection applies. Such cases may be initiated by the Commission on its own complaint, or pursuant to its acceptance of an appointment by a court to assist it in enforcing such orders pursuant to Rule 42(b) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure.".

ADMINISTRATION AND APPLICABILITY OF ACT

SEC. 12. (a) ENFORCEMENT.—Except as otherwise provided in sections 4 and 5 of this Act, this Act shall be enforced by the Commission under the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.).

(b) APPLICABILITY OF FTCA.—The Commission shall prevent any person from violating a rule, regulation, or order of the Commission under this Act in the same manner, by the same means, and with the same jurisdiction, powers, and duties as though all applicable terms and provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.) were incorporated into and made a part of this Act. Any person who violates such a rule, regulation, or order shall be subject to the penalties and entitled to the privileges and immunities provided in the Federal Trade Commission Act in the same manner, by the same means, and with the same jurisdiction, powers, and duties as though all applicable terms and provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act were incorporated into and made a part of this Act.

(c) EXEMPTION.—(1) No provision of this Act shall apply to any person exempt from the jurisdiction of the Commission under section 5(a)(2) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45(a)(2)), and nothing in this Act shall be construed to vest the Commission, or the attorney general of any State or any person, with jurisdiction or authority over any person not otherwise subject to the jurisdiction or authority of the Commission.

(2)(A) No provision of this Act shall apply—

(i) to a broker, dealer, municipal securities dealer, government securities broker, government securities dealer, or investment company in connection with the offer, sale, or purchase of any security, or to an issuer in connection with the offer, sale, or purchase of any security which that issuer has issued, or to any investment adviser providing investment advice relating to any security; or

(ii) to the solicitation, acceptance, confirmation, or execution of orders for the entry into, purchase of, or sale of any contract, account, agreement, or transaction subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission under the Commodity Exchange Act (7 U.S.C. 1 et seq.) by a person registered under the Commodity Exchange Act in order to engage in such activity, including as a futures commission merchant, introducing broker, commodity trading advisor, commodity pool operator, leverage transaction merchant, floor broker, or floor trader, or as a person associated with any such person.

(B) For purposes of subparagraph (A)(i)—

(1) the terms "broker", "dealer", "municipal securities dealer", "government securities broker", and "government securities dealer" have the meanings given them in section 3(a) (4), (5), (30), (43), and (44), respectively, of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (15 U.S.C. 78c(a) (4), (5), (30), (43), and (44));

(2) the term "investment adviser" has the meaning given it in section 202(a)(11) of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. 80b-2(a)(11));

(3) the term "investment company" has the meaning given it in section 3(a) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. 80a-3(a));

(4) the term "issuer" has the meaning given it in section 2(4) of the Securities Act of 1933 (15 U.S.C. 77b(4)); and

(5) the term "security" has the meaning given to it in section 2(1) of the Securities Act of 1933 (15 U.S.C. 77b(1)), section 3(a)(10) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (15 U.S.C. 78c(a)(10)), and section 2(a)(36) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. 80a-2(a)(36)).

LIFE CARE HOME STUDY

SEC. 13. (a) STUDY.—The Federal Trade Commission shall conduct a study of unfair or deceptive acts or practices in the life care home industry, including acts or practices engaged in by life care homes. Within 24 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission shall report the findings and conclusions of the study to Congress. The Commission shall indicate in its report whether it intends to initiate a trade regulation rulemaking under section 18 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 57a) respecting unfair or deceptive acts or practices in the life care home industry and the reasons for such determination.

(b) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of subsection (a), the term—

(1) "life care home" includes the facility or facilities occupied, or planned to be occupied, by residents or prospective residents where a provider undertakes to provide living accommodations and services pursuant to a life care contract, regardless of whether such facilities are operated on a profit or nonprofit basis; and

(2) "life care contract" includes a contract between a resident and a provider to provide the resident, for the duration of such resident's life, living accommodations and related services in a life care home, including nursing care services, medical services, and other health-related services, which is conditioned upon the transfer of an entrance fee to the provider and which may be further conditioned upon the payment of periodic service fees.

SUNSET

SEC. 14. The provisions of sections 3, 4, and 5 shall cease to have force and effect on and after the date that is five years following the date of enactment of this Act.

MOTION OFFERED BY MR. SWIFT

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I offer a motion.

The Clerk read as follows:

Mr. SWIFT moves to strike out all after the enacting clause of the Senate bill, S. 1392, and insert in lieu thereof the text of H.R. 3203 as passed by the House.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate bill was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed.

The title of the Senate bill was amended so as to read: "A bill to strengthen the authority of the Federal Trade Commission to protect consumers in connection with sales made with a telephone, and for other purposes."

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

A similar House bill (H.R. 3203) was laid on the table.

RADON AWARENESS AND DISCLOSURE ACT OF 1992

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 3258) to improve the accuracy of radon testing products and services, to increase testing for radon in schools, to create a commission to provide increased public awareness of radon, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 3258

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Radon Awareness and Disclosure Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds the following:

(1) The Environmental Protection Agency has determined that radon is second only to smoking as the leading cause of lung cancer, resulting in a central estimate of 13,600 deaths each year.

(2) Testing for elevated levels of radon in residential dwellings is relatively simple and inexpensive.

(3) There is not an adequate effort by Federal agencies to encourage testing for radon.

(4) Efforts to encourage testing have had disappointing results, reaching less than 4 percent of homes to date.

(5) The lack of a mandatory certification process leads to inaccurate testing, erosion of public confidence in the industry, and a waste of consumer investment.

(6) Increased public awareness of the risks of exposure to radon gas and the means to mitigate its effects will lead to more informed decision making and a more productive use of resources.

TITLE I—TWO-YEAR EXTENSION OF INDOOR RADON ABATEMENT PROVISIONS OF TOXIC SUBSTANCES CONTROL ACT

SEC. 101. 2-YEAR EXTENSION OF AUTHORIZATION.

The following sections of title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2662 et seq.) are each amended by striking out "and 1991" and inserting in lieu thereof "1993, and 1994":

(1) Section 305(f).

(2) Section 306(j)(1).

(3) Section 308(f).

TITLE II—RADON TESTING

SEC. 201. PERFORMANCE PROGRAM FOR RADON PRODUCTS AND SERVICES.

(a) PERFORMANCE PROGRAM.—Title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act is amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 312. PERFORMANCE PROGRAM FOR RADON PRODUCTS AND SERVICES.

"(a) TESTING PROGRAM.—(1) The Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall establish a program requiring that—

"(A) any product offered for sale, or device used in connection with a service offered to the public, for the measurement of radon meets minimum performance criteria; and

"(B) any operator of a device, or person employing a technique, used in connection with a service offered to the public for the measurement of radon meets a minimum level of proficiency.

"(2) Such program shall include procedures for ordering the recall of any product sold for the measurement of radon which does not meet minimum performance criteria under paragraph (1)(A), for ordering the discontinuance of any service offered to the public for the measurement of radon which does not meet minimum levels of proficiency under paragraph (1)(B), and for establishing adequate quality assurance requirements for each person or company offering radon measurement services to the public.

"(b) MEASUREMENT EFFECTIVENESS; PUBLIC AWARENESS.—The Administrator shall develop and make each of the following available to the public:

"(1) A list of all radon measurement devices which meet minimum performance criteria under paragraph (1)(A) of subsection (a), together with information regarding the qualifying performance of each device.

"(2) A summary of current radon measurement technology, including descriptions and evaluations of existing measurement methods and devices used in testing schools, homes, and commercial buildings. Such summary shall include identification of those measurement technologies and practices most conducive to accuracy, tamper-detection and quality assurance in radon tests, including those conducted during real estate transactions.

"(b) CIVIL PENALTY.—Any person who violates the requirements of this section or who knowingly submits false information is liable for a civil penalty not to exceed $1,000 for each such violation.

"(c) USER FEE.—(1) The Administrator shall establish a schedule of user fees for persons who manufacture any product or device described in subsection (a)(1)(A) and for persons who operate a device or employ a technique described in subsection (a)(1)(B). The amount of such fees shall be designed to cover 50 percent of the annual operating costs of the Environmental Protection Agency for carrying out the program established under subsection (a) with respect to such persons until and including fiscal year 1996. After fiscal year 1996, the Administrator may apply such amounts to defray more than 50 percent of the program's operating costs but no more than the aggregate amount of such operating costs. Such fees shall be structured such that any person's liability for such fees is reasonably based on the proportion of the program's operating costs that relate to such person, and such person's liability for such fees shall not be based on the income of such person.

"(2) The Administrator may waive or reduce any fee established under paragraph (1) with respect to persons who agree to test for the presence of radon in public and nonprofit child care facilities, schools, hospitals, nursing homes, or other health care facilities.

"(d) USE OF FUNDS.—Amounts received for user fees under subsection (c) shall be deposited in a Radon Service Account established in the Treasury of the United States for use by the Administrator, to the extent provided in appropriations Acts, in carrying out the program established under subsection (a).".

(b) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of contents for title III of such Act (contained in section 1 of such Act) is amended by adding at the end the following new item after the item relating to section 311:

"Sec. 312. Performance program for radon products and services.".

(c) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Subsection (a)(2) of section 305 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2665(a)(1)) is amended by striking out "the effectiveness of radon measurement devices and methods,".

SEC. 202. MEDICAL COMMUNITY OUTREACH.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2661 et seq.) is amended by adding the following new section after section 312:

"SEC. 313. MEDICAL COMMUNITY OUTREACH.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator, in cooperation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services, shall develop and implement an outreach program to provide information about radon to the medical community.

"(b) INFORMATION.—(1) The Administrator, in consultation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services and the Surgeon General, shall develop informational material concerning radon tailored to doctors in general practice and in specialties related to lung cancer. Such information shall, at a minimum—

"(A) explain the health effects of exposure to radon;

"(B) explain the association of radon with smoking and other causes of lung cancer;

"(C) identify appropriate steps to determine exposure to radon in the home; and

"(D) identify sources of additional information.

"(2) Not later than one year after the date of the enactment of this section, the Administrator shall transmit the information developed pursuant to this section to—

"(A) doctors in the United States in general practice;

"(B) doctors in specialties related to lung cancer;

"(C) doctors employed by the Federal Government;

"(D) hospital administrators; and

"(E) other physicians and officials determined by the Administrator to be appropriate.

"(c) REPORT.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this section, the Administrator, in consultation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services, shall report to Congress concerning the implementation of this section and recommendations for measures to improve radon information dissemination to the medical community.".

(b) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of contents for title III of such Act (contained in section 1 of such Act) is amended by adding at the end the following new item:

"Sec. 313. Medical community outreach.".

SEC. 203. STRATEGY TO IDENTIFY AND REDUCE EXCEPTIONALLY HIGH INDOOR RADON LEVELS.

(a) NEW SECTION.—Title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act is amended by adding the following new section after section 313:

"SEC. 314. STRATEGY TO IDENTIFY AND REDUCE EXCEPTIONALLY HIGH INDOOR RADON LEVELS.

"(a) DEVELOPMENT OF THE STRATEGY.—Within 9 months of the date of enactment of the Radon Awareness and Disclosure Act of 1992, the Administrator shall, in consultation with other Federal agencies and scientific experts in radon health effects, detection, and mitigation, using relevant and available information, develop and provide to Congress a strategy for identifying areas and buildings within the United States with exceptionally high levels of radon and for reducing such radon levels. The Administrator shall revise the strategy as necessary to incorporate additional relevant information.

"(b) IMPLEMENTATION OF THE STRATEGY.—No later than 9 months after the date of enactment of the Radon Awareness and Disclosure Act of 1992, the Administrator shall begin to implement the provisions of the strategy required under subsection (a).

"(c) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—21 months after the date of enactment of the Radon Awareness and Disclosure Act of 1992, the Administrator shall report to Congress on the results of Federal, State, and local efforts to implement the strategy developed under subsection (a).".

(b) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of contents for such Act (contained in section 1 of such Act) is amended by adding the following new item after the item relating to section 313:

"Sec. 314. Strategy to identify and reduce exceptionally high indoor radon levels.".

SEC. 204. AMENDMENTS TO SECTION 306 OF TSCA.

Section 306 of the Toxic Substances Control Act is amended as follows:

(1) In subsection (e), strike "In the event that State applications for funds exceed the total funds available in a fiscal year, the" and insert "The".

(2) Amend subsection (e) to add the following new paragraph at the end thereof:

"(5) The potential for the activity or project to advance the strategy developed under section 314.".

(3) In subsection (f), strike "in the third year" and insert "thereafter".

SEC. 205. REPORT TO CONGRESS ON RADON TESTING.

(a) EVALUATION.—The Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall evaluate current efforts to promote radon testing and ways to increase the use of radon testing during real estate transactions.

(b) REPORT.—(1) The Administrator shall report to Congress by October 1, 1993, on ways to improve the effectiveness of alternative strategies for promoting such testing, including consideration of each of the following:

(A) Grants to support development of radon testing strategies by States.

(B) Financial incentives.

(C) Testing and disclosure of radon levels during real estate transactions.

(D) Public awareness.

(E) Testing and disclosure of radon levels in the workplace.

(2) In preparing the report, the Administrator shall consult with concerned parties, including public interest groups, health officials, the radon testing industry, realtors, home builders, labor organizations, and States.

TITLE III—PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON RADON AWARENESS

SEC. 301. ESTABLISHMENT.

There is established a commission to be known as the President's Commission on Radon Awareness (hereinafter in this title referred to as the "Commission").

SEC. 302. DUTIES OF COMMISSION.

The Commission shall—

(1) examine public awareness programs in effect on the date of the enactment of this Act which are—

(A) implemented through various segments of mass media; and

(B) intended to increase public awareness of the risks of exposure to radon and the benefits of testing for radon;

(2) act as an administrative and coordinating body for the voluntary donation of resources from—

(A) television, radio, cable communications, and print media;

(B) the health industry;

(C) the advertising industry;

(D) the business sector of the United States; and

(E) radon testing and mitigation organizations; to assist the implementation of new programs and national strategies for dissemination of information intended to increase awareness of the risks of exposure to radon;

(3) encourage media outlets throughout the country to provide information aimed at increasing radon awareness, including public service announcements and advertisements; and

(4) evaluate the accuracy and effectiveness and assist in the update of programs and national strategies formulated with the assistance of the Commission.

SEC. 303. MEMBERSHIP AND OPERATION OF COMMISSION.

(a) NUMBER AND APPOINTMENT.—The Commission shall be composed of 12 members appointed by the President within 30 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, and should include representatives of—

(1) advertising agencies;

(2) television, radio, cable communications, and print media;

(3) the health industry;

(4) other segments of the business sector of the United States;

(5) experts in radon health effects, testing, detection, and mitigation;

(6) the radon testing and remediation industry; and

(7) other Federal agencies, as designated by the President.

(b) TERMS.—

(1) Except as provided in paragraphs (2) and (3), members shall be appointed for terms of 3 years.

(2) Any member appointed to fill a vacancy occurring before the expiration of the term for which such member's predecessor was appointed shall be appointed only for the remainder of such term.

(3) A member may serve after the expiration of the member's term until a successor to the member has taken office.

(c) BASIC PAY AND EXPENSES.—(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), members of the Commission shall serve without pay.

(2) While away from their homes or regular places of business in the performance of services for the Commission, members shall be allowed travel expenses, including a per diem allowance in lieu of subsistence, in the same manner as persons serving intermittently in the Government services are allowed travel expenses under section 5703 of title 5, United States Code.

(d) PROCEDURES, MEETINGS, STAFF, ETC.—The Commission shall establish such rules regarding meetings, including rules regarding quorum, voting and procedure, and regarding staff, experts and consultants as the Commission deems appropriate. The Commission may use the United States mails in the same manner and under the same conditions as other departments and agencies of the United States. The Administrator of General Services shall provide to the Commission on a reimbursable basis such administrative support services as the Commission may request.

(e) REPORT.—The Commission shall transmit to the President and to each House of Congress a report not later than July 31 of each year which contains a detailed statement of the activities of the Commission during the preceding year, including a summary of the number of public service announcements produced by the Commission and published or broadcast.

(f) TERMINATION.—The Commission shall terminate on a date which is 3 years after the date on which members of the Commission are first appointed, unless the President, by Executive order, extends the authority of the Commission.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Washington [Mr. SWIFT] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. MCMILLAN] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington [Mr. SWIFT].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks, and include extraneous material, on the bill presently under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Washington?

There was no objection.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 3258, the Radon Awareness and Disclosure Act, will reauthorize a much needed Federal program designed to protect Americans from radon gas, a naturally occurring, tasteless, odorless, invisible carcinogen that is found in varying degrees in almost every part of the country.

In my own State of Washington, 10 percent of the nearly 2,000 homes tested have been shown to have high levels of radon.

As reported by the Committee on Energy and Commerce, H.R. 3258 reauthorizes the Indoor Radon Abatement Act of 1988, and contains a number of provisions designed to focus the EPA's efforts in those areas of greatest risk.

The amendment changes the extension of authorization of appropriations from 3 years to 2 years.

It also requires EPA to develop and implement a strategy for identifying areas and buildings within the United States with exceptionally high levels of radon and for reducing such radon levels.

The amendment also changes the criteria for the State radon grant program by deleting current statutory language that requires EPA to prioritize grant applications only if the amount of money requested in these applications exceeds the amounts available for distribution through the program.

A new grant program criterion is added that requires EPA to consider the potential for the activity or project described in the application to advance the radon strategy.

The amendment deletes title III of the introduced bill, which required mandatory testing of school buildings for radon.

I would like to commend two of my colleagues on the committee, Mr. MARKEY and Mr. RINALDO, for introducing this legislation. Also, I would like to thank the gentleman from Michigan, the chairman of the full committee, Mr. DINGELL, for his assistance in the expeditious processing of this legislation, along with the gentleman from California, the chairman of the Health and Environment Subcommittee. I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 3258.

□ 1340

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCMILLAN of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this legislation. First, I would like to recognize the efforts of the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. MARKEY] and the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. RINALDO].

I also want to commend the chairman of the Transportation and Hazardous Materials Subcommittee, Mr. SWIFT, and the chairman of the Subcommittee on Health and the Environment, Mr. WAXMAN, for their leadership on this bill.

Finally, the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. RITTER], who has worked on the issue of radon for many years and who has made significant contributions to this legislation.

As the gentleman from Washington has already described, this bill will reauthorize EPA's indoor radon program for the next 2 years. It will also add several new components, including a mandatory certification program for radon testing devices, which the administration has endorsed, and several additional public information programs, including an expanded medical outreach program and a President's Commission on Radon Awareness.

Reauthorization of EPA's radon program is important because there is sufficient scientific evidence that at certain levels, radon gas presents a significant health risk. As EPA Administrator Reilly has said many times, we should be allocating our scarce Federal resources to address the most significant risks first. So I think it is appropriate that we encourage EPA to continue to address the most significant health risks.

The problem is that EPA's public education efforts have not been very effective. After the expenditure of millions of dollars, only about 4 percent of the homes in the United States have been tested for radon. That suggests that there is either a problem with the message or the messenger, or perhaps both.

Several months ago, EPA's Office of Policy, Planning, and Evaluation published in draft form the results of its review of EPA's indoor radon program. The report noted the public's "generally weak response" to EPA's public information program and suggested that EPA "must move beyond a program of nationwide public information efforts to achieve significant risk reduction."

The bill contains a provision that will help EPA to begin to refocus its program requiring EPA to develop a strategy for identifying areas and buildings with "exceptionally high levels" of radon.

This strategy should result in information and programs that the States can use to target their resources to identify and reduce the greatest risks first.

I urge my colleagues to support this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. MARKEY], the author of this legislation.

Mr. MARKEY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time, and I thank him for his leadership on the issue. Without his consummate political ability to be able to move through a piece of legislation of this nature on such short notice, this would not be possible, and as well, the gentleman from California [Mr. WAXMAN], the gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. MCMILLAN], and the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. RITTER] also helped to put together and frame this issue.

The reason that this is such an important issue is that sometimes what we do not know can kill us. Radon is one of those issues, one of those subjects, one of those kinds of hazy types of issues that we all know are important but people just do not know enough about it.

With the exception of cigarettes, radon is the second largest cause of lung cancer in the United States of America, second largest killer cause through lung cancer. It is an issue which results in more people being killed per year than all airplane crashes, all drownings, and all fires in the United States combined.

The legislation which we have here today will begin to put our country on a course which will help to identify and raise the consciousness of this issue so that people in our country can be protected. It is an issue and a bill which has been endorsed by the American Cancer Association, by the American Lung Association, by almost all major medical groups in the United States. It is an issue which I believe deserves the attention and the support of all Members in the body, and I would hope, as a result, that today we would see that as the response.

It briefly does three things. It, first, puts together a performance program for radon testing.

It has an extension of the State grant programs.

And it also creates a President's Commission on Radon Awareness.

It is a very, very good, important, timely piece of health legislation.

My wife is the chief of behavioral medicine at the National Institute of Mental Health. My wife tells me on an ongoing basis the most important thing we can do to prevent disease in this country, since we have cured most of the chronic illnesses that most people die from, our older generations in our country, we are now down to a point where the illnesses which most Americans suffer from are those which are avoidable. This is an avoidable illness which is the second largest cause of lung cancer in America.

With awareness, with education we can end it as a cause of cancer in our country. It seems to me we would not want to pass up that opportunity.

I want to thank everyone that I have mentioned thus far, but, as well, the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. RINALDO], who was my cosponsor of the legislation, and the chairman of the full committee, the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. DINGELL], and, again, the gentleman from Washington [Mr. SWIFT].

Mr. Speaker, what we don't know can sometimes kill us. That is why I rise today in strong support of the Radon Awareness and Disclosure Act.

Radon is an odorless, colorless, radioactive gas that is formed as uranium in the soil underneath house decays. It enters homes through cracks in the foundation or through pipes. When breathed in, radon breaks down in the lungs and releases dangerous radioactivity. Radon is second only to smoking as the leading cause of lung cancer in this country. The National Academy of Sciences and EPA estimate that radon gas causes approximately 14,000 lung cancer deaths in this country every year. Radon kills more people than do airplane crashes, drowning, and fires—added together.

EPA estimates that more than 1 in 10 households in this country are above the EPA radon action level. In my State of Massachusetts 23 percent of homes tested by EPA were above the action level. In Pennsylvania 40 percent of homes tested had levels of radon above the action level. That is 1½ million families in Pennsylvania potentially at risk. Other States have equally alarming numbers: Ohio 29 percent of homes, Minnesota 45 percent, Colorado 41 percent, Kansas 22 percent, New Mexico 22 percent, Indiana 28 percent.

What does a level of radon above the action level mean to the families in these homes? EPA estimates that a home above the action level produces the same lung cancer risks as receiving 200 chest x rays a year. For smokers, the risks are even greater. Testing of all homes has been urged by the National Academy of Sciences, the U.S. Surgeon General, and the American Medical Association. It is also supported by consumer and public health organizations including the Consumer Federation of America, the American Lung Association, the American Public Health Association, the American Cancer Society.

The average home can be tested for radon exposure for about $25, but sadly, less than 5 percent of the Nation's homes have been tested so far. For homes with high levels, it usually costs only a few hundred dollars to remove radon's risk. Testing and mitigating exposure to radon is one of our most cost-effective safety moves. With an ounce of prevention, we have an opportunity to address a serious health hazard that claims thousands of lives each year.

The only reason we are not dealing with this threat is ignorance and apathy. What we do not know, we will not worry about, even if it is killing us. Well, it is time to stop ignoring radon.

Let me briefly describe what the bill will do:

First, it protects consumers from fraudulent or inaccurate radon testing by requiring EPA or State certification of radon testing devices and services. In August 1990, the GAO recommended that EPA's certification program be mandatory since inaccurate testing was resulting in a loss of consumer confidence in the industry, fewer tests, and a waste of consumer resources.

Second, grants for State radon programs are extended for 3 years. The State grant program has been critical in getting information out to the public and creating radon programs tailored to the radon problem in each State while making the best use of EPA's technical expertise.

Third, it establishes a President's Commission on Radon Awareness. The Commission will draw the best talent to develop innovative ways to raise public awareness and increase testing. This easily preventable health threat that claims thousands of lives each year requires our immediate attention and action.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Oregon [Mr. WYDEN].

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. Speaker, I am very pleased that today the House is considering legislation to curb one of the most serious environmental threats facing Americans—radon.

Radon is a radioactive gas that causes lung cancer. Federal environmental and health officials—including the Environmental Protection Agency, the Surgeon General, and the Centers for Disease Control—say that radon is the second leading cause of lung cancer in the United States.

The bill we consider today, H.R. 3258, contains important programs to fight radon. It will reauthorize State grant programs; direct EPA to establish minimum performance criteria for radon inspections; and promote awareness of the risks of radon.

There are other important programs that the Nation needs to confront radon risks. We need to warn families about radon hazards at real estate transactions, when families are the most likely to test for radon levels. We need Federal standards for radon abatement, not just for radon inspections. And we need to reduce radon levels in schools. It is my hope that Congress will soon turn to these important programs.

I want to commend the efforts of my colleagues. Congressmen MARKEY and RINALDO deserve special recognition for their efforts in developing H.R. 3258. Subcommittee Chairmen WAXMAN and SWIFT provided leadership throughout the consideration of this legislation. And Chairman DINGELL has once again demonstrated his commitment to address this important health and environmental issue.

Mr. LENT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 3258, the Radon Awareness and Disclosure Act of 1992. I want to commend the authors of this legislation, the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. MARKEY] and my good friend, the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. RINALDO].

I also want to commend the chairman of the Transportation Subcommittee, Mr. SWIFT, and the chairman of the Health and Environment Subcommittee, Mr. WAXMAN, for their leadership on this issue.

Finally, I want to note the contributions of the gentleman from Pennsylvania, the ranking member of the Transportation Subcommittee, Mr. RITTER. He is perhaps more familiar with the issue of radon than any of us, and he has made very worthwhile contributions to the development of this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill. Thanks to the efforts of those Members I have just mentioned, it is a narrowly crafted bill that reauthorizes EPA's indoor radon program for 2 years. It also contains a provision that requires EPA to develop a strategy for identifying areas and buildings with exceptionally high radon levels. This is an important provision that will encourage EPA to focus its resources on the worst risks first.

EPA's Science Advisory Board has indicated that radon in homes can present a serious risk to public health. This bill will help to address those risks, beginning with the most serious risks first.

I urge my colleagues to support the bill.

Mr. RITTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 3258, the Radon Awareness Disclosure Act of 1992.

Mr. Speaker, this bill is a carefully crafted reauthorization of EPA's indoor radon program. It reauthorizes the program for 2 years, including funding for grants to State radon programs. It also requires EPA to expand its efforts to educate health officials on the health risks from radon, it establishes a President's Commission on Radon Awareness, and it establishes a mandatory program for certifying radon testing devices, as the administration has recommended.

I want to thank the authors of this legislation, Mr. MARKEY and Mr. RINALDO, and the chairmen of the subcommittees which considered the bill, Mr. WAXMAN and Mr. SWIFT, for their help in making this a focused reauthorization bill.

I would also like to take just a moment to discuss a provision that I authored and that I am pleased is included in the bill. This provision is intended to encourage EPA to focus some of its resources on the most serious risks from radon. Some recent reports have shown that there may be between 50,000 and 100,000 homes in the United States with radon levels above 20 picocuries per liter. Twenty picocuries per liter is the exposure limit that the Federal Government has set for mine workers. It seems to me that if EPA's radon program does anything, it should be focusing on these high-risk homes. Unfortunately, EPA's indoor radon program has not made finding these homes a top priority.

The new provision which I authored directs EPA to develop a strategy for identifying those areas and buildings in the United States that have exceptionally high levels of radon. To its credit, EPA has already started to work with other Federal agencies—like the U.S. Geological Survey and the Department of Energy—to develop maps and computer methodologies to identify homes with exceptionally high levels of radon. It is my expectation that these efforts would form the basis for the strategy which EPA is required to develop.

Mr. Speaker, I have always been a strong supporter of the idea of worst first, that is, that we should deal first with those hazards that present the greatest risk to public health. I should point out, however, that we are not radically changing the focus of EPA's radon program. We are building on existing EPA programs. At the same time, EPA will continue to implement its other authorized activities.

While I support this reauthorization of EPA's indoor radon program, I must add that I continue to have concerns with some of EPA's assumptions concerning the risks of exposure to low levels of radon. The risks projected using current data and methods are highly uncertain. Mitigation of low levels of radon may be an unnecessary use of scarce resources.

As EPA administers the Federal indoor radon program, it is important that it continue to work with other Federal agencies and experts to advance our understanding of the risks of exposure to radon in the home. EPA should, in consultation with national experts in radon, update its assessments of risks from radon, seek to reduce the uncertainty in risk estimations, and revise its indoor radon program strategy. This should be done in a timely fashion to reflect the most current scientific understanding of the effects of radon and for achieving the largest reduction of risk without imposing unnecessary financial burdens on property owners.

Again, I commend my colleagues for their work on this legislation and urge its adoption.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MCDERMOTT). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Washington [Mr. SWIFT] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 3258, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended, and the bill, as amended, was passed.

The title of the bill was amended so as to read:

A bill to improve the accuracy of radon testing products and services, to develop a strategy to identify and reduce exceptionally high indoor radon levels, to facilitate the identification, testing, and mitigation of residential dwellings, and to create a commission to provide increased public awareness of radon, and for other purposes.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the Senate bill (S. 792) to reauthorize the Indoor Radon Abatement Act of 1988 and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Washington?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill, as follows:

S. 792

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Indoor Radon Abatement Reauthorization Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. NATIONAL GOALS.

Section 301 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2661) is amended—

(1) in the heading, by striking "NATIONAL GOAL" and inserting NATIONAL GOALS";

(2) by inserting "(a) RADON LEVELS.—" before the first sentence of the section; and

(3) by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(b) TESTING.—It is the goal of the United States that all homes, schools, and Federal buildings be tested for radon.".

SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS.

Section 302 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2662) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraphs:

"(5) The term 'residential dwelling' means—

"(A) a single-family dwelling or a one-family dwelling unit in a structure containing not more than four separate residential dwelling units, each such unit used or occupied, or intended to be used or occupied, wholly or partly, as the home or residence of one or more persons; or

"(B) a single-family or one-family dwelling unit on the subground, ground, or first-floor-above-ground level of a multi-unit residential structure.

"(6) The term 'multi-unit residential structure' means a building containing more than four separate residential dwelling units, each such unit used or occupied, or intended to be used or occupied, wholly or partly, as the home or residence of one or more persons.

"(7) The term 'contract for the sale of residential real property' means any contract or agreement whereby one party agrees to purchase from another party any interest in real property improved by one or more residential dwelling units used or occupied, or intended to be used or occupied, wholly or partly, as the home or residence of one or more persons.

"(8) The term 'applicable mortgage loan' includes any loan (other than temporary financing such as a construction loan) that—

"(A) is secured by a first lien on residential real property (including individual units of condominiums and cooperatives); and

"(B) either—

"(i) is insured, guaranteed, made, or assisted by any agency of the Federal Government, including the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Veterans Administration, and the Farmers Home Administration; or

"(ii) is intended to be sold by an originating mortgage institution to any federally chartered secondary mortgage market institution.

"(9) The term 'originating mortgage institution' means any lender that provides federally insured, guaranteed, made, or assisted mortgage loans, or sells mortgage loans to a federally chartered secondary mortgage market institution.

"(10) The term 'federally chartered secondary mortgage institution' means an institution chartered by Congress that buys mortgages from originating financial institutions and resells them to investors, including the Federal National Mortgage Association, the Government National Mortgage Association, and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Association.

"(11) The term 'Administrator' means the Administrator of the United States Environmental Protection Agency.

"(12) The term 'business day' means any day other than a Saturday, a Sunday, a Federal holiday, a State holiday in the State in which the affected residential property is located, or a State holiday in the State or States in which the buyer or seller resides.

"(13) The term 'person' means an individual, trust, firm, joint stock company, corporation (including a government corporation), partnership, association, State, municipality, commission, political subdivision of a State, or an interstate body.

"(14) The term "direct Federal financial assistance" means assistance in financing a residential dwelling provided by the Federal Housing Administration, Farmers Home Administration, and the Department of Veterans Affairs.

"(15) The term "Federal building" means any building that—

"(A) is used primarily as an office building, school, hospital, or residence,

"(B) owned, leased, or operated by any Federal agency, and

"(C) is occupied by the Library of Congress, is part of the White House, or is the residence of the Vice President, and

"(D) is included in the definition of 'Capitol Buildings' under section 16(a) of the Act entitled 'An Act to define the area of the United States Capitol Grounds, to regulate the use thereof, and for other purposes', approved July 31, 1946 (40 U.S.C. 193m).".

SEC. 4. PRIORITY RADON AREAS.

Title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2661 et seq.) is amended—

(1) by redesignating sections 303 through 311 as sections 304 through 312, respectively; and

(2) by inserting after section 302 the following new section:

"SEC. 303. PRIORITY RADON AREAS.

"(a) DESIGNATION OF AREAS.—The Administrator shall, designate as expeditiously as possible but no later than January 1, 1992, areas as priority radon areas, and revise, as appropriate thereafter, the designations.

"(b) STANDARD FOR DESIGNATION.—The Administrator shall designate an area as a priority radon area in any case where the Administrator determines that there is a reasonable likelihood that the average indoor radon level in the area is likely to exceed the national average indoor radon level by more than a de minimis amount.

"(c) FACTORS.—In designating priority radon areas, the Administrator shall consider the most current available information at the time of such designation, including—

"(1) the national assessment of radon conducted pursuant to section 118(k) of the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act of 1986 (42 U.S.C. 7401 note);

"(2) surveys of school buildings conducted pursuant to section 308;

"(3) surveys of Federal buildings conducted pursuant to section 310;

"(4) surveys of work places conducted pursuant to section 318; and

"(5) any other information, including other radon measurements and geological data, as the Administrator determines to be appropriate.".

SEC. 5. CITIZEN'S GUIDE.

(a) SCHEDULE.—Section 304(a) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended—

(1) by striking "June 1, 1989," and inserting "January 1, 1992,"; and

(2) by inserting ", in consultation with the Director of the Centers for Disease Control of the Department of Health and Human Services," after "Administrator" in the last sentence of the subsection.

(b) ACTION LEVELS.—Section 304(b)(1) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended—

(1) by inserting "(A)" after "ACTION LEVELS.—"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new subparagraphs:

"(B) The citizen's guide shall state the national goals established in this title, and shall estimate the average national ambient outdoor radon level. The guide shall also indicate the health benefits of reducing indoor radon levels to ambient outdoor levels.

"(C) The citizen's guide shall establish a target action point indicating a level of indoor radon that is, in the judgment of the Administrator, as close to the national ambient outdoor radon level as can be achieved consistently in existing, single family homes through the application of readily available and generally affordable radon mitigation technologies and practices.".

(c) INFORMATION.—Section 304(b)(2) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

"(F) The location of priority radon areas and the likelihood of radon levels above the target action point within and outside of priority radon areas.".

SEC. 6. MODEL CONSTRUCTION STANDARDS.

(a) TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS.—(1) Section 305 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended—

(A) by inserting "(a) STANDARDS.—" before the first sentence of the section;

(B) by inserting "and periodically update" after develop";

(C) by striking the second sentence of the section and inserting the following new subsection:

"(b) CONSULTATION.—In developing and updating standards and techniques pursuant to subsection (a), the Administrator shall consult with—

"(1) the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development;

"(2) organizations that are involved in establishing national building construction standards and techniques; and

"(3) national organizations that represent homebuilders and State and local housing agencies (including public housing agencies).";

(D) by inserting "(c) GEOGRAPHIC DIFFERENCES.—(1)" before the fourth sentence of the section;

(E) by striking the fifth sentence of the section; and

(F) by inserting "(d) IMPLEMENTATION.—" before the sixth sentence of the section.

(2) Section 305 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(e) SCHEDULE.—The Administrator shall publish final radon control standards and techniques for residential dwellings and make such techniques available to the public and the building industry by not later than January 1, 1992, and for multiunit residential structures and schools by not later than January 1, 1994.".

(b) OBJECTIVES.—Section 305 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by adding at the end of subsection (c) (as designated by subsection (a)(1) of this section) the following new paragraph:

"(2)(A) Model standards and techniques shall indicate a range of effective radon control measures, practices, and techniques, that apply to original construction of a wide variety of building types, locations, conditions, and circumstances, and shall indicate the general range of radon control achievable by such measures individually and in combination with other measures.

"(B) At a minimum, the Administrator shall establish minimum radon reduction measures, practices, and techniques for new construction for the purpose of determining compliance with this section. Such radon standards shall be designed to require the use of reasonably available and economically achievable techniques, and to achieve indoor radon levels in homes less than the target action point established pursuant to section 304(b)(1)(C) where possible by using these techniques.".

(c) FEDERALLY ASSISTED HOUSING.—Section 305 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act, and as amended by subsection (a)(2) of this section) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(f) FEDERALLY ASSISTED HOUSING.—The appropriate Federal official shall require that any residential dwelling or multiunit residential structure constructed more than two years after the date of the establishment of new construction standards pursuant to this section or the date of enactment of this section, whichever is later, in an area designated by the Administrator as a priority radon area or more than two years after the designation of an area as a priority radon area, whichever is later, shall be constructed in accordance with the radon control standards established pursuant to subsection (c)(2)(B), before providing any direct Federal financial assistance.".

(d) DESIGN AWARDS AND CERTIFICATION.—Section 305 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act, and as amended by subsection (c) of this section) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(g) DESIGN AWARDS.—(1) The Administrator shall establish a radon design awards program.

"(2) The radon design awards program shall provide for awards for the best residential design incorporating radon control or mitigation standards in categories of residential design to be determined by the Administrator.".

(e) RELATIONSHIP TO STATE AND LOCAL STANDARDS.—Section 305 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act, and as amended by subsection (d) of this section) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(h) RELATIONSHIP TO STATE AND LOCAL STANDARDS.—The standards published pursuant to this section shall not preempt the use of any State or local building standard if the State or local standard is equally effective in reducing radon levels as the standards published pursuant to this section.".

SEC. 7. TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.

(a) ACTIVITIES.—Section 306(a) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraphs:

"(9) Development of a model State program to disseminate radon information to State and local tenant organizations.

"(10) Assistance to State agencies and other organizations concerning the assessment and mitigation of radon in public water supplies.

"(11) Assistance to State agencies and other organizations to facilitate prompt adoption and effective enforcement of new construction standards for reducing radon levels developed pursuant to section 305.

"(12) Development of testing guidelines for multiunit residential structures and multistory buildings not later than six months after the date of enactment of this paragraph and development of mitigation guidelines not later than three years after the date of enactment of this paragraph.

"(13) Issuance of guidance to States on appropriate elements of State radon measurement and mitigation proficiency programs.".

(b) PROFICIENCY TESTING.—(1) Section 306(a)(2) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by striking "voluntary".

(2) Section 306(e) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended—

(A) by redesignating paragraph (2) as paragraph (2)(A); and

(B) by adding after paragraph (2)(A), as so redesignated, the following new subparagraphs:

"(B)(i) Except as otherwise provided in clause (ii), for the purposes of this paragraph, the term 'small business' means a corporation, partnership, or unincorporated business that—

"(I) has 150 or fewer employees; and

"(II) for the 3-year period preceding the date of the assessment, has an average annual gross revenue from radon measurement and mitigation activities in an amount that does not exceed $40,000,000.

"(ii) If, after consultation with the Small Business Administration, the Administrator determines that a modification of the definition of 'small business' under clause (i) is appropriate to characterize small businesses associated with radon measurement and mitigation, the Administrator shall, by regulation, modify the definition in such manner as the Administrator determines to be appropriate.

"(C) The Administrator shall consider reductions of such charges for small businesses pursuant to the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.).

"(D) No charges may be imposed on State and local governments. In the case of a State which is administering a radon proficiency program pursuant to section 314(c), the State may impose charges consistent with charges which would have been imposed by the Administrator. Any amounts collected by a State as charges under this paragraph may be used as part of the non-Federal share of a grant awarded pursuant to section 307 of this title.".

SEC. 8. GRANT ASSISTANCE.

(a) APPLICATION.—Section 307(b) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(6) A description of the State's efforts to develop a mandatory radon proficiency program consistent with sections 306(a)(2) and 314.".

(b) ELIGIBLE ACTIVITIES.—Section 307(c) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraphs:

"(11) Technical assistance to public water supply systems concerning mitigation of radon in public water supplies, and public education and information activities to assist homeowners in the assessment and mitigation of radon in private drinking water supplies.

"(12) Activities to adopt model new construction standards for reducing radon levels developed pursuant to section 305 to the State and assure the implementation of such standards in the State.

"(13) Technical and financial assistance to non-profit public interest groups to encourage radon testing and mitigation at local levels.

"(14) Targeting outreach and technical assistance activities to licensed child care facilities in priority radon areas.

"(15) Notwithstanding the limitation in subsection (i)(4), payment, in the form of grants or loans, of costs of implementing remediation measures necessary to prevent levels of radon in school buildings above the target action point identified pursuant to section 304(b)(1)(C): Provided, That such payments are made in consideration of the financial need of the applicant.

"(16) Payment of costs of conducting radon tests required pursuant to section 308(d): Provided, That such payments shall be made only in the case of a local educational agency that received assistance payment pursuant to paragraph (15).

"(17) Educational programs for members of the housing industry concerning the model construction standards and techniques published pursuant to section 305.

"(18) Financial assistance to conduct surveys to improve the precision of priority radon areas.".

(c) PREFERENCE TO CERTAIN STATES.—Section 307(d) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended—

(1) by striking "1991" and inserting "1993"; and

(2) by inserting before the period ", or have adopted equally effective standards".

(d) FEDERAL SHARE.—Section 307(f) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by striking "in the third year" and inserting "in each succeeding year".

(e) ASSISTANCE TO LOCAL GOVERNMENTS.—Section 307(g) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended—

(1) by striking "and (6)" and inserting "(6), (11), (12), (14), (15), and (16),"; and

(2) by inserting "(1)" after "GOVERNMENTS.—"; and

(3) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(2) Any remediation plans for reducing radon in school buildings implemented pursuant to this section shall be reviewed for consistency with EPA guidance by the school officials responsible for authorizing these types of structural changes.".

(f) INFORMATION.—Section 307(h) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(4) Any State receiving funds under this section shall investigate consumer complaints about radon services that violate the Environmental Protection Agency or State radon proficiency program. An appropriate official of the State shall advise the Administrator of any person who violates the requirements of section 314.".

(g) AUTHORIZATION.—Section 307(j) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by striking paragraph (5).

SEC. 9. RADON IN SCHOOLS.

Section 308 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsections:

"(c) GUIDELINES.—(1) Not later than one year after the date of enactment of this subsection, the Administrator shall publish guidelines on testing for and remediating radon in school buildings.

"(2) After the publication of guidelines pursuant to this subsection, testing and remediation carried out pursuant to this section shall be conducted in a manner consistent with such guidelines.

"(3) Any radon testing or remediation of school buildings conducted prior to the publication of guidelines pursuant to this subsection shall be considered to meet the requirements of this section if the testing or remediation is conducted in a manner consistent with any interim guidance published by the Administrator or by a State (in any case where the Administrator determines that such guidelines are substantially consistent with the guidelines published under this subsection).

"(d) REQUIREMENT FOR RADON TESTING.—(1) Not later than two years after the designation by the Administrator of an area as a priority radon area, each local educational agency located in whole or in part in such designated area shall conduct tests for radon in each school building owned or operated by the local educational agency.

"(2) The Administrator may extend the schedule for testing for radon pursuant to this subsection to the date two years from the date of publication of testing guidelines pursuant to subsection (c).

"(3) The results of any tests conducted pursuant to this section by a local educational agency shall be available for public review in the administrative offices of the local educational agency during normal business hours. The local educational agency shall notify parent, teacher, and employee organizations of such results and shall send the results to the Administrator and the agency of the State that implements radon programs.

"(4) Any radon testing conducted pursuant to this section shall be supervised by a person who has received instruction pursuant to an Environmental Protection Agency or equivalent State approved program, as determined by the Administrator, and shall use radon measurement devices and methods approved by the radon proficiency program established pursuant to sections 306(a)(2) and 314.".

SEC. 10. REGIONAL RADON TRAINING CENTERS.

Section 309(b) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: "The regional radon training centers are authorized to provide training to State and local building code officials, contractors, and others in the building community, on the model construction standards and techniques published pursuant to section 305.".

SEC. 11. FEDERAL BUILDINGS.

Section 310 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(g) RADON ASSESSMENT AND MITIGATION PLAN.—(1) Not later than January 1, 1994, the Administrator shall submit to Congress a plan describing activities to be undertaken by appropriate Federal agencies to assess and mitigate radon in Federal buildings.

"(2) The Administrator shall consult with the heads of affected Federal agencies in the development of the plan required pursuant to this subsection.

"(3) The plan required pursuant to this subsection shall, at a minimum—

"(A) include a list of each Federal building and an indication of the results of any radon tests for such buildings conducted to date;

"(B) specify those Federal buildings for which assessment and mitigation will be undertaken on an expedited basis based on consideration of—

"(i) the radon levels in the buildings;

"(ii) the number of people exposed to high radon levels; and

"(iii) the susceptibility of the building to mitigation.

"(C) specify the schedule for mitigation in each building in which radon levels exceed the target action level specified in section 303(b)(1)(C); and

"(D) specify the Federal agency responsible for the building, the estimated costs of mitigation, and the source of funds for assessment and mitigation actions.

"(4) At a minimum, each Federal agency that is responsible for Federal buildings shall assure that—

"(A) all schools and residences are assessed to determine radon levels by not later than January 1, 1996;

"(B) all other Federal buildings are assessed to determine radon levels by not later than January 1, 1998; and

"(C) in the case of a Federal building with radon levels above the target action point established by the Administrator pursuant to section 304(b)(1)(C), measures designed to achieve radon levels at or below the target action point are implemented by not later than two years after the applicable deadline for assessment specified in this paragraph.

"(5) In implementing radon assessment and mitigation activities, Federal agencies shall employ as contractors private firms certified by the Administrator as proficient pursuant to section 306(a)(2).

"(6) Not later than two years after the submittal of the plan required pursuant to this subsection, the Administrator shall submit to Congress a report on actions taken to implement the plan.".

SEC. 12. RADON INFORMATION.

Title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2661 et seq.) (as amended by section 4 of this Act) is further amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 313. RADON-RELATED INFORMATION.

"(a) INFORMATION DOCUMENT.—(1) Not later than 180 days following the date of enactment of this section, the Administrator, in consultation with the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, national organizations that represent State and local housing agencies (including public housing agencies), real estate groups and real estate financial institutions, citizen groups, and other groups that the Administrator determines to be appropriate, shall develop a written document containing radon-related information.

"(2) The document shall include, at a minimum—

"(A) information indicating the health risk associated with different levels of radon exposure consistent with the health information in the citizen's guide;

"(B) information regarding the advisability of undertaking measures to mitigate dangerous levels of radon;

"(C) information regarding appropriate Federal and State agencies that can provide further information on the health risk from radon, and a list of firms or other entities approved by the Environmental Protection Agency for purposes of radon detection and mitigation; and

"(D) recommended Environmental Protection Agency radon testing procedures that will provide quality and reliable measurements in conjunction with a real estate transaction.

"(3) A copy of such document shall be provided by every originating mortgage institution to each person from whom it receives or for whom it prepares a written application for an applicable mortgage loan. Such document shall be made available not later than five business days after such application is received or prepared.

"(4) No federally chartered secondary mortgage institution may purchase any mortgage loan originating twelve or more months after the date of enactment of this section unless such secondary mortgage institution requires, by contract or otherwise, that the originating mortgage institution shall comply with the radon information distribution requirements imposed under this section, in originating mortgages to be purchased by such secondary mortgage market institution.

"(5) For purposes of this section, a document may be printed and distributed by each originating mortgage institution if the form and content of the document meet the requirements of this section and the document is approved by the Administrator.

"(b) VALIDITY OF CONTRACTS AND LIENS.—Nothing in this section shall affect the validity or enforceability of any sale or contract for the sale of residential real property or any loan, loan agreement, mortgage, or lien made or arising in connection with an applicable mortgage loan.

"(c) RELATIONSHIP TO OTHER LAWS.—Nothing in this section shall annul, alter, affect, or exempt any person subject to this section from complying with the laws of any State with respect to the provision of radon-related information, except to the extent that the Administrator determines that any such law is inconsistent with this section, and then only to the extent of the inconsistency.".

SEC. 13. MANDATORY RADON PROFICIENCY PROGRAM.

Title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2661 et seq.) (as amended by section 12 of this Act) is further amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 314. MANDATORY RADON PROFICIENCY PROGRAM.

"(a) MANDATORY PARTICIPATION.—Effective two years after the date of the enactment of this section, no person shall offer radon measurement devices or radon measurement or mitigation services to the public unless such person has successfully completed the Environmental Protection Agency's radon proficiency program, or appropriate portions thereof.

"(b) STATUTORY CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to governmental units or nonprofit organizations that provide a radon service for their own use and do not provide that service for commercial purposes.

"(c) DELEGATION TO STATES.—(1) The Administrator shall administer the mandatory proficiency program in a manner consistent with the Guidance to States on Radon Certification of the Enviromental Protection Agency.

"(2) The Administrator is authorized to enter into any agreement or other arrangement with any State for the purpose of delegating its radon proficiency program, including enforcement provisions, or any other part thereof, to such State, provided that a State program is consistent with the Federal program.

"(d) PROHIBITED ACTS.—It shall be unlawful for any person to—

"(1) fail or refuse to comply with this section, or any rule or regulation promulgated or order issued pursuant to this section; or

"(2) fail or refuse to—

"(A) establish or maintain records as required by the Administrator or by a State where the Administrator has entered into an agreement or other arrangement under subsection (c);

"(B) submit reports, notices, or other information, as required by the Administrator or by a State where the Administrator has entered into an agreement or other arrangement under subsection (c);

"(C) permit entry or inspection by the Administrator, or by a State where the Administrator has entered into an agreement or other arrangement under subsection (c); or

"(D) permit access to or copying of records by a State where the Administrator has entered into an agreement or other arrangement under subsection (c).".

SEC. 14. MEDICAL COMMUNITY OUTREACH.

Title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2661 et seq.) (as amended by section 13 of this Act) is further amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 315. MEDICAL COMMUNITY OUTREACH.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator, in cooperation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services, shall develop and implement an outreach program to provide information about radon to the medical community.

"(b) INFORMATION.—(1) The Administrator, in consultation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Surgeon General, and the Director of the Centers for Disease Control shall develop informational material concerning radon tailored to doctors in general practice and in specialties related to lung cancer. Such information shall, at a minimum—

"(A) explain the health threats posed by exposure to radon and include a summary of scientific evidence that demonstrates the human health effects of exposure to radon;

"(B) explain the association of radon with smoking and other causes of lung cancer;

"(C) identify appropriate steps to take to determine exposure to radon in the home; and

"(D) identify sources of additional information.

"(2) Not later than one year after the date of enactment of this section, the Administrator shall transmit the information developed pursuant to this section to—

"(A) doctors in the United States in general practice;

"(B) doctors in specialties related to lung cancer;

"(C) all doctors employed by the Federal Government;

"(D) all hospital administrators; and

"(E) other physicians and officials determined by the Administrator to be appropriate.

"(c) REPORT.—Not later than two years after the date of enactment of this section, the Administrator, in consultation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services, shall report to Congress concerning the implementation of this section and recommendations for measures to improve radon information dissemination to the medical community.".

SEC. 15. FEDERAL HOUSING.

Title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2661 et seq.) (as amended by section 14 of this Act) is further amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 316. FEDERALLY OWNED AND ASSISTED HOMES, SCHOOLS, AND BUILDINGS.

"(a) FEDERALLY FUNDED CONSTRUCTION.—Not later than six months after the publication of priority radon areas required by section 303, or the publication of model construction standards required by section 305, whichever is later, the head of each Federal agency shall adopt such procedures as may be necessary to assure that any new Federal building or that any school constructed with Federal financial assistance, in a priority radon area, shall conform to the model construction standards required by section 305.

"(b) FEDERALLY ASSISTED HOUSING.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, in cooperation with the Administrator, shall, not later than one year after the date of enactment of this Act, disseminate in priority radon areas information on the health threats posed by radon, proper methods of testing for radon, and techniques for mitigating elevated radon levels to public housing agencies and Indian housing authorities, as defined in paragraphs (6) and (11), respectively, of section 3(b) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437a(b)), and to owners and managers of other housing assisted under other provisions of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437 et seq.) and the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1701 et seq.).

"(c) RESEARCH.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall undertake a program of radon research, consisting of research on—

"(1) radon distribution and mitigation within multiunit residential structures in conjunction with the Administrator;

"(2) landlord liability;

"(3) predicting radon hazards in new multiunit residential structures on particular lands; and

"(4) such other research as both the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development and the Administrator consider appropriate.".

SEC. 16. NATIONAL RADON EDUCATIONAL EFFORTS.

Title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2661 et seq.) (as amended by section 15 of this Act) is further amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 317. NATIONAL RADON EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN.

"The Administrator shall establish a national education campaign and is authorized to enter into cooperative agreements to increase public awareness about radon health risks and motivate public action to reduce radon levels, including the use of funds for the purchase and production of public educational materials.".

SEC. 17. RADON IN WORK PLACES.

Title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2661 et seq.) (as amended by section 16 of this Act) is further amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 318. RADON IN WORK PLACES.

"(a) STUDY OF RADON IN WORK PLACES.—

"(1) AUTHORITY.—The Director of the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health of the Department of Health and Human Services, in consultation with the Administrator, shall conduct a study for the purpose of determining the extent of radon contamination in the Nation's work places.

"(2) SURVEY.—In conducting such study, the Director of the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health of the Department of Health and Human Services and the Administrator shall be jointly responsible for designing a survey that, when completed, allows Congress to characterize the extent of radon contamination in work places. The survey shall include testing from a representative sample of work places in each priority radon area and shall include additional testing, to the extent resources are available for such testing.

"(3) REPORT.—Not later than two years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Director of the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health of the Department of Health and Human Services, in consultation with the Administrator, shall submit a report setting forth the results of the study conducted pursuant to this section.

"(b) AUTHORIZATION.—For the purpose of carrying out this section there are authorized to be appropriated such sums, not to exceed $2,000,000, as may be necessary.".

SEC. 18. PREEMPTION.

Title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2661 et seq.) (as amended by section 17 of this Act) is further amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 319. PREEMPTION.

"(a) CONSTRUCTION OF PROVISIONS AS NOT PREEMPTING OTHER LAWS.—Nothing in this title shall be construed, interpreted, or applied to preempt, displace, or supplant any other Federal or State law, whether statutory or common.

"(b) AWARD OF COSTS AND DAMAGE AWARDS.—Nothing in this title shall be construed or interpreted to preclude any court from awarding costs and damages associated with the testing or mitigation of radon contamination, or a portion of such costs, at any time.

"(c) CONSTRUCTION OF PROVISIONS AS NOT PROHIBITING MORE STRINGENT STATE REQUIREMENTS.—Nothing in this title shall be construed or interpreted as preempting a State, with respect to radon within such State, from establishing any liability or more stringent requirement that is equal to or more stringent than those included in this title.

"(d) CREATION OF CAUSE OF ACTION.—Nothing in this title creates a cause of action or in any other way increases or diminishes the liability of any person under any other law.

"(e) EFFECT OF PROVISIONS IN CIVIL ACTIONS FOR DAMAGES.—It is not the intent of Congress that this subsection, or rules, regulations, or orders issued pursuant to this subsection, be interpreted as influencing, in either the plaintiff's or defendant's favor, the disposition of any civil action for damages relating to radon. This subsection does not affect the authority of any court to make a determination in any adjudicatory proceedings under applicable State law with respect to the admission into evidence or any other use of this title or rules, regulations, or orders issued pursuant to this title.".

SEC. 19. ENFORCEMENT.

Title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2661 et seq.) (as amended by section 18 of this Act) is further amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 320. ENFORCEMENT.

"(a) CIVIL PENALTIES.—(1) Any person violating section 313 or 314 or who provides false information concerning compliance with section 305(f) to an appropriate Federal official, shall be liable to the United States for a civil penalty in an amount not to exceed $25,000 for each such violation.

"(2)(A) A civil penalty under this section shall be assessed by the Administrator by an order made on the record after opportunity for a hearing in accordance with section 554 of title 5, United States Code. Before issuing such an order, the Administrator shall give written notice to the person to be assessed a civil penalty under such order and provide such person an opportunity to request, not later than 15 days after the date the notice is received by such person, a hearing on the order.

"(B) In determining the amount of a civil penalty, the Administrator may take into account the nature, circumstances, extent, and gravity of the violation or violations and, with respect to the violator, ability to pay, effect on ability to continue to do business, any history of prior such violations, the degree of culpability, and such other matters as justice may require.

"(C) The Administrator may compromise, modify, remit, with or without conditions, any civil penalty that may be imposed under this subsection. The amount of such penalty, when finally determined, or the amount agreed upon in compromise, may be deducted from any sums owing by the United States to the firm charged.

"(3) Any person who requested a hearing under this section respecting the assessment of a civil penalty and who is aggrieved by an order assessing a civil penalty may file a petition for judicial review of such order with the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit or for any other circuit in which such person resides or transacts business. Such a petition may only be filed within the 30-day period beginning on the date the order making such assessment was issued.

"(4) If any person fails to pay an assessment of a civil penalty—

"(A) after the order making the assessment has become a final order and if such person does not file a petition for judicial review of the order in accordance with paragraph (3); or

"(B) after a court in an action brought under paragraph (3) has entered a final judgment in favor of the Administrator, the Attorney General shall recover the amount assessed (plus interest at currently prevailing rates from the date of the expiration of the 30-day period referred to in paragraph (3) or the date of such final judgment, as the case may be) in an action brought in any appropriate district court of the United States. In such an action, the validity, amount, and appropriateness of such penalty shall not be subject to review.

"(b) COMPLIANCE ORDERS.—(1) If the Administrator finds on the basis of information made available, that any person, firm, or organization is in violation of this Act, the Administrator shall proceed under the authority under subsection (2) of this section, or notify the person, firm, or organization in which the violation occurred. If, beyond the thirtieth day after the notification of the Administrator, the State has not commenced appropriate enforcement action, the Administrator may issue an order requiring compliance or such other relief as the Administrator may find appropriate, or bring civil action in accordance with paragraph (4) of this subsection.

"(2) If the Administrator finds, on the basis of information made available, that any person, firm, or organization is in violation of requirements of the Act, the Administrator may issue an order requiring such person, firm, or organization to comply with such requirement or such other relief as the Administrator may find appropriate, or shall bring civil action in accordance with paragraph (4) of this subsection.

"(3) Any order issued under this subsection shall be by personal service, shall state with reasonable specificity the nature of the violation, and shall specify a time for compliance not to exceed thirty days. Such orders shall take into account the seriousness of the violation and any good faith efforts to comply with applicable requirements.

"(4) The Administrator is authorized to commence a civil action for appropriate relief, including a permanent or temporary injunction, of any violation for which he is authorized to issue a compliance order under paragraph (1) of this subsection. Any action under this subsection may be brought in the district court of the United States in the district in which the defendant is located or resides or is doing business, and such court shall have jurisdiction to restrain the violation and require compliance. Notice of the commencement of such action shall be given immediately to the appropriate State.".

SEC. 20. CITIZEN SUITS.

Title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2661 et seq.) (as amended by section 19 of this Act) is further amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 321. CITIZEN SUITS.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subsection (b), any person may commence a civil action—

"(1) against the United States in any case where the United States is alleged to be in violation of section 305(f), 310, or 316, or any rule promulgated thereunder, to restrain such violation;

"(2) against any person who is alleged to be in violation of section 308, 313, or 314, or any rule promulgated thereunder, to restrain such violation; or

"(3) against the Administrator to compel the Administrator to perform any act or duty under this Act that is not discretionary.

Any civil action under paragraph (1) shall be brought in the United States district court for the district in which the alleged violation occurred or in which the defendant resides or in which the defendant's principal place of business is located. Any action brought under paragraph (2) shall be brought in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, or the United States district court for the judicial district in which the plaintiff is domiciled. The district courts of the United States shall have jurisdiction over suits brought under this section, without regard to the amount in controversy or the citizenship of the parties. In any civil action under this subsection, process may be served on a defendant in any judicial district in which the defendant resides or may be found and subpoenas for witnesses may be served in any judicial district.

"(b) LIMITATION.—No civil action may be commenced—

"(1) under subsection (a)(1) to restrain a violation of this Act, or rule or order under this Act—

"(A) before the expiration of sixty days after the plaintiff has given notice of such violation—

"(i) to the Administrator; and

"(ii) to the person who is alleged to have committed such violation; or

"(B) if the Administrator has commenced and is diligently prosecuting a proceeding to require compliance with this Act or with such rule or order, or if the Attorney General has commenced and is diligently prosecuting a civil action in a court of the United States to require compliance with this Act or with such rule or order, but if such proceeding or civil action is commenced after the giving of notice, any person giving such notice may intervene as a matter of right in such proceeding or action; or

"(2) under subsection (a)(2) before the expiration of sixty days after the plaintiff has given notice to the Administrator of the alleged failure of the Administrator to perform an act or duty that is the basis for such action.

Notice under this subsection shall be given in such manner as the Administrator shall prescribe by rule.

"(c) IN GENERAL.—(1) In any action under this section, the Administrator, if not a party, may intervene as a matter of right.

"(2) The court, in issuing any final order in any action brought pursuant to subsection (a), may award costs of suit and reasonable fees for attorneys and expert witnesses if the court determines that such an award is appropriate. Any court, in issuing its decision in an action brought to review such an order, may award costs of suit and reasonable fees for attorneys if the court determines that such an award is appropriate.

"(3) Nothing in this section shall restrict any right that any person (or class of persons) may have under any statute or common law to seek enforcement of this Act, or any rule or order under this Act, or to seek any other relief.

"(d) CONSOLIDATION.—When two or more civil actions brought under subsection (a) involving the same defendant and the same issues or violations are pending in two or more judicial districts, such pending actions, upon application of such defendants to such actions that is made to a court in which any such action is brought, may, if such court in its discretion so decides, be consolidated for trial by order (issued after giving all parties reasonable notice and opportunity to be heard) of such court and tried in—

"(1) a district that is selected by such defendant and in which one of such actions is pending;

"(2) a district that is agreed upon by stipulation between all the parties to such actions and in which one of such actions is pending; or

"(3) a district that is selected by the court and in which one of such actions is pending.

The court issuing such an order shall give prompt notification of the order to the other courts in which the civil actions consolidated under the order are pending.".

SEC. 21. AUTHORIZATIONS OF APPROPRIATIONS.

(a) TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.—Section 306(f) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by striking "and 1991." and inserting "1991, 1992, 1993, 1994, and 1995.".

(b) GRANT ASSISTANCE.—Section 307(j)(1) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by inserting before the period ", and $15,000,000 for each of fiscal years 1992, 1993, 1994, and 1995".

(c) SCHOOL REMEDIATION.—Section 307(j) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended—

(1) by striking paragraph (5); and

(2) by adding at the end the following new paragraphs:

"(5) Of funds appropriated pursuant to this subsection for fiscal years 1992, 1993, 1994, and 1995, not more than one-third shall be used to implement radon remediation measures for local educational agencies pursuant to paragraphs (15) and (16) of subsection (c).

"(6) Of funds appropriated pursuant to this subsection for fiscal years 1992, 1993, 1994, and 1995, the Administrator may reserve an amount up to 2 percent or $200,000, whichever is the greater, for the purposes of making grants to local educational agencies for the implementation of measures to reduce radon levels: Provided, That any such local educational agency is prohibited by State law from receiving grant assistance from the State: Provided further, That the local educational agency provides not less than 50 percent of the cost of implementing such measures from non-Federal sources.".

(d) REGIONAL TRAINING CENTERS.—Section 309(f) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (as redesignated by section 4 of this Act) is amended by inserting before the period ", and $1,500,000 for each of fiscal years 1992, 1993, 1994, and 1995".

SEC. 22. TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS.

(a) TABLE OF CONTENTS.—The table of contents in section 1 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2601 note) is amended—

(1) by redesignating the items relating to sections 303 through 311 as 304 through 312, respectively;

(2) by inserting after the item relating to section 302 the following new item:

"Sec. 303. Priority radon areas.";

and

(3) by adding at the end the following new items:

"Sec. 313. Radon-related information.
"Sec. 314. Mandatory radon proficiency program.
"Sec. 315. Medical community outreach.
"Sec. 316. Federally owned and assisted homes, schools, and buildings.
"Sec. 317. National radon educational campaign.
"Sec. 318. Radon in work places.
"Sec. 319. Preemption.
"Sec. 320. Enforcement.
"Sec. 321. Citizens suits.
"Sec. 322. Periodic Reassessment of Health Risks.".

(b) RADON MITIGATION DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM.—Section 118(k)(2) of the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act of 1986 (42 U.S.C. 7401 note) is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (A)—

(A) by inserting "develop and" after "to"; and

(B) by adding at the end of the subparagraph the following new sentence: "The demonstration program shall include the development and evaluation of innovative low-cost techniques to reduce radon concentrations in existing structures, including structures with low to moderate radon levels, and in new structures, and the development and demonstration of radon mitigation technology for multistory buildings.".

(2) by striking subparagraph (B); and

(3) by redesignating subparagraph (C) as subparagraph (B).

SEC. 23. REPORT TO CONGRESS ON PROMOTING RADON TESTING.

(a) EVALUATION.—The Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, in consultation with the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, the Secretary of Agriculture, and the Secretary of Veterans Affairs, shall evaluate existing efforts to promote radon testing in the Nation's homes and ways to increase radon testing.

(b) REPORT.—(1) The Administer shall report to Congress by October 1, 1993, on the effectiveness of alternative strategies to promote radon testing. The strategies shall include—

(A) grants to support the development of radon testing strategies by States;

(B) financial incentives to homeowners;

(C) testing and disclosure of radon levels during real estate marketing;

(D) public education programs;

(E) distributing radon information during real estate marketing; and

(F) distributing radon information with utility bills.

(2) In preparing the report, the Administrator shall consult with concerned parties including public interest groups, health officials, radon testing industries, realtors, home builders, utilities and the States.

SEC. 24. PERIODIC REASSESSMENT OF HEALTH RISKS.

Title III of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2661 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new section:

"SEC. 322. PERIODIC REASSESSMENT OF HEALTH RISKS.

The Administrator, in consultation with the heads of the National Academy of Sciences and the Centers for Disease Control, shall conduct a program to reassess, on a periodic basis, the human health risks associated with radon exposure.".

SEC. 25. RADIONUCLIDES, PRIMARY DRINKING WATER REGULATIONS.

Prior to promulgating any national primary drinking water regulation for radionuclides under the Safe Drinking Water Act, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall conduct a multimedia risk assessment of radon considering: (a) the relative risk of adverse human health effects associated with various pathways of exposure to radon; (b) the relative costs of controlling or mitigating exposure to radon from each pathway; and (c) the relative costs for radon control or mitigation experienced by households, communities and other entities including the costs experienced by small communities as the result of such regulation. Such an evaluation shall consider the risks posed by the treatment or disposal of any wastes produced by water treatment. Upon completion of this risk assessment, the Administrator shall report his findings to the Senate Committee on Environment and Public Works and the House Committee on Energy and Commerce. Nothing in this section shall modify or be the basis for an extension of any statutory or court-ordered deadline for the promulgation of such regulation.

MOTION OFFERED BY MR. SWIFT

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I offer a motion.

The Clerk read as follows:

Mr. SWIFT moves to strike out all after the enacting clause of the Senate bill, S. 792, and to insert in lieu thereof the text of H.R. 3258, as passed by the House.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate bill was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed.

The title of the Senate bill was amended so as to read:

A bill to improve the accuracy of radon testing products and services, to develop a strategy to identify and reduce exceptionally high indoor radon levels, to facilitate the identification, testing, and mitigation of residential dwellings, and to create a commission to provide increased public awareness of radon, and for other purposes.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

A similar House bill (H.R. 3258) was laid on the table.

SEC. 8. NATIVE HAWAIIAN HEALTH SCHOLARSHIPS; REPORTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Act is amended—

(1) by repealing section 10;

(2) by redesignating sections 8, 9, 11, and 12 as sections 10, 11, 12, and 13, respectively; and

(3) by inserting after section 7 the following new sections:

"SEC. 8. NATIVE HAWAIIAN HEALTH SCHOLARSHIPS.

"(a) ELIGIBILITY.—The Secretary is authorized to make scholarship grants to students who—

"(1) meet the requirements of section 338A(b) of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 2541(b)); and

"(2) are Native Hawaiians.

"(b) TERMS AND CONDITIONS.—(1) Scholarship grants provided under subsection (a) shall be provided under the same terms and subject to the same conditions, regulations, and rules that apply to scholarship grants provided under section 338A of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 2541), provided that—

"(A) the provision of scholarships in each type of health care profession training shall correspond to the need for each type of health care professional to serve Native Hawaiian health care systems, as identified by Papa Ola Lokahi;

"(B) in selecting scholarship recipients, the Secretary shall give priority to individuals included on a list of eligible applicants submitted by the Kamehameha Schools/Bishop Estate;

"(C) the obligated service requirement for each scholarship recipient shall be fulfilled through service, in order of priority, in—

"(i) any one of the five Native Hawaiian health care systems which, during the fiscal year in which the obligated service requirement is assigned, has received a grant or entered into a contract pursuant to section 4; or

"(ii) health professions shortage areas, medically underserved areas, or geographic areas or facilities similarly designated by the United States Public Health Service in the State of Hawaii.

"(2) The Secretary shall enter into a cooperative agreement with the Kamehameha Schools/Bishop Estate under which such organization shall provide recruitment, retention, counseling, and other support services intended to improve the operation of the scholarship program established under this section.

"(3) The Native Hawaiian Health Scholarship program shall not be administered by or through the Indian Health Service.

"SEC. 9. REPORT.

"The President shall, at the time the budget is submitted under section 1105 of title 31, United States Code, for each fiscal year transmit to the Congress the report required pursuant to section 2(d).".

(b) REPEAL OF PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE ACT PROVISION.—The Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 201 et seq.) is amended by repealing section 338K and redesignating section 338L as section 338K. Such repeal shall not be construed to terminate contracts in effect under such section on the date of the enactment of this Act. Any such contracts shall continue according to the terms and conditions of such contracts.

SEC. 9. DEFINITIONS.

Section 10 of the Act (as redesignated by section 8(a)(2) of this Act) is amended—

(1) by amending paragraph (3) to read as follows:

"(3) NATIVE HAWAIIAN.—The term 'Native Hawaiian' means any individual who is—

"(A) a citizen of the United States; and

"(B) a descendant of the aboriginal people, who prior to 1778, occupied and exercised sovereignty in the area that now constitutes the State of Hawaii, as evidenced by—

"(i) genealogical records;

"(ii) Kupuna (elders) or Kama'aina (long-term community residents) verification; or

"(iii) birth records of the State of Hawaii.";

(2) by redesignating paragraphs (6), (7), (8), and (9) as paragraphs (7), (8), (9), and (10), respectively;

(3) by inserting after paragraph (5) the following new paragraph:

"(6) NATIVE HAWAIIAN HEALTH CARE SYSTEM.—The term 'Native Hawaiian health care system' means an entity—

"(x) Hui Malama Ola Ha'Oiwi or a health care system serving the island of Hawaii; and

"(xi) such other member organizations as the Board of Papa Ola Lokahi may admit from time to time, based upon satisfactory demonstration of a record of contribution to the health and well-being of Native Hawaiians, and upon satisfactory development of a mission statement in relation to this Act, including clearly defined goals and objectives, a 5-year action plan outlining the contributions that each organization will make in carrying out the policy of this Act, and an estimated budget.

"(B) Such term does not include any organization identified in subparagraph (A) if the Secretary determines that such organization does not have a mission statement with clearly defined goals and objectives for the contributions the organization will make to Native Hawaiian health care systems and an action plan for carrying out such goals and objectives.".

SEC. 10. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

(a) AUTHORIZATION.—The Act (as amended by section 8(a)(2) of this Act) is amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 14. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

"There is authorized to be appropriated for each of the fiscal years 1993, 1994, 1995, 1996, 1997, 1998, 1999, and 2000 such sums as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act.".

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—The Act is amended—

(1) in section 3, by striking subsection (b) and by striking "(a) DEVELOPMENT.—"; and

(2) by striking section 4(h).

SEC. 11. PROHIBITION AGAINST EXCLUSION FROM PARTICIPATION.

The Act (as amended by section 10 of this Act) is amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 15. PROHIBITION AGAINST EXCLUSION FROM PARTICIPATION.

"Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, no person shall, on the basis of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, or be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under, any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance under this Act.".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Oregon [Mr. WYDEN] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from California [Mr. DANNEMEYER] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Oregon [Mr. WYDEN].

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. Mr. Speaker, this bill would revise and extend the Native Hawaiian Health Care Act of 1988, which expires this year, through fiscal year 2000. The bill identifies 40 health status objectives for native Hawaiians, and directs the Secretary of Health and Human Services to report annually on the progress being made to achieving them. These objectives are drawn from Healthy People 2000, issued by the Secretary in 1991. The bill would also authorize the establishment and operation of up to five native Hawaiian health care systems to improve the health status of native Hawaiians through the delivery of preventive and primary care services.

The bill before you today is essentially the text of H.R. 5346, which was reported by the Committee on Energy and Commerce on August 12, with a few minor amendments to accommodate concerns of the Senate. The bill also contains language to respond to concerns of the Justice Department that prohibits grantees from discriminating on the basis of race, color, or national origin. My understanding is that the bill as so amended is acceptable to the chairman of the Senate committee of jurisdiction, Senator INOUYE, and that he will recommend that this bill be sent on to the President without further amendment.

On behalf of Chairman WAXMAN, who is observing the Jewish New Year, I want to thank Representatives ABERCROMBIE and MINK for their commitment to this legislation and the people whose health status it is designed to improve. I also want to thank Chairman DINGELL and his staff for their assistance in facilitating committee and House consideration of this bill.

According to the Congressional Budget Office, this bill has no pay-go effects. CBO estimates that the discretionary spending authorized by the bill totals $58 million over the next 5 years. This is a very modest amount to invest in improving the health status of the native Hawaiian population.

Some argue that this program is unnecessary because existing programs, like the Community Health Center and National Health Service Corps Programs, are sufficient. That they are not sufficient is made clear by the demonstrably inferior health status of native Hawaiians. According to the Secretary of HHS, the breast cancer rate among native Hawaiian women is 30 percent higher than that among other women—and, as we all know, the rate among other women is much too high.

I believe it makes sense to try a culturally competent approach to the delivery of primary and preventive health services to this population. That is what this bill would authorize, and I urge its adoption.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on S. 2681, the Senate bill presently under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oregon?

There was no objection.

Mr. DANNEMEYER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume, and I rise in opposition to this bill.

Mr. Speaker, this is an example of how the growth of domestic discretionary spending expands, expands to create the impending disaster that has been described by speaker after speaker on the floor of this House over the last few years, that if we do not change the course we are proceeding, before the end of this decade it is going to take all of the income of the Federal Government to pay the interest on the debt.

Now, this bill is a modest addition, but when you look at each of these programs in isolation, as we are today, you can say this makes some sense; but when you put them all together we have got economic disaster staring us in the face.

Now, this bill is a modest $3 million, approximately; it is a reauthorization of a program started a couple of years ago. But it is a duplication of an effort that is totally unnecessary.

Now, I love Hawaii, I think Hawaii is a beautiful place, I love the Hawaiian people, they have a quality that even surpasses the generosity and warmth of the people of the southern part of our country, if that is possible. They are a classic addition to the culture of America.

Anybody in Hawaii has the capability of having health care if they need it, if they cannot afford it, under the Community Rural and Migrant Health Center Program, which is a part of the Federal health care program of this country, that has facilities in the State of Hawaii, to take care of the people who have need in the area of health care.

So what are we doing? This bill is nothing more than plain pork, it has to be described that way. It is here because reasons come into existence for the production of pork as a part of the congressional effort. I do not want to speak disparagingly about our distinguished Representatives from the great State of Hawaii, because I have nothing but the highest esteem for them. But you can only describe this effort as pork, plain and simple.

We do not need this native Hawaiian Health Improvement Act. I will say again: The people who are poor, who need health care in the State of Hawaii, can get all of the health care they need under the Community Rural and Migrant Health Center Programs. We do not need this duplication, this redundancy.

For this reason I rise in opposition to this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Hawaii [Mr. ABERCROMBIE], who has done outstanding work on this legislation.

Mr. ABERCROMBIE. I thank the gentleman for yielding. I thank the honorable chairman of the Committee on Energy and Commerce, Mr. DINGELL, and the chairman of the Subcommittee on Health of the that committee, Mr. WAXMAN, who has visited the State of Hawaii and who have visited all of the Hawaiian health systems that are promulgated in this legislation and who is vigorously in support of this legislation. He has rigorously pursued this issue, which is of the utmost importance of myself and of the native Hawaiian community.

As you may be aware, as the gentleman from California has indicated, Hawaii is unique in many ways. As we approach the centennial of the overthrow of the Hawaiian Kingdom, native Hawaiians are still suffering from the after shocks of that event.

If we are going to talk about debt, I can tell you we owe a debt, not just a debt of gratitude, not just the recognition of the well-deserved and famed Hawaiian hospitality, but a debt to the people of Hawaii, the native Hawaiians who were overthrown. The sovereignty of their nation was extinguished as a result of the intervention of the U.S. military forces.

Native Hawaiians have been continuously denied the right of their own history as well as their own destiny. This is why H.R. 5346 was introduced, the Native Hawaiian Health Care Act Amendments of 1992, as a companion measure to that introduced by Senators INOUYE and AKAKA, the legislation before us today for consideration.

Unfortunately, as has been indicated, some have questioned the appropriateness and the equity of establishing a taxpayer-funded, special categorical program to provide for the health needs of a specific population subgroup. To this I say they are sadly mistaken and misdirected in their beliefs, however sincerely held. We often find ourselves in situations of having to explain Hawaii's unique circumstances, particularly when it comes to the issues reflecting on the health and welfare of native Hawaiians, and this instance is no different.

Before westernization of the Pacific, the native Hawaiian population was, in effect, isolated from contact with much of the world. I want to emphasize that for you, Mr. Speaker, and for those who may be in opposition, in hopes they will reconsider. However, upon contact, native Hawaiians became particularly susceptible to diseases and other health difficulties which have raged within the native Hawaiian community for the past 100 years. The consequences have been horrendous. The native Hawaiian population has been reduced significantly.

In 1984, the Congress first addressed this issue by authorizing a comprehensive study of native Hawaiian health care needs. I have an extensive native Hawaiian health data book, extensively documented to back up this statement, Mr. Speaker. Consequently, after consultation with many of the natives in the native Hawaiian community, I want to emphasize, Mr. Speaker, this is a grassroots solution to the problem.

□ 1400

This is not being imposed from governmental direction on top. My understanding of some of the objections of some of the opponents to this legislation is they would like to get the Government out of people's lives in a way that recognizes only the imposition from the top.

This is a grassroots native Hawaiian movement which will be recognized in the Hawaiian community as such and thus have felicitous effects in terms of improving health.

Congress enacted the Native Hawaiian Health Care Act in 1988, authorizing the establishment of health promotion, disease prevention, and primary care services in the State of Hawaii for native Hawaiians, or persons of Hawaiian ancestry, through federally funded native Hawaiian health care systems.

Mr. Speaker, I cannot emphasize enough, we will be saving money, not expending more money, because people will not get into preventive care. They will find themselves in a situation in which they will act before they find themselves in such difficulties as to require massive expenditures, massive medical expenditures. We will be saving money, as well as saving lives.

Many people are familiar with the difficulties faced by the native American community. The gentleman from Oregon [Mr. WYDEN] has alluded to some of them, but few of them are aware of the troubles faced in particular.

Native Hawaiians, full-blood and part-Hawaiian, have a death rate that is 34 percent higher than the death rate for all other races in the United States.

If we group full-blooded Hawaiians by themselves, their death rate is 146 percent higher than all other races in the United States.

And in another category, the native Hawaiian rate for diabetes is 167 per 1,000, which is twice as high as the national rate.

The list of disparities continues. If is blatantly obvious that the effects of western settlement have abetted the reduction of native Hawaiian immune systems.

Mr. Speaker, I appeal to you, on the basis of compassion and humanity, on the basis that this kind of care will result in prevention of disease, on the basis of the debt owed to the Hawaiian people who have given so much to the rest of the world, I appeal to you that we can no longer tolerate the listing of native Hawaiians as an endangered people, and that is in fact what they are, an endangered people.

S. 2681 attempts to reverse this. We ask for your support, Mr. Speaker, and we ask for the support of the Members of this body.

Once again I appeal to the fundamental decency, kindness and compassion, in the context of the remarks of the previous speaker, that he recognize that this is an opportunity to extend that kind of law to the native Hawaiians that they extended to the rest of the people of the world.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to our colleague, the gentlewoman from Hawaii [Mrs. MINK], who has done an excellent job for many years in advocating improved human services programs, and particularly for the health of her constituents.

Mrs. MINK. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I join my colleague, the gentleman from Hawaii [Mr. ABERCROMBIE] in supporting this Native Hawaiian Health Amendments of 1992, S. 2681.

I regret very much that there has been an indication of objection to the passage of this legislation. Even given the fact that the previous speaker, the gentleman from California, mentioned something about the necessity for dealing with the budget deficit and expressing the usual comments as a fiscal conservative, I would like to comment with respect to those thoughts on this subject.

This is unique. This is different. Those who object to the passage of this legislation, what I would like to do in my short 5 minutes is to put a different perspective on this legislation.

It is not pork. It is not simply spending for the sake of spending, which is what I determine as a definition, if there can be a definition of pork.

My colleagues in the House, the history of Hawaii is not very well understood. It is assumed always that the people in my State welcomed the opportunity to join this country. To the contrary, as we say in Hawaii, the people of the islands were overtaken by the United States with military force.

As a matter of fact, in January of next year we will be observing the 100th year since that occurred in Hawaii.

Despite the sorrow of the loss of their kingdom and their Republic, the loss of their Queen Liliuokalani, her imprisonment in order for Hawaii to become part of the United States, the native Hawaiian community has over the 100 years tried to accommodate to the loss of their country, to the loss of their sovereignty, and to their independence.

They have served this country as distinguished citizens, fighting in our wars and contributing in numerous other ways.

The point of the fact is that after annexation, the first delegate to the Congress, Prince Kuhio, came and realized that there were problems, enormous problems, that the native population was being forced to endure. The culturalization shock; the population was decimated by disease. Simple things like measles killed nearly half the population, not to count all the other problems which they had to endure.

So when Prince Kuhio came to the Congress and asked for consideration special to the native Hawaiians, the Congress agreed and passed the Homestead Act, the 1920 Homestead Act.

People thought, well, this will be of such enormous consequence that the problems of the native Hawaiians will be solved. They were not. The Homestead Act segregated the native Hawaiian population into the far reaches of the island, secluded them from the progress that was to make Hawaii unique in the whole country and in the world. They were not able to take advantage of it. They lived way, way out in the country, in distant places. All these areas are part of my district.

So, Mr. Speaker, I am here today to ask this House to understand that the exclusion of the native Hawaiian people by the very acts of this Congress has created the problems that we are asking this body to help us solve today, and one of the most clear evidences of this discrimination and neglect is in the tragic health consequences of the native population. Coronary disease, diabetes, cholesterol levels, the things that we know, simple medicine, simple acceptance of medical practice could probably help them, but for a culturally distinct and segregated part of our community, it is not enough. They want an opportunity to look at their own problems and their own population and come up with solutions that their native population can understand and relate to, and it is very different than the practice of medicine that we all accept, going to a clinic daily or once a year or whatever our desires may be.

The native population of Hawaii looks to this Congress to amend the wrongs of the past, and I look upon this legislation as the first step.

Mr. Speaker, I hope that my colleagues will agree and pass this bill overwhelmingly.

Mr. Speaker, I join my colleague from Hawaii, Mr. ABERCROMBIE, in support of S. 2681, the Native Hawaiian Health Care Amendments of 1992. This legislation is of critical importance to the survival of the native population of the State of Hawaii.

S. 2681 seeks to improve the health and well-being of the native Hawaiian people through expanding and improving the native Hawaiian health care system originally established in the 1988 Native Hawaiian Health Care Act.

The health status of the native Hawaiian people has been deteriorating for over a century, and is far below that of other populations in the United States.

Once a strong, healthy, and thriving community, the native people of our islands suffered greatly from the foreign influences that began to arrive in Hawaii in the late 18th century. The introduction of previously unknown diseases, the breakdown of their culture, and suppression of traditional healing practices left a legacy of poor health and nutrition, poverty, and high mortality rates that continues today.

The native Hawaiian people currently suffer from extraordinarily high rates of heart disease, cancer, and chronic conditions, such as diabetes.

An Office of Technology Assessment study authorized by the Congress in 1984, which compared both Hawaiians and part-Hawaiians to other populations in the United States, found that, overall, native Hawaiians have a death rate that averages 34 percent higher than all other races in the United States.

Pure blooded Hawaiians have a death rate that is an astounding 146 percent higher than other Americans.

The study also revealed that native Hawaiians die from diabetes at a rate that is 222 percent higher than for all races in the United States.

Recent studies in the State of Hawaii show that 44 percent of all infant deaths in the State are native Hawaiian children, cancer rates among native Hawaiians far exceed other ethnic populations in our State, and health care services are often lacking in native Hawaiian communities.

The high incidence of mental illness and emotional disorders among native Hawaiians is attributed to the cultural isolation and alienation in a statewide population in which they now constitute about 20 percent.

Disenfranchised from their land, culture, and ability to self-govern, the native Hawaiian people have suffered a plight similar to that of the native American Indians on the continental United States. And it is the responsibility of the Federal Government to assist in our efforts to improve the health status of the native people of Hawaii.

Mr. Speaker, those who oppose this legislation seek to deny the native Hawaiian people of their right to the protections and benefits of Federal legislation created to acknowledge the special trust responsibility of this Nation's aboriginal peoples.

But for 18 years the Congress has recognized the native Hawaiians as native Americans, and on 36 occasions the Congress passed Federal laws that include native Hawaiians in programs or services that are designed to service native American communities, and Congress has consistently supported programs specifically designated for native Hawaiians.

One of the most important of these initiatives by the Congress was the Native Hawaiian Health Care Act of 1988.

I urge my colleagues to support S. 2681, which will help fulfill the original goal of the Native Hawaiian Health Care Act, to elevate and promote the health and well-being of the native Hawaiian people, so that they may function effectively as citizens and leaders in their homeland, and help determine and participate in the future of their culture, their race, and their land.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, our colleague, the gentleman from California [Mr. DANNEMEYER], essentially has made the argument that there is no need for a separate program for native Hawaiians because we already have a Community Health Center and National Health Service Corps Program to address the needs of the population; but that is not what the administration has been saying in "Healthy People 2000," its blueprint for improving the health status of all Americans, issued by Dr. Sullivan in 1990.

"Healthy People 2000" documents the low-health status of native Hawaiians that has been addressed so eloquently by the gentleman from Hawaii [Mr. ABERCROMBIE] and the gentlewoman from Hawaii [Mrs. MINK]. For example, the breast cancer rate among native Hawaiians is 30 percent higher than among whites.

We all know that increasing access to preventive and primary care would improve the health status of this population by funding this legislation. It will be possible to improve the health status by eliminating access barriers that exist in current programs.

Mr. Speaker, I hope all our colleagues will support this legislation, and I commend our two colleagues from Hawaii for bringing this legislation to our attention.

Mr. DANNEMEYER. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. McDERMOTT). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Oregon [Mr. WYDEN] that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 2681, as amended.

The question was taken.

Mr. DANNEMEYER. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. McDERMOTT). The Chair will count.

A sufficient number has risen. The yeas and nays are ordered.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ABERCROMBIE. Mr. Speaker, I have a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. ABERCROMBIE. Mr. Speaker, could the Chair give me the count? It has to be two-thirds, does it not? Am I mistaken? What is a sufficient number?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. One-fifth of those present.

Mr. ABERCROMBIE. Can the Chair tell me how many were here? I understood two Members to be standing.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair counted standing more than one-fifth of those present.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 5 of rule I, and the Chair's prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

CONFERENCE REPORT ON H.R. 3508, HEALTH PROFESSIONS EDUCATION EXTENSION AMENDMENTS OF 1992

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and agree to the conference report on the bill (H.R. 3508) to amend the Public Health Service Act to revise and extend certain programs relating to the education of individuals as health professionals, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

(For conference report and statement, see prior proceedings of the House of today, Tuesday, September 29, 1992.)

The SPEAKER pro tempore. (Mr. MCDERMOTT). The gentleman from Oregon [Mr. WYDEN] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from California [Mr. DANNEMEYER] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Oregon [Mr. WYDEN].

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to present to the House the conference report on H.R. 3508, the Health Professions Education Extension Amendments of 1992.

The conference report is the result of months of negotiations. We are pleased the House, Senate, and Bush administration have resolved their differences. The result is the first comprehensive revision of health professions training programs in more than a decade.

The conference agreement contains a series of reforms that focus Federal resources upon training in primary care specialities and on individuals committed to serving in medically underserved communities.

The conference agreement places high priority on the education of mid-level nursing personnel such as nurse midwives and nurse practitioners. Funding priority is given to the education of masters degree level clinical specialists.

On behalf of Mr. WAXMAN, chairman of the Health and Environment Subcommittee, I want to acknowledge the important contributions of the gentleman from New Mexico [Mr. RICHARDSON], who has demonstrated strong leadership on behalf of expanding Federal support for nursing education and enhancing the role of the nursing profession in providing primary care services.

The conference agreement extends the HEAL Student Loan Program for 3 fiscal years, raises the credit ceiling, and includes a series of tough reforms designed to reduce default rates. The reforms will restore confidence in the administration of this program and assure health professions students the continued availability of federally insured loans.

A central figure of the conference report is its emphasis upon primary care training. The conference agreement restricts low-interest medical school loans to students pursuing a primary care career and extends for 3 fiscal years the authorization of appropriations for primary care programs in family medicine, general internal medicine, and general pediatrics.

The conference agreement also addresses concerns over discrimination against international medical school graduates. The agreement includes provisions prohibiting hospitals and other residency programs seeking funding under title VII of the Public Health Service Act from discriminating against applications from graduates of international medical schools.

The conference agreement also establishes a National Commission on Medical Licensure. The Commission will monitor implementation of the American Medical Association's national credentials verification system. It is expected the Commission and the AMA system will help remove arbitrary roadblocks to the licensing of physicians moving between States.

Other programs extended by the conference agreement include: Dental education traineeships, geriatric education, AIDS education and training, physician assistants, podiatric research, public health—special projects, traineeships, preventive medicine—health administration traineeships, allied health special projects and traineeships, and area and border health education centers.

Mr. Speaker, I am including a chart summarizing the level of authorized appropriations for programs authorized by the conference report for printing in the RECORD at the conclusion of my remarks.

Mr. Speaker, the conference report was recently approved by our Senate colleagues unanimously. I urge all Members to join in supporting this important legislation.

[1] Actual appropriation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DANNEMEYER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this legislation.

I have a statement from my colleague, the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. BLILEY], who is also a member of the Health and Environment Subcommittee, who wanted to be here today. He was a conferee of the conference report, and, were he here, he would have made the statement that I hand to the Clerk.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New Mexico [Mr. RICHARDSON], who has done outstanding work on this legislation, has pursued it tirelessly and advocates the many health concerns provided by this legislation.

Mr. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, as a conferee of what may possibly be the longest running conference in history—the conference on the health professions education amendments—I rise in strong support of the conference report on H.R. 3508, reauthorizing the health professions title of the Public Health Service Act.

While I cannot mention all of the important provisions of this legislation, I am particularly pleased at the inclusion of legislation I sponsored—the Nursing Education Amendments of 1991 in the conference report on H.R. 3508. I also want to highlight the extraordinary emphasis this conference report places on primary care education and access throughout title VII and VIII.

I am also pleased by changes made in the title VII Centers of Excellence Program for Hispanics and native Americans establishing a minimum level of funding for Hispanic and native American Centers of Excellence and maintaining appropriations levels for the program.

We are currently in the midst of a serious and sustained nursing shortage which is only rivaled by the nursing shortage of the 1950's. Reports on the nursing profession by the American Nurses Association indicate that one of every eight registered nurse positions in hospitals goes unfilled. The scenario is even worse in nursing homes where one in every five RN positions goes unfilled.

Who is hurt most by the ongoing nursing shortage? Precisely those who can least afford it—the medically undeserved populations residing in frontier, rural, and inner-city areas of our Nation. Right now, over 1,300 rural areas alone have been designated as medically undeserved. To meet the demand for health care in just these areas would require 4,224 physicians.

Physicians however, continue to have a difficult time maintaining viable practices in shortage areas. This, combined with the aging of the existing rural physician population, necessitates that we investigate the needs of rural and urban underserved populations.

Nurses have always responded to the needs and concerns of our poorest citizens and I believe we must again turn to the nursing profession to respond to the Nation's rural and inner-city health care crisis.

The conference report maintains the emphasis my original legislation placed on focusing our limited health care resources on training and educating those nursing professionals—clinical nurse specialists, nurse practitioners, nurse midwives, and nurse anesthetists—best equipped to meet the health care needs of undeserved areas and would increase funding for these programs by nearly $10 million over 3 years.

I believe our money will be well spent. The advanced training of nurse specialists and nurse practitioners allows them to provide up to 80 percent of adult primary care services and up to 90 percent of the pediatric primary care services usually performed by a physician.

Nurse midwives have traditionally and continue to direct their services toward women most at risk for developing health care problems because of inadequate access to child bearing and health care services.

Finally, the conference report separates the reauthorization cycles of title VIII—nursing education from title VII governing other health professions education which I believe will put greater emphasis and importance on funding nursing education.

In closing, I want to thank my colleagues in the Senate and in the House, especially the chairman of the subcommittee, Mr. WAXMAN, and the chairman of the full committee, Mr. DINGELL, for their cooperation and efforts in working with me on nursing education. This is excellent legislation because of their commitment and understanding of primary care concerns and the needs of both rural and urban underserved areas. I urge my colleagues support of this critical legislation.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from New Mexico [Mr. RICHARDSON] for his kind comments. I commend him for all his efforts.

Mr. BLILEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the conference agreement.

This legislation extends funding authority for many important programs that provide training, scholarships, and loans for a broad spectrum of individuals who desire to enter the health professions. The legislation extends to training programs for physicians, nurses, and many other health care providers.

Mr. Speaker, the programs authorized by this legislation are carried out by medical, chiropractic, and dental schools, schools of nursing, allied health professional training centers, and hospitals throughout the country—in every State and virtually every congressional district. I am pleased to support it.

This legislation makes a number of changes in current law that are designed to focus health professions training on the area of greatest need—primary care health services. The bill provides incentives, and creates special funding mechanisms, for schools and students who will make a commitment to primary health care. The old-fashioned family doctor, who can take care of your family's health care needs from childhood through adulthood, and from the common cold to an appendectomy, is a concept of the past. We are increasingly immersed in the age of specialization. This is creating problems for our health care system.

Access to care in one setting, by a single provider, is increasingly limited. This forces people to go from place to place, and from provider to provider, to meet all of their health care needs. This makes health care difficult and inconvenient, and it makes it more expensive. The combination of those factors works against achieving what we all favor—better preventive care, early diagnosis, and regular, routine, health care for the purpose of maintaining health.

H.R. 3508 is a step in the direction of solving this problem.

Finally, this legislation makes a number of significant and needed reforms in the health education assistance loan, or HEAL Program. The changes are designed to reduce the increasing rate of defaults on these Government-insured health professions student loans. These provisions are strongly supported by the administration.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to support this legislation.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DANNEMEYER. Mr. Speaker, I have no requests for time. I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Oregon [Mr. WYDEN] that the House suspend the rule and agree to the conference report on the bill, H.R. 3508.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the conference report was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

"§14001. Applicability of this part

''This chapter and chapters 1403 through 1411 of this title apply, as appropriate, to all reserve officers of the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps except warrant officers.

"§14002. Reserve active-status lists: requirement for each armed force

''(a) The Secretary of each military department shall maintain a single list, to be known as the reserve active-status list, for each armed force under the Secretary's jurisdiction. That list shall include the names of all reserve officers of that armed force who are in an active status other than those on an active-duty list described in section 620 of this title or warrant officers (including commissioned warrant officers).

''(b) The reserve active-status list for the Army shall include officers in the Army Reserve and the Army National Guard of the United States. The reserve active-status list for the Air Force shall include officers in the Air Force Reserve and the Air National Guard of the United States. The Secretary of the Navy shall maintain separate lists for the Naval Reserve and the Marine Corps Reserve.

"§14003. Reserve active-status: position of officers on the list

''(a) POSITION ON LIST.—Officers shall be carried on the reserve active-status list of the armed force of which they are members in the order of seniority of the grade in which they are serving in an active status. Officers serving in the same grade shall be carried in the order of their rank in that grade.

''(b) EFFECT ON POSITION HELD BY REASON OF TEMPORARY APPOINTMENT OR ASSIGNMENT.—An officer whose position on the reserve active-status list results from service under a temporary appointment or in a grade held by reason of assignment to a position has, when that appointment or assignment ends, the grade and position on that list that the officer would have held if the officer had not received that appointment or assignment.

"§14004. Reserve active-status lists: eligibility for Reserve promotion

''Except as otherwise provided by law, an officer must be on a reserve active-status list to be eligible under chapter 1405 of this title for consideration for selection for promotion or for promotion.

"§14005. Competitive categories

''Each officer whose name appears on a reserve active-status list shall be placed in a competitive category. The competitive categories for each armed force shall be specified by the Secretary of the military department concerned under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense. Officers in the same competitive category shall compete among themselves for promotion.

"§14006. Determination of years in grade

''For the purpose of chapters 1403 through 1411 of this title, an officer's years of service in a grade are computed from the officer's date of rank in grade as determined under section 741(d) of this title.

"§14101. Convening of selection boards

''(a) PROMOTION BOARDS.—(1) Whenever the needs of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps require, the Secretary concerned shall convene a selection board to recommend for promotion to the next higher grade, under chapter 1405 of this title, officers on the reserve active-status list of that armed force in a permanent grade from first lieutenant through brigadier general or, in the case of the Naval Reserve, lieutenant (junior grade) through rear admiral (lower half). A selection board convened under this subsection shall be known as a 'promotion board'.

''(2) A promotion board convened to recommend reserve officers of the Army or reserve officers of the Air Force for promotion (A) to fill a position vacancy under section 14315 of this title, or (B) to the grade of brigadier general or major general, shall (except in the case of a board convened to consider officers as provided in section 14301(e) of this title) be known as a 'vacancy promotion board'. Any other promotion board convened under this subsection shall be known as a 'mandatory promotion board'.

''(b) CONTINUATION BOARDS.—Whenever the needs of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps require, the Secretary concerned may convene a selection board to recommend officers of that armed force—

''(1) for continuation on the reserve active-status list under section 14701 of this title;

''(2) for selective early removal from the reserve active-status list under section 14704 of this title; or

''(3) for selective early retirement under section 14705 of this title.

A selection board convened under this subsection shall be known as a 'continuation board'.

"§14102. Selection boards: appointment and composition

''(a) APPOINTMENT.—Members of selection boards convened under section 14101 shall be appointed by the Secretary of the military department concerned in accordance with this section. Promotion boards and special selection boards shall consist of five or more officers. Continuation boards shall consist of three or more officers. All of the officers of any such selection board shall be of the same armed force as the officers under consideration by the board.

''(b) COMPOSITION.—At least one-half of the members of such a selection board shall be reserve officers, to include at least one reserve officer from each reserve component from which officers are to be considered by the board. Each member of a selection board must hold a permanent grade higher than the grade of the officers under consideration by the board, and no member of a board may hold a grade below major or lieutenant commander.

''(c) REPRESENTATION OF COMPETITIVE CATEGORIES.—(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), a selection board shall include at least one officer from each competitive category of officers to be considered by the board.

"(2) A selection board need not include an officer from a competitive category to be considered by the board if there is no officer of that competitive category on the reserve active-status list or the active-duty list in a permanent grade higher than the grade of the officers to be considered by the board and otherwise eligible to serve on the board. However, in such a case, the Secretary of the military department concerned, in his discretion, may appoint as a member of the board a retired officer of that competitive category who is in the same armed force as the officers under consideration by the board who holds a higher grade than the grade of the officers under consideration.

"(d) PROHIBITION OF SERVICE ON CONSECUTIVE PROMOTION BOARDS.—No officer may be a member of two successive promotion boards convened under section 14101(a) of this title for the consideration of officers of the same competitive category and grade if the second of the two boards is to consider any officer who was considered and not recommended for promotion to the next higher grade by the first of the two boards.

"§14103. Oath of members

"Each member of a selection board convened under section 14101 of this title shall take an oath to perform the duties of a member of the board without prejudice or partiality, having in view both the special fitness of officers and the efficiency of the member's armed force.

"§14104. Confidentiality of board proceedings

"Except as otherwise authorized or required by law, the proceedings of a selection board convened under section 14101 of this title may not be disclosed to any person not a member of the board.

"§14105. Notice of convening of promotion board

"(a) REQUIRED NOTICE.—At least 30 days before a promotion board is convened under section 14101(a) of this title to consider officers in a grade and competitive category for promotion to the next higher grade, the Secretary concerned shall either (1) notify in writing the officers eligible for consideration by the board for promotion regarding the convening of the board, or (2) issue a general written notice to the armed force concerned regarding the convening of the board.

"(b) CONTENT OF NOTICE.—A notice under subsection (a) shall include the date on which the board is to convene and (except in the case of a vacancy promotion board) the name and date of rank of the junior officer, and of the senior officer, in the promotion zone as of the date of the notice.

"§14106. Communication with board by officers under consideration

"Subject to regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the military department concerned, an officer eligible for consideration by a promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title who is in the promotion zone or above the promotion zone, or who is to be considered by a vacancy promotion board, may send a written communication to the board calling attention to any matter concerning the officer which the officer considers important to the officer's case. Any such communication shall be sent so as to arrive not later than the date on which the board convenes. The board shall give consideration to any timely communication under this section.

"§14107. Information furnished by the Secretary concerned to promotion boards

"(a) INTEGRITY OF THE PROMOTION SELECTION BOARD PROCESS.—(1) The Secretary of Defense shall prescribe regulations governing information furnished to selection boards convened under section 14101(a) of this title. Those regulations shall apply uniformly among the military departments. Any regulations prescribed by the Secretary of a military department to supplement those regulations may not take effect without the approval of the Secretary of Defense in writing.

"(2) No information concerning a particular eligible officer may be furnished to a selection board except for the following:

"(A) Information that is in the officer's official military personnel file and that is provided to the selection board in accordance with the regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense pursuant to paragraph (1).

"(B) Other information that is determined by the Secretary of the military department concerned, after review by that Secretary in accordance with standards and procedures set out in the regulations prescribed by the Secretary of defense pursuant to paragraph (1), to be substantiated, relevant information that could reasonably and materially affect the deliberations of the promotion board.

"(C) Subject to such limitations as may be prescribed in those regulations, information communicated to the board by the officer in accordance with this section, section 14106 of this title (including any comment on information referred to in subparagraph (A) regarding that officer), or other applicable law.

"(D) A factual summary of the information described in subparagraphs (A), (B), and (C) that, in accordance with the regulations prescribed pursuant to paragraph (1) is prepared by administrative personnel for the purpose of facilitating the work of the selection board.

"(3) Information provided to a promotion board in accordance with paragraph (2) shall be made available to all members of the board and shall be made a part of the record of the board. Communication of such information shall be in a written form or in the form of an audio or video recording. If a communication is in the form of an audio or video recording, a written transcription of the recording shall also be made a part of the record of the promotion board.

"(4) Paragraphs (2) and (3) do not apply to the furnishing of appropriate administrative processing information to the promotion board by an administrative staff designated to assist the board, but only to the extent that oral communications are necessary to facilitate the work of the board.

"(5) Information furnished to a promotion board that is described in subparagraph (B), (C), or (D) of paragraph (2) may not be furnished to a later promotion board unless—

"(A) the information has been properly placed in the official military personnel file of the officer concerned; or

"(B) the information is provided to the later selection board in accordance with paragraph (2).

"(6)(A) Before information described in paragraph (2)(B) regarding an eligible officer is furnished to a selection board, the Secretary of the military department concerned shall ensure—

"(i) that such information is made available to such officer; and

"(ii) that the officer is afforded a reasonable opportunity to submit comments on that information to the promotion board.

"(B) If an officer cannot be given access to the information referred to in subparagraph (A) because of its classification status, the officer shall, to the maximum extent practicable, be furnished an appropriate summary of the information.

"(b) INFORMATION TO BE FURNISHED.—The Secretary of the military department concerned shall furnish to a promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title the following:

"(1) In the case of a mandatory promotion board, the maximum number (as determined in accordance with section 14307 of this title) of officers in each competitive category under consideration that the board is authorized to recommend for promotion to the next higher grade.

"(2) The name of each officer in each competitive category under consideration who is to be considered by the board for promotion.

"(3) The pertinent records (as determined by the Secretary) of each officer whose name is furnished to the board.

"(4) Information or guidelines relating to the needs of the armed force concerned for officers having particular skills, including (except in the case of a vacancy promotion board) guidelines or information relating to either a minimum number or a maximum number of officers with particular skills within a competitive category.

"(5) Such other information or guidelines as the Secretary concerned may determine to be necessary to enable the board to perform its functions.

"(c) LIMITATION ON MODIFYING FURNISHED INFORMATION.—Information or guidelines furnished to a selection board under subsection (a) may not be modified, withdrawn, or supplemented after the board submits its report to the Secretary of the military department concerned pursuant to section 14109(a) of this title. However, in the case of a report returned to a board pursuant to section 14110(a) of this title for further proceedings because of a determination by the Secretary of the military department concerned that the board acted contrary to law, regulation, or guidelines, the Secretary may modify, withdraw, or supplement such information or guidelines as part of a written explanation to the board as provided in that section.

"(d) OFFICERS IN HEALTH-PROFESSIONS COMPETITIVE CATEGORIES.—The Secretary of each military department, under uniform regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, shall include in guidelines furnished to a promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title that is considering officers in a health-professions competitive category for promotion to a grade below colonel or, in the case of the Navy, captain, a direction that the board give consideration to an officer's clinical proficiency and skill as a health professional to at least as great an extent as the board gives to the officer's administrative and management skills.

"§14108. Recommendations by promotion boards

"(a) RECOMMENDATION OF BEST QUALIFIED OFFICERS.—A promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title shall recommend for promotion to the next higher grade those officers considered by the board whom the board considers best qualified for promotion within each competitive category considered by the board or, in the case of a vacancy promotion board, among those officers considered to fill a vacancy. In determining those officers who are best qualified for promotion, the board shall give due consideration to the needs of the armed force concerned for officers with particular skills (as noted in the guidelines or information furnished the board under sections 14107 of this title).

"(b) MAJORITY REQUIRED.—A promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title may not recommend an officer for promotion unless—

"(1) the officer receives the recommendation of a majority of the members of the board; and

"(2) a majority of the members of the board finds that the officer is fully qualified for promotion.

"(c) BOARD RECOMMENDATION REQUIRED FOR PROMOTION.—Except as otherwise provided by law, an officer on the reserve active-status list may not be promoted to a higher grade under chapter 1405 of this title unless the officer is considered and recommended for promotion to that grade by a promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title (or by a special selection board convened under section 14502 of this title).

"(d) Disclosure of Board Recommendations.—The recommendations of a promotion board may be disclosed only in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense. Those recommendations may not be disclosed to a person not a member of the board (or a member of the administrative staff designated by the Secretary concerned to assist the board) until the written report of the recommendations of the board, required by section 14109 of this title, is signed by each member of the board.

"(e) Prohibition of Coercion and Unauthorized Influence of Actions of Board Members.—The Secretary convening a promotion board under section 14101(a) of this title, and an officer or other official exercising authority over any member of a selection board, may not—

"(1) censure, reprimand, or admonish the selection board or any member of the board with respect to the recommendations of the board or the exercise of any lawful function within the authorized discretion of the board; or

"(2) attempt to coerce or, by any unauthorized means, influence any action of a promotion board or any member of a promotion board in the formulation of the board's recommendations.

"§14109. Reports of promotion boards: in general

"(a) Report of Officers Recommended for Promotion.—Each promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title shall submit to the Secretary of the military department concerned a report in writing containing a list of the names of the officers recommended by the board for promotion. The report shall be signed by each member of the board.

"(b) Certification.—Each report under subsection (a) shall include a certification—

"(1) that the board has carefully considered the record of each officer whose name was furnished to the board; and

"(2) that, in the case of a promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title, in the opinion of a majority of the members of the board, the officers recommended for promotion by the board are best qualified for promotion to meet the needs of the armed force concerned (as noted in the guidelines or information furnished the board under section 14107 of this title) among those officers whose names were furnished to the selection board.

"(c) Show-Cause Recommendations.—(1) A promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title shall include in its report to the Secretary concerned the name of any reserve officer before it for consideration for promotion whose record, in the opinion of a majority of the members of the board, indicates that the officer should be required to show cause for retention in an active status.

"(2) If such a report names an officer as having a record which indicates that the officer should be required to show cause for retention, the Secretary concerned may provide for the review of the record of that officer as provided under regulations prescribed under section 14902 of this title.

"§14110. Reports of promotion boards: review by Secretary

"(a) Review of Report.—Upon receipt of the report of a promotion board submitted under section 14109(a) of this title, the Secretary of the military department concerned shall review the report to determine whether the board has acted contrary to law or regulation or to guidelines furnished the board under section 14107(a) of this title. Following that review, unless the Secretary concerned makes a determination as described in subsection (b), the Secretary shall submit the report as required by section 14111 of this title.

"(b) Return of Report for Further Proceedings.—If, on the basis of a review of the report under subsection (a), the Secretary of the military department concerned determines that the board acted contrary to law or regulation or to guidelines furnished the board under section 14107(a) of this title, the Secretary shall return the report, together with a written explanation of the basis for such determination, to the board for further proceedings. Upon receipt of a report returned by the Secretary concerned under this subsection, the selection board (or a subsequent selection board convened under section 14101(a) of this title for the same grade and competitive category) shall conduct such proceedings as may be necessary in order to revise the report to be consistent with law, regulation, and such guidelines and shall resubmit the report, as revised, to the Secretary in accordance with section 14109 of this title.

"§14111. Reports of selection boards: transmittal to President

"(a) Transmittal to President.—The Secretary concerned, after final review of the report of a selection board under section 14110 of this title, shall submit the report with the Secretary's recommendations, to the Secretary of Defense for transmittal by the Secretary to the President for approval or disapproval. If the authority of the President to approve or disapprove the report of a promotion board is delegated to the Secretary of Defense, that authority may not be redelegated except to an official in the Office of the Secretary of Defense.

"(b) Removal of Name From Board Report.—The name of an officer recommended for promotion by a selection board may be removed from the report of the selection board only by the President.

"(c) Recommendations for Removal of Selected Officers From Report.—If the Secretary of a military department or the Secretary of Defense makes a recommendation under this section that the name of an officer be removed from the report of a promotion board and the recommendation is accompanied by information that was not presented to that promotion board, that information shall be made available to that officer. The officer shall then be afforded a reasonable opportunity to submit comments on that information to the officials making the recommendation and the officials reviewing the recommendation. If an eligible officer cannot be given access to such information because of its classification status, the officer shall, to the maximum extent practicable, be provided with an appropriate summary of the information.

"§14112. Dissemination of names of officers selected

"Upon approval by the President of the report of a promotion board, the names of the officers recommended for promotion by the promotion board (other than any name removed by the President) may be disseminated to the armed force concerned. If those names have not been sooner disseminated, those names (other than the name of any officer whose promotion the Senate failed to confirm) shall be promptly disseminated to the armed force concerned upon confirmation by the Senate.

"14315. Position vacancy promotions: Army and Air Force officers.
"14316. Army National Guard and Air National Guard: appointment to and Federal recognition in a higher reserve grade after selection for promotion.
"14317. Officers in transition to and from the active-status list or active-duty list.

"§14301. Eligibility for consideration for promotion: general rules

"(a) One-Year Rule.—An officer is eligible under this chapter for consideration for promotion by a promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title only if—

"(1) the officer is on the reserve active-status list of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps; and

"(2) during the one-year period ending on the date of the convening of the promotion board the officer has continuously performed service on either the reserve active-status list or the active-duty list (or on a combination of both lists).

"(b) Requirement for Consideration of All Officers in and Above the Zone.—Whenever a promotion board (other than a vacancy promotion board) is convened under section 14101(a) of this title for consideration of officers in a competitive category who are eligible under this chapter for consideration for promotion to the next higher grade, each officer in the promotion zone, and each officer above the promotion zone, for that grade and competitive category shall be considered for promotion.

"(c) Previously Selected Officers Not Eligible To Be Considered.—A promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title may not consider for promotion to the next higher grade—

"(1) an officer whose name is on a promotion list for that grade as a result of recommendation for promotion to that grade by an earlier selection board convened under that section or section 14502 of this title or under chapter 36 of this title;

"(2) an officer who has been approved for Federal recognition by a board convened under section 307 of title 32 and nominated by the President for promotion to the next higher grade as a reserve of the Army or of the Air Force as the case may be; or

"(3) an officer who has been nominated by the President for promotion to the next higher grade under any other provision of law.

"(d) Officers Below the Zone.—The Secretary of the military department concerned may, by regulation, prescribe procedures to limit the officers to be considered by a selection board from below the promotion zone to those officers who are determined to be exceptionally well qualified for promotion. The regulations shall include criteria for determining which officers below the promotion zone are exceptionally well qualified for promotion.

"(e) RESERVE OFFICERS OF THE ARMY; CONSIDERATION FOR BRIGADIER GENERAL AND MAJOR GENERAL.—In the case of officers of the Army, if the Secretary of the Army determines that vacancies are authorized or anticipated in the reserve grades of major general or brigadier general for officers who are on the reserve active-status list and who are not assigned to units organized to serve as a unit and the Secretary convenes a mandatory promotion board under section 14101(a) of this title to consider officers for promotion to fill such vacancies, the Secretary may limit the officers to be considered by that board to those determined to be exceptionally well qualified for promotion under such criteria and procedures as the Secretary may by regulation prescribe.

"(f) CERTAIN RESERVE OFFICERS OF THE AIR FORCE.—A reserve officer of the Air Force who (1) is in the Air National Guard of the United States and holds the grade of lieutenant colonel, colonel, or brigadier general, or (2) is in the Air Force Reserve and holds the grade of colonel or brigadier general, is not eligible for consideration for promotion by a mandatory promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title.

"(g) NONCONSIDERATION OF OFFICERS SCHEDULED FOR REMOVAL FROM RESERVE ACTIVE-STATUS LIST.—The Secretary of the military department concerned may, by regulation, provide for the exclusion from consideration for promotion by a promotion board of any officer otherwise eligible to be considered by the board who has an established date for removal from the reserve active-status list that is not more than 90 days after the date on which the selection board for which the officer would otherwise be eligible is to be convened.

"§14302. Promotion zones

"(a) PROMOTION ZONES GENERALLY.—For purposes of this chapter, a promotion zone is an eligibility category for the consideration of officers by a mandatory promotion board. A promotion zone consists of those officers on the reserve active-status list who are in the same grade and competitive category and who meet the requirements of both paragraphs (1) and (2) or the requirements of paragraph (3), as follows:

"(1)(A) In the case of officers in grades below colonel, for reserve officers of the Army, Air Force, and Marine Corps, or captain, for officers of the Naval Reserve, those who have neither (i) failed of selection for promotion to the next higher grade, nor (ii) been removed from a list of officers recommended for promotion to that grade.

"(B) In the case of officers in the grade of colonel or brigadier general, for reserve officers of the Army and Marine Corps, or in the grade of captain or rear admiral (lower half), for reserve officers of the Navy, those who have neither (i) been recommended for promotion to the next higher grade when considered in the promotion zone, nor (ii) been removed from a list of officers recommended for promotion to that grade.

"(2) Those officers who are senior to the officer designated by the Secretary of the military department concerned to be the junior officer in the promotion zone eligible for consideration for promotion to the next higher grade and the officer so designated.

"(3) Those officers who—

"(A) have been selected from below the zone for promotion to the next higher grade or by a vacancy promotion board, but whose names were removed from the list of officers recommended for promotion to that next higher grade resulting from that selection;

"(B) have not failed of selection for promotion to that next higher grade; and

"(C) are senior to the officer designated by the Secretary of the military department concerned to be the junior officer in the promotion zone eligible for consideration for promotion to that next higher grade and the officer so designated.

"(b) OFFICERS ABOVE THE ZONE.—Officers on the reserve active-status list are considered to be above the promotion zone for a grade and competitive category if they—

"(1) are eligible for consideration for promotion to the next higher grade;

"(2) are in the same grade as those officers in the promotion zone for that competitive category; and

"(3) are senior to the senior officer in the promotion zone for that competitive category.

"(c) OFFICERS BELOW THE ZONE.—Officers on the reserve active-status list are considered to be below the promotion zone for a grade and competitive category if they—

"(1) are eligible for consideration for promotion to the next higher grade;

"(2) are in the same grade as those officers in the promotion zone for that competitive category; and

"(3) are junior to the junior officer in the promotion zone for that competitive category.

"§14303. Eligibility for consideration for promotion: minimum years of service in grade

"(a) OFFICERS IN PAY GRADES O-1 AND O-2.—An officer who is on the reserve active-status list of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps and holds a permanent appointment in the grade of second lieutenant or first lieutenant as a reserve officer of the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps, or in the grade of ensign or lieutenant (junior grade) as a reserve officer of the Navy, may not be promoted to the next higher grade, or granted Federal recognition in that grade, until the officer has completed the following years of service in grade:

"(1) Eighteen months, in the case of an officer holding a permanent appointment in the grade of second lieutenant or ensign.

"(2) Two years, in the case of an officer holding a permanent appointment in the grade of first lieutenant or lieutenant (junior grade).

"(b) OFFICERS IN PAY GRADES O-3 AND ABOVE.—Subject to subsection (d), an officer who is on the reserve active-status list of the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps and holds a permanent appointment in a grade above first lieutenant, or who is on the reserve active-status list of the Navy in a grade above lieutenant (junior grade), may not be considered for selection for promotion to the next higher grade, or examined for Federal recognition in the next higher grade, until the officer has completed the following years of service in grade:

"(1) Three years, in the case of an officer of the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps holding a permanent appointment in the grade of captain, major, or lieutenant colonel or in the case of a reserve officer of the Navy holding a permanent appointment in the grade of lieutenant, lieutenant commander, or commander.

"(2) One year, in the case of an officer of the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps holding a permanent appointment in the grade of colonel or brigadier general or in the case of a reserve officer of the Navy holding a permanent appointment in the grade of captain or rear admiral (lower half).

This subsection does not apply to an adjutant general or assistant adjutant general of a State or to an appointment in a higher grade which is based upon a specific provision of law.

"(c) AUTHORITY TO LENGTHEN MINIMUM PERIOD IN GRADE.—The Secretary concerned may prescribe a period of service in grade for eligibility for promotion, in the case of officers to whom subsection (a) applies, or for eligibility for consideration for promotion, in the case of officers to whom subsection (b) applies, that is longer than the applicable period specified in that subsection.

"(d) WAIVERS TO ENSURE TWO BELOW-THE-ZONE CONSIDERATIONS.—Subject to section 14307(b) of this title, the Secretary of the military department concerned may waive subsection (b) to the extent necessary to ensure that officers described in paragraph (1) of that subsection have at least two opportunities for consideration for promotion to the next higher grade as officers below the promotion zone.

"§14304. Eligibility for consideration for promotion: maximum years of service in grade

"(a) CONSIDERATION FOR PROMOTION WITHIN SPECIFIED TIMES.—(1) Officers described in paragraph (3) shall be placed in the promotion zone for that officer's grade and competitive category, and shall be considered for promotion to the next higher grade by a promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title, far enough in advance of completing the years of service in grade specified in the following table so that, if the officer is recommended for promotion, the promotion may be effective on or before the date on which the officer will complete those years of service.

"Current Grade	Maximum years of service in grade
"First lieutenant or Lieutenant (junior grade)	5 years
"Captain or Navy Lieutenant	7 years
"Major or Lieutenant commander	7 years

"(2) Paragraph (1) is subject to subsections (a), (b), and (c) of section 14301 of this title and applies without regard to vacancies.

"(3) Paragraph (1) applies to an officer who is on the reserve active-status list of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps and who holds a permanent appointment in the grade of first lieutenant, captain, or major as a reserve of the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps, or to an officer on the reserve active-status list of the Navy in the grade of lieutenant (junior grade), lieutenant, or lieutenant commander as a reserve of the Navy, and who, while holding that appointment, has not been considered by a selection board convened under section 14101(a) or 14502 of this title for promotion to the next higher grade.

"(b) PROMOTION DATE.—An officer holding a permanent grade specified in the table in subsection (a) who is recommended for promotion to the next higher grade by a selection board the first time the officer is considered for promotion while in or above the promotion zone and who is placed on an approved promotion list established under section 14308(a) of this title shall (if not promoted sooner or removed from that list by the President or by reason of declination) be promoted, without regard to the existence of a vacancy, on the date on which the officer completes the maximum years of service in grade specified in subsection (a). The preceding sentence is subject to the limitations of section 12011 of this title.

"(c) WAIVER AUTHORITY FOR NAVY AND MARINE CORPS RUNNING MATE SYSTEM.—If the Secretary of the Navy establishes promotion zones for officers on the reserve active-status list of the Navy or the Marine Corps Reserve in accordance with a running mate system under section 14306 of this title, the Secretary may waive the requirements of subsection (a) to the extent the Secretary considers necessary in any case in which the years of service for promotion, or for consideration for promotion, within those zones will exceed the maximum years of service in grade specified in subsection (a).

"§14305. Establishment of promotion zones: mandatory consideration for promotion

"(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF ZONE.—Before convening a mandatory promotion board under section 14101(a) of this title, the Secretary of the military department concerned shall establish a promotion zone for officers serving in each grade and competitive category to be considered by the board.

"(b) NUMBER IN THE ZONE.—The Secretary concerned shall determine the number of officers in the promotion zone for officers serving in any grade and competitive category from among officers who are eligible for promotion in that grade and competitive category under the provisions of sections 14303 and 14304 of this title and who are otherwise eligible for promotion.

"(c) FACTORS IN DETERMINING NUMBER IN THE ZONE.—The Secretary's determination under subsection (b) shall be made on the basis of an estimate of the following:

"(1) The number of officers needed in that competitive category in the next higher grade in each of the next five years.

"(2) In the case of a promotion zone for officers to be promoted to a grade to which the maximum years of in grade criteria established in section 14304 of this title apply, the number of officers in that competitive category who are required to be considered for selection for promotion to the next higher grade under that section.

"(3) The number of officers that should be placed in the promotion zone in each of the next five years to provide to officers in those years relatively similar opportunities for promotion.

"§14306. Establishment of promotion zones: Naval Reserve and Marine Corps Reserve running mate system

"(a) AUTHORITY OF SECRETARY OF THE NAVY.—The Secretary of the Navy may by regulation implement section 14305 of this title by requiring that the promotion zone for consideration of officers on the reserve active-status list of the Navy or the Marine Corps for promotion to the next higher grade be determined in accordance with a running mate system as provided in subsection (b).

"(b) ASSIGNMENT OF RUNNING MATES.—An officer to whom a running mate system applies shall be assigned as a running mate an officer of the same grade on the active-duty list of the same armed force. The officer on the reserve active-status list is in the promotion zone and is eligible for consideration for promotion to the next higher grade by a selection board convened under section 14101(a) of this title when that officer's running mate is in or above the promotion zone established for that officer's grade under chapter 36 of this title.

"(c) CONSIDERATION OF OFFICERS BELOW THE ZONE UNDER A RUNNING MATE SYSTEM.—If the Secretary of the Navy authorizes the selection of officers for promotion from below the promotion zone in accordance with section 14307 of this title, the number of officers to be considered from below the zone may be established through the application of the running mate system or otherwise as the Secretary determines to be appropriate to meet the needs of the Navy or Marine Corps.

"§14307. Number of officers to be recommended for promotion

"(a) DETERMINATION OF MAXIMUM NUMBER.—Before convening a promotion board under section 14101(a) of this title for a grade and competitive category (other than a vacancy promotion board), the Secretary of the military department concerned, under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, shall determine the maximum number of officers in that grade and competitive category that the board may recommend for promotion. The Secretary shall make the determination under the preceding sentence of the maximum number that may be recommended with a view to having on the reserve active-status list a sufficient number of officers in each grade and competitive category to meet the needs of the armed force concerned for officers on that list. In order to make that determination, the Secretary shall determine (1) the number of positions needed to accomplish mission objectives which require officers of such competitive category in the grade to which the board will recommend officers for promotion, (2) the estimated number of officers needed to fill vacancies in such positions during the period in which it is anticipated that officers selected for promotion will be promoted, (3) the number of officers authorized by the Secretary of the military department concerned to serve on the reserve active-status list in the grade and competitive category under consideration, and (4) any statutory limitation on the number of officers in any grade or category (or combination thereof) authorized to be on the reserve active-status list.

"(b) BELOW-THE-ZONE SELECTIONS.—(1) The Secretary of the military department concerned may, when the needs of the armed force concerned require, authorize the consideration of officers in the grade of captain, major, or lieutenant colonel on the reserve active-status list of the Army or Air Force, in a grade above first lieutenant on the reserve active-status list of the Marine Corps, or in a grade above lieutenant (junior grade) on the reserve active-status list of the Navy, for promotion to the next higher grade from below the promotion zone.

"(2) When selection from below the promotion zone is authorized, the Secretary shall establish the number of officers that may be recommended for promotion from below the promotion zone in each competitive category to be considered. That number may not exceed the number equal to 10 percent of the maximum number of officers that the board is authorized to recommend for promotion in such competitive category, except that the Secretary of Defense may authorize a greater number, not to exceed 15 percent of the total number of officers that the board is authorized to recommend for promotion, if the Secretary of Defense determines that the needs of the armed force concerned so require. If the maximum number determined under this paragraph is less than one, the board may recommend one officer for promotion from below the promotion zone.

"(3) The number of officers recommended for promotion from below the promotion zone does not increase the maximum number of officers that the board is authorized to recommend for promotion under subsection (a).

"§14308. Promotions: how made

"(a) PROMOTION LIST.—When the report of a selection board convened under section 14101(a) or 14502 of this title is approved by the President, the Secretary of the military department concerned shall place the names of all officers selected for promotion within a competitive category on a single list for that competitive category, to be known as a promotion list, in the order of seniority of those officers on the reserve active-status list.

"(b) PROMOTION; HOW MADE; ORDER.—(1) Officers on a promotion list for a competitive category shall be promoted in the manner specified in section 12203 of this title.

"(2) Officers on a promotion list for a competitive category shall be promoted to the next higher grade in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the military department concerned. Except as provided in section 14311, 14312, or 14502(e) of this title or in subsection (d) or (e), promotions shall be made in the order in which the names of officers appear on the promotion list and after officers previously selected for promotion in that competitive category have been promoted.

"(3) Officers to be promoted to the grade of first lieutenant or lieutenant (junior grade) shall be promoted in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the military department concerned.

"(c) DATE OF RANK.—(1) The date of rank of an officer appointed to a higher grade under this section is determined under section 741(d)(2) of this title.

"(2) Except as specifically authorized by law, a reserve officer is not entitled to additional pay or allowances if the effective date of the officer's promotion is adjusted to reflect a date earlier than the actual date of the officer's promotion.

"(d) OFFICERS WITH RUNNING MATES.—An officer to whom a running mate system applies under section 14306 of this title and who is selected for promotion is eligible for promotion to the grade for which selected when the officer who is that officer's running mate becomes eligible for promotion under chapter 36 of this title. The effective date of the promotion of that officer shall be the same as that of the officer's running mate in the grade to which the running mate is promoted.

"(e) ARMY RESERVE AND AIR FORCE RESERVE PROMOTIONS TO FILL VACANCIES.—Subject to this section and to section 14311(e) of this title, and under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the military department concerned—

"(1) an officer in the Army Reserve or the Air Force Reserve who is on a promotion list as a result of selection for promotion by a mandatory promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title or a board convened under section 14502 or chapter 36 of this title may be promoted at any time to fill a vacancy in a position to which the officer is assigned; and

"(2) an officer in the Army Reserve or the Air Force Reserve who is on a promotion list as a result of selection for promotion by a vacancy promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title may be promoted at any time to fill the vacancy for which the officer was selected.

"(f) EFFECTIVE DATE OF PROMOTION AFTER FEDERAL RECOGNITION.—The effective date of a promotion of a reserve commissioned officer of the Army or the Air Force who is extended Federal recognition in the next higher grade in the Army National Guard or the Air National Guard under section 307 or 310 of title 32 shall be the date on which such Federal recognition in that grade is so extended.

"(g) ARMY AND AIR FORCE GENERAL OFFICER PROMOTIONS.—A reserve officer of the Army who is on a promotion list for promotion to the grade of brigadier general or major general as a result of selection by a vacancy promotion board may be promoted to that grade only to fill a vacancy in that grade in a unit of the Army Reserve that is organized to serve as a unit and that has attained the strength prescribed by the Secretary of the Army. A reserve officer of the Air Force who is on a promotion list for promotion to the grade of brigadier general or major general as a result of selection by a vacancy promotion board may be promoted to that grade only to fill a vacancy in the Air Force Reserve in that grade.

"§14309. Acceptance of promotion; oath of office

"(a) ACCEPTANCE.—An officer who is appointed to a higher grade under this chapter shall be considered to have accepted the appointment on the date on which the appointment is made unless the officer expressly declines the appointment or is granted a delay of promotion under section 14312 of this title.

"(b) OATH.—An officer who has served continuously since taking the oath of office prescribed in section 3331 of title 5 is not required to take a new oath upon appointment to a higher grade under this chapter.

"§14310. Removal of officers from a list of officers recommended for promotion

"(a) REMOVAL BY PRESIDENT.—The President may remove the name of any officer from a promotion list at any time before the date on which the officer is promoted.

"(b) REMOVAL FOR WITHHOLDING OF SENATE ADVICE AND CONSENT.—If the Senate does not give its advice and consent to the appointment to the next higher grade of an officer whose name is on a list of officers approved by the President for promotion (except in the case of promotions to a reserve grade to which appointments may be made by the President alone), the name of that officer shall be removed from the list.

"(c) CONTINUED ELIGIBILITY FOR PROMOTION.—An officer whose name is removed from a list under subsection (a) or (b) continues to be eligible for consideration for promotion. If that officer is recommended for promotion by the next selection board convened for that officer's grade and competitive category and the officer is promoted, the Secretary of the military department concerned may, upon the promotion, grant the officer the same date of rank, the same effective date for the pay and allowances of the grade to which promoted, and the same position on the reserve active-status list, as the officer would have had if the officer's name had not been removed from the list.

"§14311. Delay of promotion: involuntary

"(a) DELAY DURING INVESTIGATIONS AND PROCEEDINGS.—(1) Under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the military department concerned, the appointment of an officer to a higher grade may be delayed if any of the following applies before the date on which the appointment would otherwise be made:

"(A) Sworn charges against the officer have been received by an officer exercising general court-martial jurisdiction over the officer and the charges have not been disposed of.

"(B) An investigation is being conducted to determine whether disciplinary action of any kind should be brought against the officer.

"(C) A board of officers has been convened under section 14903 of this title to review the record of the officer.

"(D) A criminal proceeding in a Federal or State court of competent jurisdiction is pending against the officer.

"(2) If disciplinary action is not taken against the officer, if the charges against the officer are withdrawn or dismissed, if the officer is not separated by the Secretary of the military department concerned as the result of having been required to show cause for retention, or if the officer is acquitted of the charges, as the case may be, then (unless action to delay the officer's appointment to the higher grade has been taken under subsection (b)) the officer shall be retained on the promotion list, list of officers found qualified for Federal recognition, or list of officers nominated by the President to the Senate for appointment in a higher reserve grade and shall, upon promotion to the next higher grade, have the same date of rank, the same effective date for the pay and allowances of the grade to which promoted, and the same position on the reserve active-status list as the officer would have had if no delay had intervened, unless the Secretary concerned determines that the officer was unqualified for promotion for any part of the delay. If the Secretary makes such a determination, the Secretary may adjust such date of rank, effective date of pay and allowances, and position on the reserve active-status list as the Secretary considers appropriate under the circumstances.

"(b) DELAY FOR LACK OF QUALIFICATIONS.—Under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the military department concerned, the appointment of an officer to a higher grade may also be delayed if there is cause to believe that the officer is mentally, physically, morally, or professionally unqualified to perform the duties of the grade to which selected. If the Secretary concerned later determines that the officer is qualified for promotion to the higher grade, the officer shall be retained on the promotion list, the list of officers found qualified for Federal recognition, or list of officers nominated by the President to the Senate for appointment in a higher reserve grade, and shall, upon promotion to that grade, have the same date or rank, the same effective date for pay and allowances of that grade, and the same position on the reserve active-status list as the officer would have had if no delay had intervened, unless the Secretary concerned determines that the officer was unqualified for promotion for any part of the delay. If the Secretary makes such a determination, the Secretary may adjust such date of rank, effective date of pay and allowances, and position on the reserve active-status list as the Secretary considers appropriate under the circumstances.

"(c) NOTICE TO OFFICER.—(1) The appointment of an officer to a higher grade may not be delayed under subsection (a) or (b) unless the officer is given written notice of the grounds for the delay. The preceding sentence does not apply if it is impracticable to give the officer written notice before the date on which the appointment to the higher grade would otherwise take effect, but in such a case the written notice shall be given as soon as practicable.

"(2) An officer whose promotion is delayed under subsection (a) or (b) shall be given an opportunity to make a written statement to the Secretary of the military department concerned in response to the action taken. The Secretary shall give consideration to any such statement.

"(d) MAXIMUM LENGTH OF DELAY IN PROMOTION.—The appointment of an officer to a higher grade may not be delayed under subsection (a) or (b) for more than six months after the date on which the officer would otherwise have been promoted unless the Secretary concerned specifies a further period of delay. An officer's appointment may not be delayed more than 90 days after final action has been taken in any criminal case against the officer in a Federal or State court of competent jurisdiction or more than 90 days after final action has been taken in any court-martial case against the officer. Except for court action, a promotion may not be delayed more than 18 months after the date on which the officer would otherwise have been promoted.

"(e) DELAY BECAUSE OF LIMITATIONS ON OFFICER STRENGTH IN GRADE OR DUTIES TO WHICH ASSIGNED.—(1) Under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, the promotion of a reserve officer on the reserve active-status list who is serving on active duty, or who is on full-time National Guard duty for administration of the reserves or the National Guard, to a grade to which the strength limitations of section 12011 of this title apply shall be delayed if necessary to ensure compliance with those strength limitations. The delay shall expire when the Secretary determines that the delay is no longer required to ensure such compliance.

"(2) The promotion of an officer described in paragraph (1) shall also be delayed while the officer is on duty described in that paragraph unless the Secretary of the military department concerned, under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, determines that the duty assignment of the officer requires a higher grade than the grade currently held by the officer.

"(3) The date of rank and position on the reserve active-status list of a reserve officer whose promotion to or Federal recognition in the next higher grade was delayed under paragraph (1) or (2) solely as the result of the limitations imposed under the regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense or contained in section 12011 of this title shall be the date on which the officer would have been promoted to or recognized in the higher grade had such limitations not existed.

"(4) If an officer whose promotion is delayed under paragraph (1) or (2) completes the period of active duty or full-time National Guard duty that the officer is required by law or regulation to perform as a member of a reserve component, the officer may request release from active duty or full-time National Guard duty. If the request is granted, the officer's promotion shall be effective upon the officer's release from such duty. The date of rank and position on the reserve active-status list of the officer shall be the date the officer would have been promoted to or recognized in the higher grade had the limitations imposed under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense contained in section 12011 of this title not existed. If an officer whose promotion is delayed under paragraph (1) or (2) has not completed the period of active duty or full-time National Guard duty that the officer is required by law or regulation to perform as a member of a reserve component, the officer may be retained on active duty or on full-time National Guard duty in the grade in which the officer was serving before the officer's being found qualified for Federal recognition or the officer's selection for the promotion until the officer completes that required period of duty.

"§14312. Delay of promotion: voluntary

"(a) AUTHORITY FOR VOLUNTARY DELAYS.—(1) The Secretary of the military department concerned may, by regulation, permit delays of a promotion of an officer who is recommended for promotion by a mandatory selection board convened under section 14101(a) or a special selection board convened under section 14502 of this title at the request of the officer concerned. Such delays, in the case of any promotion, may extend for any period not to exceed three years from the date on which the officer would otherwise be promoted.

"(2) Regulations under this section shall provide that—

"(A) a request for such a delay of promotion must be submitted by the officer concerned before the delay may be approved; and

"(B) denial of such a request shall not be considered to be a failure of selection for promotion unless the officer declines to accept a promotion under circumstances set forth in subsection (c).

"(b) EFFECT OF APPROVAL OF REQUEST.—If a request for delay of a promotion under subsection (a) is approved, the officer's name shall remain on the promotion list during the authorized period of delay (unless removed under any other provision of law). Upon the end of the period of the authorized delay, or at any time during such period, the officer may accept the promotion, which shall be effective on the date of acceptance. Such an acceptance of a promotion shall be made in accordance with regulations prescribed under this section.

"(c) EFFECT OF DECLINING A PROMOTION.—An officer's name shall be removed from the promotion list and, if the officer is serving in a grade below colonel or, in the case of the Navy, captain, the officer shall be considered to have failed of selection for promotion if any of the following applies:

"(1) The Secretary concerned has not authorized voluntary delays of promotion under subsection (a) to the grade concerned and the officer declines to accept an appointment to a higher grade.

"(2) The Secretary concerned has authorized voluntary delays of promotion under subsection (a), but has denied the request of the officer for a delay of promotion and the officer then declines to accept an appointment to a higher grade.

"(3) The Secretary concerned has approved the request of an officer for a delay of promotion and, upon the end of the period of delay authorized in accordance with regulations prescribed under subsection (a), the officer then declines to accept an appointment to a higher grade.

"§14313. Authority to vacate promotions to grade of brigadier general or rear admiral (lower half)

"(a) AUTHORITY.—The President may vacate the appointment of a reserve officer to the grade of brigadier general or rear admiral (lower half) if the period of time during which the officer has served in that grade after promotion to that grade is less than 18 months.

"(b) EFFECT OF PROMOTION BEING VACATED.—Except as provided in subsection (c), an officer whose promotion to the grade of brigadier general is vacated under this section holds the grade of colonel as a reserve of the armed force of which the officer is a member. An officer whose promotion to the grade of rear admiral (lower half) is vacated under this section holds the grade of captain in the Naval Reserve. Upon assuming the lower grade, the officer shall have the same position on the reserve active-status list as the officer would have had if the officer had not served in the higher grade.

"(c) SPECIAL RULE FOR OFFICERS SERVING AS ADJUTANT GENERAL.—In the case of an officer serving as an adjutant general or assistant adjutant general whose promotion to the grade of brigadier general is vacated under this section, the officer then holds the reserve grade held by that officer immediately before the officer's appointment as adjutant general or assistant adjutant general.

"§14314. Army and Air Force commissioned officers: generals ceasing to occupy positions commensurate with grade; State adjutants general

"(a) GENERAL OFFICERS.—Within 30 days after a reserve officer of the Army or the Air Force on the reserve active-status list in a general officer grade ceases to occupy a position commensurate with that grade (or commensurate with a higher grade), the Secretary concerned shall transfer or discharge the officer in accordance with whichever of the following the officer elects:

"(1) Transfer the officer in grade to the Retired Reserve, if the officer is qualified and applies for the transfer.

"(2) Transfer the officer in grade to the inactive status list of the Standby Reserve, if the officer is qualified.

"(3) Discharge the officer from the officer's reserve appointment and, if the officer is qualified and applies therefor, appoint the officer in the reserve grade held by the officer as a reserve officer before the officer's appointment in a general officer grade.

"(4) Discharge the officer from the officer's reserve appointment.

"(b) ADJUTANTS GENERAL.—If a reserve officer who is federally recognized in the Army National Guard or the Air National Guard solely because of the officer's appointment as adjutant general or assistant adjutant general of a State ceases to occupy that position, the Secretary concerned, not later than 30 days after the date on which the officer ceases to occupy that position, shall—

"(1) withdraw that officer's Federal recognition; and

"(2) require that the officer—

"(A) be transferred in grade to the Retired Reserve, if the officer is qualified and applies for the transfer;

"(B) be discharged from the officer's reserve appointment and appointed in the reserve grade held by the officer as a reserve officer of the Air Force immediately before the appointment of that officer as adjutant general or assistant adjutant general, if the officer is qualified and applies for that appointment; or

"(C) be discharged from the officer's reserve appointment.

"(c) CREDIT FOR SERVICE IN GRADE.—An officer who is appointed under subsection (a)(3) or (b)(2)(B) shall be credited with an amount of service in the grade in which appointed that is equal to the amount of prior service in an active status in that grade and in any higher grade.

"§14315. Position vacancy promotions: Army and Air Force officers

"(a) OFFICERS ELIGIBLE FOR CONSIDERATION FOR VACANCY PROMOTIONS BELOW BRIGADIER GENERAL.—A reserve officer of the Army who is in the Army Reserve, or a Reserve officer of the Air Force who is in the Air Force Reserve, who is on the reserve active-status list in the grade of first lieutenant, captain, major, or lieutenant colonel is eligible for consideration for promotion to the next higher grade under this section if each of the following applies:

"(1) The officer is occupying or, as determined by the Secretary concerned, is available to occupy a position in the same competitive category as the officer and for which a grade higher than the one held by that officer is authorized.

"(2) The officer is fully qualified to meet all requirements for the position as established by the Secretary of the military department concerned.

"(3) The officer has held the officer's present grade for the minimum period of service prescribed in section 14303 of this title for eligibility for consideration for promotion to the higher grade.

"(b) CONSIDERATION FOR VACANCY PROMOTION TO BRIGADIER GENERAL OR MAJOR GENERAL.—(1) A reserve officer of the Army who is in the Army Reserve and on the reserve active-status list in the grade of colonel or brigadier general may be considered for promotion to the next higher grade under this section if the officer (A) is assigned to the duties of a general officer of the next higher reserve grade in a unit of the Army Reserve organized to serve as a unit, (B) has held the officer's present grade for the minimum period of service prescribed in section 14303 of this title for eligibility for consideration for promotion to the higher grade, and (C) meets the standards for consideration prescribed by the Secretary of the Army.

"(2) A reserve officer of the Air Force who is in the Air Force Reserve and on the reserve active-status list in the grade of colonel or brigadier general may be considered for promotion to the next higher grade under this section if the officer (A) is assigned to the duties of a general officer of the next higher reserve grade, and (B) meets the standards for consideration prescribed by the Secretary of the Air Force.

"(c) VACANCY PROMOTION BOARDS.—Consideration for promotion under this section shall be by a vacancy promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title.

"(d) EFFECT OF NONSELECTION.—An officer who is considered for promotion under this section and is not selected shall not be considered to have failed of selection for promotion.

"(e) SPECIAL RULE FOR OFFICERS FAILED OF SELECTION.—A reserve officer of the Army or the Air Force who is considered as failed of selection for promotion under section 14501 of this title to a grade may be considered for promotion under this section or, if selected, promoted to that grade only if the Secretary of the military department concerned finds that the officer is the only qualified officer available to fill the vacancy. The Secretary concerned may not delegate the authority under the preceding sentence.

"§14316. Army National Guard and Air National Guard: appointment to and Federal recognition in a higher reserve grade after selection for promotion

"(a) OPPORTUNITY FOR PROMOTION TO FILL A VACANCY IN THE GUARD.—If an officer of the Army National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States is recommended by a mandatory selection board convened under section 14101(a) or a special selection board convened under section 14502 of this title for promotion to the next higher grade, an opportunity shall be given to the appropriate authority of the State to promote that officer to fill a vacancy in the Army National Guard or the Air National Guard of that jurisdiction.

"(b) AUTOMATIC FEDERAL RECOGNITION.—An officer of the Army National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States who is on a promotion list for promotion to the next higher grade as a result of selection for promotion as described in subsection (a) and who before the date of promotion is appointed in that higher grade to fill a vacancy in the Army National Guard or Air National Guard shall—

"(1) be extended Federal recognition in that grade, without the examination prescribed in section 307 of title 32; and

"(2) subject to section 14311(e) of this title, be promoted to that reserve grade effective on the date of the officer's appointment in that grade in the Army National Guard or Air National Guard.

"(c) NATIONAL GUARD OFFICERS FAILED OF SELECTION.—An officer who is considered as failed of selection for promotion under section 14501 of this title to a grade may be extended Federal recognition in that grade only if the Secretary of the military department concerned finds that the officer is the only qualified officer available to fill a vacancy. The Secretary concerned may not delegate the authority under the preceding sentence.

"(d) TRANSFER TO ARMY RESERVE OR AIR FORCE RESERVE.—If, on the date on which an officer of the Army National Guard of the United States or of the Air National Guard of the United States who is on a promotion list as described in subsection (a) is to be promoted, the officer has not been promoted to fill a vacancy in the higher grade in the Army National Guard or the Air National Guard, the officer's Federal recognition in the officer's reserve grade shall be withdrawn and the officer shall be promoted and transferred to the Army Reserve or the Air Force Reserve as appropriate.

"§14317. Officers in transition to and from the active-status list or active-duty list

"(a) EFFECT OF TRANSFER TO INACTIVE STATUS OR RETIRED STATUS.—If a reserve officer on the reserve active-status list is transferred to an inactive status or to a retired status after having been recommended for promotion to a higher grade under this chapter or chapter 36 of this title, or after having been found qualified for Federal recognition in the higher grade under title 32, but before being promoted, the officer—

"(1) shall be treated as if the officer had not been considered and recommended for promotion by the selection board or examined and been found qualified for Federal recognition; and

"(2) may not be placed on a promotion list or promoted to the higher grade after returning to an active status, unless the officer is again recommended for promotion by a selection board convened under chapter 36 of this title or section 14101(a) or 14502 of this title or examined for Federal recognition under title 32.

"(b) EFFECT OF PLACEMENT ON ACTIVE-DUTY LIST.—A reserve officer who is on a promotion list as a result of selection for promotion by a mandatory promotion board convened under section 14101(a) or a special selection board convened under section 14502 of this title and who before being promoted is placed on the active-duty list of the same armed force and placed in the same competitive category shall, under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, be placed on an appropriate promotion list for officers on the active-duty list established under chapter 36 of this title.

"(c) OFFICERS ON A PROMOTION LIST REMOVED FROM ACTIVE-DUTY LIST.—An officer who is on the active-duty list and is on a promotion list as the result of selection for promotion by a selection board convened under chapter 36 of this title and who before being promoted is removed from the active-duty list and placed on the reserve active-status list of the same armed force and in the same competitive category (including a regular officer who on removal from the active-duty list is appointed as a reserve officer and placed on the reserve active-status list) shall, under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, be placed on an appropriate promotion list established under this chapter.

"(d) OFFICERS SELECTED FOR POSITION VACANCIES.—If a reserve officer is ordered to active duty (other than active duty for training) or full-time National Guard duty (other than full-time National Guard duty for training only) after being recommended for promotion under section 14314 of this title to fill a position vacancy or examined for Federal recognition under title 32, and before being promoted to fill that vacancy, the officer shall not be promoted while serving such active duty or full-time National Guard duty unless the officer is ordered to active duty as a member of the unit in which the vacancy exists when that unit is ordered to active duty. If, under this subsection, the name of an officer is removed from a list of officers recommended for promotion, the officer shall be treated as if the officer had not been considered for promotion or examined for Federal recognition.

"(e) Under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the military department concerned, a reserve officer who is not on the active-duty list and who is ordered to active duty in time of war or national emergency may, if eligible, be considered for promotion by a mandatory promotion board convened under section 14101(a) or a special selection board convened under section 14502 of this title for not more than two years from the date the officer is ordered to active duty unless the President suspends the operation of this section under the provisions of section 10213 or 644 of this title.

"§14501. Failure of selection for promotion

"(a) An officer on the reserve active-status list in a grade below the grade of colonel or, in the case of an officer in the Naval Reserve, captain who is in or above the promotion zone established for that officer's grade and competitive category and who (1) is considered but not recommended for promotion (other than by a vacancy promotion board), or (2) declines to accept a promotion for which selected (other than by a vacancy promotion board), shall be considered to have failed of selection for promotion.

"(b) OFFICERS TWICE FAILED OF SELECTION.—An officer shall be considered for all purposes to have twice failed of selection for promotion if any of the following applies:

"(1) The officer is considered but not recommended for promotion a second time by a mandatory promotion board convened under section 14101(a) or a special selection board convened under section 14502(a) of this title.

"(2) The officer declines to accept a promotion for which recommended by a mandatory promotion board convened under section 14101(a) or a special selection board convened under section 14502(a) or 14502(b) of this title after previously failing of selection or after the officer's name was removed from the report of a selection board under section 14111(b) or from a promotion list under section 14310 of this title after recommendation for promotion by an earlier selection board described in subsection (a).

"(3) The officer's name has been removed from the report of a selection board under section 14111(b) or from a promotion list under section 14310 of this title after recommendation by a mandatory promotion board convened under section 14101(a) or by a special selection board convened under section 14502(a) or 14502(b) of this title and—

"(A) the officer is not recommended for promotion by the next mandatory promotion board convened under section 14101(a) or special selection board convened under section 14502(a) of this title for that officer's grade and competitive category; or

"(B) the officer's name is again removed from the report of a selection board under section 14111(b) or from a promotion list under section 14310 of this title.

"§14502. Special selection boards: correction of errors

"(a) OFFICERS NOT CONSIDERED BECAUSE OF ADMINISTRATIVE ERROR.—(1) In the case of an officer or former officer who the Secretary of the military department concerned determines was not considered for selection for promotion from in or above the promotion zone by a mandatory promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title because of administrative error, the Secretary concerned shall convene a special selection board under this subsection to determine whether such officer or former officer should be recommended for promotion. Any such board shall be convened under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense and shall be appointed and composed in accordance with section 14102 of this title and shall include the representation of competitive categories required by that section. The members of a board convened under this subsection shall be required to take an oath in the same manner as prescribed in section 14103 of this title.

"(2) A special selection board convened under this subsection shall consider the record of the officer or former officer as that record would have appeared to the promotion board that should have considered the officer or former officer. That record shall be compared with a sampling of the records of those officers of the same grade and competitive category who were recommended for promotion and those officers of the same grade and competitive category who were not recommended for promotion by that board.

"(3) If a special selection board convened under paragraph (1) does not recommend for promotion an officer or former officer in a grade below the grade of colonel or, in the case of an officer or former officer of the Navy, captain, whose name was referred to it for consideration, the officer or former officer shall be considered to have failed of selection for promotion.

"(b) OFFICERS CONSIDERED BUT NOT SELECTED; MATERIAL ERROR.—(1) In the case of an officer or former officer who was eligible for promotion and was considered for selection for promotion from in or above the promotion zone under this chapter by a selection board but was not selected, the Secretary of the military department concerned may, under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, convene a special selection board under this subsection to determine whether the officer or former officer should be recommended for promotion, if the Secretary determines that—

"(A) the action of the selection board that considered the officer or former officer was contrary to law or involved material error of fact or material administrative error; or

"(B) the selection board did not have before it for its consideration material information.

"(2) A special selection board convened under paragraph (1) shall be appointed and composed in accordance with section 14102 of this title (including the representation of competitive categories required by that section), and the members of such a board shall take an oath in the same manner as prescribed in section 14103 of this title.

"(3) Such board shall consider the record of the officer or former officer as that record, if corrected, would have appeared to the selection board that considered the officer or former officer. That record shall be compared with a sampling of the records of those officers of the same grade and competitive category who were recommended for promotion and those officers of the same grade and competitive category who were not recommended for promotion by that board.

"(4) If a special selection board convened under paragraph (1) does not recommend for promotion an officer or former officer in the grade of lieutenant colonel or commander or below whose name was referred to it for consideration, the officer or former officer shall be considered to have failed of selection for promotion by the board which did consider the officer but incurs no additional failure of selection for promotion from the action of the special selection board.

"(c) Report.—Each special selection board convened under this section shall submit to the Secretary of the military department concerned a written report, signed by each member of the board, containing the name of each officer it recommends for promotion and certifying that the board has considered carefully the record of each officer whose name was referred to it.

"(d) Applicable Provisions.—The provisions of sections 14104, 14109, 14110, and 14111 of this title apply to the report and proceedings of a special selection board convened under this section in the same manner as they apply to the report and proceedings of a promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title.

"(e) Appointment of Officers Recommended for Promotion.—(1) An officer whose name is placed on a promotion list as a result of recommendation for promotion by a special selection board convened under this section, shall, as soon as practicable, be appointed to the next higher grade in accordance with the law and policies which would have been applicable had he been recommended for promotion by the board which should have considered or which did consider him.

"(2) An officer who is promoted to the next higher grade as the result of the recommendation of a special selection board convened under this section shall, upon such promotion, have the same date of rank, the same effective date for the pay and allowances of that grade, and the same position on the reserve active-status list as the officer would have had if the officer had been recommended for promotion to that grade by the selection board which should have considered, or which did consider, the officer.

"(3) If the report of a special selection board convened under this section, as approved by the President, recommends for promotion to the next higher grade an officer not currently eligible for promotion or a former officer whose name was referred to it for consideration, the Secretary concerned may act under section 1552 of this title to correct the military record of the officer or former officer to correct an error or remove an injustice resulting from not being selected for promotion by the board which should have considered, or which did consider, the officer.

"(f) Time Limits for Consideration.—The Secretary of Defense may prescribe by regulation the circumstances under which consideration by a special selection board is contingent upon application for consideration by an officer or former officer and time limits within which an officer or former officer must make such application in order to be considered by a special selection board under this section.

"(g) Limitation of Other Jurisdiction.—No official or court of the United States shall have power or jurisdiction—

"(1) over any claim based in any way on the failure of an officer or former officer of the armed forces to be selected for promotion by a selection board convened under chapter 1403 of this title until—

"(A) the claim has been referred to a special selection board by the Secretary concerned and acted upon by that board; or

"(B) the claim has been rejected by the Secretary without consideration by a special selection board; or

"(2) to grant any relief on such a claim unless the officer or former officer has been selected for promotion by a special selection board convened under this section to consider the officer's claim.

"(h) Judicial Review.—(1) A court of the United States may review a determination by the Secretary concerned under subsection (a)(1), (b)(1), or (e)(3) not to convene a special selection board. If a court finds the determination to be arbitrary or capricious, not based on substantial evidence, or otherwise contrary to law, it shall remand the case to the Secretary concerned, who shall provide for consideration of the officer or former officer by a special selection board under this section.

"(2) If a court finds that the action of a special selection board which considers an officer or former officer was contrary to law or involved material error of fact or material administrative error, it shall remand the case to the Secretary concerned, who shall provide the officer or former officer reconsideration by a new special selection board.

"(i) Designation of Boards.—The Secretary of the military department concerned may designate a promotion board convened under section 14101(a) of this title as a special selection board convened under this section. A board so designated may function in both capacities.

"§14503. Discharge of officers with less than five years of commissioned service or found not qualified for promotion to first lieutenant or lieutenant (junior grade)

"(a) Authorized Discharges.—The Secretary of the military department concerned may discharge any reserve officer who—

"(1) has less than five years of service in an active status as a commissioned officer; or

"(2) is serving in the grade of second lieutenant or ensign and has been found not qualified for promotion to the grade of first lieutenant or lieutenant (junior grade).

"(b) Time for Discharge.—(1) An officer described in subsection (a)(2)—

"(A) may be discharged at any time after being found not qualified for promotion; and

"(B) if not sooner discharged, shall be discharged at the end of the 18-month period beginning on the date on which the officer is first found not qualified for promotion.

"(2) Paragraph (1) shall not apply if the officer is sooner promoted.

"(c) Regulations.—Discharges under this section shall be made under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense and may be made without regard to section 12645 of this title.

"§14504. Effect of failure of selection for promotion: reserve first lieutenants of the Army, Air Force, and Marine Corps and reserve lieutenants (junior grade) of the Navy

"(a) General Rule.—A first lieutenant on the reserve active-status list of the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps or a lieutenant (junior grade) on the reserve active-status list of the Navy who has failed of selection for promotion to the next higher grade for the second time and whose name is not on a list of officers recommended for promotion to the next higher grade shall be separated in accordance with section 14513 of this title not later than the first day of the seventh month after the month in which the President approves the report of the board which considered the officer for the second time.

"(b) Exceptions.—Subsection (a) does not apply (1) in the case of an officer retained as provided by regulation of the Secretary of the military department concerned in order to meet planned mobilization needs for a period not in excess of 24 months beginning with the date on which the President approves the report of the selection board which resulted in the second failure, or (2) as provided in section 12646 or 12686 of this title.

"§14505. Effect of failure of selection for promotion: reserve captains of the Army, Air Force, and Marine Corps and reserve lieutenants of the Navy

"Unless retained as provided in section 12646 or 12686 of this title, a captain on the reserve active-status list of the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps or a lieutenant on the reserve active-status list of the Navy who has failed of selection for promotion to the next higher grade for the second time and whose name is not on a list of officers recommended for promotion to the next higher grade and who has not been selected for continuation on the reserve active-status list under section 14701 of this title, shall be separated in accordance with section 14513 of this title not later than the first day of the seventh month after the month in which the President approves the report of the board which considered the officer for the second time.

"§14506. Effect of failure of selection for promotion: reserve majors of the Army, Air Force and Marine Corps and reserve lieutenant commanders of the Navy

"Unless retained as provided in section 12646, 12686, 14701, or 14702 of this title, each reserve officer of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps who holds the grade of major or lieutenant commander who has failed of selection to the next higher grade for the second time and whose name is not on a list of officers recommended for promotion to the next higher grade shall, if not earlier removed from the reserve active-status list, be removed from that list in accordance with section 14513 of this title on the first day of the month after the month in which the officer completes 20 years of commissioned service.

"§14507. Removal from the reserve active-status list for years of service: reserve lieutenant colonels and colonels of the Army, Air Force, and Marine Corps and reserve commanders and captains of the Navy

"(a) Lieutenant Colonels and Commanders.—Unless continued on the reserve active-status list under section 14701 or 14702 of this title or retained as provided in section 12646 or 12686 of this title, each reserve officer of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps who holds the grade of lieutenant colonel or commander and who is not on a list of officers recommended for promotion to the next higher grade shall (if not earlier removed from the reserve active-status list) be removed from that list under section 14514 of this title on the first day of the month after the month in which the officer completes 28 years of commissioned service.

"(b) Colonels and Navy Captains.—Unless continued on the reserve active-status list under section 14701 or 14702 of this title or retained as provided in section 12646 or 12686 of this title, each reserve officer of the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps who holds the grade of colonel, and each reserve officer of the Navy who holds the grade of captain, and who is not on a list of officers recommended for promotion to the next higher grade shall (if not earlier removed from the reserve active-status list) be removed from that list under section 14514 of this title on the first day of the month after the month in which the officer completes 30 years of commissioned service. This subsection does not apply to the adjutant general or assistant adjutants general of a State.

"§14508. Removal from the reserve active-status list for years of service: reserve general and flag officers

"(a) Thirty Years Service or Five Years in Grade.—Unless retired, transferred to the Retired Reserve, or discharged at an earlier date, each reserve officer of the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps in the grade of brigadier general who has not been recommended for promotion to the grade of major general, and each reserve officer of the Navy in the grade of rear admiral (lower half) who has not been recommended for promotion to rear admiral shall, 30 days after completion of 30 years of commissioned service or on the fifth anniversary of the date of the officer's appointment in the grade of brigadier general or rear admiral (lower half), whichever is later, be separated in accordance with section 14514 of this title.

"(b) THIRTY-FIVE YEARS SERVICE OR FIVE YEARS IN GRADE.—Unless retired, transferred to the Retired Reserve, or discharged at an earlier date, each reserve officer of the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps in the grade of major general, and each reserve officer of the Navy in the grade of rear admiral, shall, 30 days after completion of 35 years of commissioned service or on the fifth anniversary of the date of the officer's appointment in the grade of major general or rear admiral, whichever is later, be separated in accordance with section 14514 of this title.

"(c) RETENTION OF BRIGADIER GENERALS.—A reserve officer of the Army or Air Force in the grade of brigadier general who would otherwise be removed from an active status under this subsection (a) may, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Army or the Secretary of the Air Force, as the case may be, be retained in an active status, but not later than the date on which the officer becomes 60 years of age. Not more than 10 officers of the Army and not more than 10 officers of the Air Force may be retained under this subsection at any one time.

"(d) RETENTION OF MAJOR GENERALS.—A reserve officer of the Army or Air Force in the grade of major general who would otherwise be removed from an active status under this subsection (b) may, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Army or the Secretary of the Air Force, as the case may be, be retained in an active status, but not later than the date on which the officer becomes 62 years of age. Not more than 10 officers of the Army and not more than 10 officers of the Air Force may be retained under this subsection at any one time.

"(e) EXCEPTION FOR STATE ADJUTANTS GENERAL AND ASSISTANT ADJUTANTS GENERAL.—This section does not apply to an officer who is the adjutant general or assistant adjutant general of a State.

"§14509. Separation at age 60: reserve officers in grades below brigadier general or rear admiral (lower half)

"Each reserve officer of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps in a grade below brigadier general or rear admiral (lower half) who has not been recommended for promotion to the grade of brigadier general or rear admiral (lower half) and is not a member of the Retired Reserve shall, on the last day of the month in which that officer becomes 60 years of age, be separated in accordance with section 14515 of this title.

"§14510. Separation at age 60: reserve brigadier generals and rear admirals (lower half)

"Unless retired, transferred to the Retired Reserve, or discharged at an earlier date, each reserve officer of the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps in the grade of brigadier general who has not been recommended for promotion to the grade of major general, and each reserve rear admiral (lower half) of the Navy who has not been recommended for promotion to the grade of rear admiral, except an officer covered by section 14512 of this title, shall be separated in accordance with section 14515 of this title on the last day of the month in which the officer becomes 60 years of age.

"§14511. Separation at age 62: major generals and rear admirals

"Unless retired, transferred to the Retired Reserve, or discharged at an earlier date, each reserve officer of the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps in the grade of major general and each reserve officer of the Navy in the grade of rear admiral, except an officer covered by section 14512 of this title, shall be separated in accordance with section 14515 of this title on the last day of the month in which the officer becomes 62 years of age.

"§14512. Separation at age 64: officers holding certain offices

"(a) ARMY AND AIR FORCE.—Unless retired, transferred to the Retired Reserve, or discharged at an earlier date, a reserve officer of the Army or Air Force who is Chief of the National Guard Bureau, an adjutant general, or if a reserve officer of the Army, commanding general of the troops of a State, shall on the last day of the month in which the officer becomes 64 years of age, be separated in accordance with section 14515 of this title.

"(b) NAVY AND MARINE CORPS.—The Secretary of the Navy may defer the retirement under section 14510 or 14511 of a reserve officer of the Navy in a grade above captain or a reserve officer of the Marine Corps in a grade above colonel and retain the officer in an active status until the officer becomes 64 years of age. Not more than 10 officers may be so deferred at any one time, distributed between the Naval Reserve and the Marine Corps Reserve as the Secretary determines.

"§14513. Separation for failure of selection of promotion

"Each reserve officer of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps who is in an active status and whose removal from an active status or from a reserve active-status list is required by section 14504, 14505, or 14506 of this title shall (unless the officer's separation is deferred or the officer is continued in an active status under another provision of law) not later than the date specified in those sections—

"(1) be transferred to an inactive status if the Secretary concerned determines that the officer has skills which may be required to meet the mobilization needs of the officer's armed force;

"(2) be transferred to the Retired Reserve, if the officer is qualified and applies for such transfer; or

"(3) if the officer is not transferred to an inactive status or to the Retired Reserve, be discharged from the officer's reserve appointment.

"§14514. Discharge or retirement for years of service or after selection for early removal

"Each reserve officer of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps who is in an active status and who is required to be removed from an active status or from a reserve active-status list, as the case may be, under section 14507, 14508, 14704, or 14705 of this title (unless the officer is sooner separated or the officer's separation is deferred or the officer is continued in an active status under another provision of law), in accordance with those sections, shall—

"(1) be transferred to the Retired Reserve, if the officer is qualified and applies for such transfer; or

"(2) if the officer is not qualified or does not apply for such transfer, be discharged from the officer's reserve appointment.

"§14515. Discharge or retirement for age

"Each reserve officer of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps who is in an active status or on an inactive status list and who reaches the maximum age specified in section 14509, 14510, 14511, or 14512 of this title for the officer's grade or position shall (unless the officer is sooner separated or the officer's separation is deferred or the officer is continued in an active status under another provision of law) not later than the last day of the month in which the officer reaches that maximum age—

"(1) be transferred to the Retired Reserve, if the officer is qualified and applies for such transfer; or

"(2) if the officer is not qualified or does not apply for transfer to the Retired Reserve, be discharged from the officer's reserve appointment.

"§14516. Separation to be considered involuntary

"The separation of an officer pursuant to section 14513, 14514, or 14515 of this title shall be considered to be an involuntary separation for purposes of any other provision of law.

"§14517. Entitlement of officers discharged under this chapter to separation pay

"An officer who is discharged under section 14513, 14514, or 14515 of this title is entitled to separation pay under section 1174 of this title if otherwise eligible under that section.

"CHAPTER 1409—CONTINUATION OF OFFICERS ON THE RESERVE ACTIVE-STATUS LIST AND SELECTIVE EARLY REMOVAL

"Sec.
"14701. Selection of officers for continuation on the reserve active-status list.
"14702. Retention on reserve active-status list of certain officers until age 60.
"14703. Authority to retain chaplains and officers in medical specialties until specified age.
"14704. Selective early removal from the reserve active-status list.
"14705. Selective early retirement: reserve general and flag officers of the Navy and Marine Corps.
"14706. Computation of total years of service.

"§14701. Selection of officers for continuation on the reserve active-status list

"(a) CONSIDERATION FOR CONTINUATION.—(1) Upon application, a reserve officer of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps who is required to be removed from the reserve active-status list under section 14505, 14506, or 14507 of this title may, subject to the needs of the service and to section 14509 of this title, be considered for continuation on the reserve active-status list by a selection board convened under section 14101(b) of this title.

"(2) A reserve officer who holds the grade of captain in the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps or the grade of lieutenant in the Navy and who is subject to separation under section 14513 of this title may not be continued on the reserve active-status list under this subsection for a period which extends beyond the last day of the month in which the officer completes 20 years of commissioned service.

"(3) A reserve officer who holds the grade of major or lieutenant commander and who is subject to separation under section 14513 of this title may not be continued on the reserve active-status list under this subsection for a period which extends beyond the last day of the month in which the officer completes 24 years of commissioned service.

"(4) A reserve officer who holds the grade of lieutenant colonel or commander and who is subject to separation under section 14514 of this title may not be continued on the reserve active-status list under this subsection for a period which extends beyond the last day of the month in which the officer completes 33 years of commissioned service.

"(5) A reserve officer who holds the grade of colonel in the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps or the grade of captain in the Navy and who is subject to separation under section 14514 of this title may not be continued on the reserve active-status list under this subsection for a period which extends beyond the last day of the month in which the officer completes 35 years of commissioned service.

"(6) An officer who is selected for continuation on the reserve active-status list as a result of the convening of a selection board under section 14101(b) of this title but who declines to continue on that list shall be separated in accordance with section 14513 or 14514 of this title, as the case may be.

"(7) Each officer who is continued on the reserve active-status list under this section, who is not subsequently promoted or continued on the active-status list, and whose name is not on a list of officers recommended for promotion to the next higher grade shall (unless sooner separated under another provision of law) be separated in accordance with section 14513 or 14514 of this title, as appropriate, upon the expiration of the period for which the officer was continued on the reserve active-status list.

"(b) APPROVAL OF SECRETARY CONCERNED.—Continuation of an officer on the reserve active-status list under this section pursuant to action of a continuation board convened under section 14101(b) of this title is subject to the approval of the Secretary of the military department concerned.

"(c) INSTRUCTIONS TO CONTINUATION BOARDS.—A continuation board convened under section 14101(b) of this title to consider officers for continuation on the reserve active-status list under this section shall act in accordance with the instructions and directions provided to the board by the Secretary of the military department concerned.

"(d) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary of Defense shall prescribe regulations for the administration of this section.

"§14702. Retention on reserve active-status list of certain officers until age 60

"(a) RETENTION.—Notwithstanding the provisions of section 14506 or 14507 of this title, the Secretary of the military department concerned may, with the officer's consent, retain on the reserve active-status list an officer in the grade of major, lieutenant colonel, or colonel who is—

"(1) an officer of the Army National Guard of the United States and assigned to a headquarters or headquarters detachment of a State; or

"(2) a reserve officer of the Army or Air Force who, as a condition of continued employment as a National Guard or Reserve technician is required by the Secretary concerned to maintain membership in a Selected Reserve unit or organization.

"(b) SEPARATION AT AGE 60.—An officer may be retained under this section only so long as the officer continues to meet the conditions of subsection (a)(1) or (a)(2). An officer may not be retained under this section after the last day of the month in which the officer becomes 60 years of age.

"§14703. Authority to retain chaplains and officers in medical specialties until specified age

"(a) RETENTION.—Notwithstanding any provision of chapter 1407 of this title and except for officers referred to in sections 14503, 14504, 14505, and 14506 of this title and under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense—

"(1) the Secretary of the Army may, with the officer's consent, retain in an active status any reserve officer assigned to the Medical Corps, the Dental Corps, the Veterinary Corps, the Medical Services Corps (if the officer has been designated as allied health officer or biomedical sciences officer in that Corps), the Optometry Section of the Medical Services Corps, the Chaplains, the Army Nurse Corps, or the Army Medical Specialists Corps;

"(2) the Secretary of the Navy may, with the officer's consent, retain in an active status any reserve officer appointed in the Medical Corps, Dental Corps, Nurse Corps, or Chaplain Corps or appointed in the Medical Services Corps and designated to perform as a veterinarian, optometrist, podiatrist, allied health officer, or biomedical sciences officer; and

"(3) the Secretary of the Air Force may, with the officer's consent, retain in an active status any reserve officer who is designated as a medical officer, dental officer, veterinary officer, Air Force nurse, or chaplain or who is designated as a biomedical sciences officer and is qualified for service as a veterinarian, optometrist, or podiatrist.

"(b) SEPARATION AT SPECIFIED AGE.—An officer may not be retained in active status under this section later than the date on which the officer becomes 67 years of age (or, in the case of a reserve officer of the Army in the Chaplains or a reserve officer of the Air Force designated as a chaplain, 60 years of age).

"§14704. Selective early removal from the reserve active-status list

"(a) BOARDS TO RECOMMEND OFFICERS FOR REMOVAL FROM RESERVE ACTIVE-STATUS LIST.—Whenever the Secretary of the military department concerned determines that there are in any reserve component under the jurisdiction of the Secretary too many officers in any grade and competitive category who have at least 30 years of service computed under section 14706 of this title or at least 20 years of service computed under section 12732 of this title, the Secretary may convene a selection board under section 14101(b) of this title to consider all officers on that list who are in that grade and competitive category, and who have that amount of service, for the purpose of recommending officers by name for removal from the reserve active-status list, in the number specified by the Secretary by each grade and competitive category.

"(b) SEPARATION OF OFFICERS SELECTED.—In the case of an officer recommended for separation in the report of a board under subsection (a), the Secretary may separate the officer in accordance with section 14514 of this title.

"(c) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary of the military department concerned shall prescribe regulations for the administration of this section.

"§14705. Selective early retirement: reserve general and flag officers of the Navy and Marine Corps

"(a) AUTHORITY TO CONSIDER.—An officer in the Naval Reserve in an active status serving in the grade of rear admiral (lower half) or rear admiral and an officer in the Marine Corps Reserve in an active status serving in the grade of brigadier general or major general may be considered for early retirement whenever the Secretary of the Navy determines that such action is necessary.

"(b) BOARDS.—If the Secretary of the Navy determines that consideration for early retirement under this section is necessary, the Secretary shall convene a board under section 14101(b) of this title to recommend an appropriate number of officers for early retirement.

"(c) SEPARATION UNDER SECTION 14514.—An officer selected for early retirement under this section shall be separated in accordance with section 14514 of this title.

"§14706. Computation of total years of service

"For the purpose of this chapter and chapter 1407 of this title, a reserve officer's years of service include all service, other than constructive service, of the officer as a commissioned officer of any uniformed service (other than service as a warrant officer).

"CHAPTER 1411—ADDITIONAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO INVOLUNTARY SEPARATION

"Sec.

"14901. Separation of chaplains for loss of professional qualifications.

"14902. Separation for substandard performance and for certain other reasons.

"14903. Boards of inquiry.

"14904. Rights and procedures.

"14905. Officers considered for removal: retirement or discharge.

"14906. Officers eligible to serve on boards.

"14907. Army National Guard of the United States and Air National Guard of the United States: discharge and withdrawal of Federal recognition of officers absent without leave.

"§14901. Separation of chaplains for loss of professional qualifications

"(a) SEPARATION.—Under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, an officer on the reserve active-status list who is appointed or designated as a chaplain may, if the officer fails to maintain the qualifications needed to perform the professional function of a chaplain, be discharged. The authority under the preceding sentence applies without regard to the provisions of section 12645 of this title.

"(b) EFFECT OF SEPARATION.—If an officer separated under this section is eligible for retirement, the officer may be retired. If the officer has completed the years of service required for eligibility for retired pay under chapter 1223 of this title, the officer may be transferred to the Retired Reserve.

"§14902. Separation for substandard performance and for certain other reasons

"(a) SUBSTANDARD PERFORMANCE OF DUTY.—The Secretary of the military department concerned shall prescribe, by regulation, procedures for the review at any time of the record of any reserve officer to determine whether that officer should be required, because that officer's performance has fallen below standards prescribed by the Secretary concerned, to show cause for retention in an active status.

"(b) MISCONDUCT, ETC.—The Secretary of the military department concerned shall prescribe, by regulation, procedures for the review at any time of the record of any reserve officer to determine whether that officer should be required, because of misconduct, because of moral or professional dereliction, or because the officer's retention is not clearly consistent with the interests of national security, to show cause for retention in an active status.

"(c) REGULATIONS.—The authority of the Secretary of a military department under this section shall be carried out subject to such limitations as the Secretary of Defense may prescribe by regulation.

"§14903. Boards of inquiry

"(a) CONVENING OF BOARDS.—The Secretary of the military department concerned shall convene a board of inquiry at such time and place as the Secretary may prescribe to receive evidence and review the case of any officer who has been required to show cause for retention in an active status under section 14902 of this title. Each board of inquiry shall be composed of not less than three officers who have the qualifications prescribed in section 14906 of this title.

"(b) RIGHT TO FAIR HEARING.—A board of inquiry shall give a fair and impartial hearing to each officer required under section 14902 of this chapter to show cause for retention in an active status.

"(c) RECOMMENDATIONS TO SECRETARY.—If a board of inquiry determines that the officer has failed to establish that the officer should be retained in an active status, the board shall recommend to the Secretary concerned that the officer not be retained in an active status.

"(d) ACTION BY SECRETARY.— After review of the recommendation of the board of inquiry, the Secretary may—

"(1) remove the officer from an active status; or

"(2) determine that the case be closed.

"(e) ACTION IN CASES WHERE CAUSE FOR RETENTION IS ESTABLISHED.—(1) If a board of inquiry determines that an officer has established that the officer should be retained in an active status or if the Secretary determines that the case be closed, the officer's case is closed.

"(2) An officer who is required to show cause for retention under section 14902(a) of this title and whose case is closed under paragraph (1) may not again be required to show cause for retention under such subsection during the one-year period beginning on the date of that determination.

"(3)(A) Subject to subparagraph (B), an officer who is required to show cause for retention under section 14902(b) of this title and whose case is closed under paragraph (1) may again be required to show cause for retention at any time.

"(B) An officer who has been required to show cause for retention under section 14902(b) of this title and who is thereafter retained in an active status may not again be required to show cause for retention under such section solely because of conduct which was the subject of the previous proceeding, unless the recommendations of the board of inquiry that considered the officer's case are determined to have been obtained by fraud or collusion.

"§14904. Rights and procedures

"(a) PROCEDURAL RIGHTS.—Under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, an officer required under section 14902 of this title to show cause for retention in an active status—

"(1) shall be notified in writing, at least 30 days before the hearing of the officer's case by a board of inquiry, of the reasons for which the officer is being required to show cause for retention in an active status;

"(2) shall be allowed a reasonable time, as determined by the board of inquiry, to prepare for showing of cause for retention in an active status;

"(3) shall be allowed to appear in person and to be represented by counsel at proceedings before the board of inquiry; and

"(4) shall be allowed full access to, and shall be furnished copies of, records relevant to the case, except that the board of inquiry shall withhold any record that the Secretary concerned determines should be withheld in the interest of national security.

"(b) SUMMARY OF RECORDS WITHHELD.—When a record is withheld under subsection (a)(4), the officer whose case is under consideration shall, to the extent that the interest of national security permits, be furnished a summary of the record so withheld.

"§14905. Officer considered for removal: retirement or discharge

"(a) VOLUNTARY RETIREMENT OR DISCHARGE.—At any time during proceedings under this chapter with respect to the removal of an officer from an active status, the Secretary of the military department concerned may grant a request by the officer—

"(1) for voluntary retirement, if the officer is qualified for retirement;

"(2) for transfer to the Retired Reserve if the officer has completed the years of service required for eligibility for retired pay under chapter 1223 of this title and is otherwise eligible for transfer to the Retired Reserve; or

"(3) for discharge in accordance with subsection (b)(3).

"(b) REQUIRED RETIREMENT OR DISCHARGE.—An officer removed from an active status under section 14903 of this title shall—

"(1) if eligible for voluntary retirement under any provision of law on the date of such removal, be retired in the grade and with the retired pay for which he would be eligible if retired under that provision;

"(2) if eligible for transfer to the Retired Reserve and has completed the years of service required for retired pay under chapter 1223 of this title, be transferred to the Retired Reserve; and

"(3) if ineligible for retirement or transfer to the Retired Reserve under paragraph (1) or (2) on the date of such removal—

"(A) be honorably discharged in the grade then held, in the case of an officer whose case was brought under subsection (a) of section 14902 of this title; or

"(B) be discharged in the grade then held, in the case of an officer whose case was brought under subsection (b) of section 14902 of this title.

"(c) SEPARATION PAY.—An officer who is discharged under subsection (b)(3) is entitled, if eligible therefor, to separation pay under section 1174(c) of this title.

"§14906. Officers eligible to serve on boards

"(a) COMPOSITION OF BOARDS.—(1) Each officer who serves on a board convened under this chapter shall be an officer of the same armed force as the officer being required to show cause for retention in an active status.

"(2) An officer may not serve on a board under this chapter unless the officer holds a grade above lieutenant colonel or commander and is senior in grade and rank to any officer considered by the board.

"(b) LIMITATION.—A person may not be a member of more than one board convened under this chapter to consider the same officer.

"§14907. Army National Guard of the United States and Air National Guard of the United States: discharge and withdrawal of Federal recognition of officers absent without leave

"(a) AUTHORITY TO WITHDRAW FEDERAL RECOGNITION.—If an officer of the Army National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States has been absent without leave for three months, the Secretary of the Army or the Secretary of the Air Force, as appropriate, may—

"(1) terminate the reserve appointment of the officer; and

"(2) withdraw the officer's Federal recognition as an officer of the National Guard.

"(b) DISCHARGE FROM RESERVE APPOINTMENT.—An officer of the Army National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States whose Federal recognition as an officer of the National Guard is withdrawn under section 323(b) of title 32 shall be discharged from the officer's appointment as a reserve officer of the Army or the Air Force, as the case may be.".

PART B—CONFORMING AMENDMENTS

SEC. 111. DEFINITION OF RESERVE ACTIVE-STATUS LIST.

Section 101 is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(48) The term 'reserve active-status list' means a single list for the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps (required to be maintained under section 14002 of this title) that contains the names of all officers of that armed force except warrant officers (including commissioned warrant officers) who are in an active status in a reserve component of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps and are not on an active-duty list.".

SEC. 112. AUTHORITY TO SUSPEND OFFICER PERSONNEL LAWS DURING WAR OR NATIONAL EMERGENCY.

(a) AUTHORITY.—Section 123 is amended to read as follows:

"§123. Authority to suspend officer personnel laws during war or national emergency

"In time of war, or of national emergency declared by Congress or the President after November 30, 1980, the President may suspend the operation of any provision of law relating to the promotion, involuntary retirement, or separation of commissioned officers of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard Reserve. So long as such war or national emergency continues, any such suspension may be extended by the President.

"(b) Any such suspension shall, if not sooner ended, end on the last day of the two-year period beginning on the date on which the suspension (or the last extension thereof) takes effect or on the last day of the one-year period beginning on the date of the termination of the war or national emergency, whichever occurs first. With respect to the end of any such suspension, the preceding sentence supersedes the provisions of title II of the National Emergencies Act (50 U.S.C. 1621-1622) which provide that powers or authorities exercised by reason of a national emergency shall cease to be exercised after the date of the termination of the emergency.

"(c) If a provision of law pertaining to the promotion of reserve officers is suspended under this section and if the Secretary of Defense submits to Congress proposed legislation to adjust the grades and dates of rank of reserve commissioned officers other than commissioned warrant officers, such proposed legislation shall, so far as practicable, be the same as that recommended for adjusting the grades and dates of rank of officers of the regular component of the armed force concerned.".

(b) CONFORMING REPEAL.—Section 644 is repealed.

SEC. 113. ACTIVE-DUTY LIST PROMOTION BOARDS TO HAVE AUTHORITY TO RECOMMEND THAT RESERVE OFFICERS CONSIDERED FOR PROMOTION BE REQUIRED TO SHOW CAUSE FOR RETENTION ON ACTIVE DUTY.

Section 617(b) is amended—

(1) by inserting "or reserve" after "any regular"; and

(2) by inserting "or 1411" after "chapter 60".

SEC. 114. APPLICABILITY OF CHAPTER 36 TO RESERVE OFFICERS DURING WAR OR NATIONAL EMERGENCY.

Section 641 is amended—

(1) by inserting "(a)" before "Officers in the following"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(b) Under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the military department concerned, a reserve officer who is ordered to active duty (whether voluntarily or involuntarily) during a war or national emergency and who would otherwise be placed on the active-duty list may be excluded from that list as determined by the Secretary concerned. Exclusion of an officer from the active-duty list as the result of action by the Secretary concerned under the preceding sentence shall expire not later than 24 months after the date on which the officer enters active duty under an order to active duty covered by that sentence.".

SEC. 115. GRADE IN WHICH RESERVE OFFICERS ARE ORDERED TO ACTIVE DUTY.

Section 689 is amended—

(1) by inserting "or full-time National Guard duty" after "active duty" the first two places it appears; and

(2) by inserting "and placed on the active-duty list" after "active duty" the third place it appears.

SEC. 116. DATE OF RANK.

Section 741(d)(3) is amended—

(1) by inserting "or who is transferred from an inactive status to an active status and placed on the active-duty list or the reserve active-status list" after "warrant officer (W-5)";

(2) by inserting "or reserve active-status list" after "active-duty list" the second place it appears; and

(3) by adding at the end: "The authority to change the date of rank of a reserve officer who is placed on the active-duty list to a later date does not apply in the case of an officer who (A) has served continuously in the Selected Reserve of the Ready Reserve since the officer's last promotion, or (B) is placed on the active-duty list while on a promotion list as described in section 14317(b) of this title.".

SEC. 117. DISCHARGE BEFORE COMPLETION OF REQUIRED SERVICE IN CASE OF OFFICERS HAVING TWICE FAILED OF SELECTION FOR CAPTAIN OR NAVY LIEUTENANT.

Section 1005(b) is amended—

(1) by striking out "or" at the end of paragraph (1);

(2) by striking out the period at the end of paragraph (2) and inserting in lieu thereof a semicolon; and

(3) by adding at the end the following:

"(3) an officer on the active-duty list or reserve active-status list who has failed of selection for promotion for the second time to the grade of captain, in the case of an officer of the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps, or to the grade of lieutenant, in the case of an officer of the Navy; or

"(4) an officer whose discharge or transfer from an active status is required by law.".

SEC. 118. CONFORMING AMENDMENTS RELATING TO NAVY AND MARINE CORPS OFFICERS.

Section 6389 is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)—

(A) by inserting "while on the active-duty list" after "to the next higher grade"; and

(B) by striking out the period at the end and inserting in lieu thereof "or released from active duty and placed on the reserve active-status list.";

(2) in subsection (b), by striking out "or (f)";

(3) in subsection (c)—

(A) by inserting "(1)" after "(c)";

(B) by striking out "lieutenant commander or above" both places it appears and inserting in lieu thereof "lieutenant commander or commander";

(C) by striking out "major or above" both places it appears and inserting in lieu thereof "major or lieutenant colonel";

(D) by inserting "while on the active-duty list" after "to the next higher grade" in the first sentence; and

(E) in the table—

(i) by striking out the line relating to the grades of captain in the Navy and colonel in the Marine Corps; and

(ii) by striking out "26 years" and inserting in lieu thereof "28 years";

(F) by designating the sentence after the table as paragraph (2) and in that sentence striking out "the first sentence of this subsection" and inserting in lieu thereof "the first sentence of paragraph (1)";

(G) by designating the next sentence as paragraph (3) and in that sentence striking out "the first two sentences of this subsection" and inserting in lieu thereof "paragraph (1)"; and

(H) by designating the last sentence as paragraph (4) and in that sentence—

(i) striking out "the first two sentences of this subsection" and inserting in lieu thereof "paragraph (1)"; and

(ii) striking out "captain or"; and

(4) by striking out subsections (e), (f), and (g).

SEC. 119. REPEAL OF RESERVE OFFICER PERSONNEL POLICY LAWS.

(a) Army Provisions.—

(1) Chapter 337, relating to appointments as reserve officers (other than sections 3351 and 3352), is repealed.

(2) Chapter 361, relating to separation for various reasons, is repealed.

(3) Chapter 363, relating to separation or transfer to the Retired Reserve, is repealed.

(b) Navy and Marine Corps Provisions.—

(1) Chapter 541, relating to running mates as reserve officers, is repealed.

(2) Chapter 549, relating to reserve promotions, is repealed.

(3) Sections 6391, 6392, 6397, 6403, and 6410 are repealed.

(c) Air Force Provisions.—

(1) Chapter 837, relating to appointments as reserve officers (other than sections 8351 and 8352), is repealed.

(2) Sections 8819 and 8820 are repealed.

(3) Chapter 863, relating to separation or transfer to the Retired Reserve, is repealed.

SEC. 120. AMENDMENTS TO TITLE 32, UNITED STATES CODE.

Title 32, United States Code, is amended as follows:

(1) Sections 309 and 310 are amended to read as follows:

"§309. Federal recognition of National Guard officers: officers promoted to fill vacancies

"Each officer of the National Guard who is promoted to fill a vacancy in a federally recognized unit of the National Guard, and who has been on the reserve active-status list or the active-duty list of the Army or the Air Force for at least one year and has completed the minimum years of service in grade specified in section 14303 of title 10, shall be examined for Federal recognition in the grade to which the officer is promoted.

"§310. Federal recognition of National Guard officers: automatic recognition

"(a) Notwithstanding sections 307 and 309 of this title, if a second lieutenant of the National Guard is promoted to the grade of first lieutenant to fill a vacancy in a federally recognized unit in the National Guard, Federal recognition is automatically extended to that officer in the grade of first lieutenant, effective as of the date on which that officer has completed the service in the grade specified in section 14303(a)(1) of title 10 and has met such other requirements as prescribed by the Secretary concerned under section 14308(b) of that title, if the officer has remained in an active status since the officer was so recommended.

"(b) Notwithstanding sections 307 and 309 of this title, if an officer of the Army Reserve or the Air Force Reserve in a reserve grade above second lieutenant is appointed in the next higher grade in the National Guard to fill a vacancy in a federally recognized unit in the National Guard, Federal recognition is automatically extended to that officer in the grade in which the officer is so appointed in the National Guard if the officer has been recommended for promotion under chapter 1405 of title 10 and has remained in an active status since the officer was so recommended. The extension of Federal recognition under this subsection is effective as of the date when the officer is appointed in the National Guard.".

(2) Section 323 is amended by striking out subsections (d) and (e) and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"(d) The Federal recognition of a reserve commissioned officer of the Army or the Air Force who is—

"(1) federally recognized as an officer of the National Guard; and

"(2) subject to involuntary transfer to the Retired Reserve, transfer to an inactive status list, or discharge under chapter 1407, 1409, or 1411 of title 10; shall, if not sooner withdrawn, be withdrawn on the date of such involuntary transfer or discharge.".

TITLE II—OTHER PERSONNEL POLICY AMENDMENTS

Part A—Appointments

SEC. 201. REPEAL OF SEPARATE AUTHORITY FOR ACCESSION OF WOMEN IN RESERVE COMPONENTS.

(a) Enlistments.—Section 510 is amended—

(1) by striking out subsection (c); and

(2) by redesignating subsection (d) as subsection (c).

(b) Appointment of Officers.—Section 591 is amended—

(1) by striking out subsection (c); and

(2) by redesignating subsections (d) and (e) as subsections (c) and (d), respectively.

SEC. 202. APPOINTMENT AUTHORITY FOR RESERVE GRADES OF LIEUTENANT COLONEL AND COMMANDER.

Section 593(a) is amended—

(1) in the first sentence, by striking out "Reserves in commissioned grades below lieutenant colonel and commander" and inserting in lieu thereof "reserve officers in commissioned grades of lieutenant colonel and commander or below"; and

(2) in the second sentence, by striking out "Reserves in commissioned grades above major and lieutenant commander" and inserting in lieu thereof "reserve officers in commissioned grades above lieutenant colonel and commander".

SEC. 203. APPOINTMENT OF FORMER COMMISSIONED OFFICERS IN RESERVE COMPONENTS.

Chapter 34 is amended by inserting after section 594 the following new section:

"§594a. Commissioned officers: appointment of former commissioned officers

"Under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, a person who is a former commissioned officer may, if otherwise qualified, be appointed as a reserve officer of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps. A person so appointed—

"(1) may be placed on the reserve active-status list of that armed force in the grade equivalent to the permanent regular or reserve grade, and in the same competitive category, in which the person previously served satisfactorily on active duty or in an active status; and

"(2) may be credited for the purpose of determining date of rank under section 741(d) of this title with service in grade equal to that held by that person when discharged or separated.".

SEC. 204. CONSTRUCTIVE CREDIT FOR APPOINTMENT OF OFFICERS IN RESERVE COMPONENTS WITH QUALIFYING EDUCATION OR EXPERIENCE.

Chapter 34 is further amended by inserting after section 595 the following new section:

"§596. Commissioned officers: service credit upon original appointment

"(a)(1) For the purpose of determining the grade and the rank within grade of a person receiving an original appointment as a reserve commissioned officer (other than a commissioned warrant officer) in the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps, the person shall be credited at the time of the appointment with any commissioned service (other than service as a commissioned warrant officer) performed before such appointment as a regular officer, or as a reserve officer in an active status, in any armed force, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, or the Public Health Service.

"(2) The Secretary of Defense shall prescribe regulations, which shall apply uniformly among the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps, to authorize the Secretary of the military department concerned to limit the amount of prior commissioned service with which a person receiving an original appointment may be credited under paragraph (1), or to deny any such credit, in the case of a person who at the time of such appointment is credited with constructive service under subsection (b).

"(b)(1) Under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, a person who is receiving an original appointment as a reserve commissioned officer (other than a commissioned warrant officer) of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps, or a designation in, or an assignment to, an officer category in which advanced education or training is required and who has advanced education or training, shall be credited with constructive service for such education, training, or experience, as follows:

"(A) One year for each year of advanced education beyond the baccalaureate degree level, for persons appointed or designated in, or assigned to, officer categories requiring such advanced education or an advanced degree as a prerequisite for such appointment, designation, or assignment. Except as provided in subparagraph (D), in determining the number of years of constructive service to be credited under this subparagraph to officers in any professional field, the Secretary concerned shall credit an officer with, but with not more than, the number of years of postsecondary education in excess of four that are required by a majority of institutions that award degrees in that professional field for completion of the advanced education or award of the advanced degree.

"(B)(i) Credit for any period of advanced education in a health profession (other than medicine and dentistry) beyond the baccalaureate degree level which exceeds the basic education criteria for such appointment, designation, or assignment, if such advanced education will be directly used by the armed force concerned.

"(ii) Credit for experience in a health profession (other than medicine or dentistry), if such experience will be directly used by the armed force concerned.

"(C) Additional credit of (i) not more than one year for internship or equivalent graduate medical, dental, or other formal health professional training required by the armed forces, and (ii) not more than one year for each additional year of such graduate-level training or experience creditable toward certification in a speciality required by the armed force concerned.

"(D) Additional credit, in unusual cases, based on special experience in a particular field.

"(E) Additional credit of one year for advanced education in a health profession if the number of years of baccalaureate education completed by 75 percent or more of the students entering advanced training in that health profession exceeds, by one or more, the minimum number of years of preprofessional education required by a majority of institutions which award degrees in that health profession. The percentage of such persons shall be computed on an annual basis for each health profession from the data for the year in which the person being so appointed, designated, or assigned was admitted to a professional school. However, a person may not receive additional credit under this subparagraph if the amount of that person's baccalaureate education does not exceed, by one or more, the minimum number of years of preprofessional education required by a majority of institutions which award degrees for that health profession, determined on the basis prescribed in the preceding sentence.

"(F) Additional credit for experience as a physician or dentist, if appointed, assigned, or designated as a medical or dental officer.

"(2) If the Secretary of Defense determines that the number of medical or dental officers serving in an active status in a reserve component of the Army, Navy, or Air Force in grades below major or lieutenant commander is critically below the number needed by such reserve component in such grades, the Secretary of Defense may authorize the Secretary of the military department concerned to credit any person who is receiving an original appointment for service as a medical or dental officer with a period of constructive credit in such amount (in addition to any amount credited such person under subsection (b)) as will result in the grade of such person being that of captain or, in the case of the Naval Reserve, lieutenant.

"(3) Except as authorized by the Secretary concerned in individual cases and under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense in the case of a medical or dental officer, the amount of constructive service credited an officer under this subsection may not exceed the amount required in order for the officer to be eligible for an original appointment as a reserve officer of the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps in the grade of major or as a reserve officer of the Navy in the grade of lieutenant commander.

"(4) Constructive service credited an officer under this subsection is in addition to any service credited that officer under subsection (a) and shall be credited at the time of the original appointment of the officer or assignment to or designation in an officer category in which advanced education or training or special experience is required.

"(c) Constructive service may not be credited under subsection (b) for education, training, or experience obtained while serving as a commissioned officer (other than a warrant officer) on active duty or in an active status. However, in the case of an officer who completes advanced education or receives an advanced degree while on active duty or in an active status and in less than the number of years normally required to complete such advanced education or receive such advanced degree, constructive service may, subject to regulations prescribed under subsection (a)(2), be credited to the officer under subsection (b)(1)(A) to the extent that the number of years normally required to complete such advanced education or receive such advanced degree exceeds the actual number of years in which such advanced education or degree is obtained by the officer.

"(d) If the Secretary of Defense determines that the number of qualified judge advocates serving on the active-duty list of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps in grades below lieutenant commander or major is critically below the number needed by that armed force in those grades, the Secretary of Defense may authorize the Secretary of the military department concerned to credit any person who is receiving an original appointment with a view to assignment to the Judge Advocate General's Corps of the Army or appointment to the Judge Advocate General's Corps of the Navy, or who is receiving an original appointment in the Air Force or Marine Corps with a view to designation as a judge advocate, with a period of constructive service in such an amount (in addition to any amount credited such person under subsection (b)) as will result in the grade of such person being that of captain or, in the case of the Navy, lieutenant, and the date of rank of such person being junior to that of all other officers of the same grade serving on the active-duty list.

"(e) Constructive service credited an officer under subsection (b) or (d) shall be used only for determining the officer's—

"(1) initial grade as a reserve officer;

"(2) rank in grade; and

"(3) service in grade for promotion eligibility.

"(f) The grade and position on the reserve active-status list of a person receiving an appointment as a reserve officer who at the time of appointment is credited with service under this section shall be determined under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense based upon the amount of service credited.".

SEC. 205. COMPUTATION OF YEARS OF SERVICE FOR TRANSFER OF ARMY OFFICERS TO RETIRED RESERVE.

(a) INTERIM REPEAL OF OBSOLETE PROVISION.—Effective for the period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act and ending on the effective date specified in section 601, section 3853 is amended by striking out "the greater of—" and all that follows and inserting in lieu thereof "the sum of the following:

"(1) The officer's years of service as a commissioned officer of any component of the armed forces or of the Army without specification of component.

"(2) The officer's years of service in a federally recognized commissioned status in the National Guard if his service in the National Guard was continuous from the date of his Federal recognition as an officer in the National Guard to the date of his appointment in the National Guard of the United States.".

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply with respect to transfers to the Retired Reserve and to discharges on or after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 206. REPEAL OF MISCELLANEOUS OBSOLETE APPOINTMENT AUTHORITIES.

(a) ARMY RESERVE OFFICERS APPOINTED IN TEMPORARY GRADES.—Section 3352(a) is amended by striking out the second sentence.

(b) AIR FORCE AVIATION CADETS.—Section 8356 is repealed.

(c) REDUNDANT STATEMENT OF AUTHORITY.—Section 8379 is repealed.

PART B—SEPARATION AND RETIREMENT

SEC. 221. COMPUTATION OF HIGHEST GRADE IN WHICH SATISFACTORILY SERVED FOR RESERVE COMMISSIONED OFFICERS AND FORMER OFFICERS.

Section 1370 is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(d)(1) Unless entitled to a higher grade, or to credit for satisfactory service in a higher grade, under some other provision of law, a person who is entitled to retired pay under chapter 1225 of this title shall, upon application under section 12731 of this title, be credited with satisfactory service in the highest grade in which that person served satisfactorily at any time in the armed forces, as determined by the Secretary concerned in accordance with this subsection.

"(2)(A) In order to be credited with satisfactory service in an officer grade (other than a warrant officer grade) below the grade of lieutenant colonel or commander, a person covered by paragraph (1) must have served satisfactorily in that grade (as determined by the Secretary of the military department concerned) as a reserve commissioned officer in an active status, or in a retired status on active duty, for not less than six months.

"(B) In order to be credited with satisfactory service in an officer grade above major or lieutenant commander and below lieutenant general or vice admiral, a person covered by paragraph (1) must have served satisfactorily in that grade (as determined by the Secretary of the military department concerned) as a reserve commissioned officer in an active status, or in a retired status on active duty, for not less than three years. A person covered by the preceding sentence who has completed at least six months of satisfactory service in grade and is transferred from an active status or discharged as a reserve commissioned officer solely due to the requirements of a nondiscretionary provision of law requiring that transfer or discharge due to the person's age or years of service may be credited with satisfactory service in the grade in which serving at the time of such transfer or discharge, notwithstanding failure of the person to complete three years of service in that grade.

"(3) A person whose length of service in the highest grade held does not meet the service in grade requirements specified in this subsection shall be credited with satisfactory service in the next lower grade in which that person served satisfactorily (as determined by the Secretary of the military department concerned) for not less than six months.".

PART C—OTHER AMENDMENTS

SEC. 241. TENURE IN OFFICE OF CHIEF OF NATIONAL GUARD BUREAU.

Section 3040(c) is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: "While holding that office, the Chief of the National Guard Bureau may not be removed from the reserve active-status list, or from an active status, under any provision of law that otherwise would require such removal due to completion of a specified number of years of service or a specified number of years of service in grade.".

SEC. 242. RIGHT TO REENLIST IN REGULAR ARMY OR REGULAR AIR FORCE AFTER SERVICE AS AN OFFICER.

(a) ARMY.—Section 3258 is amended—

(1) by striking out "Any former enlisted member" and inserting in lieu thereof "(a) Subject to subsections (b) and (c), a former enlisted member";

(2) by striking out the last sentence; and

(3) by adding at the end the following:

"(b) A person who is a former enlisted member is not entitled to be reenlisted under subsection (a) if that person is discharged or released from active duty from service as an officer described in that subsection—

"(1) because that person's performance of duty while serving as such an officer has fallen below standards prescribed by the Secretary of Defense;

"(2) because of misconduct or moral or professional dereliction; or

"(3) because retention of that person as an officer is not clearly consistent with the interest of national security.

"(c) A person who is a former enlisted member is not entitled to be reenlisted under subsection (a) if that person's status and grade as an enlisted member were only held during, and solely as a result of, participation in a precommissioning program after the effective date of the Reserve Officer Personnel Management Act.".

(b) AIR FORCE.—Section 8258 is amended—

(1) by striking out "Any former enlisted member" and inserting in lieu thereof "(a) Subject to subsections (b) and (c), a former enlisted member";

(2) by striking out the last sentence; and

(3) by adding at the end the following:

"(b) A person who is a former enlisted member is not entitled to be reenlisted under subsection (a) if that person is discharged or released from active duty from service as an officer described in that subsection—

"(1) because that person's performance of duty while serving as such an officer has fallen below standards prescribed by the Secretary of Defense;

"(2) because of misconduct or moral or professional dereliction; or

"(3) because retention of that person as an officer is not clearly consistent with the interest of national security.

"(c) A person who is a former enlisted member is not entitled to be reenlisted under subsection (a) if that person's status and grade as an enlisted member were only held during, and solely as a result of, participation in a precommissioning program after the effective date of the Reserve Officer Personnel Management Act.".

“10153. Standby Reserve: status of members.
“10154. Retired Reserve.

“§10141. Ready Reserve; Standby Reserve; Retired Reserve: placement and status of members; training categories

“(a) There are in each armed force a Ready Reserve, a Standby Reserve, and a Retired Reserve. Each Reserve shall be placed in one of those categories.

“(b) Reserves who are on the inactive status list of a reserve component, or who are assigned to the inactive Army National Guard or the inactive Air National Guard, are in an inactive status. Members in the Retired Reserve are in a retired status. All other Reserves are in an active status.

“(c) As prescribed by the Secretary concerned, each reserve component except the Army National Guard of the United States and the Air National Guard of the United States shall be divided into training categories according to the degrees of training, including the number and duration of drills or equivalent duties to be completed in stated periods. The designation of training categories shall be the same for all armed forces and the same within the Ready Reserve and the Standby Reserve.

“§10142. Ready Reserve

“(a) The Ready Reserve consists of units or Reserves, or both, liable for active duty as provided in sections 12301 and 12302 of this title.

“(b) The authorized strength of the Ready Reserve is 2,900,000.

“§10143. Ready Reserve: Selected Reserve

“(a) Within the Ready Reserve of each of the reserve components there is a Selected Reserve. The Selected Reserve consists of units, and, as designated by the Secretary concerned, of Reserves, trained as prescribed in section 10147(a)(1) of this title or section 502(a) of title 32, as appropriate.

“(b) The organization and unit structure of the Selected Reserve shall be approved—

“(1) in the case of all reserve components other than the Coast Guard Reserve, by the Secretary of Defense based upon recommendations from the military departments as approved by the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in accordance with contingency and war plans; and

“(2) in the case of the Coast Guard Reserve, by the Secretary of Transportation upon the recommendation of the Commandant of the Coast Guard.

“§10144. Ready Reserve: Individual Ready Reserve

“Within the Ready Reserve of each of the reserve components there is an Individual Ready Reserve. The Individual Ready Reserve consists of those members of the Ready Reserve who are not in the Selected Reserve or the inactive National Guard.

“§10145. Ready Reserve: placement in

“(a) Each person required under law to serve in a reserve component shall, upon becoming a member, be placed in the Ready Reserve of his armed force for his prescribed term of service, unless he is transferred to the Standby Reserve under section 10146(a) of this title.

“(b) The units and members of the Army National Guard of the United States and of the Air National Guard of the United States are in the Ready Reserve of the Army and the Ready Reserve of the Air Force, respectively.

“(c) All Reserves assigned to units organized to serve as units and designated as units in the Ready Reserve are in the Ready Reserve.

“(d) Under such regulations as the Secretary concerned may prescribe, any qualified member of a reserve component or any qualified retired enlisted member of a regular component may, upon his request, be placed in the Ready Reserve. However, a member of the Retired Reserve entitled to retired pay or a retired enlisted member of a regular component may not be placed in the Ready Reserve unless the Secretary concerned makes a special finding that the member's services in the Ready Reserve are indispensable. The Secretary concerned may not delegate his authority under the preceding sentence.

“§10146. Ready Reserve: transfer from

“(a) Subject to subsection (c) and under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, or by the Secretary of Transportation with respect to the Coast Guard when it is not operating as a service in the Navy, a member in the Ready Reserve may be transferred to the Standby Reserve.

“(b) A Reserve who is qualified and so requests may be transferred to the Retired Reserve under regulations prescribed by the Secretary concerned and, in the case of the Secretary of a military department, approved by the Secretary of Defense.

“(c) A member of the Army National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States may be transferred to the Standby Reserve only with the consent of the governor or other appropriate authority of the State.

“§10147. Ready Reserve: training requirements

“(a) Except as specifically provided in regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, or by the Secretary of Transportation with respect to the Coast Guard when it is not operating as a service in the Navy, each person who is enlisted, inducted, or appointed in an armed force, and who becomes a member of the Ready Reserve under any provision of law except section 513 or 10145(b) of this title, shall be required, while in the Ready Reserve, to—

“(1) participate in at least 48 scheduled drills or training periods during each year and serve on active duty for training of not less than 14 days (exclusive of traveltime) during each year; or

“(2) serve on active duty for training not more than 30 days during each year.

“(b) A member who has served on active duty for one year or longer may not be required to perform a period of active duty for training if the first day of that period falls during the last 120 days of the member's required membership in the Ready Reserve.

“§10148. Ready Reserve: failure to satisfactorily perform prescribed training

“(a) A member of the Ready Reserve covered by section 10147 of this title who fails in any year to perform satisfactorily the training duty prescribed in that section, as determined by the Secretary concerned under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, may be ordered without his consent to perform additional active duty for training for not more than 45 days. If the failure occurs during the last year of his required membership in the Ready Reserve, his membership is extended until he performs that additional active duty for training, but not for more than six months.

“(b) A member of the Army National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States who fails in any year to perform satisfactorily the training duty prescribed by or under law for members of the Army National Guard or the Air National Guard, as the case may be, as determined by the Secretary concerned, may, upon the request of the Governor of the State (or, in the case of the District of Columbia, the commanding general of the District of Columbia National Guard) be ordered, without his consent, to perform additional active duty for training for not more than 45 days. A member ordered to active duty under this subsection shall be ordered to duty as a Reserve of the Army or as a Reserve of the Air Force, as the case may be.

“§10149. Ready Reserve: continuous screening

“(a) Under regulations to be prescribed by the President, the Secretary concerned shall provide a system of continuous screening of units and members of the Ready Reserve to ensure the following:

“(1) That there will be no significant attrition of those members or units during a mobilization.

“(2) That there is a proper balance of military skills.

“(3) That except for those with military skills for which there is an overriding requirement, members having critical civilian skills are not retained in numbers beyond the need for those skills.

“(4) That with due regard to national security and military requirements, recognition will be given to participation in combat.

“(5) That members whose mobilization in an emergency would result in an extreme personal or community hardship are not retained in the Ready Reserve.

“(b) Under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, and by the Secretary of Transportation with respect to the Coast Guard when it is not operating as a service in the Navy, a member of the Ready Reserve who is designated as a member not to be retained in the Ready Reserve as a result of screening under subsection (a) shall, as appropriate, be—

“(1) transferred to the Standby Reserve;

“(2) discharged; or

“(3) if the member is eligible and applies therefor, transferred to the Retired Reserve.

“§10150. Ready Reserve: transfer back from Standby Reserve

“Under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, and by the Secretary of Transportation with respect to the Coast Guard when it is not operating as a service in the Navy, a member of the Standby Reserve who has not completed his required period of service in the Ready Reserve may be transferred to the Ready Reserve when the reason for his transfer to the Standby Reserve no longer exists.

“§10151. Standby Reserve: composition

“The Standby Reserve consists of those units or members, or both, of the reserve components, other than those in the Ready Reserve or Retired Reserve, who are liable for active duty only as provided in sections 12301 and 12306 of this title.

“§10152. Standby Reserve: inactive status list

“(a) An inactive status list shall be maintained in the Standby Reserve. Whenever an authority designated by the Secretary concerned considers that it is in the best interest of the armed force concerned, a member in the Standby Reserve who is not required to remain a Reserve, and who cannot participate in prescribed training, may, if qualified, be transferred to the inactive status list under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary concerned. These regulations shall fix the conditions under which such a member is entitled to be returned to an active status.

“§10153. Standby Reserve: status of members

“While in an inactive status, a Reserve is not eligible for pay or promotion and (as provided in section 12734(a) of this title) does not accrue credit for years of service under chapter 1223 of this title.

"§10154. Retired Reserve

"The Retired Reserve consists of the following Reserves:

"(1) Reserves who are or have been retired under section 3911, 6323, or 8911 of this title or under section 291 of title 14.

"(2) Reserves who have been transferred to the Retired Reserve upon their request, retain their status as Reserves, and are otherwise qualified.

"As provided in section 136(b)(2) of this title, the official in the Department of Defense with responsibility for overall supervision of reserve component affairs of the Department of Defense is the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Reserve Affairs.

"§10202. Regulations

"(a) Subject to standards, policies, and procedures prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of each military department shall prescribe such regulations as the Secretary considers necessary to carry out provisions of law relating to the reserve components under the Secretary's jurisdiction.

"(b) The Secretary of Transportation, with the concurrence of the Secretary of the Navy, shall prescribe such regulations as the Secretary considers necessary to carry out all provisions of law relating to the reserve components insofar as they relate to the Coast Guard, except when the Coast Guard is operating as a service in the Navy.

"(c) So far as practicable, regulations for all reserve components shall be uniform.

"§10203. Reserve affairs: designation of general or flag officer of each armed force

"(a) The Secretary of the Army may designate a general officer of the Army to be directly responsible for reserve affairs to the Chief of Staff of the Army.

"(b) The Secretary of the Navy may designate a flag officer of the Navy to be directly responsible for reserve affairs to the Chief of Naval Operations and a general officer of the Marine Corps to be directly responsible for reserve affairs to the the Commandant of the Marine Corps.

"(c) The Secretary of the Air Force may designate a general officer of the Air Force to be directly responsible for reserve affairs to the Chief of Staff of the Air Force.

"(d) The Secretary of Transportation may designate a flag officer of the Coast Guard to be directly responsible for reserve affairs to the Commandant of the Coast Guard.

"(e) This section does not affect the functions of the Chief of the National Guard Bureau, the Chief of Army Reserve, or the Chief of Air Force Reserve.

"§10204. Personnel records

"(a) The Secretary concerned shall maintain adequate and current personnel records of each member of the reserve components under the Secretary's jurisdiction showing the following with respect to the member:

"(1) Physical condition.
"(2) Dependency status.
"(3) Military qualifications.
"(4) Civilian occupational skills.
"(5) Availability for service.
"(6) Such other information as the Secretary concerned may prescribe.

"(b) Under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of each military department shall maintain a record of the number of members of each class of each reserve component who, during each fiscal year, have participated satisfactorily in active duty for training and inactive duty training with pay.

"§10205. Members of Ready Reserve: requirement of notification of change of status

"(a) Each member of the Ready Reserve shall notify the Secretary concerned of any change in the member's address, marital status, number of dependents, or civilian employment and of any change in the member's physical condition that would prevent the member from meeting the physical or mental standards prescribed for the member's armed force.

"(b) This section shall be administered under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense and by the Secretary of Transportation with respect to the Coast Guard when it is not operating as a service in the Navy.

"§10206. Members: periodic physical examinations

"(a) Each member of the Ready Reserve who is not on active duty shall—

"(1) be examined as to his physical fitness every four years, or more often as the Secretary concerned considers necessary; and

"(2) execute and submit annually to the Secretary concerned a certificate of physical condition.

Each Reserve in an active status, or on an inactive status list, who is not on active duty shall execute and submit annually to the Secretary concerned a certificate of physical condition.

"(b) The kind of duty to which a Reserve ordered to active duty may be assigned shall be considered in determining physical qualifications for active duty.

"§10207. Mobilization forces: maintenance

"(a) Whenever units or members of the reserve components are ordered to active duty (other than for training) during a period of partial mobilization, the Secretary concerned shall continue to maintain mobilization forces by planning and budgeting for the continued organization and training of the reserve components not mobilized, and make the fullest practicable use of the Federal facilities vacated by mobilized units, consistent with approved joint mobilization plans.

"(b) In this section, the term 'partial mobilization' means the mobilization resulting from action by Congress or the President, under any law, to bring units of any reserve component, and members not assigned to units organized to serve as units, to active duty for a limited expansion of the active armed forces.

"§10208. Annual mobilization exercise

"(a) The Secretary of Defense shall conduct at least one major mobilization exercise each year. The exercise should be as comprehensive and as realistic as possible and should include the participation of associated active component and reserve component units.

"(b) The Secretary shall maintain a plan to test periodically each active component and reserve component unit based in the United States and all interactions of such units, as well as the sustainment of the forces mobilized as part of the exercise, with the objective of permitting an evaluation of the adequacy of resource allocation and planning.

"§10209. Regular and reserve components: discrimination prohibited

"Laws applying to both Regulars and Reserves shall be administered without discrimination—

"(1) among Regulars;
"(2) among Reserves; and
"(3) between Regulars and Reserves.

"§10210. Dissemination of information

"The Secretary of Defense shall require the complete and current dissemination, to all Reserves and to the public, of information of interest to the reserve components.

"§10211. Policies and regulations: participation of Reserve officers in preparation and administration

"Within such numbers and in such grades and assignments as the Secretary concerned may prescribe, each armed force shall have officers of its reserve components on active duty (other than for training) at the seat of government, and at headquarters responsible for reserve affairs, to participate in preparing and administering the policies and regulations affecting those reserve components. While so serving, such an officer is an additional member of any staff with which he is serving.

"§10212. Reserve components: dual membership prohibited

"Except as otherwise provided in this title, no person may be a member of more than one reserve component at the same time.

"§10213. Adjutants general and assistant adjutants general: reference to other officers of National Guard

"In any case in which, under the laws of a State, an officer of the National Guard of that jurisdiction, other than the adjutant general or an assistant adjutant general, normally performs the duties of that office, the references in sections 12004(b)(1), 12214, 12642(c), 14507(b), 14508(e), and 14512 of this title to the adjutant general or the assistant adjutant general shall be applied to that officer instead of to the adjutant general or assistant adjutant general.

"§10214. Officers of Army National Guard of the United States and Air National Guard of the United States: authority with respect to Federal status

"(a)(1) Officers of the Army National Guard of the United States who are not on active duty—

"(A) may order members of the Army National Guard of the United States to active duty for training under section 12301(d) of this title; and

"(B) with the approval of the Secretary of the Air Force, may order members of the Air National Guard of the United States to active duty for training under that section.

"(2) Officers of the Air National Guard of the United States who are not on active duty—

"(A) may order members of the Air National Guard of the United States to active duty for training under section 12301(d) of this title; and

"(B) with the approval of the Secretary of the Army, may order members of the Army National Guard of the United States to active duty for training under that section.

"(b) Officers of the Army National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States who are not on active duty—

"(1) may enlist, reenlist, or extend the enlistments of persons as Reserves of the Army or Reserves of the Air Force for service in the Army National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States, as the case may be; and

"(2) with respect to their Federal status, may promote or discharge persons enlisted or reenlisted as Reserves of the Army or Reserves of the Air Force for that service.

"(c) This section shall be carried out under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Army, with respect to matters concerning the Army, and by the Secretary of the Air Force, with respect to matters concerning the Air Force.".

(2)(A) Sections 261 through 265 and 267 through 281 are repealed.

(B) Chapter 11 is amended by striking out the table of sections at the beginning and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Sec.

"261. Reference to chapters 1003, 1005, and 1007.

"§261. Reference to chapters 1003, 1005, and 1007

"Provisions of law relating to the reserve components generally, including provisions relating to the organization and administration of the reserve components, are set forth in chapter 1003 (beginning with section 10101), chapter 1005 (beginning with section 10141), and chapter 1007 (beginning with section 10201) of this title.".

(3)(A) Chapter 519 and sections 652, 2001, 3076 through 3080, and 8076 through 8080 are repealed.

(B) Section 552(e) of Public Law 98–525 is repealed.

(4) Section 1004 is amended—

(A) by striking out subsections (a) and (b); and

(B) by striking out "(c)" before "Except as otherwise provided".

(5)(A) Section 10147(a), as added by paragraph (1), applies only to persons who were inducted, enlisted, or appointed in an armed force after August 9, 1955.

(B) Section 10148(b), as added by paragraph (1), applies only to persons who became members of the Army National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States after October 4, 1961.

(b) BOARDS AND COMMITTEES.—(1) Part I of subtitle E (as added by subsection (a)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"CHAPTER 1009—RESERVE FORCES POLICY BOARDS AND COMMITTEES

"Sec.
"10301. Reserve Forces Policy Board.
"10302. Army Reserve Forces Policy Committee.
"10303. Naval Reserve Policy Board.
"10304. Marine Corps Reserve Policy Board.
"10305. Air Force Reserve Forces Policy Committee.

"§10301. Reserve Forces Policy Board

"(a) There is in the Office of the Secretary of Defense a Reserve Forces Policy Board. The Board consists of the following:

"(1) A civilian chairman appointed by the Secretary of Defense.

"(2) The Assistant Secretary of the Army for Manpower and Reserve Affairs, the Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Manpower and Reserve Affairs, and the Assistant Secretary of the Air Force for Manpower and Reserve Affairs.

"(3) An officer of the Regular Army designated by the Secretary of the Army.

"(4) An officer of the Regular Navy or Regular Marine Corps designated by the Secretary of the Navy.

"(5) An officer of the Regular Air Force designated by the Secretary of the Air Force.

"(6) Four reserve officers designated by the Secretary of Defense upon the recommendation of the Secretary of the Army, two of whom must be members of the Army National Guard of the United States, and two of whom must be members of the Army Reserve.

"(7) Four reserve officers designated by the Secretary of Defense upon the recommendation of the Secretary of the Navy, two of whom must be members of the Naval Reserve, and two of whom must be members of the Marine Corps Reserve.

"(8) Four reserve officers designated by the Secretary of Defense upon the recommendation of the Secretary of the Air Force, two of whom must be members of the Air National Guard of the United States, and two of whom must be members of the Air Force Reserve.

"(9) A reserve officer of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps who is a general officer or flag officer designated by the Chairman of the Board with the approval of the Secretary of Defense, and who serves without vote as military adviser to the Chairman and as executive officer of the Board.

"(b) Whenever the Coast Guard is not operating as a service in the Navy, the Secretary of Transportation may designate two officers of the Coast Guard, Regular or Reserve, to serve as voting members of the Board.

"(c) The Board, acting through the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Reserve Affairs, is the principal policy adviser to the Secretary of Defense on matters relating to the reserve components.

"(d) This section does not affect the committees on reserve policies prescribed within the military departments by sections 10302 through 10305 of this title.

"(e) A member of a committee or board prescribed under a section listed in subsection (d) may, if otherwise eligible, be a member of the Reserve Forces Policy Board.

"(f) The Board shall act on those matters referred to it by the Chairman and, in addition, on any matter raised by a member of the Board.

"§10303. Naval Reserve Policy Board

"A Naval Reserve Policy Board shall be convened at least once annually at the seat of government to consider, recommend, and report to the Secretary of the Navy on reserve policy matters. At least half of the members of the Board must be officers of the Naval Reserve.

"§10304. Marine Corps Reserve Policy Board

"A Marine Corps Reserve Policy Board shall be convened at least once annually at the seat of government to consider, recommend, and report to the Secretary of the Navy on reserve policy matters. At least half of the members of the Board must be officers of the Marine Corps Reserve.".

(2)(A) Section 3021 is transferred to chapter 1009 (as added by paragraph (1)), inserted after section 10301, and redesignated as section 10302.

(B) Section 8021 is transferred to chapter 1009 (as added by paragraph (1)), inserted after section 10304, and redesignated as section 10305.

(3) The text of section 175 is amended to read as follows:

"There is in the Office of the Secretary of Defense a Reserve Forces Policy Board. The functions, membership, and organization of that board are set forth in section 10301 of this title.".

(4)(A) Chapter 303 (as amended by paragraph (2)(A)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"§3021. Army Reserve Forces Policy Committee

"There is in the Office of the Secretary of the Army an Army Reserve Forces Policy Committee. The functions, membership, and organization of that committee are set forth in section 10302 of this title.".

(B) Chapter 803 (as amended by paragraph (2)(B)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"§8021. Air Force Reserve Forces Policy Committee

"There is in the Office of the Secretary of the Air Force an Air Force Reserve Forces Policy Committee. The functions, membership, and organization of that committee are set forth in section 10305 of this title.".

(c) NATIONAL GUARD BUREAU.—(1) Part I of subtitle E, as added by subsection (a), is amended by adding after chapter 1009, as added by subsection (b), the following:

"CHAPTER 1011—NATIONAL GUARD BUREAU

"Sec.
"10501. National Guard Bureau: organization; function.
"10502. Chief of Bureau: appointment.
"10503. Chief of Bureau: term of office; grade; filling vacancy.
"10504. National Guard Bureau: assignment of officers of regular or reserve components.

"§10501. National Guard Bureau: organization; function

"There is a National Guard Bureau, which is a joint bureau of the Department of the Army and the Department of the Air Force. The National Guard Bureau is the channel of communication between the departments concerned and the several States, Territories, Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia on all matters pertaining to the National Guard, the Army National Guard of the United States, and the Air National Guard of the United States.

"§10502. Chief of Bureau: appointment

"(a) CHIEF.—The National Guard Bureau is headed by a chief who is the adviser to the Army Chief of Staff and the Air Force Chief of Staff on National Guard matters.

"(b) APPOINTMENT.—The President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint the Chief of the Bureau from officers of the Army National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States who—

"(1) have been recommended by their respective governors;

"(2) have had at least 10 years of commissioned service in the active National Guard; and

"(3) are in a grade above lieutenant colonel.

"§10503. Chief of Bureau: term of office; grade; filling vacancy

"(a) TERM OF OFFICE.—The Chief of the National Guard Bureau holds office for four years, but may be removed for cause at any time. An officer may not hold the office of Chief of the Bureau after attaining 64 years of age. He is eligible to succeed himself. While holding that office, the Chief of the Bureau may not be removed from the reserve active-status list, or from an active status, under any provision of law that otherwise would require such removal due to completion of a specified number of years of service or a specified number of years of service in grade.

"(b) GRADE WHILE SERVING.—If an officer appointed as Chief of the National Guard Bureau holds a lower reserve grade, the officer shall be appointed as a Reserve in his armed force in the grade of major general for service in the Army National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States, as the case may be, while serving as Chief of the Bureau.

“(c) DISABILITY; VACANCY.—If the Chief of the Bureau is unable, because of disability, to perform the functions of his office, or if that office is vacant, the senior officer of the Army National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States on duty in the Bureau shall act as its chief until the disability ceases or a successor is appointed.

“§10504. National Guard Bureau: assignment of officers of regular or reserve components

“Except as provided in section 12402(b) of this title, the President may assign to duty in the National Guard Bureau as many regular or reserve officers of the Army and the Air Force as he considers necessary.”.

(2) Sections 3040, 3541, and 8541 are repealed.

(d) ANNUAL REPORT ON GUARD AND RESERVE EQUIPMENT.—(1) Part I of subtitle E, as added by subsection (a), is amended by adding after chapter 1011, as added by subsection (c), the following:

“CHAPTER 1013—BUDGET INFORMATION AND ANNUAL REPORTS TO CONGRESS

“Sec.
“10541. National Guard and reserve component equipment: annual report to Congress.”.

(2) Section 115b is transferred to chapter 1013, as added by paragraph (1), inserted after the table of sections, and redesignated as section 10541.

(3) The heading of that section is amended to read as follows:

“§10541. National Guard and reserve component equipment: annual report to Congress”.

SEC. 302. LAWS RELATING TO RESERVE COMPONENT PERSONNEL POLICY.

(a) STRENGTH AND DISTRIBUTION IN GRADE.—(1) Subtitle E, as added by section 101, is amended by inserting after part I of such subtitle, as added by section 301, the following:

“PART II—PERSONNEL GENERALLY

“CHAPTER 1201—AUTHORIZED STRENGTHS AND DISTRIBUTION IN GRADE

“Sec.
“12001. Authorized strengths: reserve components.
“12002. Authorized strengths: Army and Air Force reserve components, exclusive of members on active duty.
“12003. Authorized strengths: commissioned officers active status.
“12004. Strength in grade: reserve general and flag officers in an active status.
“12005. Strength in grade: commissioned officers in grades below brigadier general or rear admiral (lower half) in an active status.
“12006. Strength limitations: authority to waive in time of war or national emergency.
“12007. Reserve officers of the Army: distribution.
“12008. Army Reserve and Air Force Reserve: warrant officers.
“12009. Army and Air Force reserve components: temporary increases.
“12010. Computations for Naval Reserve and Marine Corps Reserve: rule when fraction occurs in final result.
“12011. Authorized strengths: reserve officers on active duty or on full-time National Guard duty for administration of the reserves or the National Guard.
“12012. Authorized strengths: senior enlisted members on active duty or on full-time National Guard duty for administration of the reserves or the National Guard.

“§12001. Authorized strengths: reserve components

“(a) Whenever the authorized strength of a reserve component (other than the Coast Guard Reserve) is not prescribed by law, it shall be prescribed by the President.

“(b) Subject to the authorized strength of the reserve component concerned, the authorized strength of each reserve component (other than the Coast Guard Reserve) in members in each grade is that which the Secretary concerned determines to be necessary to provide for mobilization requirements. The Secretary shall review these determinations at least once each year and revise them if he considers it necessary. However, a member of the reserve component concerned may not, as a result of such a determination, be reduced in the member's reserve grade without the member's consent.

“§12002. Authorized strengths: Army and Air Force reserve components, exclusive of members on active duty

“(a) The authorized strengths of the National Guard and the reserve components of the Army and the Air Force, exclusive of members who are included in the strengths authorized for members of the Army and Air Force, respectively, on active duty, are as follows:

“Army National Guard and the Army National Guard of the United States	600,000
“Army Reserve	980,000
“Air National Guard and the Air National Guard of the United States	150,000
“Air Force Reserve	500,000.

“(b) The strength authorized by this section for the Army National Guard and the Army National Guard of the United States, and the strength authorized by this section for the Air National Guard and the Air National Guard of the United States, shall be allocated among the States.

“§12003. Authorized strengths: commissioned officers in an active status

“(a) The authorized strengths of the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps in reserve commissioned officers, other than commissioned warrant officers and officers on an active-duty list, in an active status are as follows:

“Army	275,000
“Air Force	200,000
“Navy	150,000
“Marine Corps	24,500.

“(b) The authorized strengths prescribed by subsection (a) may not be exceeded unless—

“(1) the Secretary concerned determines that a greater number is necessary for planned mobilization requirements; or

“(2) the excess results directly from the operation of a nondiscretionary provision of law.

“§12004. Strength in grade: reserve general and flag officers in an active status

“(a) The authorized strengths of the Army, Air Force, and Marine Corps in reserve general officers in an active status, and the authorized strength of the Navy in reserve officers in the grades of rear admiral (lower half) and rear admiral in an active-status, are as follows:

“Army	207
“Air Force	157
“Navy	48
“Marine Corps	10.

“(b) The following Army and Air Force reserve officers shall not be counted for purposes of this section:

“(1) Those serving as adjutants general or assistant adjutants general of a State.

“(2) Those serving in the National Guard Bureau.

“(3) Those counted under section 526 of this title.

“(c)(1) The authorized strength of the Navy under subsection (a) is exclusive of officers counted under section 526 of this title. Of the number authorized under subsection (a), 39 are distributed among the line and the staff corps as follows:

“Line	28
“Medical Corps	5
“Chaplain Corps	1
“Judge Advocate General's Corps	1
“Dental Corps	2.
“Nurse Corps	1.
“Medical Service Corps	1.

“(2) The remaining authorizations for the Navy under subsection (a) shall be distributed among such other staff corps as are established by the Secretary of the Navy under the authority provided by section 5150(b) of this title, except that—

“(A) if the Secretary has established a Supply Corps, the authorized strength for the Supply Corps shall be seven; and

“(B) if the Secretary has established a Civil Engineering Corps, the authorized strength for the Civil Engineering Corps shall be two.

“(3) Not more than 50 percent of the officers in an active status authorized under this section for the Navy may serve in the grade of rear admiral.

“(d) The authorized strength of the Marine Corps under subsection (a) is exclusive of those counted under section 526 of this title.

“(e)(1) A reserve general officer of the Army or Air Force may not be reduced in grade because of a reduction in the number of general officers authorized under subsection (a).

“(2) An officer of the Naval Reserve or the Marine Corps Reserve may not be reduced in permanent grade because of a reduction in the number authorized by this section for his grade.

“§12005. Strength in grade: commissioned officers in grades below brigadier general or rear admiral (lower half) in an active status

“(a)(1) Subject to paragraph (2), the authorized strength of the Army and the Air Force in reserve commissioned officers in an active status in each grade named in paragraph (2) is as prescribed by the Secretary of the Army or the Secretary of the Air Force, respectively. A vacancy in any grade may be filled by an authorized appointment in any lower grade.

“(2) A strength prescribed by the Secretary concerned under paragraph (1) for a grade may not be higher than the percentage of the strength authorized for the Army or the Air Force, as the case may be, under section 12003 of this title that is specified for that grade as follows:

Grade	Army percentage	Air Force percentage
Colonel	2	1.8
Lieutenant colonel	6	4.6
Major	13	14.0

Grade	Army percentage	Air Force percentage
Captain	35	32.0
First lieutenant and second lieutenant (when combined with the number authorized for general officer grades under section 12004 of this title)	44	47.6

"(b)(1) The authorized strengths of the Naval Reserve in line officers in an active status in the grades of captain, commander, lieutenant commander, and lieutenant, and in the grades of lieutenant (junior grade) and ensign combined, are the following percentages of the total authorized number of those officers:

"Captain	1.5 percent
"Commander	7 percent
"Lieutenant commander	22 percent
"Lieutenant	37 percent
"Lieutenant (junior grade) and ensign (when combined with the number authorized for flag officer grades under section 12004 of this title)	32.5 percent.

"(2) When the actual number of line officers in an active status in any grade is less than the number authorized by paragraph (1) for that grade, the difference may be applied to increase the number authorized by that paragraph for any lower grade or grades.

"(c)(1) The authorized strengths of the Marine Corps Reserve in officers in an active status in the grades of colonel, lieutenant colonel, major, and captain, and in the grades of first lieutenant and second lieutenant combined, are the following percentages of the total authorized number of those officers:

"Colonel	2 percent
"Lieutenant colonel	6 percent
"Major	12 percent
"Captain	35 percent
"First lieutenant and second lieutenant (when combined with the number authorized for general officer grades under section 12004 of this title)	32.5 percent.

"(2) When the actual number of officers in an active status in any grade is less than the number authorized by paragraph (1) for that grade, the difference may be applied to increase the number authorized by that paragraph for any lower grade or grades.

"(d)(1) An officer of the Army or Air Force may not be reduced in grade because of a reduction in the number of commissioned officers authorized for the officer's grade under this section.

"(2) An officer of the Naval Reserve or the Marine Corps Reserve may not be reduced in permanent grade because of a reduction in the number authorized by this section for his grade.

"§12006. Strength limitations: authority to waive in time of war or national emergency

"(a) In time of war, or of national emergency declared by Congress or the President, the President may suspend the operation of any provision of section 12003, 12004, or 12005 of this title. So long as any such war or national emergency continues, any such suspension may be extended by the President.

"(b) Any suspension under subsection (a) shall, if not sooner ended, end on the last day of the two-year period beginning on the date on which the suspension (or the last extension thereof) takes effect or on the last day of the one-year period beginning on the date of the termination of the war or national emergency, whichever occurs first. With respect to the end of any such suspension, the preceding sentence supersedes the provisions of title II of the National Emergencies Act (50 U.S.C. 1621, 1622) which provide that powers or authorities exercised by reason of a national emergency shall cease to be exercised after the date of termination of the emergency.

"§12007. Reserve officers of the Army: distribution

"The Secretary of the Army shall distribute the number of reserve commissioned officers, other than commissioned warrant officers, authorized in each commissioned grade between those assigned to reserve units organized to serve as units and those not assigned to such units. The Secretary shall distribute the number who are assigned to reserve units organized to serve as units among the units of each reserve component by prescribing appropriate tables of organization and tables of distribution. The Secretary shall distribute the number who are not assigned to such units between—

"(1) each special branch; and

"(2) all other branches taken together.

"§12008. Army Reserve and Air Force Reserve: warrant officers

"The Secretary of the Army may prescribe the authorized strength of the Army Reserve in warrant officers. The Secretary of the Air Force may prescribe the authorized strength of the Air Force Reserve in warrant officers.

"§12009. Army and Air Force reserve components: temporary increases

"(a) The authorized strength in any reserve grade, as prescribed under this chapter, for any reserve component under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Army or the Secretary of the Air Force is automatically increased to the minimum extent necessary to give effect to each appointment made in that grade under section 1211(a), 3036, 14304(b), 14314, or 14317 of this title.

"(b) An authorized strength so increased is increased for no other purpose. While an officer holds that grade, the officer whose appointment caused the increase is counted for the purpose of determining when other appointments, not under those sections, may be made in that grade.

"§12010. Computations for Naval Reserve and Marine Corps Reserve: rule when fraction occurs in final result

"When there is a fraction in the final result of any computation under this chapter for the Naval Reserve or the Marine Corps Reserve, a fraction of one-half or more is counted as one, and a fraction of less than one-half is disregarded.

"§12012. Authorized strengths: senior enlisted members on active duty or on full-time National Guard duty for administration of the reserves or National Guard

"(a) The number of enlisted members in pay grades E-8 and E-9 who may be on active duty (other than for training) or on full-time National Guard duty under the authority of section 502(f) of title 32 (other than for training) as of the end of any fiscal year in connection with organizing, administering, recruiting, instructing, or training the reserve components or the National Guard may not exceed the number for that grade and armed force in the following table:

"Grade	Army	Navy	Air Force	Marine Corps
E-9	569	202	279	14
E-8	2,585	429	800	74

"(b) Whenever the number of members serving in pay grade E-9 for duty described in subsection (a) is less than the number authorized for that grade under subsection (a), the difference between the two numbers may be applied to increase the number authorized under such subsection for pay grade E-8.".

(2)(A) Section 524 is transferred to chapter 1201, as added by paragraph (1), inserted after section 12010, and redesignated as section 12011.

(B) The heading of that section is amended to read as follows:

"§12011. Authorized strengths: reserve officers on active duty or on full-time National Guard duty for administration of the reserves or the National Guard".

(3) Chapter 531 and sections 3212, 3217 through 3225, 5454, 5456, 5457, 5458, 8212, and 8217 through 8225 are repealed.

(4) Section 517 is amended—

(A) by striking out subsection (b); and

(B) by redesignating subsection (c) as subsection (b) and in that subsection striking out "or whenever" and all that follows through "under subsection (b),".

(b) ENLISTMENTS.—(1) Part II of subtitle E, as added by subsection (a), is amended by adding after chapter 1201 (as added by subsection (a)), the following:

"CHAPTER 1203—ENLISTED MEMBERS

"Sec.
"12101. Definition.
"12102. Reserve components: qualifications.
"12103. Reserve components: terms.
"12104. Reserve components: transfers.
"12105. Army Reserve and Air Force Reserve: transfer from Guard components.
"12106. Army and Air Force Reserve: transfer to upon withdrawal as member of National Guard.
"12107. Army National Guard of United States; Air National Guard of the United States: enlistment in.

"§12101. Definition

"In this chapter, the term 'enlistment' means original enlistment or reenlistment.

"§12105. Army Reserve and Air Force Reserve: transfer from Guard components

"(a) Under such regulations as the Secretary concerned may prescribe—

"(1) an enlisted member of the Army National Guard of the United States may be transferred in grade to the Army Reserve; and

"(2) an enlisted member of the Air National Guard of the United States may be transferred in grade to the Air Force Reserve.

"(b) Upon such a transfer, the member transferred is eligible for promotion to the highest regular or reserve grade ever held by him in the Army, if transferred under subsection (a)(1), or the Air Force, if transferred under subsection (a)(2), if his service has been honorable.

"(c) A transfer under this section may only be made with the consent of the governor or other appropriate authority of the State concerned.

"§12106. Army and Air Force Reserve: transfer to upon withdrawal as member of National Guard

"(a) An enlisted member of the Army National Guard of the United States who ceases to be a member of the Army National Guard becomes a member of the Army Reserve unless he is also discharged from his enlistment as a Reserve.

"(b) An enlisted member of the Air National Guard of the United States who ceases to be a member of the Air National Guard becomes a member of the Air Force Reserve unless he is also discharged from his enlistment as a Reserve.

"(c) An enlisted member who becomes a member of the Army Reserve or the Air Force Reserve under this section ceases to be a member of the Army National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States, as the case may be.

"§12107. Army National Guard of United States; Air National Guard of the United States: enlistment in

"(a) Except as provided in subsection (c), to become an enlisted member of the Army National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States, a person must—

"(1) be enlisted in the Army National Guard or the Air National Guard, as the case may be;

"(2) subscribe to the oath set forth in section 304 of title 32; and

"(3) be a member of a federally recognized unit or organization of the Army National Guard or the Air National Guard, as the case may be, in the grade in which he is to be enlisted as a Reserve.

"(b)(1) Under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of the Army, a person who enlists in the Army National Guard, or whose term of enlistment in the Army National Guard is extended, shall be concurrently enlisted, or his term of enlistment shall be concurrently extended, as the case may be, as a Reserve of the Army for service in the Army National Guard of the United States.

"(2) Under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of the Air Force, a person who enlists in the Air National Guard, or whose term of enlistment in the Air National Guard is extended, shall be concurrently enlisted, or his term of enlistment shall be concurrently extended, as the case may be, as a Reserve of the Air Force for service in the Air National Guard of the United States.

"(c)(1) A member of the Army Reserve who enlists in the Army National Guard in his reserve grade, and is a member of a federally recognized unit or organization of the Army National Guard, becomes a member of the Army National Guard of the United States and ceases to be a member of the Army Reserve.

"(2) A member of the Air Force Reserve who enlists in the Air National Guard in his reserve grade, and is a member of a federally recognized unit or organization of the Air National Guard, becomes a member of the Air National Guard of the United States and ceases to be a member of the Air Force Reserve.".

(2) Sections 510 (as amended by section 201(a)), 511, and 512 are transferred to chapter 1203, as added by paragraph (1), inserted after section 12101, and redesignated as follows:

Section	Redesignated section
510	12102
511	12103

"CHAPTER 1211—NATIONAL GUARD MEMBERS IN FEDERAL SERVICE

"Sec.

"12401. Army and Air National Guard of United States: status.

"12402. Army and Air National Guard of United States: commissioned officers; duty in National Guard Bureau.

"12403. Army and Air National Guard of United States: members; status in which ordered into Federal service.

"12404. Army and Air National Guard of United States: mobilization; maintenance of organization.

"12405. National Guard in Federal service: status.

"12406. National Guard in Federal service: call.

"12407. National Guard in Federal service: period of service; apportionment.

"12408. National Guard in Federal service: physical examination.

"§12401. Army and Air National Guard of the United States: status

"Members of the Army National Guard of the United States and the Air National Guard of the United States are not in active Federal service except when ordered thereto under law.

"§12402. Army and Air National Guard of United States: commissioned officers; duty in National Guard Bureau

"(a) The President may, with their consent, order commissioned officers of the Army National Guard of the United States and the Air National Guard of the United States to active duty in the National Guard Bureau.

"(b)(1) The number of officers of the Army National Guard of the United States in grades below brigadier general who are ordered to active duty in the National Guard Bureau may not be more than 40 percent of the number of officers of the Army authorized for duty in that Bureau and, to the extent practicable, shall not exceed 40 percent of the number of officers of the Army serving in that Bureau in any grade below brigadier general.

"(2) The number of officers of the Air National Guard of the United States in grades below brigadier general who are ordered to active duty in the National Guard Bureau may not be more than 40 percent of the number of officers of the Air Force authorized for duty in that Bureau and, to the extent practicable, shall not exceed 40 percent of the number of officers of the Air Force serving in that Bureau in any grade below brigadier general.

"§12403. Army and Air National Guard of United States: members; status in which ordered into Federal service

"Members of the Army National Guard of the United States ordered to active duty shall be ordered to duty as Reserves of the Army. Members of the Air National Guard of the United States ordered to active duty shall be ordered to duty as Reserves of the Air Force.

"§12404. Army and Air National Guard of United States: mobilization; maintenance of organization

"During an initial mobilization, the organization of a unit of the Army National Guard of the United States or of the Air National Guard of the United States ordered into active Federal service shall, so far as practicable, be maintained as it existed on the date of the order to duty.

"§12405. National Guard in Federal service: status

"Members of the National Guard called into Federal service are, from the time when they are required to respond to the call, subject to the laws and regulations governing the Army or the Air Force, as the case may be, except those applicable only to members of the Regular Army or Regular Air Force, as the case may be.

"§12406. National Guard in Federal service: call

"Whenever—

"(1) the United States, or any of the Territories, Commonwealths, or possessions, is invaded or is in danger of invasion by a foreign nation;

"(2) there is a rebellion or danger of a rebellion against the authority of the Government of the United States; or

"(3) the President is unable with the regular forces to execute the laws of the United States; the President may call into Federal service members and units of the National Guard of any State in such numbers as he considers necessary to repel the invasion, suppress the rebellion, or execute those laws. Orders for these purposes shall be issued through the governors of the States or, in the case of the District of Columbia, through the commanding general of the National Guard of the District of Columbia.

"§12407. National Guard in Federal service: period of service; apportionment

"(a) Whenever the President calls the National Guard of a State into Federal service, he may specify in the call the period of the service. Members and units called shall serve inside or outside the territory of the United States during the term specified, unless sooner relieved by the President. However, no member of the National Guard may be kept in Federal service beyond the term of his commission or enlistment.

"(b) When the National Guard of a State is called into Federal service with the National Guard of another of those jurisdictions, the President may apportion the total number called from the Army National Guard or from the Air National Guard, as the case may be, on the basis of the populations of the jurisdictions affected by the call.

"§12408. National Guard in Federal service: physical examination

"(a) Under regulations prescribed by the President, each member of the National Guard called into Federal service shall be examined as to physical fitness, without further commission or enlistment.

"(b) Immediately before such a member is mustered out of Federal service, he shall be examined as to physical fitness. The record of this examination shall be retained by the United States.".

(2) Sections 3495 through 3502 and 8495 through 8502 are repealed.

(g) MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.—(1) Part II of subtitle E, as added by subsection (a), is further amended by adding after chapter 1211 (as added by subsection (f)) the following:

"CHAPTER 1213—SPECIAL APPOINTMENTS, ASSIGNMENTS, DETAILS, AND DUTIES

1005	12645
1006	12646
1007	12647

(3) Section 1003 is repealed.

(4)(A) The heading of section 12641 (as so redesignated) is amended to read as follows:

"§12641. Standards and procedures: Secretary to prescribe".

(B) The heading of section 12644 (as so redesignated) is amended to read as follows:

"§12644. Members physically not qualified for active duty: discharge or transfer to retired status".

(5) Chapter 51 is amended by striking out the table of sections at the beginning and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

''Sec.
''1001. Reference to chapter 1219.

"§1001. Reference to chapter 1219

''Provisions of law relating to standards and procedures for retention and promotion of members of reserve components are set forth in chapter 1219 of this title (beginning with section 12641).''.

(i) Separation.—(1) Part II of subtitle E, as added by subsection (a), is further amended by adding after chapter 1219 (as added by subsection (h)) the following:

"CHAPTER 1221—SEPARATION

''Sec.
''12681. Reserves: discharge authority.
''12682. Reserves: discharge upon becoming ordained minister of religion.
''12683. Reserve officers: limitation on involuntary separation.
''12684. Reserves: separation for absence without authority or sentence to imprisonment.
''12685. Reserves separated for cause: character of discharge.
''12686. Reserves on active duty within two years of retirement eligibility: limitation on release from active duty.

"§12681. Reserves: discharge authority

''Subject to other provisions of this title, reserve commissioned officers may be discharged at the pleasure of the President. Other Reserves may be discharged under regulations prescribed by the Secretary concerned.

"§12682. Reserves: discharge upon becoming ordained minister of religion

''Under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, a Reserve who becomes a regular or ordained minister of religion is entitled upon his request to a discharge from his reserve enlistment or appointment.

"§12683. Reserve officers: limitation on involuntary separation

''(a) An officer of a reserve component who has at least five years of service as a commissioned officer may not be separated from that component without his consent except—

''(1) under an approved recommendation of a board of officers convened by an authority designated by the Secretary concerned; or

''(2) by the approved sentence of a court-martial.

''(b) Subsection (a) does not apply—

''(1) to a separation under section 12684, 14901, or 14907 of this title;

''(2) to a dismissal under section 1161(a) of this title; or

''(3) to a transfer under section 12212, 12213, 14514, or 14515 of this title.

"§12684. Reserves: separation for absence without authority or sentence to imprisonment

''The President or the Secretary concerned may drop from the rolls of the armed force concerned any Reserve—

''(1) who has been absent without authority for at least three months; or

''(2) who is sentenced to confinement in a Federal or State penitentiary or correctional institution after having been found guilty of an offense by a court other than a court-martial or other military court, and whose sentence has become final.

"§12685. Reserves separated for cause: character of discharge

''A member of a reserve component who is separated for cause, except under section 12684 of this title, is entitled to a discharge under honorable conditions unless—

''(1) the member is discharged under conditions other than honorable under an approved sentence of a court-martial or under the approved findings of a board of officers convened by an authority designated by the Secretary concerned; or

''(2) the member consents to a discharge under conditions other than honorable with a waiver of proceedings of a court-martial or a board.

"§12686. Reserves on active duty within two years of retirement eligibility: limitation on release from active duty

''Under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary concerned, which shall be as uniform as practicable, a member of a reserve component who is on active duty (other than for training) and is within two years of becoming eligible for retired pay or retainer pay under a purely military retirement system, may not be involuntarily released from that duty before he becomes eligible for that pay, unless the release is approved by the Secretary.''.

(2) Sections 1162 and 1163 are repealed.

(j) Retired Pay.—(1) Chapter 67 is transferred to part II of subtitle E, as added by subsection (a), inserted after chapter 1221 (as added by subsection (i)), and amended to read as follows:

"CHAPTER 1223—RETIRED PAY FOR NON-REGULAR SERVICE

''Sec.
''12731. Age and service requirements.
''12732. Entitlement to retired pay: computation of years of service.
''12733. Computation of retired pay: computation of years of service.
''12734. Time not creditable toward years of service.
''12735. Inactive status list.
''12736. Service credited for retired pay benefits not excluded for other benefits.
''12737. Limitation on active duty.
''12738. Limitations on revocation of retired pay.
''12739. Computation of retired pay.

"§12731. Age and service requirements

''(a) Except as provided in subsection (c), a person is entitled, upon application, to retired pay computed under section 12739 of this title, if the person—

''(1) is at least 60 years of age;

''(2) has performed at least 20 years of service computed under section 12732 of this title;

''(3) performed the last eight years of qualifying service while a member of any category named in section 12732(a)(1) of this title, but not while a member of a regular component, the Fleet Reserve, or the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve; and

''(4) is not entitled, under any other provision of law, to retired pay from an armed force or retainer pay as a member of the Fleet Reserve or the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.

''(b) Application for retired pay under this section must be made to the Secretary of the military department, or the Secretary of Transportation, as the case may be, having jurisdiction at the time of application over the armed force in which the applicant is serving or last served.

''(c)(1) A person who, before August 16, 1945, was a Reserve of an armed force, or a member of the Army without component or other category covered by section 12732(a)(1) of this title except a regular component, is not eligible for retired pay under this chapter unless—

''(A) the person performed active duty during World War I or World War II; or

''(B) the person performed active duty (other than for training) during the Korean conflict, the Berlin crisis, or the Vietnam era.

''(2) In this subsection:

''(A) The term 'World War I' means the period beginning on April 6, 1917, and ending on November 11, 1918.

''(B) The term 'World War II' means the period beginning on September 9, 1940, and ending on December 31, 1946.

''(C) The term ''Korean conflict' means the period beginning on June 27, 1950, and ending on July 27, 1953.

''(D) The term ''Berlin crisis' means the period beginning on August 14, 1961, and ending on May 30, 1963.

''(E) The term ''Vietnam era' means the period beginning on August 5, 1964, and ending on March 27, 1973.

''(d) The Secretary concerned shall notify each person who has completed the years of service required for eligibility for retired pay under this chapter. The notice shall be sent, in writing, to the person concerned within one year after the person completes that service. The notice shall include notice of the elections available to such person under the Survivor Benefit Plan established under subchapter II of chapter 73 of this title and the Supplemental Survivor Benefit Plan established under subchapter III of that chapter, and the effects of such elections.

"(e) Notwithstanding section 8301 of title 5, the date of entitlement to retired pay under this section shall be the date on which the requirements of subsection (a) have been completed.

"§12732. Entitlement to retired pay: computation of years of service

"(a) Except as provided in subsection (b), for the purpose of determining whether a person is entitled to retired pay under section 12731 of this title, the person's years of service are computed by adding the following:

"(1) The person's years of service, before July 1, 1949, in the following:

"(A) The armed forces.

"(B) The federally recognized National Guard before June 15, 1933.

"(C) A federally recognized status in the National Guard before June 15, 1933.

"(D) The National Guard after June 14, 1933, if his service therein was continuous from the date of his enlistment in the National Guard, or his Federal recognition as an officer therein, to the date of his enlistment or appointment, as the case may be, in the National Guard of the United States, the Army National Guard of the United States, or the Air National Guard of the United States.

"(E) The Naval Reserve Force.

"(F) The Naval Militia that conformed to the standards prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy.

"(G) The National Naval Volunteers.

"(H) The Army Nurse Corps, the Navy Nurse Corps, the Nurse Corps Reserve of the Army, or the Nurse Corps Reserve of the Navy, as it existed at any time after February 2, 1901.

"(I) The Army under an appointment under the Act of December 22, 1942 (ch. 805, 56 Stat. 1072).

"(J) An active full-time status, except as a student or apprentice, with the Medical Department of the Army as a civilian employee—

"(i) in the dietetic or physical therapy categories, if the service was performed after April 6, 1917, and before April 1, 1943; or

"(ii) in the occupational therapy category, if the service was performed before appointment in the Army Nurse Corps or the Women's Medical Specialist Corps and before January 1, 1949, or before appointment in the Air Force before January 1, 1949, with a view to designation as an Air Force nurse or medical specialist.

"(2) Each one-year period, after July 1, 1949, in which the person has been credited with at least 50 points on the following basis:

"(A) One point for each day of—

"(i) active service; or

"(ii) full-time service under sections 316, 502, 503, 504, and 505 of title 32 while performing annual training duty or while attending a prescribed course of instruction at a school designated as a service school by law or by the Secretary concerned; if that service conformed to required standards and qualifications.

"(B) One point for each attendance at a drill or period of equivalent instruction that was prescribed for that year by the Secretary concerned and conformed to the requirements prescribed by law, including attendance under section 502 of title 32.

"(C) Points at the rate of 15 a year for membership—

"(i) in a reserve component of an armed force,

"(ii) in the Army or the Air Force without component, or

"(iii) in any other category covered by subsection (a)(1) except a regular component.

For the purpose of clauses (A), (B), and (C), service in the National Guard shall be treated as if it were service in a reserve component, if the person concerned was later appointed in the National Guard of the United States, the Army National Guard of the United States, the Air National Guard of the United States, or as a Reserve of the Army or the Air Force, and served continuously in the National Guard from the date of his Federal recognition to the date of that appointment.

"(3) The person's years of active service in the Commissioned Corps of the Public Health Service.

"(4) The person's years of active commissioned service in the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (including active commissioned service in the Environmental Science Services Administration and in the Coast and Geodetic Survey).

"(b) The following service may not be counted under subsection (a):

"(1) Service (other than active service) in an inactive section of the Organized Reserve Corps or of the Army Reserve, or in an inactive section of the officers' section of the Air Force Reserve.

"(2) Service (other than active service) after June 30, 1949, while on the Honorary Retired List of the Naval Reserve or of the Marine Corps Reserve.

"(3) Service in the inactive National Guard.

"(4) Service in a non-federally recognized status in the National Guard.

"(5) Service in the Fleet Reserve or the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.

"(6) Service as an inactive Reserve nurse of the Army Nurse Corps established by the Act of February 2, 1901 (ch. 192, 31 Stat. 753), as amended, and service before July 1, 1938, as an inactive Reserve nurse of the Navy Nurse Corps established by the Act of May 13, 1908 (ch. 166, 35 Stat. 146).

"(7) Service in any status other than that as commissioned officer, warrant officer, nurse, flight officer, aviation midshipman, appointed aviation cadet, or enlisted member, and that described in clauses (I) and (J) of subsection (a)(1).

"§12733. Computation of retired pay: computation of years of service

"For the purpose of computing the retired pay of a person under this chapter, the person's years of service and any fraction of such a year are computed by dividing 360 into the sum of the following:

"(1) The person's days of active service.

"(2) The person's days of full-time service under sections 316, 502, 503, 504, and 505 of title 32 while performing annual training duty or while attending a prescribed course of instruction at a school designated as a service school by law or by the Secretary concerned.

"(3) One day for each point credited to the person under clause (B) or (C) of section 12732(a)(2) of this title, but not more than 60 days in any one year.

"(4) 50 days for each year before July 1, 1949, and proportionately for each fraction of a year, of service (other than active service) in a reserve component of an armed force, in the Army or the Air Force without component, or in any other category covered by section 12732(a)(1) of this title, except a regular component.

"§12734. Time not creditable toward years of service

"(a) Service in an inactive status may not be counted in any computation of years of service under this chapter.

"(b) Time spent after retirement (without pay) for failure to conform to standards and qualifications prescribed under section 12641 of this title may not be credited in a computation of years of service under this chapter.

"§12735. Inactive status list

"(a) A member who would be eligible for retired pay under this chapter but for the fact that that member is under 60 years of age may be transferred, at his request and by direction of the Secretary concerned, to such inactive status list as may be established for members of his armed force, other than members of a regular component.

"(b) While on an inactive status list under subsection (a), a member is not required to participate in any training or other program prescribed for his component.

"(c) The Secretary may at any time recall to active status a member who is on an inactive status list under subsection (a).

"§12736. Service credited for retired pay benefits not excluded for other benefits

"No period of service included wholly or partly in determining a person's right to, or the amount of, retired pay under this chapter may be excluded in determining his eligibility for any annuity, pension, or old-age benefit, under any other law, on account of civilian employment by the United States or otherwise, or in determining the amount payable under that law, if that service is otherwise properly credited under it.

"§12737. Limitation on active duty

"A member of the armed forces may not be ordered to active duty solely for the purpose of qualifying the member for retired pay under this chapter.

"§12738. Limitations on revocation of retired pay

"(a) After a person is granted retired pay under this chapter, or is notified in accordance with section 12731(d) of this title that the person has completed the years of service required for eligibility for retired pay under this chapter, the person's eligibility for retired pay may not be denied or revoked on the basis of any error, miscalculation, misinformation, or administrative determination of years of service performed as required by section 12731(a)(2) of this title, unless it resulted directly from the fraud or misrepresentation of the person.

"(b) The number of years of creditable service upon which retired pay is computed may be adjusted to correct any error, miscalculation, misinformation, or administrative determination and when such a correction is made the person is entitled to retired pay in accordance with the number of years of creditable service, as corrected, from the date the person is granted retired pay.

"§12739. Computation of retired pay

"(a) The monthly retired pay of a person entitled to that pay under this chapter is the product of—

"(1) the retired pay base for that person as computed under section 1406(b)(2) or 1407 of this title; and

"(2) 2½ percent of the years of service credited to that person under section 12733 of this title.

"(b) The amount computed under subsection (a) may not exceed 75 percent of the retired pay base upon which the computation is based.

"(c) Amounts computed under this section, if not a multiple of $1, shall be rounded down to the next lower multiple of $1.".

(2) Section 1401(a) is amended by striking out formula number 3 in the table set forth in that section.

(3) Section 1405(a)(3) is amended by striking out "section 1333" and "section 1331" and inserting in lieu thereof "section 12733" and "section 12731", respectively.

(4) Section 1406(b) is amended—

(A) by striking out the matter preceding the table and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"(b) RETIREMENT UNDER SUBTITLE A OR E.—

"(1) DISABILITY, WARRANT OFFICER, AND DOPMA RETIREMENT.—In the case of a person whose retired pay is computed under this subtitle, the retired pay base is determined in accordance with the following table.";

(B) in the table—

(i) by striking out the entry relating to section 1331 (including the matter relating to that entry in the column under the heading "The retired pay base is:"); and

(ii) by redesignating the references to footnotes 3 and 4 so as to refer to footnotes 2 and 3, respectively;

(C) by striking out footnote 2 to the table and redesignating footnotes 3 and 4 as footnotes 2 and 3, respectively; and

(D) by adding at the end the following:

"(2) NON-REGULAR SERVICE RETIREMENT.—In the case of a person who is entitled to retired pay under section 12731 of this title, the retired pay base is the monthly basic pay, determined at the rates applicable on the date when retired pay is granted, of the highest grade held satisfactorily by the person at any time in the armed forces. For purposes of the preceding sentence, the highest grade in which a person served satisfactorily as an officer shall be determined in accordance with section 1370(d) of this title.".

(5) Section 1407 is amended—

(A) in subsection (c)(2)(B), by striking out "chapter 67" and inserting in lieu thereof "chapter 1223"; and

"§16301. Education loan repayment program: enlisted members of Selected Reserve with critical specialties

"(a)(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, the Secretary of Defense may repay—

"(A) any loan made, insured, or guaranteed under part B of title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 1071 et seq.); or

"(B) any loan made under part E of such title (20 U.S.C. 1087aa et seq.).

Repayment of any such loan shall be made on the basis of each complete year of service performed by the borrower.

"(2) The Secretary may repay loans described in paragraph (1) in the case of any person for service performed as an enlisted member of the Selected Reserve of the Ready Reserve of an armed force in a reserve component and military specialty specified by the Secretary of Defense. The Secretary may repay such a loan only if the person to whom the loan was made performed such service after the loan was made.

"(b) The portion or amount of a loan that may be repaid under subsection (a) is 15 percent or $500, whichever is greater, for each year of service.

"(c) If a portion of a loan is repaid under this section for any year, interest on the remainder of the loan shall accrue and be paid in the same manner as is otherwise required.

"(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed to authorize refunding any repayment of a loan.

"(e) A person who transfers from service making the person eligible for repayment of loans under this section (as described in subsection (a)(2)) to service making the person eligible for repayment of loans under section 2171 of this title (as described in subsection (a)(2) of that section) during a year shall be eligible to have repaid a portion of such loan determined by giving appropriate fractional credit for each portion of the year so served, in accordance with regulations of the Secretary concerned.

"(f) The Secretary of Defense shall, by regulation, prescribe a schedule for the allocation of funds made available to carry out the provisions of this section and section 2171 of this title during any year for which funds are not sufficient to pay the sum of the amounts eligible for repayment under subsection (a) and section 2171(a) of this title.".

(2)(A) Section 2172 is transferred to the end of chapter 1609, as added by paragraph (1), and redesignated as section 16302.

(B) The heading of such section is amended to read as follows:

TITLE V—TRANSITION PROVISIONS

SEC. 501. CONTINUATION ON THE RESERVE ACTIVE-STATUS LIST OF CERTAIN RESERVE COLONELS OF THE ARMY AND AIR FORCE.

(a) CONTINUATION UNDER OLD LAW.—Except as provided in subsection (b), a reserve officer of the Army or the Air Force who, on the effective date of this Act—

(1) is subject to placement on the reserve active-status list of the Army or the Air Force; and

(2)(A) holds the reserve grade of colonel, (B) is on a list of officers recommended for promotion to the reserve grade of colonel, or (C) has been nominated by the President for appointment in the reserve grade of colonel, shall continue to be subject to mandatory transfer to the Retired Reserve or discharge from the officer's reserve appointment under section 3851 or 8851 of title 10, United States Code, as in effect on the day before the effective date of this Act.

(b) EXEMPTION.—This section does not apply to an officer who is—

(1) sooner transferred from an active status or discharged under some other provision of law;

(2) promoted to a higher grade, unless the officer was on a list of officers recommended for promotion to the reserve grade of colonel before the effective date of this Act; or

(3) continued on the reserve active-status list under section 14701 of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act.

SEC. 502. EFFECTS OF SELECTION FOR PROMOTION AND FAILURE OF SELECTION FOR ARMY AND AIR FORCE OFFICERS.

(a) PROMOTIONS TO FILL VACANCIES.—A reserve commissioned officer of the Army or Air Force (other than a commissioned warrant officer) who, on the day before the effective date of this Act, is recommended for promotion to fill a vacancy in the Army Reserve or the Air Force Reserve under section 3383, 3384, 8372, or 8373 of title 10, United States Code, as in effect on the day before the effective date of this Act, in the next higher reserve grade shall be considered to have been recommended for promotion to that grade by a vacancy promotion board under section 14101(a)(2) of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act.

(b) PROMOTIONS OTHER THAN TO FILL VACANCIES.—A reserve officer of the Army or Air Force who, on the day before the effective date of this Act, is recommended for promotion under section 3366, 3367, 3370, 3371, 8366, or 8371 of title 10, United States Code, as in effect on the day before the effective date of this Act, to a reserve grade higher than the grade in which the officer is serving shall be considered to have been recommended for promotion by a mandatory promotion board convened under section 14101(a)(1) of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act.

(c) OFFICERS FOUND QUALIFIED FOR PROMOTION TO FIRST LIEUTENANT.—A reserve officer of the Army or Air Force who, on the effective date of the Act, holds the grade of second lieutenant and has been found qualified for promotion to the grade of first lieutenant in accordance with section 3365, 3382, or 8365 of title 10, United States Code, as in effect on the day before the effective date of this Act, shall be promoted to that grade on the date on which the officer would have been promoted under the provisions of chapter 337 or 837 of such title, as in effect on the day before the effective date of the Act, unless sooner promoted under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Army or the Secretary of the Air Force under section 14308(b) of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act.

(d) OFFICERS ONCE FAILED OF SELECTION.—(1) A reserve officer of the Army in the grade of first lieutenant, captain, or major who, on the day before the effective date of this Act, has been considered once but not recommended for promotion to the next higher reserve grade under section 3366 or 3367 of title 10, United States Code, or a reserve officer of the Air Force in the grade of first lieutenant, captain, or major who, on the day before the effective date of this Act, is a deferred officer within the meaning of section 8368 of such title, shall be considered to have been considered once but not selected for promotion by a board convened under section 14101(a)(1) of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act. If the officer is later considered for promotion by a selection board convened under that section and is not selected for promotion (or is selected for promotion but declines to accept the promotion), the officer shall be considered for all purposes to have twice failed of selection for promotion.

(2) In the case of a reserve officer of the Army or Air Force in an active status who, on the day before the effective date of this Act, is in the grade of first lieutenant, captain, or major and whose name has been removed, under the provisions of section 3363(f) of title 10, United States Code, from a list of officers recommended for promotion or who has previously not been promoted because the President declined to appoint the officer in the next higher grade under section 8377 of such title as in effect on the day before the effective date of the Act, or whose name was removed from a list of officers recommended for promotion to the next higher grade because the Senate did not consent to the officer's appointment, if the officer is later considered for promotion by a selection board convened by section 14101(a)(1) of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act, and (A) is not selected for promotion, (B) is selected for promotion but removed from the list of officers recommended or approved for promotion, or (C) is selected for promotion but declines to accept the promotion, the officer shall be considered for all purposes to have twice failed of selection for promotion.

(e) OFFICERS TWICE FAILED OF SELECTION.—A reserve officer of the Army or Air Force in an active status who, on the day before the effective date of this Act, is in the grade of first lieutenant, captain, or major and on that date is subject to be treated as prescribed in section 3846 or 8846 of title 10, United States Code, shall continue to be governed by that section as in effect on the day before the effective date of this Act.

(f) OFFICERS WITH APPROVED PROMOTION DECLINATIONS IN EFFECT.—A reserve officer of the Army who, on the day before the effective date of this Act, has declined a promotion under subsection (f) or (g) of section 3364 of title 10, United States Code, shall while carried on the reserve active-status list be subject to the provisions of subsections (h), (i), and (j) of such section, as in effect on the day before the effective date of the Act, except that the name of an officer to whom this section applies shall be placed on a promotion list under section 14308(a) of title 10, United States Code (as added by this Act), and, at the end of the approved period of declination, shall be considered to have failed of promotion if the officer again declines to accept the promotion.

(g) COVERED OFFICERS.—This section applies to reserve officers of the Army and Air Force who—

(1) on the day before the effective date of this Act are in an active status; and

(2) on the effective date of this Act are subject to placement on the reserve active-status list of the Army or the Air Force.

SEC. 503. EFFECTS OF SELECTION FOR PROMOTION AND FAILURE OF SELECTION FOR NAVY AND MARINE CORPS OFFICERS.

(a) RECOMMENDATIONS FOR PROMOTION.—An officer covered by this section who, on the day before the effective date of the Act, has been recommended for promotion to a reserve grade higher than the grade in which the officer is serving shall be considered to have been recommended for promotion to that grade under section 14101(a) of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act.

(b) FAILURES OF SELECTION.—An officer covered by this section who, on the day before the effective date of this Act, is considered to have failed of selection for promotion one or more times under chapter 549 of title 10, United States Code, to a grade below captain, in the case of a reserve officer of the Navy, or to a grade below colonel, in the case of a reserve officer of the Marine Corps, shall be subject to chapters 1405 and 1407 of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act, as if such failure or failures had occurred under the provisions of those chapters.

(c) Officers Other Than Covered Officers Recommended for Promotion.—A reserve officer of the Navy or Marine Corps who on the day before the effective date of this Act (1) has been recommended for promotion in the approved report of a selection board convened under chapter 549 of title 10, United States Code, and (2) was on the active-duty list of the Navy or Marine Corps may be promoted under that chapter, as in effect on the day before the effective date of this Act.

(d) Officers Found Qualified for Promotion to Lieutenant (Junior Grade) or First Lieutenant.—A covered officer who, on the effective date of this Act, holds the grade of second lieutenant and has been found qualified for promotion in accordance with section 5908 or 5910 of title 10, United States Code, as in effect on the day before the effective date of this Act, shall be promoted on the date on which the officer would have been promoted under the provisions of chapter 549 of such title, as in effect on the day before the effective date of the Act, unless sooner promoted under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy under section 14307(b) of such title, as added by this Act.

(e) Officers Whose Names Have Been Omitted From a List Furnished to a Selection Board.—A covered officer whose name, as of the effective date of this Act, had been omitted by administrative error from the list of officers furnished the most recent selection board to consider officers of the same grade and component, shall be considered by a special selection board established under section 14502 of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act. If the officer is selected for promotion by that board, the officer shall be promoted as specified in section 5904 of title 10, United States Code, as in effect on the day before the effective date of this Act.

(f) Covered Officers.—Except as provided in subsection (c), this section applies to any reserve officer of the Navy or Marine Corps who (1) before the effective date of this Act is in an active status, and (2) on the effective date of this Act is subject to placement on the reserve active-status list of the Navy or Marine Corps.

SEC. 504. DELAYS IN PROMOTIONS AND REMOVALS FROM PROMOTION LIST.

(a) Delays in Promotions.—(1) A delay in a promotion that is in effect on the day before the effective date of this Act under the laws and regulations in effect on that date shall continue in effect on and after that date as if the promotion had been delayed under section 14311 of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act.

(2) The delay of the promotion of a reserve officer of the Army or the Air Force which was in effect solely to achieve compliance with limitations set out in section 524 of title 10, United States Code or with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense with respect to sections 3380(c) and 8380(c) of title 10, United States Code, as in effect on the day before the effective date of this Act, shall continue in effect as if the promotion had been delayed under section 14311(e) of such title, as added by this Act.

(b) Removals From List.—An action that was initiated before the effective date of this Act under the laws and regulations in effect before that date to remove the name of an officer from a promotion list or from a list of officers recommended or approved for promotion shall continue on and after such date as if such action had been initiated under section 14110(d) or 14310, as appropriate, of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act.

SEC. 505. MINIMUM SERVICE QUALIFICATIONS FOR PROMOTION.

During the five-year period beginning on the effective date of this Act, the Secretary of the Army and the Secretary of the Air Force may waive the provisions of section 14304 of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act. The Secretary may, in addition, during any period in which such a waiver is in effect, establish minimum periods of total years of commissioned service an officer must have served to be eligible for consideration for promotion to the grade of captain, major, or lieutenant colonel by boards convened under section 14101(a) of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act.

SEC. 506. ESTABLISHMENT OF RESERVE ACTIVE-STATUS LIST.

(a) Six-Month Deadline.—Not later than six months after the effective date of this Act, the Secretary of the military department concerned shall ensure that—

(1) all officers of the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps who are required to be placed on the reserve active-status list of their Armed Force under section 14002 of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act, shall be placed on the list for their armed force and in their competitive category; and

(2) the relative seniority of those officers on each such list shall be established.

(b) Regulations.—The Secretary concerned shall prescribe regulations for the establishment of relative seniority. The Secretary of the Army and the Secretary of the Air Force shall, in prescribing such regulations, provide for the consideration of both promotion service established under section 3360(b) or 8360(e) of title 10, United States Code, as in effect on the day before the effective date of this Act, and total commissioned service established under section 3360(c) or 8366(e) of such title, as in effect on the day before the effective date of this Act. An officer placed on a reserve active-status list in accordance with this section shall be considered to have been on the list as of the effective date of this Act.

SEC. 507. PRESERVATION OF RELATIVE SENIORITY UNDER THE INITIAL ESTABLISHMENT OF THE RESERVE ACTIVE-STATUS LIST.

In order to maintain the relative seniority among reserve officers of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps as determined under section 506 of this Act, the Secretary of the military department concerned may, during the one-year period beginning on the effective date of this Act, adjust the date of rank of any reserve officer of such Armed Force who was in an active status but not on the active-duty list on such effective date.

SEC. 508. GRADE ON TRANSFER TO THE RETIRED RESERVE.

In determining the highest grade held satisfactorily by a person at any time in the Armed Forces for the purposes of paragraph (2) of section 1406(b) of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act, the requirement for satisfactory service on the reserve active-status list contained in section 1370(d) of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act, shall apply only to reserve commissioned officers who are promoted to a higher grade as a result of selection for promotion under chapter 36 of that title or under chapter 1405 of that title, as added by this Act, or having been found qualified for Federal recognition in a higher grade under chapter 3 of title 32, United States Code, after the effective date of this Act.

SEC. 509. RIGHTS FOR OFFICERS WITH OVER THREE YEARS SERVICE.

A reserve officer of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps who was in an active status on the day before the effective date of this Act and who was subject to placement of the reserve active-status list on the effective date of this Act may not be discharged under section 14503 of title 10, United States Code, as added by this Act, until on or after the day on which that officer completes three years of continuous service as a reserve commissioned officer.

SEC. 510. MANDATORY SEPARATION FOR AGE FOR CERTAIN RESERVE OFFICERS OF THE NAVY AND MARINE CORPS.

(a) Savings Provisions for Required Separation Age.—A reserve officer of the Navy or the Marine Corps—

(1) who—

(A) on the effective date of this Act is in an active status, and

(B) on the day before the effective date of this Act was an officer described in section 6389(e), 6397(a), 6403(a), or 6403(b) of title 10, United States Code; and

(2) who, on or after the effective date of this Act is subject to elimination from an active status under any provision of such title, is entitled to be treated as that officer would have been treated under section 6397 or 6403 as applicable, as in effect on the day before the effective date of this Act, if that treatment would result in the date for the officer's separation from an active status being a later date than the date established under the law in effect on or after the effective date of this Act.

(b) Savings Provisions for Mandatory Separation for Age.—An officer who was initially appointed in the Naval Reserve or the Marine Corps Reserve before January 1, 1953, and who cannot complete 20 years of service computed under section 12732 of this title before he becomes 62 years of age, but can complete this service by the time he becomes 64 years of age, may be retained in an active status not later than the date he becomes 64 years of age.

(c) An officer who was initially appointed in the Naval Reserve or the Marine Corps Reserve before the effective date of this Act, and who cannot complete 20 years of service computed under section 12732 of this title before he becomes 60 years of age, but can complete this service by the time he becomes 62 years of age, may be retained in an active status not later than the date he becomes 62 years of age.

TITLE VI—EFFECTIVE DATES AND GENERAL SAVINGS PROVISIONS

SEC. 601. EFFECTIVE DATE.

(a) General Effective Date.—Except for section 205, this Act and the amendments made by this Act shall take effect on the first day of the ninth month that begins after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(b) Regulations.—The authority to prescribe regulations under the amendments made by this Act shall take effect on the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 602. PRESERVATION OF SUSPENDED STATUS OF LAWS SUSPENDED AS OF EFFECTIVE DATE.

If a provision of law that is in a suspended status on the day before the effective date of this Act is transferred or amended by this Act, the suspended status of that provision is not affected by that transfer or amendment.

SEC. 603. PRESERVATION OF PRE-EXISTING RIGHTS, DUTIES, PENALTIES, AND PROCEEDINGS.

Except as otherwise provided in this Act, the provisions of this Act and the amendments made by this Act do not affect rights and duties that matured, penalties that were incurred, or proceedings that were begun before the effective date of this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. McDermott). Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from Maryland [Mrs. BYRON] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Arizona [Mr. STUMP] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Maryland [Mrs. BYRON].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mrs. BYRON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on the bill now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Maryland?

There was no objection.

Mrs. BYRON. Mr. Speaker, today the Congress has reached a legislative landmark that has been anxiously awaited by Reserve officers throughout the Nation. Today we will address the Reserve Officer Personnel Management Act [ROPMA].

ROPMA is the companion legislation for Reserve officers to the Defense Officer Personnel Management Act which comprehensively revised the statutes relating to the appointment, promotion, tenure, and separation of regular commissioned officers when adopted in 1980. At the time, the Congress recognized that the officer management statutes that applied to Reserve officers would benefit from the same type of standardization and reform of personnel policy provided to active duty officers in DOPMA. The Subcommittee on Military Personnel and Compensation continued to emphasize the need to resolve outstanding issues in a hearing in 1988. During a hearing this August, we received the final confirmation that the services are now in agreement and all remaining points of controversy are resolved.

The production of a bill that was ready for consideration by the Congress was, for good reason, long in coming. The bill is extremely complex and the final version required immense effort to negotiate a package that met the officer personnel management requirements of all the Reserve components. The final product was worth the wait. For years the management of Reserve officers received little attention. I suspect this neglect can be attributed to the realization that the Reserve components played a relatively unimportant role in defense planning. This is a new era. The Reserve components of our Nation play a critical role in America's defense. One only has to look at the vital role played by reservists in the Persian Gulf war to understand how important it is to overhaul Reserve officer personnel policies. In the words of Secretary Cheney, "We couldn't have done it without them."

The bill before us is a committee print of the bill introduced by the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. MONTGOMERY] except that it includes technical amendments identified by committee staff, the Department of Defense, and the House Legislative Counsel.

Major features of ROPMA:

Consolidates all the provisions concerning reserves in title X into one subtitle.

Establishes a reserve active-status list of Reserve officers by service in seniority order.

Standardizes the promotion system among the services to more closely resemble DOPMA procedures while preserving Reserve component promotion systems uniquely required by the Reserves.

Offers the service secretaries new flexibility to manage the promotions.

Protects reservists called-up to active duty by retaining them in the reserve promotion system for 2 years.

Gives reservists opportunity to voluntarily delay promotions in lieu promoting them out of their jobs.

Gives new authority to the service secretaries to either continue officers in an active status, or selectively remove them from active status depending on the management needs of the service.

Establishes age 60 as the common maximum age for all Reserve officers.

Mr. Speaker, in closing, I would like to thank the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. MONTGOMERY] for all his assistance. He has been working to resolve this complex and often controversial issue for a number of years. I commend the committee staff, and especially Jim Schweiter should be commended for all his diligent and technical work. The report is 422 pages long. He spent all of July and August working on this baby, and today we are ready for its birth.

The fact that the services are now able to come to Congress with an agreed package is a direct result of the expertise and the perseverance of the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. MONTGOMERY] over a number of years.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. STUMP. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the Reserve Officer Personnel Management Act has been years in the making and is an important piece of legislation.

The fact that we are taking up this measure at the end of an extremely busy congressional session is just one indicator of the importance the Armed Services Committee attaches to it.

This legislation revises and standardizes the way in which National Guard and Reserve officers are appointed, promoted, and separated.

The bill before us is the product of compromise. The compromise has been built on a solid base of the common points in existing law that can be found among different approaches by the services for managing the officers of Reserve components.

This legislation provides a substantive improvement over the existing systems. It creates new mechanisms by which the Department of Defense can better integrate the quality officers of the Reserve components into the total force.

Mr. Speaker, I would urge Members of the House to support H.R. 4481.

Mr. Speaker, I also want to take this opportunity to compliment my good friend the chairman of the Subcommittee on Military Personnel and Compensation, BEVERLY BYRON, for leading the effort to bring this legislation to the floor. This is just one more example of the concern she has demonstrated for our military service members during her tenure on the Armed Services Committee. Their lives have been greatly improved through her efforts.

It has truly been a pleasure to serve with BEV on the Armed Services Committee, and her presence will certainly be missed in the next Congress. However, I know she will leave with pride in a job well done and the knowledge that she has made meaningful contributions to military personnel during her many years in Congress.

Mr. Speaker, I would also like to acknowledge the great work of the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. MONTGOMERY], a member of the committee and also the chairman of the Committee on Veterans' Affairs. We appreciate all the great work he does in watching after our men in uniform.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. BYRON. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. MONTGOMERY].

Mr. MONTGOMERY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 4481, the Reserve Officers Personnel Management Act. This bill will simplify and clean up the promotion, retention, and separation of officers of the National Guard and Reserve.

I want to thank the gentlewoman from Maryland [Mrs. BYRON], the chairman of our subcommittee. We will miss her. Maybe this is the last bill she will handle this year. I am not sure of that, but I hope it is not. I say to the gentlewoman, thank you for bringing this legislation forward, and thank you for taking such an interest in the military personnel of this country, the men in uniform. I know how much they owe you and how much we owe you for the work you have done in seeing that the military, both active and National Guard and Reserves, are treated fairly. Again I say, Thanks, BEVERLY BYRON.

To my colleague, the gentleman from Arizona [Mr. STUMP], I say thank you for being here today and letting us bring this bill up. As has been mentioned, this is a very thick bill, and it is complicated. There is emotion in this retention and retirement type legislation. Jim Schweiter and other members of our staff have done an outstanding job on this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I hope the Senate will move ahead and take up this legislation and pass it and send it to the President. The Defense Department feels very strongly about this legislation. The reservists did an excellent job in the Persian Gulf war. There were some complications on promotion and retention, and this bill would clear up some of these problems. I would hope that the Members will support the legislation.

Mrs. BYRON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this bill has been 11 years in the making. In conference last week with the Senate, Senator NUNN seemed to be extremely interested in the legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. STUMP. Mr. Speaker, I have no requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from Maryland [Mrs. BYRON] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 4481, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

MARY McLEOD BETHUNE FINE ARTS CENTER

Mr. PAYNE of New Jersey. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 3007) to authorize financial assistance for the construction and maintenance of the Mary McLeod Bethune Memorial Fine Arts Center.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 3007

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. MARY MCLEOD BETHUNE MEMORIAL FINE ARTS CENTER.

In recognition of the remarkable career of Mary McLeod Bethune, founder and president of Bethune-Cookman College, founder and first president of the National Council of Negro Women, and confidant and advisor to Presidents of the United States, and in order to enhance the ability of Bethune-Cookman College to carry on the unique quality of service to the community and to Nation that characterizes the life of Mary McLeod Bethune, the Secretary of Education shall, in accordance with the provisions of this section, provide financial assistance to the Bethune-Cookman College in Volusia County, Florida, to enable the Bethune-Cookman College to establish the Mary McLeod Bethune Memorial Fine Arts Center.

SEC. 2 APPLICATION.

No financial assistance may be made under this Act except upon an application at such time, in such manner, and containing or accompanied by such information as the Secretary of Education may reasonably require.

SEC. 3. USE OF FUNDS.

The financial assistance made available pursuant to this Act shall be used for the construction, maintenance, and endowment of the Mary McLeod Bethune Memorial Fine Arts Center; the acquisition of necessary equipment; and the acquisition of necessary real property for the establishment of the Center.

SEC. 4. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated such sums, not to exceed $15,700,000, as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act. Funds appropriated pursuant to this Act shall remain available until expended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. PAYNE] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Florida [Mr. JAMES] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. PAYNE].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. PAYNE of New Jersey. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the Senate bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New Jersey?

There was no objection.

Mr. PAYNE of New Jersey. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 3007, to authorize financial assistance for the construction and maintenance of the Mary McLeod Bethune Fine Arts Center at the Bethune-Cookman College, in Daytona Beach, FL.

This bill was passed by the Senate in identical form on July 22, 1992. S. 3007 is designed to complete the initial Federal obligation and commitment to assist in the construction of a fine arts center in honor of Mary McLeod Bethune.

The Mary McLeod Bethune Fine Arts Center was originally authorized as part of the Higher Education Act Amendments of 1986 in the amount of $15 million, $6.2 million of which was subsequently appropriated.

The 1992 Higher Education Amendments repealed the earlier authorization and construction of the fine arts center leaving the center incomplete. S. 3007 authorizes $15.7 million to complete construction of the center. Rising construction costs have increased the overall amount needed to finish the fine arts center and to create a lasting memorial to one of the Nation's foremost educators.

Mr. Speaker, I urge Members to suspend the rules and pass this bill.

□ 1430

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of S. 3007, a bill authorizing completion of the Mary McLeod Bethune Fine Arts Center on the campus of Bethune-Cookman College in Daytona Beach, FL. What better way to honor one of America's pioneering educators and civil rights leaders than to finish a living memorial to her accomplishments?

Mr. Speaker, nearly 90 years ago, a 29-year-old woman pulled the last $1.50 out of her purse to rent a small two story building near the railroad tracks in Daytona Beach. Mary McLeod Bethune's dream was to start a school in that building. By dint of hard work, abiding faith, gentle persuasion and sheer perseverance, she did just that.

Now, Bethune-Cookman College, the product of her initiative and leadership, is a well-respected liberal arts institution with an enrollment of nearly 2,400. However, it still lacks a suitable auditorium to accommodate its performing arts program. And its hotel, motel and restaurant management program is being administered out of a space-deficient mobile home on campus.

Combined, those two programs accommodate roughly 15 percent of Bethune-Cookman's student body. Each offers to successful graduates the prospect of rewarding employment in two of Florida's most dynamic and important industries—tourism and entertainment.

Mr. Speaker, 6 years ago, Congress recognized that these two programs needed better facilities. In the Higher Education Act of 1986, it authorized $6.2 million for phase one of a three-building fine arts center that would honor Dr. Bethune and address that need.

Subsequently, Congress appropriated $6.2 million for that first phase, consisting of a classroom building that it is now complete and operational. But it has yet to authorize the equally necessary performing arts auditorium and the hospitality management training facility.

S. 3007 would rectify that problem. So too would it provide for the maintenance of the entire Mary McLeod Bethune Fine Arts Center once it is complete.

But even more important than the bricks and mortar are the dreams and aspirations that it would help fulfill.

When Mary McLeod Bethune put up her last $1.50 to rent space for what became the Daytona Normal and Industrial School for Girls, she gave life to a dream—and put hope in the hearts of many to whom opportunity was often denied.

Passage of this bill would enhance that dream and turn hope into reality for future generations of students.

Enactment of this measure would be a source of inspiration to the faculty, friends and neighbors of Bethune-Cookman College who have shared, helped advance, and continue to work for the noble aspirations of its founder.

And completion of this fine arts center project would be a tremendous investment in America's future. At a time when our economy is going through a transition, I can think of no better place to put our money than in educational facilities that will equip minority, disadvantaged and other students for the jobs of tomorrow.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support S. 3007 so that this deserving fine arts center will be eligible for an appropriation and can be completed as soon as possible.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. PAYNE of New Jersey. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MCDERMOTT). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. PAYNE] that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 3007.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

WOMEN IN APPRENTICESHIP AND NONTRADITIONAL OCCUPATIONS ACT

Mrs. MINK. Mr. Speaker, I move that to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 3475) to assist business in providing women with opportunities in apprenticeship and nontraditional occupations, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 3475

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act shall be cited as the "Women in Apprenticeship and Nontraditional Occupations Act".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS; STATEMENT OF PURPOSE.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds that—

(1) American businesses now and for the remainder of the 20th century will face a dramatically different labor market than the one to which they have become accustomed;

(2) two in every three new entrants to the work force will be women, and to meet labor needs such women must work in all occupational areas including in apprenticeable occupations and nontraditional occupations;

(3) women face significant barriers to their full and effective participation in apprenticeable occupations and nontraditional occupations;

(4) the business community must be prepared to address the barriers that women have to such jobs, in order to successfully integrate them into the work force;

(5) few resources are available to employers and unions who need assistance in recruiting, training, and retaining women in apprenticeable occupations and other nontraditional occupations.

(b) PURPOSE.—It is the purpose of this Act to provide technical assistance to employers and labor unions to encourage employment of women in apprenticeable occupations and nontraditional occupations. Such assistance will enable business to meet the challenge of Workforce 2000 by preparing employers to successfully recruit, train, and retain women in apprenticeable occupations and nontraditional occupations and will expand the employment and self-sufficiency options of women. This purpose will be achieved by—

(1) promoting the program to employers and labor unions to inform them of the availability of technical assistance which will assist them in preparing the workplace to employ women in apprenticeable occupations and nontraditional occupations;

(2) providing grants to community-based organizations to deliver technical assistance to employers and labor unions to prepare them to recruit, train, and employ women in apprenticeable occupations and nontraditional occupations;

(3) authorizing the Department of Labor to serve as a liaison between employers, labor, and the community-based organizations providing technical assistance, through its national office and its regional administrators; and

(4) conducting a comprehensive study to examine the barriers to the participation of women in apprenticeable occupations and nontraditional occupations and to develop recommendations for the workplace to eliminate such barriers.

SEC. 3. OUTREACH TO EMPLOYERS AND LABOR UNIONS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—With funds available to the Secretary of Labor to carry out the operations of the Department of Labor in fiscal year 1994 and subsequent fiscal years, the Secretary shall carry out an outreach program to inform employers of technical assistance available under section 4(a) to assist employers to prepare the workplace to employ women in apprenticeable occupations and other nontraditional occupations.

(1) Under such program the Secretary shall provide outreach to employers through, but not limited to, the private industry councils in each service delivery area.

(2) The Secretary shall provide outreach to labor unions through, but not limited to, the building trade councils, joint apprenticeable occupations councils, and individual labor unions.

(b) PRIORITY.—The Secretary shall give priority to providing outreach to employers located in areas that have nontraditional employment and training programs specifically targeted to women.

SEC. 4. TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—With funds appropriated to carry out this section, the Secretary shall make grants to community-based organizations to provide technical assistance to employers and labor unions selected under subsection (b). Such technical assistance may include—

(1) developing outreach and orientation sessions to recruit women into the employers' apprenticeable occupations and nontraditional occupations;

(2) developing preapprenticeable occupations or nontraditional skills training to prepare women for apprenticeable occupations or nontraditional occupations;

(3) providing ongoing orientations for employers, unions, and workers on creating a successful environment for women in apprenticeable occupations or nontraditional occupations;

(4) setting up support groups and facilitating networks for women in nontraditional occupations on or off the job site to improve their retention;

(5) setting up a local computerized data base referral system to maintain a current list of tradeswomen who are available for work;

(6) serving as a liaison between tradeswomen and employers and tradeswomen and labor unions to address workplace issues related to gender; and

(7) conducting exit interviews with tradeswomen to evaluate their on-the-job experience and to assess the effectiveness of the program.

(b) SELECTION OF EMPLOYER AND LABOR UNIONS.—The Secretary shall select a total of 50 employers or labor unions to receive technical assistance provided with grants made under subsection (a).

SEC. 5. COMPETITIVE GRANTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Each community-based organization that desires to receive a grant to provide technical assistance under section 4(a) to employers and labor unions shall submit an application to the Secretary at such time, in such manner, and accompanied by such information as the Secretary may reasonably require.

(b) PRIORITY.—In awarding grants under section 4(a), the Secretary shall give priority to applications from community-based organizations that—

(1) demonstrate experience preparing women to gain employment in apprenticeable occupations or other nontraditional occupations;

(2) demonstrate experience working with the business community to prepare them to place women in apprenticeable occupations or other nontraditional occupations;

(3) have tradeswomen or women in nontraditional occupations as active members of the organization, as either employed staff or board members; and

(4) have experience delivering technical assistance.

SEC. 6. APPLICATIONS.

To be eligible to be selected under section 4(b) to receive technical assistance provided with grants made under section 4(a), an employer or labor union shall submit an application to the Secretary at such time, in such manner and containing or accompanied by such information as the Secretary may reasonably require. At a minimum, the application should include—

(1) a description of the need for technical assistance;

(2) a description of the types of apprenticeable occupations or nontraditional occupations in which the employer or labor union would like to train or employ women;

(3) assurances that there are or will be suitable and appropriate positions available in the apprenticeable occupations program or in the nontraditional occupations being targeted; and

(4) commitments that reasonable efforts shall be made to place qualified women in apprenticeable occupations or nontraditional occupations.

SEC. 7. LIAISON ROLE OF DEPARTMENT OF LABOR.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Department of Labor shall serve as a liaison among employers, labor unions, and community-based organizations. The liaison role may include—

(1) coordination of employers, labor unions, and community-based organizations with respect to technical assistance provided under section 4(a);

(2) conducting regular assessment meetings with representatives of employers, labor unions, and community-based organizations with respect to such technical assistance; and

(3) seeking the input of employers and labor unions with respect to strategies and recommendations for improving such technical assistance.

SEC. 8. STUDY OF THE BARRIERS TO THE PARTICIPATION OF WOMEN IN APPRENTICEABLE OCCUPATIONS AND NONTRADITIONAL OCCUPATIONS.

(a) STUDY.—With funds available to the Secretary to carry out the operations of the Department of Labor in fiscal years 1994 and 1995, the Secretary shall conduct a study of the participation of women in apprenticeable occupations and nontraditional occupations. The study shall examine—

(1) the barriers to participation of women in apprenticeable occupations and nontraditional occupations;

(2) strategies for overcoming such barriers;

(3) the retention rates for women in apprenticeable occupations and nontraditional occupations;

(4) strategies for retaining women in apprenticeable occupations and nontraditional occupations;

(5) the effectiveness of the technical assistance provided by the community-based organizations; and

(6) other relevant issues affecting the participation of women in apprenticeable occupations and nontraditional occupations.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than 2 years after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit to the Congress a report containing a summary of the results of the study described in subsection (a) and such recommendations as the Secretary determines to be appropriate.

SEC. 9. DEFINITIONS.

For purposes of this Act:

(1) The term "community-based organization" means a community-based organization as defined in section 4(5) of the Job Training Partnership Act (29 U.S.C. 1501(5)), that has demonstrated experience administering programs that train women for apprenticeable occupations or other nontraditional occupations.

(2) The term "nontraditional occupation" means jobs in which women make up 25 percent or less of the total number of workers in that occupation.

(3) The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 10. TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM AUTHORIZATION.

There is authorized to be appropriated $1,000,000 to carry out section 4.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from Hawaii [Mrs. MINK] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentlewoman from Maryland [Mrs. MORELLA] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Hawaii [Mrs. MINK].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mrs. MINK. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks, and include therein extraneous material, on H.R. 3475.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the gentlewoman from Hawaii?

There was no objection.

Mrs. MINK. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 3475, the Women in Apprenticeship and Nontraditional Occupations Act. This legislation, introduced by Representative CONNIE MORELLA, has broad bipartisan support from the Subcommittee on Employment Opportunities which reported the bill and from the full Committee on Education and Labor which discharged the bill to the House.

The purpose of this bill is to encourage the employment and retention of women in apprenticeable and nontraditional occupations primarily by providing technical assistance to employers and labor unions that wish to integrate more women into the work force.

Women continue to enter the work force in record numbers. Between 1990 and the year 2000, two-thirds of new work force entrants will be female. However, if current trends continue the majority of these women will enter female dominated careers, which are often lower paying and provide only limited options for advancement. Currently only 9 percent of women workers in the United States are employed in nontraditional jobs.

Advances in reducing occupation segregation over the past decade have occurred mainly in the professions, such as law, medicine, and accounting. In skilled labor and other occupations which utilize apprenticeship programs the gender gap continues to widen. Women comprise only 1.4 percent of electricians in this country, 3.1 of mechanics and 4.8 percent of machinists.

The bill before us today requires the Secretary of Labor to provide grants to community-based organizations to deliver technical assistance to employers and unions to prepare them to recruit, train, and employ women in nontraditional occupations.

Such technical assistance may include: developing outreach and orientation sessions to recruit women; developing nontraditional skills training; conducting seminars on creating a hostile-free environment for women; and setting up support groups, networks, and referral systems.

Fifty employers or labor unions will be selected under this legislation by the Secretary to receive technical assistance and an authorization of $1 million is provided to cover the grants for this program.

In addition, the bill directs the Secretary of Labor to carry out an outreach program to inform employers and labor unions of the technical assistance available under the act while also mandating a study of the barriers to the participation of women in apprenticeable and nontraditional occupations.

Mr. Speaker, there are many barriers to women in nontraditional occupations, and one of the most common is sexual harassment.

In June of this year, the Subcommittee on Employment Opportunities, chaired by Representative PERKINS, held a hearing on sexual harassment in nontraditional occupations. We heard from four courageous women who described the horrendous harassment and discrimination they had suffered in the workplace simply because they chose to work in jobs not traditionally held by women. Their stories are indicative of the thousands of victims who daily face similar treatment.

Mr. Speaker, this bill is essential in providing new employment opportunities for women in jobs traditionally held by men, and in educating employers and employees in these fields that women deserve the same kind of respect, dignity, and opportunity for advancement afforded to men.

At this time I would like to acknowledge the efforts of our colleagues, Mrs. MORELLA, who sponsored the measure, Mrs. SCHROEDER and Ms. SNOWE who cochair the caucus on women's issues, Chairmen FORD and PERKINS and many others who have helped to bring this bill to the House today.

Mrs. MORELLA. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I rise today in support of H.R. 3475, and I want to mention at the outset that I am very pleased that the members of the Committee on Education and Labor, Subcommittee on Employment Opportunities, chaired by the gentleman from Kentucky [Mr. PERKINS], with the ranking member, the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. GUNDERSON], have done a tremendous job of passing this bill out of the subcommittee and holding a hearing.

I think there is no one more appropriate to be the floor manager of this bill than the gentlewoman from Hawaii [Mrs. MINK], who has followed this legislation ever so closely, cosponsored it, and spoken as an advocate.

I also want to thank the chairman of the full committee and the ranking member, the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. FORD] and the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. GOODLING], for having this bill and the subsequent bill come out on the floor for our passage.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to urge my colleagues to support legislation that I have introduced that will assist women to achieve equity in the workplace.

H.R. 3475 is the Women in Apprenticeship and Nontraditional Occupations Act, legislation that will address the needs of women who work in occupations that are traditionally dominated by men.

Women in nontraditional occupations face special discrimination. If they are white-collar professionals, there is the glass ceiling; if blue collar, there is a brick wall. The bill that we are considering today will help women get in, stay in, and prosper in jobs that we know pay well and offer long-term career satisfaction and security.

The Women in Apprenticeship and Nontraditional Occupations Act, H.R. 3475, would provide technical assistance to business and unions to attract, train, and retain women in apprenticeships and nontraditional jobs. The technical assistance would include onsite support for workers and seminars for employers and unions where they would learn how to create a work environment that is free from harassment.

Dawn Munday is a garbage truck driver from western Maryland. She is an experienced truck driver, and she likes her job. It pays well and gives her long-term benefits which she needs as the single head of her household.

On a daily basis, Dawn was required to pick up her assignment papers from the men's bathroom. Her truck keys were always hung next to the urinals.

Nancy Pease is a stationary engineer. She operates and maintains high pressure boilers at a plant in New Jersey. She is the only woman on a staff of about 70 men.

Like Dawn Munday, Nancy is a single mother and wanted a job that she found interesting and that paid well. For her present job, she had to learn the basics of five trades, a process that was not easy. She first was assigned to the plumbing shop, and was told repeatedly that she did not belong there. Her supervisor sprayed her with a fire extinguisher for speaking to a coworker. Her life was threatened on a daily basis.

On one occasion, she was told to work on the electrical controls of a dishwasher, where she had to stand in a puddle of water. When Nancy went to check the circuit box to make sure that the electricity was turned off, her supervisor told her not to bother. He had checked it himself. Nancy answered that she was taught to always doublecheck herself. Sure enough, when she checked the circuit box, the power was still on.

"In the construction trades, women have dropped back even from the minuscule advances they had made in the 1980's." That from an article in today's New York Times on the difficulties facing women in construction. The times points out that women held 1.9 percent of the total jobs in construction in 1991, down from the more than 2 percent from the year before. According to the Times, women have left the field of construction because of what they felt was a hostile environment.

Why, then, do women want jobs in occupations that are traditionally filled by men? The reasons are many. These jobs are more likely to pay better wages and offer greater benefits. Nontraditional jobs often afford workers a wider variety of work schedules and greater job security. For displaced homemakers, women on welfare, or single heads of households, nontraditional jobs can be a pathway to economic self-sufficiency.

The cost of H.R. 3475 is nominal. The Women in Apprenticeship and Nontraditional Occupations Act would provide $1 million for technical assistance to community-based organizations for training and placing women in nontraditional jobs.

Women who are afforded the opportunity to earn adequate wages in male-dominated occupations will be productive contributors to the workplace. Women who are afforded the opportunity to advance will be highly motivated to achieve self-sufficiency and success. H.R. 3475 will help provide this country with well-trained laborers which, in turn, will help the United States meet the challenges of the future.

I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 3475.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. MINK. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. McDERMOTT). The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from Hawaii [Mrs. MINK] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 3475, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

COMMISSION ON THE ADVANCEMENT OF WOMEN IN THE SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING WORK FORCES ACT

Mrs. MINK. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 3476) to establish the Commission on the Advancement of Women in the Science and Engineering Work Forces, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 3476

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Commission on the Advancement of Women in the Science and Engineering Work Forces Act".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds that—

(1) despite a consistently high presence of women in the professional and total work forces of the United States, women continue to be underrepresented in the science and engineering work forces;

(2) women scientists and engineers have higher rates of unemployment and underemployment than their male counterparts, although the number of women receiving degrees in scientific and engineering disciplines has increased since 1981;

(3) artificial barriers exist in the recruitment, retention, and advancement of women in the science and engineering work forces;

(4) academia, industry, and government are increasingly aware of the necessity of and the advantages derived from diverse science and engineering work forces;

(5) initiatives of the White House Task Force on Women, Minorities, and the Handicapped in Science and Technology and of the Federal Coordinating Council on Science, Engineering, and Technology have been instrumental in raising public awareness of—

(A) the underrepresentation of women in the science and engineering work forces; and

(B) the desirability of eliminating artificial barriers to the recruitment, retention, and advancement of women in such work forces; and

(6) the establishment of a commission to examine issues raised by these initiatives would help to—

(A) focus greater attention on the importance of eliminating artificial barriers to the recruitment, retention, and advancement of women in the science and engineering work forces and in all employment sectors of the United States;

(B) promote work force diversity;

(C) sensitize employers to the need to recruit and retain women scientists and engineers in order to overcome projected shortfalls within the science and engineering work forces of the United States during the next 20 years; and

(D) encourage the replication of successful recruitment and retention programs by universities, corporations, and Federal agencies having difficulties in employing women scientists and engineers.

SEC. 3. ESTABLISHMENT.

There is established a commission to be known as the "Commission on the Advancement of Women in the Science and Engineering Work Forces" (hereinafter in this Act referred to as the "Commission").

SEC. 4. DUTY OF COMMISSION.

The Commission shall conduct a study to—

(1) identify the number of women in the United States in the science and engineering work forces, the specific types of occupations in such workforces in which women scientists and engineers are underrepresented;

(2) examine the preparedness of women to—

(A) pursue careers in the science and engineering work forces; and

(B) advance to positions of greater responsibility within academia, industry, and government;

(3) describe the practices and policies of employers and labor unions relating to the recruitment, retention, and advancement of women scientists and engineers;

(4) identify the opportunities for, and artificial barriers to, the recruitment, retention, and advancement of women scientists and engineers in academia, industry, and government;

(5) describe the employment situations in which the recruitment, retention, and advancement of women scientists and engineers are comparable to their male counterparts, and identify those situations in which such comparability does not exist;

(6) compile a synthesis of available research on practices, policies, and programs that have successfully led to the recruitment, retention, and advancement of women in the science and engineering work forces, including training programs, rotational assignments, developmental programs, reward programs, employee benefit structures, and family leave policies;

(7) examine such other issues and information relating to the advancement of women in the science and engineering work forces as determined by the Commission to be appropriate; and

(8) issue recommendations that government (including Congress and appropriate Federal agencies), academia, and private industry can follow to assist in the recruitment, retention, and advancement of women in science and engineering.

SEC. 5. MEMBERSHIP.

(a) NUMBER AND APPOINTMENT.—The Commission shall be composed of 17 members as follows:

(1) 5 members appointed by the President.

(2) 3 members appointed jointly by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the majority leader of the Senate.

(3) 1 member appointed by the majority leader of the House of Representatives.

(4) 1 member appointed by the minority leader of the House of Representatives.

(5) 1 member appointed by the majority leader of the Senate.

(6) 1 member appointed by the minority leader of the Senate.

(7) 2 Members of the House of Representatives, appointed jointly by the majority leader and the minority leader of the House of Representatives.

(8) 2 Senators appointed jointly by the majority leader and the minority leader of the Senate.

(9) The Director of the Office of Science and Technology Policy.

(b) ADDITIONAL QUALIFICATIONS.—Initial appointments shall be made under subsection (a) not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act. In making each appointment under subsection (a), the appointing authority shall consider (among other factors) whether the individual—

(1) is a member of an organization representing women and minorities;

(2) holds executive management or senior decision-making positions in any business entity; and

(3) possesses academic expertise or other recognized abilities relating to employment and employment discrimination issues.

(c) POLITICAL AFFILIATION.—Not more than ½ of the members appointed from individuals who are officers or employees of the United States may be of the same political party.

(d) CONTINUATION OF MEMBERSHIP.—If a member was appointed to the Commission because the member was an officer or employee of any government and later ceases to be such an officer or employee, that member may continue as a member of the Commission for not longer than the 60-day period beginning on the date the member ceases to be such an officer or employee.

(e) TERMS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Each Member shall be appointed for the life of the Commission.

(2) VACANCIES.—A vacancy in the Commission shall be filled in the manner in which the original appointment was made.

(f) BASIC PAY.—

(1) RATES OF PAY.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), each member of the Commission shall receive compensation at the daily equivalent of the maximum rate of pay payable under section 5376 of title 5, United States Code, for each day the member is engaged in the performance of duties for the Commission, including attendance at meetings and conferences of the Commission, and travel to conduct the duties of the Commission.

(2) PROHIBITION OF COMPENSATION OF FEDERAL EMPLOYEES.—Members of the Commission who are full-time officers or employees of the United States or Members of Congress may not receive additional pay, allowances, or benefits by reason of their service on the Commission.

(g) TRAVEL EXPENSES.—Each member shall receive travel expenses, including per diem in lieu of subsistence, in accordance with sections 5702 and 5703 of title 5, United States Code.

(h) QUORUM.—A majority of the members of the Commission shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

(i) CHAIRPERSON.—The Director of the Office of Science and Technology Policy shall serve as the Chairperson of the Commission.

(j) MEETINGS.—

(1) MEETINGS PRIOR TO COMPLETION OF REPORT.—The Commission shall meet not fewer than 5 times in connection with and pending the completion of the reports described in subsections (a) and (b) of section 8. The Commission shall hold additional meetings for such purpose if the Chairperson or a majority of the members of the Commission requests the additional meetings in writing.

(2) MEETINGS AFTER COMPLETION OF REPORT.—The Commission shall meet at least once, but not more than twice after the completion of the report described in section 8(b), in connection with and pending completion of the report required by section 8(c).

(k) EMPLOYMENT STATUS.—A member of the Commission, who is not otherwise an officer or employee of the Federal Government, shall not be deemed to be an employee of the Federal Government except for the purposes of—

(1) the tort claims provisions of chapter 171 of title 28, United States Code; and

(2) subchapter I of chapter 81 of title 5, United States Code, relating to compensation for work injuries.

SEC. 6. DIRECTOR AND STAFF OF COMMISSION; EXPERTS AND CONSULTANTS.

(a) DIRECTOR.—The Commission shall have a Director who shall be appointed by the Chairperson. The Director shall be paid at a rate not to exceed the maximum annual rate of basic pay payable under section 5376 of title 5, United States Code.

(b) STAFF.—Subject to rules prescribed by the Commission, the Chairperson may appoint and fix the pay of additional personnel as the Chairperson considers appropriate.

(c) APPLICABILITY OF CERTAIN CIVIL SERVICE LAWS.—The Director and staff of the Commission may be appointed without regard to the provisions of title 5, United States Code, governing appointments in the competitive service, and may be paid without regard to the provisions of chapter 51 and subchapter III of chapter 53 of that title relating to classification and General Schedule pay rates, except that an individual so appointed may not receive pay in excess of the maximum annual rate of basic pay payable under section 5376 of title 5, United States Code.

(d) EXPERTS AND CONSULTANTS.—The Commission may procure temporary and intermittent services under section 3109(b) of title 5, United States Code, at rates for individuals not to exceed the maximum annual rate of basic pay payable under section 5376 of title 5, United States Code.

(e) STAFF OF FEDERAL AGENCIES.—Upon request of the Commission, the head of any Federal department or agency may detail, on a reimbursable basis, any of the personnel of that department or agency to the Commission to assist it in carrying out its duties under this Act.

SEC. 7. POWERS OF COMMISSION.

(a) HEARINGS AND SESSIONS.—The Commission may, for the purpose of carrying out this Act, hold hearings, sit and act at times and places, take testimony, and receive evidence as the Commission considers appropriate. The Commission may administer oaths or affirmations to witnesses appearing before it.

(b) POWERS OF MEMBERS AND AGENTS.—Any member or agent of the Commission may, if authorized by the Commission, take any action which the Commission is authorized to take by this section.

(c) OBTAINING OFFICIAL DATA.—The Commission may secure directly from any department or agency of the United States information necessary to enable it to carry out this Act. Upon request of the Chairperson of the Commission, the head of that department or agency shall furnish that information to the Commission.

(d) GIFTS, BEQUESTS, AND DEVISES.—The Commission may accept, use, and dispose of gifts, bequests, or devises of services or property, both real and personal, for the purpose of aiding or facilitating the work of the Commission. Gifts, bequests, or devises of money and proceeds from sales of other property received as gifts, bequests, or devises shall be deposited in the Treasury and shall be available for disbursement upon order of the Commission.

(e) MAILS.—The Commission may use the United States mails in the same manner and under the same conditions as other departments and agencies of the United States.

(f) ADMINISTRATIVE SUPPORT SERVICES.—Upon the request of the Commission, the Administrator of General Services shall provide to the Commission, on a reimbursable basis, the administrative support services necessary for the Commission to carry out its responsibilities under this Act.

(g) CONTRACT AUTHORITY.—To the extent provided in advance in appropriations Acts, The Commission may contract with and compensate government and private agencies or persons for the purpose of conducting research or surveys necessary to enable the Commission to carry out its duties under this Act.

SEC. 8. REPORTS.

(a) STATUS REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date on which the initial appointments under section 5(a) are completed, the Commission shall submit to the President and the Congress a written report describing the current activities and findings of the Commission and the direction of the Commission.

(b) RECOMMENDATION REPORT.—Not later than 18 months after the date on which the initial appointments under section 5(a) are completed, the Commission shall submit to the President and the Congress a written report containing—

(1) the findings and conclusions of the Commission resulting from the study conducted under section 4; and

(2) recommendations, including specific proposed legislation and administrative action, based on the findings and conclusions referred to in paragraph (1).

(c) FOLLOW-UP REPORT.—After submission of the report required by subsection (b) and before the termination of the Commission, the Commission shall submit to the President and to the Congress a written report—

(1) identifying which of the recommendations included in such report have been implemented; and

(2) containing any additional information the Commission considers to be appropriate.

SEC. 9. TERMINATION.

The Commission shall terminate 1 year after submitting the report required by section 8(b).

SEC. 10. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS

There are authorized to be appropriated for fiscal years 1994, 1995, and 1996 such sums as may be necessary to carry out this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from Hawaii [Mrs. MINK] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentlewoman from Maryland [Mrs. MORELLA] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Hawaii [Mrs. MINK].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mrs. MINK. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Hawaii?

There was no objection.

Mrs. MINK. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 3476, the Commission on the Advancement of Women in the Science and Engineering Work Forces Act. The bill passed the Education and Labor Committee with bipartisan support, and I hope that Members on both sides of the aisle will join with me in supporting this bill today.

Indeed, who could not support this bill, if one has heard the stories of Jenny Harrison and Maureen Polsby, two promising researchers whose careers were severely damaged when they ran headlong into sex discrimination and harassment? In a hearing on sexual harassment in nontraditional occupations held by the Employment Opportunities Subcommittee in June, these brave women described the injustices and the debilitating emotional and physical distress they have suffered over the years as a result of sex discrimination. Who knows what contributions these individuals may have made to the body of human knowledge had they been allowed to perform their research? There are human costs here, as well as costs to our economy which, I'm sure my colleagues will agree, we simply cannot afford.

H.R. 3476 was introduced by Representative CONNIE MORELLA as a response to findings that women are under represented, underemployed, and underpaid in the fields of science and engineering. The bill represents a first step toward raising the awareness of Americans about the barriers facing women in these fields and toward suggesting some possible solutions.

H.R. 3476 would create a Commission that would identify and study the barriers to the recruitment, retention, and advancement of women scientists and engineers in academia, industry, and government. Based on its findings, the Commission would be required to issue recommendations that academia, industry, and government could follow a facilitate the transition of women into the science and engineering work forces. The Commission would be terminated 1 year after the issuance of the recommendation report. This will allow time for the Commission to issue the followup report and provide their insight during consideration of the practical ramifications of the proposals.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank Chairman FORD, Mr. PERKINS, Mrs. MORELLA, Mrs. SCHROEDER, and many others for their support of this important legislation. Once again, I urge my colleagues to support the passage of H.R. 3476.

Mrs. MORELLA. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Again, Mr. Speaker, I want to start at the outset and thank the members of the Committee on Education and Labor, the full committee, and the chairman, the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. FORD] and the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. GOODLING] and the subcommittee, chaired by the gentleman from Kentucky [Mr. PERKINS], and the ranking member, the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. GUNDERSON], and the women's caucus, with the gentlewoman from Colorado [Mrs. SCHROEDER] and the gentlewoman from Maine [Ms. SNOWE], who supported it, and the gentlewoman from Hawaii [Mrs. MINK].

I also want to point out that the gentleman from Kentucky [Mr. PERKINS] is here. This will be his last year here in the Congress. I have served with him on the Committee on Science, Space, and Technology and have seen how well he handled the hearing on these two particular pieces of legislation that are so important, the statements he subsequently made, and the statements he made at the hearing. I just want to tell the gentleman how grateful I am and how grateful the people in this country and in this body are for the service he has rendered to us, and that that be in the RECORD.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to urge my colleagues to support H.R. 3476, legislation that I have introduced that will assist professional women in the fields of science and engineering.

Whether women are scientists or truckdrivers, physicians, or plumbers, they often face isolation, hostility, and harassment in a male-dominated environment. Science, math, and engineering departments of universities share a common characteristic with construction companies. Each employs few women. And each often provides an atmosphere in which women are perceived as unwanted interlopers.

H.R. 3476, the Advancement of Women in the Science and Engineering Work Forces Act, would set up a commission to study the recruitment, retention, and advancement of women in the fields of science and engineering. The commission would then provide much needed information about successful programs upon which educators and employers can build models for success.

When Janny Harrison was hired as an assistant mathematics professor at the University of California at Berkeley, her credentials were exemplary. She had been a tenured professor at Oxford University, and she thought she had overcome the barriers of discrimination for women in mathematics.

Dr. Harrison was denied tenure at Berkeley, while eight of her male colleagues were promoted. She is still embroiled in a legal dispute to become the fourth female mathematics professor in our Nation's top 10 schools.

We are at a time when the United States is in need of technical personnel. The percentage of women earning science and engineering degrees is declining just as projections indicate there will be a shortage in these fields by the year 2000.

In science and engineering, women are underrepresented, underemployed, and underpaid. Women account for only 24 percent of the scientists and a mere 8 percent of our Nation's employed engineers.

Why are fewer women entering the science and engineering fields? H.R. 3476 will address this issue by setting up a commission to closely study what factors are involved in attracting women into science and engineering. The commission would study the roadblocks that prevent women from advancing in these fields and would dispel the myth and the messages that women often receive from society that there are some things that they cannot do.

While we, as a nation, are growing more aware of problems that beset women in the sciences and in engineering, few policies have been implemented to combat these problems. Now, more than ever, we need a broad research project to consolidate information and identify intervention models that work. We need a commission to examine the reasons why women are leaving the technical fields. We need a commission to identify the barriers facing women in the high-technology workplace, and to research successful programs and policies upon which to build models for success.

Recently, Dr. Frances Conley was in Washington to participate on a panel of women scientists. Dr. Conley is the neurosurgeon who resigned from Stanford last year charging that for 25 years she had been subjected to subtle sexism in her male-dominated profession. Shortly before she resigned, Dr. Conley charged that the medical school administrators appointed a chairman who had been guilty of sexism and that his appointment legitimized his behavior.

Dr. Conley's stories of male professors illustrating their lectures with naked women and of colleagues calling her honey in the operating room touched a nerve at medical schools across the country. She returned to Stanford after the school incorporated some programs to address concerns about sexism and a new chairman was appointed.

H.R. 3476 will help provide this country with highly skilled scientists and engineers which, in turn, will help the United States achieve competitiveness on a global basis. I urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. MINK. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield such time as she may consume to our distinguished colleague, the gentlewoman from Colorado [Mrs. SCHROEDER], who chairs the Democratic women's caucus, without whose leadership we would not be able to bring this bill to the floor.

Mrs. SCHROEDER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman from Hawaii, and I thank the people from Hawaii for sending the gentlewoman back so we can move these very important bills. Of course, I thank the gentlewoman from Maryland [Mrs. MORELLA] for being so aggressive on these two very, very critical bills.

These two bills were part of the Women's Economic Equity Act that was introduced this session. One of the main focuses in the Economic Equity Act was to deal with the fact that even in 1992 there were so many professions still closed to women or very uncomfortable for women who are in them, so these two bills very aggressively take that on. I salute the Members for getting them through and moving them and having them happen.

We have just finished the very painful beginning of the Tailhook investigation, where we have Navy admirals saying things like, "Women who are Navy pilots are really go-go dancers and hookers," and so forth. We can understand why they were not accepted very well in that culture when the leaders were saying those kinds of things, and yes, unfortunately, it is not just limited to the services. When we hear about the medical schools, when we hear about all sorts of other areas, women are experiencing the same kind of discrimination. There seems to be an attitude that we really do not want them here.

We thought America was about competition, about fairness, about ability, and not about chromosomes. When we say "yes, you have all of that, but your chromosomes are wrong," something is really wrong. That is not the America I signed up for. Hopefully this will move us much closer to the goal. I think overall we absolutely cannot afford not to do this, because we are in a global marketplace, and to deny ourselves total access to over half of the brain power of this country is really crazy.

It is very important. I know when I grew up I had a pilot's license and the thing I wanted to be most was an aerodynamic engineer. The minute I said the words, it was like every counselor from five States moved in on me to convince me that there was no way in the world I should ever be that, and unfortunately I let them talk me out of it. However, I think there are a number of women my age who wanted to do other things but were talked out of it. What we are saying is once and for all, we have to put this behind us.

I really thank everyone for the extensive hearings, for this very, very excellent bill, and I hope we can move all across the board, from the military services to the private sector, and start leading the world rather than following, and saying, "We are going to let everyone participate equally."

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 3475, the Women in Nontraditional and Apprenticeship Occupations Act, and the legislation that will be considered next, H.R. 3476, the Advancement of Women in Science and Engineering Act.

These two bills are part of the Economic Equity Act, introduced by the congressional caucus for women's issues, which I cochair. The caucus is a bipartisan organization committed to bringing about changes benefiting women in our society. Since 1981, we've introduced the Economic Equity Act, an omnibus package of legislation designed to respond to the changing needs of American society and improve the economic well-being of American women and their families.

This year's Economic Equity Act places strong emphasis on providing new opportunities for women in the workplace, with a special focus on breaking down barriers for women in nontraditional, male-dominated jobs, whether in the skilled trades or in science and math.

Although women have entered and continue to enter the workforce in record numbers, they still tend to be segregated into low-paying, traditionally female clerical and service jobs. Such jobs often fail to provide the type of economic security that women and their families need.

Nontraditional jobs, however, can provide greater economic security for women. Women in nontraditional jobs—which are jobs where 75 percent or more of those employed are men—earn 20 to 30 percent more in average weekly wages than women in traditional occupations.

Whether the woman is part of a two-wage earner family or a single mom supporting her children, those extra wages can mean the difference between financial security or life on the edge. Given that the overwhelming majority of women work out of economic need, and nearly half of all women raising families live below the poverty line, the need to assist women in entering better-paying, nontraditional jobs is clear.

Unfortunately, despite the perception that women are making enormous strides, the number of women in nontraditional jobs remains remarkably similar to what it was a decade ago. Only 17 percent of all participants in apprenticeship programs in the skilled trades are women. More women have been entering science professions, but they fail to advance and drop out of these professions at rates far higher than men.

The major problem affecting women's ability to enter and to advance in these fields is the hostile environment women face when they dare to enter male-dominated professions. Sexual harassment and other invidious forms of discrimination are the norms for such women.

Although women in all types of jobs experience sexual harassment, women in nontraditional, male-dominated jobs are much more likely to experience sexual harassment and other forms of discrimination. At a hearing earlier this year, we heard heartwrenching testimony from women who had been terribly harassed, including receiving death threats, simply because they were women doing what has traditionally been considered a man's job.

The bills the House is considering today will make small but important strides toward solving the problems women in nontraditional fields face. H.R. 3475 will provide technical assistance to employers to help create a workplace free from harassment, while H.R. 3476 will establish a commission to examine ways in which we can help women advance through the pipelines in science and engineering.

We need to ensure that women who want to be scientists or construction workers are given the same opportunities as men. I thank my colleague, Representative CONNIE MORELLA, for introducing these important bills, and urge the House to approve them.

Mrs. MORELLA. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentlewoman from Colorado [Mrs. SCHROEDER] for adding the strength to this legislation, and for her leadership in other ways. I also want to thank the gentlewoman from Hawaii [Mrs. MINK]. It is such a pleasure to have her on that committee. I thank the gentleman from Kentucky [Mr. PERKINS] very much for the leadership that he has shown. I also want to thank the gentlewoman from New York [Ms. MOLINARI] and all the other Members of this body who care about equality.

Mrs. MORELLA. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. MINK. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MCDERMOTT). The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from Hawaii [Mrs. MINK] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 3476, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

WEAKFISH CONSERVATION ACT OF 1992

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 2588) to provide for the conservation and management of weakfish, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 2588

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Weakfish Conservation Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. IMPROVED COOPERATIVE FISHERY MANAGEMENT PROGRAM FOR WEAKFISH

(a) SHORT TITLE.—Section 1 of the Atlantic Striped Bass Conservation Act (16 U.S.C. 1851 note) is amended by inserting "and Weakfish" after "Bass".

(b) FINDINGS AND PURPOSES.—Section 2 of the Atlantic Striped Bass Conservation Act (16 U.S.C. 1851 note) is amended—

(1) by inserting "and weakfish" after "bass" each place it appears;

(2) in paragraph (3)—

(A) by striking "range of the Atlantic striped bass," and inserting "range of either Atlantic striped bass or weakfish", and

(B) by striking "the species" and inserting "these species"; and

(3) in paragraph (4) by striking "this species" and inserting "these species".

(c) DEFINITIONS.—Section 3 of the Atlantic Striped Bass Conservation Act (16 U.S.C. 1851 note) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (4) by striking subparagraph (A) and inserting the following:

"(A)(i) for purposes of section 4, Pennsylvania and each State of the United States bordering on the Atlantic Ocean north of the State of South Carolina; or

"(ii) for purposes of section 8, Pennsylvania and each State bordering on the Atlantic Ocean.";

(2) in paragraph (6) by inserting "or weakfish" after "bass" each place it appears;

(3) in paragraph (7) by inserting "for Atlantic striped bass" after "fishing"; and

(4) by adding at the end the following:

"(10) The term 'weakfish' means members of a stock or population of the species Cynoscion regalis, commonly referred to as 'seatrout'.

"(11) The term 'Weakfish Plan' means the Interstate Fisheries Management Plan for Weakfish, dated October 1985, prepared by the Commission, and all amendments thereto related to fishing for weakfish that are formally adopted as an amendment to the Weakfish Plan for October 1985.".

(d) CLARIFICATION OF EXISTING COMMISSION FUNCTIONS.—Section 4 of the Atlantic Striped Bass Conservation Act (16 U.S.C. 1851 note) is amended—

(1) by striking the heading for the section and inserting the following:

"SEC. 4. ATLANTIC STRIPED BASS CONSERVATION.";

(2) in the heading for subsection (a) by inserting "OF STRIPED BASS PLAN" after "ENFORCEMENT".

(e) IMPROVED COOPERATION AMONG COASTAL STATES FOR THE MANAGEMENT OF WEAKFISH.—Section 8 of the Atlantic Striped Bass Conservation Act (16 U.S.C. 1851 note) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 8. WEAKFISH CONSERVATION.

"(a) MONITORING OF IMPLEMENTATION AND ENFORCEMENT OF WEAKFISH PLAN.—

"(1) DETERMINATION OF IMPLEMENTATION AND ENFORCEMENT.—By January 1, 1994, annually thereafter, and at any other time that the Commission considers it necessary, the Commission shall determine whether—

"(A) each coastal State has adopted all regulatory measures necessary to fully implement the Weakfish Plan in its coastal waters; and

"(B) the enforcement of the Weakfish Plan by each such coastal State is satisfactory.

"(2) CONSULTATION.—If a fishery management plan for weakfish is in effect under title III of the Magnuson Act, the Commission shall consult with the regional fishery management councils which prepared such plan in making a determination under paragraph (1)(A).

"(3) SATISFACTORY ENFORCEMENT.—Enforcement by a coastal State shall not be considered satisfactory by the Commission for purposes of paragraph (1)(B) if the Commission determines that the enforcement is being carried out in such a manner that the implementation of the Weakfish Plan within the coastal waters of that coastal State is being, or will likely be, substantially or adversely affected.

"(4) NOTIFICATION OF SECRETARY.—The Commission shall immediately notify the Secretaries of each negative determination made by it under paragraph (1).

"(b) SECRETARIAL ACTION AFTER NOTIFICATION.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Within 30 days after notification from the Commission under subsection (a)(4) that a coastal State has not taken the action described in paragraph (1) of that subsection, the Secretaries—

"(A) shall determine jointly whether the coastal State is in compliance with the Weakfish Plan; and

"(B) declare jointly a moratorium on fishing for weakfish in the coastal waters of the coastal State, if they determine that the State is not in compliance with the Weakfish Plan.

"(2) CONSIDERATIONS.—In making determinations under paragraph (1)(A) for a coastal State, the Secretaries shall carefully consider and review the comments of—

"(A) the Commission;

"(B) the appropriate regional fishery management councils under the Magnuson Act; and

"(C) the coastal State.".

(f) MORATORIUM.—Section 5 of the Atlantic Striped Bass Conservation Act (16 U.S.C. 1851 note) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)(1) by inserting "or section 8(b)" after "(4)(b)"; and

(2) in subsection (a)(2)—

(A) by inserting "a" before "moratorium" the second place it appears; and

(B) by inserting "or section 8(b)" after "4(b)";

(3) in subsection (b)(1)—

(A) by inserting "for the fishery resource that is subject to the moratorium" after "fishing"; and

(B) by striking "the" and inserting "a";

(4) in subsection (b)(2) by inserting "or weakfish" after "bass";

(5) in subsection (b)(3)—

(A) by inserting "or weakfish" after "bass"; and

(B) by inserting "or section 8(b), respectively," after "4(b)";

(6) in subsection (b)(4)—

(A) by inserting "or weakfish" after "bass" each place it appears;

(B) by striking "the" the second place it appears and inserting "a";

(7) in subsection (d)(2) by inserting a close parenthesis after "1806(c)–(e)";

(8) in subsection (e)(1)—

(A) by inserting after "(1)" the following: "IN GENERAL.—";

(B) by moving paragraph (1) down so as to begin on the line below the heading for subsection (e);

(C) by moving paragraph (1) 2 ems to the right, so that the left margin of the paragraph is aligned with the left margins of paragraphs (2) and (3); and

(D) by inserting "or section 8(b)" after "4(b)"; and

(9) in subsection (e)(2) by inserting "or section 8(b)" after "4(b)".

(g) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—The Atlantic Striped Bass Conservation Act (16 U.S.C. 1851 note) is amended in section 4 by striking "Plan" each place it appears and inserting "Striped Bass Plan".

(h) EFFECTIVE DATE.—Notwithstanding section 9 of the Atlantic Striped Bass Conservation Act, section 8 of such Act, as amended by this Act, shall take effect on the date of the enactment of this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from California [Mr. HERGER] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS].

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 2588, the Weakfish Conservation Act of 1992. The author of the bill, Mr. CARPER, introduced this legislation more than a year ago to protect the weakfish and since that time has worked tirelessly to develop an acceptable legislative solution. His goal, as is mine, is to ensure that weakfish do not become the nautical equivalent of the dodo bird.

Weakfish are an important resource for both commercial and recreational fishermen from New England to North Carolina. In the late 1970's, recreational fishermen in my own State of Massachusetts caught weakfish weighing over 12 pounds in Buzzards Bay. Today, the Buzzards Bay fishery is nonexistent, the average size of the fish caught elsewhere is 1–2 pounds, and overall landings along the Atlantic coast have declined by 85 percent. If we do not act now to provide conservation for the weakfish, irreparable damage may be done, and the stocks may never recover.

A management plan for weakfish has been developed, but many States have yet to implement the measures required to conserve these stocks. This situation is identical to the one we faced in the early 1980's when striped bass stocks were also decimated. As many may recall, we responded then by enacting the Striped Bass Conservation Act of 1984, leading to the successful recovery of the striper. Today, by approving H.R. 2588, we can do for the weakfish what we have done for the striped bass. In short, Mr. Speaker, we have the ability today to make the weakfish strong.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HERGER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself whatever time I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 2588, the Weakfish Conservation Act. The stocks of weakfish appear to be at a crisis level and many believe that without swift action, those stocks may be irreparably damaged. Fortunately, the conservation effort used in this legislation is not untried, and has been successful for the Atlantic striped bass. Hopefully, it will also work for the weakfish.

However, I would like to point out that there is some opposition to approaching conservation of certain fish stocks that migrate along the eastern seaboard, on a stock-by-stock basis. Many States, as well as the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission, and the administration would like to see a broader conservation effort that would address all interjurisdictional fisheries on the east coast. Unfortunately, we do not have enough time in this Congress to work in that sort of legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Delaware [Mr. CARPER], who wants to make the weakfish strong, who is the strongest proponent, and who is someone who probably thinks that the striped bass is a rockfish.

Mr. CARPER. Mr. Speaker, I want to express my gratitude to the gentleman from Massachusetts and to the gentleman from California [Mr. HERGER] for their support.

History does have a way of repeating itself. Almost a decade ago cries of alarm were heard in this Chamber that the rockfish, or what we call the striped bass, was being depleted up and down the coast. Some refused to acknowledge that serious depletion. They opposed any intervention by the Federal Government. If those opponents had gotten their way, little would have been done to preserve the rockfish or the striped bass, and they would have largely disappeared from our waters.

After several years of debate, this Congress did act. We passed the Atlantic Striped Bass Conservation Act of 1984. We hear a lot of comments about the failings of the Congress and the failings of the Federal Government. I think it is important to note that the Striped Bass Act is a real success story. The striped bass returned in every-increasing numbers to the Chesapeake and other estuaries along the east coast.

Mr. Speaker, I will not read an editorial from the September 26, 1992, issue of the News Journal of Delaware, but I include this article entitled "Latest report shows moratorium on striped bass is now working," as follows:

ROCKFISH REBOUND—LATEST REPORT SHOWS MORATORIUM ON STRIPED BASS IS NOW WORKING

Encouraging news for the Chesapeake Bay rockfish was recently released by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources: The once endangered popular sport and eating fish are having more babies than they have had in the last two decades.

A moratorium on commercial and recreational taking of the fish, also called striped bass, was imposed by Maryland in 1985 after the schools began dwindling badly. A limited recreation season remained.

The average number of baby rocks caught at 22 sampling stations in the upper Chesapeake, the Choptank, Potomac and Nanticoke rivers showed an average of 9.1 per catch. That is up from 4.4 last year and 2.1 in 1990.

And the samplings do not include the thousands of new rockfish released through Delmarva Power & Light Co.'s private stocking at its Vienna, Md., plant on the Nanticoke. That laudable program places special markings on the fish.

Chesapeake Bay Foundation biologists warn that the apparent resurgence of rockfish does not necessarily signal a cleaner and healthier estuary. There is still a ways to go on that front.

But the biologists remain pleased with the latest report on the rockfish baby boom.

The moratorium is scheduled to be lifted in 1995. We hope it is not lifted until all biologists and bay experts agree the time is indeed right.

The good news is the striped bass is coming back and is resurgent. The bad news is that there are dozens of other species of migratory fish that are being depleted much as the striped bass was in the early 1980's.

For much of the past year, let me say to my friend, the gentleman from California [Mr. HERGER], over much of the past year several Members have worked to try to build a consensus to address not just one species of migratory fish that is under stress, but to really build a generic approach. I wish I could report that we succeeded. We have not. As a result, we have the legislation before us today.

If the situation continues to worsen with respect to other migratory species, my hope and my expectation is that the Congress will eventually act, and as pressure builds, but unfortunately then the cure that will be required will be drastic, and the suffering placed on individuals and on an industry may be very severe.

There is one step, however, that we can take today to preserve the most threatened species of migratory fish found along the coastal waters of the eastern seaboard, and that is to pass this bill, H.R. 2588, which amends the Striped Bass Act by adding one more species of fish to its protection, the sea trout, or as we call them, the weakfish.

In the early 1980's one of the most popular species of fish along the eastern seaboard was the weakfish, for commercial fishermen and for recreational fishermen and fisherwomen. In 1980, for example, 80 million pounds, 80 million pounds of this fish, the weakfish, was taken along the eastern seaboard, 80 million pounds. Last year, 1991, the take had dropped by 85 percent to just 10 million pounds. So few weakfish live today to their first birthday that not only is it impossible to stabilize the species population, but I think we are witnessing the collapse of an entire species of fish.

That does not have to happen. We can do something about it, and I hope my colleagues here will join us today in a bipartisan group from Florida to Massachusetts, the gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. RAVENEL], the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. SAXTON], the gentleman from Florida [Mr. GOSS], the gentleman from Maryland [Mr. GILCHREST], the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. HUGHES], the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. HERTEL], the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS], and myself from Delaware.

Here is briefly how our proposal would work. In 1985 the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission adopted a management plan for the weakfish. In 1991 they amended that plan to ask States to comply and to reduce the take of weakfish in 1994 by 25 percent. Our bill simply directs the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission to evaluate compliance of the States with the management plan adopted in 1985 and amended in 1991 and to do so by the beginning of 1994.

Those States not in compliance with the management would be asked to comply, and their failure to comply by the beginning of 1994 could lead the Commission report to go to two secretaries, the Secretary of Commerce and the Secretary of the Interior stating those States are not in compliance. If those two secretaries agree with the findings of the Commission, a moratorium on the fishing of weakfish in the coastal waters of those States in violation will be put in place. The moratorium itself would be lifted simply by a finding of the Commission that that State was in compliance with the management plan.

That is it. It is simple; it is straightforward. Our bill provides a tool to encourage States to take steps now to avoid eliminating the weakfish altogether in the future.

Again, I wish we could do more, as the gentleman from California [Mr. HERGER] suggested. But this is the best we can do today, and this much we should do.

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, let me just thank the gentleman from Delaware for acknowledging that in the unlikely event the weakfish makes it as far north as New England that it is likely to be addressed as a sea trout.

Mr. HUGHES. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 2588, the Weakfish Conservation Act, introduced by my friend and colleague, TOM CARPER.

Weakfish, also known as sea trout, are an important fisheries resource for both commercial and recreational fishermen from Massachusetts to North Carolina. However, overharvesting of this species has caused significant declines in the stocks, threatening the entire fishery with collapse.

In fact, the combined recreational and commercial catch of weakfish in 1980 was 80 million pounds. Last year, the catch was 10 million pounds—an 85-percent decline in the last decade!

The responsibility for managing this fishery is in the hands of the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission, a compact of 15 Atlantic States. Such a cooperative interstate approach is the most effective means of managing any highly migratory species. Indeed, management of a fishery by one State will have little impact unless similar measures are adopted all along the migratory range of the species.

This is the very problem that confronts the weakfish resource. While a fishery management plan has been developed by the Atlantic States Marine Fishery Commission, not all States have implemented the plan.

H.R. 2588 would provide an impetus to ensure that management measures recommended by the plan are implemented by all States by January 1, 1994. While the responsibility for management of the fishery would remain with the States, the legislation would provide the Federal Government with the ability to impose a moratorium on weakfish fishing within the coastal waters of any State that the Commission finds not to be fully implementing the conservation measures prescribed by the plan.

While a generic bill is preferable to dealing with each fishery resource on a species by species basis, such a generic bill at this time is not possible. Accordingly, H.R. 2588 amends the Striped Bass Conservation Act of 1984 to include weakfish. Just as the Striped Bass Act has led to the successful rebuilding of Atlantic striped bass stocks, the weakfish amendment will help rebuild the weakfish stocks.

This is a necessary measure if we are to save this important fishery from collapse and I commend Mr. CARPER for his efforts in developing legislation to address this issue.

Mr. Speaker, this bill is fair and reasonable and I urge my colleagues' support for its passage.

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, I very reluctantly rise in opposition to H.R. 2588 and urge its defeat by the House.

I want to compliment the sponsor of this bill, Mr. CARPER of Delaware, for his work in trying to conserve fishery stocks in the Atlantic Ocean. I have no disagreement with Mr. CARPER's goals. However, I am concerned that this bill was taken up by the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries in the last moments of the session, without opportunity for full analysis of its implications. I note that the bill is opposed by several States which would be affected by the bill.

Therefore, while I commend the author of the bill, Mr. CARPER, support his efforts, and would more than likely support similar legislation if it were introduced in the next Congress, I cannot at this time support passage of H.R. 2588.

Mr. BATEMAN. Mr. Chairman, the Commonwealth of Virginia opposes this legislation because it duplicates actions that have already been taken by Virginia as well as by the other concerned Atlantic Coastal States, and because they view the legislation as just one more way for the Federal Government to interfere in the State fishery management process.

Under the aegis of the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission, the Atlantic Coastal States have developed a plan for managing weakfish. Under this plan, all Atlantic Coastal States which have a weakfish fishery, have implemented regulations to improve the weakfish stocks in their State waters. The Commonwealth of Virginia has implemented a comprehensive set of regulations that are being applied to both commercial and recreational fisheries. These regulations call for minimum size limits, gear restrictions and bag limits. The other Atlantic Coastal States have similar restrictions.

I believe we need to give these State regulations a chance to work before we pass legislation that would add another bureaucratic layer to the fishery management process.

Based on the fact that the Atlantic Coastal States already are making an honest effort to manage the weakfish fishery, I must oppose the gentleman's bill.

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. (Mr. MONTGOMERY). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 2588, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

FISH AND WILDLIFE LAW ENFORCEMENT CLARIFICATION ACT OF 1992

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5486) to clarify the law enforcement authority of law enforcement officers of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5486

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

TITLE I—FISH AND WILDLIFE LAW ENFORCEMENT

SEC. 101. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Fish and Wildlife Law Enforcement Clarification Act of 1992".

SEC. 102. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds and declares the following:

(1) Law enforcement is an important part of the functions performed by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service (hereinafter in this title referred to as the "Service") in protecting and conserving fish and wildlife and their habitat, and includes—

(A) investigation and apprehension of those persons involved in wildlife conservation law violations;

(B) assisting in the investigation of other Federal crimes encountered during the course of normal duties;

(C) cooperating in law enforcement capacities with local, State, and other Federal law enforcement officers.

(2) Law enforcement officers of the Service should be able to take action on all Federal crimes which are committed on Service lands, including refuges, fish hatcheries, and other installations.

(3) The general public would benefit from improving law enforcement on these properties since visitors would receive better protection from crimes which might be committed against them or their property.

(4) Law enforcement officers of the Service need explicit authorization to enforce all Federal statutes—

(A) on Service property, or

(B) which are discovered during an investigation of a crime under their primary jurisdiction anywhere within the jurisdiction of the United States.

(5) Adequate staff and operating resources are required to fully implement the enforcement functions of the Service.

(6) A 1991 study by the General Accounting Office and a 1990 study done at the request of the Director of the Service show a lack of sufficient personnel and operating funds to accomplish the law enforcement functions of the Service.

SEC. 103. LAW ENFORCEMENT AUTHORITIES OF LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS OF UNITED STATES FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subject to the direction of the Secretary of the Interior, a law enforcement officer of the Service who is performing a duty related to enforcement of a law regarding fish, wildlife, or conservation may—

(1) carry firearms;

(2) execute and serve any order, warrant, subpoena, summons, or other process issued by an officer or court of competent jurisdiction under Federal law;

(3) make an arrest without a warrant—

(A) for any offense under Federal law committed within the officer's presence, or

(B) for any felony cognizable under Federal law, if the officer has reasonable grounds to believe that the person arrested has committed or is committing such felony;

(4) cooperate with any State or political subdivision thereof in the enforcement of the laws of the State or subdivision; and

(5) perform any other law enforcement duty specified by the Secretary of the Interior.

(b) LAW ENFORCEMENT WITHIN NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE SYSTEM.—In addition to the authority granted in subsection (a), for purposes of law enforcement within any area that is part of the National Wildlife Refuge System or any other area owned or controlled by the Service, law enforcement officers of the Service may, under regulations issued by the Secretary of the Interior—

(1) perform acts to maintain law and order and protect persons and property; and

(2) conduct an investigation of any offense under Federal law committed within such area, in the absence of investigation thereof by any other Federal law enforcement agency having investigative jurisdiction over the offense committed, or with the concurrence of such other agency.

SEC. 104. UTILIZATION OF OTHER FEDERAL, STATE, AND LOCAL LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of the Interior may—

(1) designate any law enforcement officer of any Federal agency, State, or political subdivision of a State, to act as a special police officer in areas of the National Wildlife Refuge System and to exercise any authority established by this section, if—

(A) the Secretary determines that—

(i) the designation is economical and in the public interest, and

(ii) supplemental law enforcement personnel are needed; and

(B) the head of the Federal agency or the chief executive of the State or political subdivision, respectively, concurs in the designation;

(2) cooperate with any State or political subdivision of a State in the enforcement, within the National Wildlife Refuge System, of the laws or ordinances of the State or subdivision; and

(3) provide reimbursement to a State or a political subdivision of a State, in accordance with such regulations as the Secretary may prescribe, for expenditures incurred in connection with activities of the State or political subdivision pursuant to a designation under paragraph (1).

(b) TREATMENT AS FEDERAL EMPLOYEES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, a law enforcement officer of a State or political subdivision of a State who is designated to act as a special police officer under subsection (a)—

(A) shall not be considered to be a Federal employee; and

(B) shall not be subject to any provision of law relating to Federal employment, including any provision relating to hours of work, rates of compensation, or Federal benefits.

(2) TORT CLAIMS.—For purposes of chapter 171 of title 28, United States Code (relating to tort claims), a law enforcement officer of a State or a political subdivision of a State shall, when acting as a special police officer designated under subsection (a), be considered to be an employee of the government.

(3) WORKERS COMPENSATION.—For purposes of subchapter 1 of chapter 81 of title 5, United States Code (relating to compensation to Federal employees for work injuries), a law enforcement officer of a State or political subdivision of a State shall, when acting as a special police officer designated under subsection (a), be considered to be an employee.

(4) CRIMES.—For purposes of section 111 and section 1114 of title 18, United States Code (relating, respectively, to assault on and protection of Federal officers and employees), a law enforcement officer of a State or political subdivision of a State shall, when acting as a special police officer designated under subsection (a), be considered to be an officer of the Department of the Interior designated by the Secretary of the Interior under section 1114 of that title.

SEC. 105. LIMITATIONS.

This title—

(1) supplements the existing law enforcement responsibilities of the Service;

(2) shall not be considered to authorize the delegation of law enforcement responsibilities of the Service to a State or local government; and

(3) shall not be construed or applied—

(A) to limit or restrict the investigative jurisdiction of any other Federal law enforcement agency, or

(B) to affect any right of a State or a political subdivision of a State to exercise civil and criminal jurisdiction over lands controlled by the Service.

SEC. 106. STATE DEFINED.

In this title, the term "State" means any of the several States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, American Samoa, Guam, any trust territory of the Pacific Islands, the Virgin Islands, and any other territory or possession of the United States.

SEC. 107. PERMIT ASSISTANCE OFFICE.

The Secretary of the Interior shall establish within the Service an Office of Permit Assistance for the purpose of providing information and assistance regarding domestic and international fish and wildlife laws and regulations, fish and wildlife permit requirements, and international and interstate transportation of fish and wildlife.

SEC. 108. ENTRY OF WILDLIFE PRODUCTS AT PORT OF HAMPTON ROADS, VIRGINIA.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than January 1, 1993, the Director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service shall assign an inspector to the Port of Hampton Roads, Virginia, or take such other action as may be necessary, to authorize the entry of wildlife products into the customs territory of the United States at that port.

(b) LIMITATION.—In carrying out subsection (a), the Director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service—

(1) may not decrease the capability of the Service to authorize the entry of wildlife products into the customs territory of the United States at other ports of entry; and

(2) may not collect any fee or charge for entry of products at Hampton Roads, Virginia, that is not comparable to the fees and charges collected at other ports of entry.

TITLE II—NATIONAL FISH AND WILDLIFE FOUNDATION

SEC. 201. AUDIT REQUIREMENTS AND USE OF FUNDS.

(a) AUDIT REQUIREMENTS.—Section 7 of the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation Establishment Act (16 U.S.C. 3706) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(d) AUDIT REQUIREMENTS.—Subgrantees of the Foundation shall be exempt from the audit reporting and compliance requirements of Circular A-133, as published by the Office of Management and Budget on March 16, 1990, for all grants of $100,000 or less. The Foundation shall amend its grant contracts to ensure that its subgrantees are advised of and certify compliance with all applicable Federal laws and regulations imposed on individuals or organizations receiving Federal funds.".

(b) USE OF FUNDS.—The National Fish and Wildlife Foundation Establishment Act (16 U.S.C. 3701 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 11. USE OF FUNDS.

"Beginning in fiscal year 1992 and thereafter, the Foundation may continue to draw down Federal funds when matching requirements have been met. Interest earned by the Foundation and its subgrantees on funds drawn down after the date of enactment of this Act, but not immediately disbursed, shall be used to fund activities that are otherwise authorized by this Act and approved by the Board.".

TITLE III—WALTER B. JONES CENTER FOR THE SOUNDS, POCOSIN LAKES NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

SEC. 301. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds the following:

(1) The Pocosin Lakes National Wildlife Refuge, located in northeastern North Carolina, provides unique opportunities for observing and interpreting the biological richness of the region's estuaries and wetlands.

(2) Although there are 10 national wildlife refuges in eastern North Carolina, not one has an educational or interpretative center for visitors.

(3) The State of North Carolina, Tyrrell County, the town of Columbia, the Conservation Fund, and private citizens have proposed to enter into a partnership with the United States Fish and Wildlife Service to establish an educational and interpretative facility to be known as the Center for the Sounds.

(4) Establishment of the Center for the Sounds would bestow economic benefits upon Tyrrell County and the town of Columbia.

(5) The Federal Government has designated the Albemarle-Pamlico estuary system of northeastern North Carolina as an estuary of national concern.

SEC. 302. FURTHER FINDINGS.

The Congress further finds and declares the following:

(1) Throughout his congressional career, the Honorable Walter B. Jones was a strong supporter of the National Wildlife Refuge System.

(2) During his years of service in the House of Representatives, Walter B. Jones supported the establishment and expansion of National Wildlife Refuges in eastern North Carolina; these include 6 new National Wildlife Refuges established in his district, including the Alligator River National Wildlife Refuge and the Pocosin Lakes National Wildlife Refuge, which are respectively the third largest and fifth largest National Wildlife Refuges east of the Mississippi River.

(3) Walter B. Jones helped increase refuge acreage in his district by over 303,000 acres, thus ensuring the protection of these lands for wildlife habitat and public recreation.

(4) Walter B. Jones' support for reintroducing endangered red wolves into the wild at Alligator River National Wildlife Refuge was a major factor in securing public acceptance of, and support for, this first successful effort to reintroduce endangered predators into formerly occupied habitat.

(5) Walter B. Jones devoted much of his congressional career, including his years as Chairman of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, to the conservation of fish and wildlife, for the benefit of the Nation and the people of North Carolina.

(6) Walter B. Jones should most appropriately be recognized for his work on behalf of fish and wildlife conservation by having the Center for the Sounds at the Pocosin Lakes National Wildlife Refuge System named in his honor.

SEC. 303. AUTHORITY TO CONSTRUCT AND OPERATE FACILITY.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of the Interior may, subject to the availability of appropriations, construct and operate the Walter B. Jones Center for the Sounds at the Pocosin Lakes National Wildlife Refuge in Tyrrell County, North Carolina, for the following purposes:

(1) Providing public opportunities, facilities, and resources to study the natural history and natural resources of northeastern North Carolina.

(2) Offering a variety of environmental educational programs and interpretive exhibits.

(3) Fostering an awareness and understanding of the interactions among wildlife, estuarine and wetland ecosystems, and human activities.

(4) Providing office space and facilities for refuge administration, research, education, and related activities.

SEC. 304. DESIGN.

The Secretary of the Interior shall ensure that the design, size, and location of a facility constructed under this title are consistent with the cultural and natural history of the area with which the facility will be concerned.

SEC. 305. COST SHARING.

The Secretary of the Interior may accept contributions of funds from non-Federal sources to pay the costs of operating and maintaining the facility authorized under this title, and shall take appropriate steps to seek to obtain such contributions.

SEC. 306. REPORT.

Not later than 6 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Interior shall submit a report to the Congress on progress made in designing and constructing a facility under this title, including steps taken under section 305 to obtain contributions and any such contributions that have been pledged to or received by the United States.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from California [Mr. HERGER] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS].

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I arise in support of H.R. 5486, the Fish and Wildlife Law Enforcement Clarification Act, which was introduced by LINDSAY THOMAS to improve the ability of the Fish and Wildlife Service to enforce our wildlife conservation laws.

This bill gives the Service the statutory tools it needs to respond to nonwildlife-related crimes, to which they are increasingly being called upon to respond.

As amended by the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, the bill will name the visitor center at the Pocosin Lakes National Wildlife Refuge in honor of the late chairman of the Merchant Marine Committee, Walter B. Jones. He was instrumental in gaining the support for wildlife refuges from the communities located adjacent to them, and it is entirely fitting that his legacy be remembered in this way.

The bill will also ensure that the recipients of grants made by the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation are not bogged down in paperwork. The committee substitute amendment before us today also contains a provision that was included at the request of Mr. PICKETT which directs the Fish and Wildlife Service to inspect imports of wildlife products at the port of Hampton Roads.

This is a good piece of legislation. It was approved unanimously by the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries last week. It responds to clearly identified needs and I urge Members to support it.

Mr. HERGER Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 5486 and urge its adoption by the House.

Mr. Speaker, this bill has a number of parts, all of which are important. The first title of the bill clarifies the authority of U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service law enforcement officers to enforce our national conservation laws. It also provides legal protections for those officers, and to State enforcement officials who may be assisting the Fish and Wildlife Service. Finally, it directs the Secretary of the Interior to establish a permit assistance office so that American citizens can avoid the bureaucracy and redtape of dealing with several Department of the Interior offices when they are trying to obtain fairly simple information.

The second part of this bill exempts the Fish and Wildlife Foundation from certain procedural requirements of the Office of Management and Budget. These exemptions are not intended to circumvent law or to make the Foundation unaccountable to the public. They merely recognize the unique nature of the Foundation as a semipublic body interested in conserving fish and wildlife.

The third part of this bill is the most important to me and to Members of the House. This title will establish the Walter B. Jones Center for the Sounds in North Carolina. The committee has taken this action in recognition of the late Chairman Jones' many years of service to our committee and to the Nation. Chairman Jones worked long and hard to establish a visitor center in this area, and this language will help move his work forward. I hope that we can count on our colleagues on the Committee on Appropriations next year to provide funding for the center that we are authorizing.

Mr. Speaker, this is a noncontroversial bill with many important provisions, and I believe it should be adopted without dissent.

□ 1510

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MONTGOMERY). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5486, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

AUTHORIZING INTERPRETIVE CENTER FOR RIDGEFIELD NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5809) to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to construct and operate an interpretive center for the Ridgefield National Wildlife Refuge in Clark County, WA, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5809

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. INTERPRETIVE CENTER FOR THE RIDGEFIELD NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds the following:

(1) The Ridgefield National Wildlife Refuge (in this Act referred to as the "Refuge"), located on the Columbia River in southwest Washington, provides unique opportunities for observing and interpreting the biological richness of the lower Columbia River wetlands.

(2) The Refuge is also rich in the cultural history of the Pacific Northwest, including being the site of a large Native American settlement which was visited by the 1804 Lewis and Clark Expedition and other early explorers.

(3) The Refuge is located in close proximity to the Portland/Vancouver metropolitan area and to the Interstate 5 freeway, which carries millions of visitors past the Refuge to Mount St. Helens, Mount Hood, the Columbia River Gorge, wilderness areas, and other natural attractions.

(4) The Refuge is ideally suited to be a regional center for interpretation, research, and education related to wetland ecology, wildlife, the environmental sciences, and Northwest cultural history.

(5) There are unique opportunities for the Federal Government to engage in cost-sharing with local, State, and private partners to construct, operate, and maintain a regional interpretive center at the Refuge.

(b) AUTHORITY TO CONSTRUCT AND OPERATE INTERPRETIVE CENTER.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of the Interior may, subject to the availability of appropriations, construct and operate an interpretive center at the Ridgefield National Wildlife Refuge in Clark County, Washington, for the following purposes;

(A) Providing public opportunities, facilities, and resources to study natural history, Native American culture, and the history of Northwest settlers in the region of the Refuge.

(B) Offering a variety of environmental educational programs and interpretive exhibits.

(C) Fostering an awareness and understanding of the interactions among wildlife, wetland ecosystems, and human activities.

(D) Providing office space and facilities for Refuge administration, research, education, and related activities.

(2) DESIGN.—The Secretary of the Interior shall ensure that the design, size, and location of any facilities for an interpretive center constructed under this section are consistent with the cultural and natural history of the area and which the interpretive center will be concerned.

(c) COST SHARING.—The Secretary of the Interior may accept contributions of funds from non-Federal sources to pay the costs of constructing, operating, and maintaining an interpretive center under this section, and shall take appropriate steps to seek to obtain such contributions.

(d) PUBLIC PROCESS.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service shall engage in a public process to determine—

(1) the design of an interpretive center to be constructed under this section;

(2) opportunities for obtaining contributions of funds for the interpretive center;

(3) the costs of constructing, operating, and maintaining, the interpretive center and associated facilities; and

(4) the functions of the interpretive center, with an emphasis on educational functions.

(e) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Interior shall submit a report to the Congress on progress made in designing and constructing an interpretive center under this section, on including steps taken under subsection (c) to obtain contributions and any such contributions that have been pledged to or received by the United States.

SEC. 2. ADDITIONAL MEMBERS OF TASK FORCE.

Section 4 of the Klamath River Basin Fishery Resources Restoration Act (16 U.S.C. 460ss-3) is amended by adding at the end the following—

"(j) At such time as the program is expanded to include portions of the Klamath River upstream from the Iron Gate dam, membership on the Task Force shall be increased to include the following—

"(1) One individual who shall be appointed by the Commissioners of Klamath County, Oregon.

"(2) A representative of the Klamath Tribe, who shall be appointed by the governing body of the tribe."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from California [Mr. HERGER] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS].

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5809, which Mrs. UNSOELD introduced to authorize the Fish and Wildlife Service to build a visitor center at the Ridgefield National Wildlife Refuge in Washington State.

The Ridgefield National Wildlife Refuge contains biologically rich wetlands of the lower Columbia River, which are critically important to migrating waterfowl and salmon. Because of its location near Portland, OR, it can offer wildlife education programs and exhibits to a very large audience. I understand that the local community is committed to raising a large share of the funds necessary for constructing this visitor center, and that will clearly go a long way toward making it a reality.

The bill was unanimously approved by the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee last week, it is a good bill, and I urge Members to support it.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HERGER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5809 and urge its adoption.

Mr. Speaker, the first section of this bill provides for establishment of a visitor center at Ridgefield National Wildlife Refuge in the State of Washington. Support for the center will come from local governments and concerned citizens and thus reduce the cost of establishing the center.

The second part of the amendment ensures equal representation for residents of the State of Oregon in the event that the existing Klamath River basin study is extended to include the State of Oregon. This language is similar to H.R. 5888, introduced by our colleague, Mr. SMITH of Oregon, and I commend the gentleman for pursuing the interests of his State.

Mr. Speaker, this is a noncontroversial bill and I believe it deserves adoption.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from Washington [Mrs. UNSOELD].

Mrs. UNSOELD. Mr. Speaker, this legislation, H.R. 5809, calls on the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to work with local sponsors and the public on a proposal for an interpretive center at the Ridgefield National Wildlife Refuge, located on the Columbia River just north of the Portland/Vancouver metropolitan area.

The interpretive center would showcase the natural history of the Columbia River wetlands and the rich human history of native Americans, explorers, including the 1804 Lewis and Clark expeditions, and early settlers at the site. The refuge is located less than 5 miles from the Interstate 5 corridor, making it accessible to the region's students and to the millions of visitors who travel to other natural attractions in the area—Mount St. Helens, the Columbia River Gorge, and Mount Rainier.

One of the unique features of this legislation is the willingness of local sponsors, who view the center as an important means of diversifying the local economy, to share in the costs of the facility. Early indications are that local sponsors could cover a large part of the constructions costs and virtually all of the maintenance costs of the facility. The interpretive center would also provide offices for refuge staff, saving the cost of leased office space.

At a time when Federal deficits and tight budgets make investments in new facilities difficult, I believe the kind of cost-sharing and partnership embodied in H.R. 5809 is the way of the future. I urge the House to approve this legislation.

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. HERGER. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5809, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

BROWNSVILLE WETLANDS POLICY ACT OF 1992

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5874) to establish a wetlands center at the Port of Brownsville, TX, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5874

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Brownsville Wetlands Policy Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. ESTABLISHMENT OF WETLANDS POLICY CENTER AT THE PORT OF BROWNSVILLE, TEXAS.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF CENTER.—For purposes of utilizing grants made by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service there may be established in accordance with this Act, on property owned or held in trust by the Brownsville Navigation District at the Port of Brownsville, Texas, a wetlands policy center which shall be known as the "Brownsville Wetland Policy Center at the Port of Brownsville, Texas" (in this Act referred to as the "Center"). The Center shall be operated and maintained by the Port of Brownsville with programs to be administered by the University of Texas at Brownsville.

(b) MISSION OF THE CENTER.—The primary mission of the Center shall be to utilize the unique wetlands property at the Port of Brownsville and adjacent waters of South Texas to focus on wetland matters for the purposes of protecting, restoring, and maintaining the Lagoon Ecosystems of the Western Gulf of Mexico Region.

(c) BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—The Center shall be governed by a Board of Directors to oversee the management and financial affairs to the Center. The Board of Directors shall be cochaired by the Port of Brownsville, the University of Texas at Brownsville, and the designee of the Director of the Fish and Wildlife Service, and shall include as members other representatives considered appropriate by those cochairs.

(d) OVERSIGHT OF THE CENTER.—

(1) ANNUAL REPORT.—The Board of Directors of the Center shall prepare an annual report and submit it through the Director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service to the Congress.

(2) CONTENTS.—Annual reports under this subsection shall cover the programs, projects, activities, and accomplishments of the Center. The reports shall include a review of the budget of the Center, including all sources of funding received to carry out Center operations.

(3) AVAILABILITY OF INFORMATION.—The Board of Directors of the Center shall make available all pertinent information and records to allow preparation of annual reports under this subsection.

SEC. 3. GRANTS.

The Director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service shall, subject to the availability of appropriations, make grants to the Center for use for carrying out activities of the Center.

SEC. 4. LEASE.

The Director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, subject to the availability of appropriations, may enter into a long-term lease with the Port of Brownsville for use by the Center of wetlands property owned by the Port of Brownsville. Terms of the lease shall be negotiated, and the lease shall be signed by both parties, prior to the dispersal of any Federal lands pursuant to this Act. The lease shall include a provision authorizing the Director to terminate the lease at any time.

SEC. 5. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated to the Director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service $1,000,000 for fiscal year 1993, $5,000,000 for fiscal year 1994, $4,000,000 for fiscal year 1995, $4,000,000 for fiscal year 1996 and such sums as may be necessary for fiscal year 1997, for making grants to the Center under section 3, including for use for the establishment, operation, maintenance, and management of the Center.

SEC. 6. RELATIONSHIP OF CENTER WITH THE CENTER FOR ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES AND SERVICES, CORPUS CHRISTI, TEXAS.

None of the funds appropriated pursuant to this Act may be used to relocate any of the administrative operations of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service from the Center for Environmental Studies and Services Building on the campus of Corpus Christi State University, to the Brownsville Wetlands Policy Center at the Port of Brownsville, Texas, established pursuant to this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from California [Mr. HERGER] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS].

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5874, the Brownsville Wetlands Policy Act, which was introduced by Mr. ORTIZ. It provides for the establishment of a wetlands policy center at the port of Brownsville, TX, and authorizes the Fish and Wildlife Service to fund wetland research projects on the 7,000 acres of wetlands owned by the Port of Brownsville.

This is a sound proposal and was unanimously approved by the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries last week. I urge Members to support it.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HERGER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5874 and urge its adoption by the House.

Mr. Speaker, this bill provides for establishment of a wetlands policy center at the Port of Brownsville, TX. The center would use property at the port of study wetlands for the purpose of protecting, restoring, and maintaining the ecosystem of the western Gulf of Mexico.

Mr. Speaker, this is a noncontroversial bill and I would like to commend its sponsor, Mr. ORTIZ, for working to support wetlands research.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Texas [Mr. ORTIZ], the author of the bill.

Mr. ORTIZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 5874, which establishes a wetlands policy center in Brownsville, TX.

In a move of great generosity and community spirit, the Port of Brownsville has agreed to make available over 7,000 acres of wetlands property for wetlands management, education, and policy program activities. Because these wetlands comprise a broad array of saltwater, freshwater, and brackish ecosystems, they will be able to support and advance a variety of wetlands management techniques. As such, the wetlands center established on this property by this bill will provide our Federal Government a unique opportunity to develop an innovative, cooperative approach to the preservation, restoration and study of wetlands. The center will allow researchers, scientists, and students to conduct actual, applied management techniques on actual wetlands property contiguous to a heavy industrial enterprise. This will provide a unique opportunity to focus on new technologies and approaches on the issues of wetlands preservation and environmentally compatible economic policy. In addition, the center will serve to promote and foster the development of greatly needed graduate degree and career opportunities in the environmental sciences for Hispanics and other minorities in the United States.

The initial focus of the mission of the center will be the study, protection, restoration, and maintenance of the lagoon ecosystems of the western Gulf of Mexico region. However, it is the hope and intention of the principals involved, that the center will ultimately develop into a truly international program to study wetlands preservation techniques, and to help formulate effective wetlands-sensitive economic policy.

The center will be operated and maintained by the Port of Brownsville. The center is to be overseen by a board of directors cochaired by the Port of Brownsville, the University of Texas at Brownsville, and a designee of the Director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service. Members of the board will be chosen by the cochairs, and shall include representatives from the appropriate Federal, State, and local agencies; representatives of environmental groups, private businesses, and nonprofit organizations; and elected officials of the Brownsville Navigation District.

As a central part of the center's mission to advance educational avenues for minority students to pursue careers in environmental protection, management, and engineering, it is expected that the board of directors will create a consortium of institutions of higher education to establish programs of study, training, and education for minority undergraduate and graduate students in the fields of wetlands environmental engineering, management, and policy. The consortium would be chaired by the University of Texas at Brownsville, and would include institutions from throughout the United States, the nation of Mexico, and other nations as deemed appropriate by the board of directors. With the prospective establishment of a North American Free-Trade Agreement, collaborative efforts on the study of wetlands by the governments of the United States and Mexico will be particularly important.

I ask my colleagues to join me in supporting this legislation. This center will provide a unique opportunity for our Government to focus on new technologies and approaches on the issue of wetlands and our national effort to both understand and protect them. Furthermore, this center will create educational opportunities for minority students to pursue careers in wetlands research-related fields. By supporting the study of wetlands, we not only preserve sensitive ecological habitats, but we encourage academic learning in this important area of academic learning.

I feel this is a modest but important piece of legislation and that it deserves the House of Representatives' support.

□ 1520

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. HERGER. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MONTGOMERY). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5874, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof), the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the bills just passed, H.R. 5809, H.R. 5874, H.R. 2588, and H.R. 5486.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Massachusetts?

There was no objection.

PROVIDING INCREASED PREINSPECTION AT AIRPORTS

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5555) to provide for increased preinspection at foreign airports, to make permanent the visa waiver pilot program, and to provide for expedited airport immigration processing, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5555

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. PREINSPECTION AT FOREIGN AIRPORTS.

(a) In General.—The Immigration and Nationality Act is amended by inserting after section 235 the following new section:

"PREINSPECTION AT FOREIGN AIRPORTS

"Sec. 235A. (a) Establishment of Additional Preinspection Stations at High Volume Airports.—Subject to subsection (c), not later than 2 years after the date of the enactment of this section, the Attorney General, in consultation with the Secretary of State, shall establish and maintain preinspection stations in at least 3 of the foreign airports that are among the 10 foreign airports which the Attorney General identifies as serving as last points of departure for the greatest numbers of passengers who arrive from abroad by air at ports of entry within the United States. Such preinspection stations shall be in addition to any preinspection stations established prior to the date of the enactment of this section.

"(b) Establishment of Additional Preinspection Stations at Certain Foreign Airports From Which Undocumented Aliens Depart for the United States.—

"(1) MAINTENANCE OF RECORDS ON ALIENS ARRIVING BY AIR WITHOUT VALID DOCUMENTATION.—The Attorney General shall maintain records concerning the number and nationality of aliens who arrive by air at United States ports of entry without valid documentation. Such records shall indicate the foreign airports which served as the last points of departure for such aliens.

"(2) ESTABLISHMENT OF ADDITIONAL PREINSPECTION STATIONS.—Subject to subsection (c), not later than November 1, 1996, the Attorney General, in consultation with the Secretary of State, shall establish 3 preinspection stations in foreign airports. The locale of such preinspection stations shall be determined by the Attorney General after reviewing the records maintained under paragraph (1), with the intention of preventing aliens, to the greatest extent feasible, from arriving in the United States without valid documentation. Such preinspection stations shall be in addition to any preinspection stations established under subsection (a) or prior to the date of enactment of this section.

"(3) ESTABLISHMENT OF CARRIER CONSULTANT PROGRAM.—The Attorney General shall assign additional immigration officers to any foreign airport which, based on the records maintained under paragraph (1), served as a point of departure for a significant number of arrivals at United States ports of entry without valid documentation, but where no preinspection station is established.

"(c) Conditions for Establishment of Preinspection.—Prior to the establishment of a preinspection station the Attorney General shall ensure that—

"(1) employees of the United States stationed at the preinspection station and their accompanying family members will receive appropriate diplomatic protection,

"(2) such employees and their families will not be subject to unreasonable risks to their welfare and safety,

"(3) the facilities at the preinspection station conform to Federal Inspection Services standards,

"(4) the country in which the preinspection station is to be established maintains practices and procedures with respect to asylum seekers and refugees in accordance with the Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees (done at Geneva, July 28, 1951) or the Protocol Relating to the Status of Refugees (done at New York, January 31, 1967), and

"(5) no national or habitual resident of the country in which the preinspection station is to be established within the preceding 3 years has been admitted to the United States as a refugee pursuant to section 207 or granted asylum pursuant to section 208.

"(d) Treatment of Aliens Lawfully Admitted for Permanent Residence.—The Attorney General shall permit aliens lawfully admitted for permanent residence who—

"(1) present themselves to an examining immigration officer at preinspection stations (established under this section or otherwise), and

"(2) do not appear to the officer to be clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to land in the United States, to proceed to the United States, subject to procedures established by regulation pursuant to sections 235 and 236.".

(b) Clerical Amendment.—The table of contents of such Act is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 235 the following new item:

"Sec. 235A. Preinspection at foreign airports.".

SEC. 2. VISA WAIVER PROGRAM.

(a) Permanency of Program.—Section 217 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1187) is amended—

(1) by amending the section heading to read as follows:

"VISA WAIVER PROGRAM FOR CERTAIN VISITORS";

(2) in the heading of subsections (a), (a)(2), and (c) by striking "Pilot" and "PILOT" each place either appears and inserting "Visa Waiver" and "VISA WAIVER", respectively;

(3) by striking "pilot" each place it appears and inserting "visa waiver";

(4) in subsection (a)(1) by striking "during the pilot program period (as defined in subsection (e))";

(5) in subsection (c)(3) by striking "(within the pilot program period) after the initial period";

(6) in subsection (c) by striking paragraph (4);

(7) in subsection (e)(1)(A) by striking "(a)(1)(A)" and inserting "(a)(1)"; and

(8) by striking subsection (f).

(b) Elimination of Requirement for Execution of Immigration Forms.—Section 217 of such Act is further amended—

(1) in subsection (a) by striking paragraph (3);

(2) in subsection (a) by redesignating paragraphs (4) through (7) as paragraphs (3) through (6), respectively; and

(3) in subsection (e)(1) by striking "subsection (a)(4)" and inserting "subsection (a)(3)".

(c) Exclusion and Deportation of Applicants for Admission Under Visa Waiver Program.—Section 217(b) of such Act is amended to read as follows:

"(b) Exclusion and Deportation of Applicants for Admission Under Visa Waiver Program.—

"(1) Exclusion.—

"(A) An immigration officer's determination that an applicant for admission under this section is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to land shall constitute a final order of exclusion and deportation, enforceable pursuant to section 237. Pending such a determination, the Attorney General may maintain such applicant in custody.

"(B) The procedure described in section 236 shall not apply to an order issued under this paragraph.

"(2) Deportation.—

"(A) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, an alien admitted to the United States under this section who is determined, pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General shall prescribe, to be subject to deportation shall be deported pursuant to section 243. An immigration officer's determination under this subsection shall constitute a final order of deportation. Pending such determination, the Attorney General may maintain such alien in custody.

"(B) The procedure described in section 242 shall not apply to an order issued under this paragraph.

"(3) Review.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law or the failure of a carrier to provide the notice described in subsection (e)(1)(D), an alien who applies for admission to the United States under this section shall not be entitled—

"(A) to review or appeal under this Act of an immigration officer's determination as to the admissibility of the alien at the port of entry into the United States, or

"(B) subject to paragraph (4), to contest an immigration officer's determination under paragraph (2).

"(4) Asylum.—The Attorney General shall establish a procedure for an alien who is applying for admission under this section or who has been admitted under this section to apply for asylum under section 208.

"(5) TREATMENT OF NATIONALS OF VISA WAIVER COUNTRIES.—An alien who—

"(A) is a national of a visa waiver program country or claims to be a national of a visa waiver program country, and

"(B) is not in possession of a valid visa, shall be considered to be an applicant for admission under this section.".

(d) Carrier Agreements.—Section 217(e)(1) of such Act is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (B) by striking "and";

(2) in subparagraph (C) by striking the period at the end and inserting "; and"; and

(3) by inserting after subparagraph (C) the following new subparagraph:

"(D) to provide passengers applying for admission to the United States under this section with written information concerning the conditions of the program and notification that they are not entitled (i) to any appeal or review of an immigration officer's determination of admissibility, or (ii) to contest any action for deportation.".

(e) Conforming Amendment.—Section 235(b) of such Act (8 U.S.C. 1225(b)) is amended by inserting "or an applicant for admission under section 217" after "alien crewman".

(f) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The item in the table of contents of such Act relating to section 217 is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 217. Visa waiver program for certain visitors.".

SEC. 3. EXPEDITING AIRPORT IMMIGRATION PROCESSING.

(a) PASSENGER MANIFESTS.—

(1) ELECTRONIC PASSENGER MANIFESTS.—Section 231(a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1221(a)) is amended in the first sentence by striking "typewritten" and inserting "electronic, typewritten,".

(2) INFORMATION CONTAINED IN PASSENGER MANIFEST.—Section 231(a) of such Act (8 U.S.C. 1221(a)) is further amended by inserting immediately before the period at the end of the second sentence ", except that regulations concerning the information contained in such lists may not require information other than the full name, date of birth, passport number, and citizenship of the person transported, and information identifying the flight on which the person was transported".

(b) INSPECTION BY IMMIGRATION OFFICERS.—Section 235(a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1225(a)) is amended by adding after the second sentence the following: "Except as the Attorney General may provide, nothing in this section shall be construed as requiring a personal interview in the conduct of an examination or inspection.".

(d) EXPEDITED PROCESS FOR THE INSPECTION OF CITIZENS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 235A of the Immigration and Nationality Act, as inserted by section 1(a) of this Act, is amended—

(A) in the heading, by adding at the end the following: "; EXPEDITED PROCESS FOR THE INSPECTION OF CITIZENS", and

(B) by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(e) EXPEDITED PROCESS FOR THE INSPECTION OF CITIZENS.—Not later than 90 days after the date of the enactment of this section, the Attorney General shall implement an expedited process for the inspection of United States citizens upon arrival from abroad by air at ports of entry within the United States. An expedited process shall be maintained except during a national or airport specific security emergency as determined by the Attorney General.".

(2) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The item in the table of contents of such Act relating to section 235A, as inserted by section 1(b) of this Act, is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 235A. Preinspection at foreign airports; expedited process for the inspection of citizens.".

SEC. 4. ELIMINATION OF SUNSET FOR CERTAIN G-4 SPECIAL IMMIGRANT PROVISIONS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 101(a)(27)(I)(iii)(II) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1101(a)(27)(I)(iii)(II)) is amended by striking "before January 1, 1993, and".

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 101(a)(27)(I) of such Act is further amended by striking "or six months after the date of the enactment of the Immigration Technical Corrections Act of 1988, whichever is later" each place it appears.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect on the date of the enactment of this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New York [Mr. SCHUMER] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Florida [Mr. JAMES] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York [Mr. SCHUMER].

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this bill is another installment in our efforts to prevent illegal immigration. In the past few years, a new form of this problem has emerged: Illegal immigration by commercial airliner. The way it works is this: The person gets on a plane headed for the United States, either without documents or with fraudulent documents. The INS's policy is to detain such individuals upon arrival in the United States, pending deportation. But because the INS lacks sufficient detention space, the would-be immigrant is typically paroled into the community with instructions to report several months later for a hearing before an INS officer. Most simply disappear.

Now that word has gotten out about this situation, the number of undocumented arrivals has mushroomed, from a few thousand 5 years ago to 37,500 last year. These individuals are flouting the immigration laws, putting themselves at the head of the line while other folks wait for years to immigrate. Worst of all, these airport arrivals are making a mockery of the asylum process. Many of them make asylum claims, even though they have no basis at all for doing so, simply to get into a process that they can stretch out for years, and to get the work permit to which asylum applicants are entitled. The U.S. commitment to refugees is going to be more crucial than even in the years ahead, with ethnic conflict boiling over in trouble spots around the world. We cannot afford to have fraudulent claimants taking up valuable spaces and eroding public support for the entire refugee program.

This bill would counter this unfortunate trend by setting up preinspection stations at six of the overseas airports that have sent us the largest numbers of fraudulent passengers. These stations will enable immigration and naturalization service inspectors to screen out undocumented passengers before they get to the United States. Not only will this help maintain the integrity of our immigration and asylum laws, but it will also be cost effective. Passengers inspected overseas will not have to be inspected upon arrival, so more inspectors will not be needed, and the detention and legal costs associated with fraudulent passengers here in the United States will be eliminated.

In addition to the preinspection stations, this bill also tackles two other problems. One is the increasingly long lines faced by international passengers at destination airports. Under an international agreement negotiated by the State Department, countries are supposed to complete examination of international passengers within 45 minutes after the passenger's arrival. Far too often, however, this standard is not met. H.R. 5555 would speed passenger processing in a number of ways, including streamlining the visa waiver program, permitting the INS to accept electronic manifests, and providing expedited processing for U.S. citizen travelers. International air travel reduces our trade deficit by nearly $10 billion a year—making it one of our most successful exports—and these measures will make sure that we can maintain our competitiveness in this industry.

Finally, the bill also contains provisions related to socalled G-4 employees and their spouses. These are people who work for international organizations like the United Nations and the world bank. Current law permits such individuals to apply for permanent residency in the United States after they have lived here for 15 years—but this provision will expire next year. This bill would remove the sunset provision. The imminent expiration date is causing these organizations considerable difficulty in recruitment, because potential employees worry about being forced to relocate at an inconvenient time in their families' lives. Incidentally, children of G-4 employees already can become permanent residents—this bill only applies to the employees and their spouses. This provision was originally in a bill introduced by my subcommittee chairman, the gentleman from Kentucky, and I commend him for his efforts on this issue. He has also asked me to recognize the contribution of our colleague on the judiciary committee, BARNEY FRANK, who has worked tirelessly to bring this issue to the attention of the subcommittee.

I also want to thank subcommittee chairman MAZZOLI and Chairman BROOKS of the judiciary committee for all their work on this entire bill, and especially Mr. MCCOLLUM , the ranking Republican member on the immigration subcommittee, who has been very diligent in working with me to get a bill that both sides of the aisle can support.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5555, but with some reservations. On the whole, this legislation improves the immigration inspection process at airports and takes steps towards dealing with the flood of aliens who are arriving at our international airports with fraudulent documents or with no documents at all.

The size of the problem at our international airports is large and growing. Last year the number of aliens entering with no documents or fraudulent documents was over 37,000; this year the alien smuggling rings are bringing in even more people.

The activities of these rings not only circumvent our immigration control laws, but also contribute to human misery and criminal activity, since many of the smuggled aliens virtually are indentured servants, forced to work off the cost of their transit by engaging in prostitution, drug dealing, or other illegal activities.

I want to commend the gentleman from New York [Mr. SCHUMER] for introducing this legislation and thank him for his willingness to work together to produce a bill that addresses this very serious immigration control problem. There continues to be a couple of problems with the legislation, but I am confident that we will be able to work those out before sending the bill to the President for his signature.

It is important to point out that while this legislation will help reduce document fraud and alien smuggling at our international airports, it is missing a vital component of a comprehensive approach to dealing with the situation.

The bill addresses the problem at points overseas and on airlines, but it does not deal with the problem here in the United States. It does not reform the asylum process nor stop the abuse of that system at U.S. ports of entry by alien smugglers.

Under the scam currently being used by the smugglers, they direct their falsely documented clients to claim asylum at a U.S. port of entry. Because INS does no have the detention space to hold all applicants while their asylum claims are adjudicated, the smugglers know that their clients will be released into the public.

Once that happens, the undocumented aliens can disappear into the general population and simply never show up for asylum proceedings. The likelihood of INS catching up to them is remote.

The smugglers, however, have more effective—and much more brutal—enforcement capabilities than INS. If the aliens do not show up to work off the huge fees charged by the smugglers, they are likely to end up badly beaten or even dead.

In order to respond to this abuse of the asylum process, we need to institute reforms that stop the abuses while fully protecting those who have valid asylum claims. I hope that we can work with the administration and the other body to develop such a compromise.

As it currently stands, this legislation will improve the efficiency and effectiveness of immigration inspections and take steps toward reducing abuses of our immigration and asylum laws. I urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. MAZZOLI. Mr. Speaker, H.R. 5555 is an important measure aimed at reducing illegal immigration, while at the same time expediting the processing of legitimate travelers through our international airports.

During this 102d Congress, the Subcommittee on International Law, Immigration, and Refugees has conducted 3 days of hearings at which problems faced by international travelers arriving at U.S. airports has been a primary area of discussion. We have heard from airport and airline executives and officials of the Immigration and Naturalization Service regarding those problems at each of those hearings.

Despite funding increases at INS that have allowed them to put more inspectors at our airports than ever before, international travelers—and about half of them are U.S. citizens—are still subjected to lengthy delays in the inspections process when they arrive from abroad.

Additionally, in recent months we have seen the development of a new phenomenon, namely the arrival at airports of large numbers of aliens who have no documentation whatsoever and who in many cases refuse to tell INS inspectors their names or country of origin. Such aliens either ask for asylum or say nothing. In either event, the result is the same: they are released on bond or parole because INS does not have enough detention space.

H.R. 5555 is designed to address both of those problems. It deals with the processing problem in a variety of ways. For example, it requires INS to set up preinspection at three additional foreign airports within 2 years, and then three more stations by November 1, 1996. Under this procedure, INS will conduct its inspections abroad, thereby obviating the need for any INS inspection once the plane arrives in the United States. This will both prevent undocumented—or improperly documented—aliens from boarding planes and it will allow all passengers on reinspected flights to move through the INS inspections booths here in the United States without any delay at all.

The bill also imposes certain limitations on locating these preinspection stations to protect refugees seeking safe haven in the United States. Accordingly, H.R. 5555 directs the Attorney General not to set up preinspection stations in countries that have been sources of refugees in the preceding 3 years or in countries that fail to maintain adequate asylum procedures.

The bill also makes permanent the visa-waiver pilot program. Under current law, the program would expire in September 30, 1994. This program was enacted as part of the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986. It allows short-term visitors for business or pleasure to come to the United States without a visa, provided they come from low-risk parts of the world. Currently 21 countries are participating in the program, and by any measure the program must be considered a success.

The bill also includes a provision to assist aliens employed by international organizations, such as the World Bank. Such aliens are eligible for G–4 visas to come to the United States in conjunction with their work. The 1986 Immigration Reform and Control Act [IRCA] authorized the grant of special immigrant status—that is, permanent residency—to G–4 aliens who have been in the United States for 15 years. This provision in IRCA, however, sunsets at the end of this year.

H.R. 5555 simply deletes the sunset, thereby making the adjustment of status program available to those G–4 aliens who meet the residency requirements and file a petition for benefits in 1993 or beyond. This provision has broad bipartisan support and is strongly endorsed by the administration.

Mr. Speaker, my friend and colleague, the gentleman from New York has done an outstanding job in crafting this legislation. He has analyzed the issues, held discussions with all the interested parties, come up with solutions that have received bipartisan support of all members of the committee. I commend him on a job well done.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote for this meritorious bill.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I just neglected to mention, the gentleman was not from Louisiana. The subcommittee chairman was the gentleman from Kentucky [Mr. MAZZOLI], and I have corrected that in the RECORD.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. McDERMOTT). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New York [Mr. SCHUMER] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5555, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks, and include therein extraneous material, on H.R. 5555, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION ACT OF 1936 AMENDMENT

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5954) to amend the Rural Electrification Act of 1936 to clarify the status of the rural telephone bank and its accounting policies, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5954

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. FINDINGS AND REAFFIRMATION OF POLICY.

The Congress finds that the Rural Telephone Bank (hereafter in this Act referred to as "the Bank") continues to be an essential source of supplemental financing for rural telephone systems. The Congress finds that the Bank is in fact a mixed-ownership government corporation containing a substantial amount of private capital and further finds that the bank shall maintain its books and accounts in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles separate and apart from those of the Federal Government in a manner that preserves the integrity of the bank as a corporate entity and protects the investment in the bank of the Federal Government and private stockholders.

SEC. 2. INTEREST RATES.

(a) CALCULATION OF INTEREST RATES.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a single interest rate on loans advanced or disbursed by the Rural Telephone Bank after September 30, 1992, shall be set at the bank's cost of money rate as defined in section 408(b)(3) of the Rural Electrification Act of 1936 (7 U.S.C. 948(b)(3)) and calculated in accordance with such paragraph and the factors enumerated therein, in the same manner as such calculations were made prior to October 1, 1991 and as if new advances in disbursements by the telephone bank were made from a single account such as existed prior to October 1, 1991.

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—To the extent provided for in advance in appropriations acts, the Governor of the Rural Telephone Bank shall modify the interest rate on loans advanced or disbursed during fiscal year 1992 to the interest rate provided for in subsection (a) had it been in effect during fiscal year 1992.

SEC. 3. TELEPHONE BANK COLLECTIONS; AVAILABILITY FOR OBLIGATIONS AND EXPENDITURES; BOOKS AND RECORDS.

Section 409 of the Rural Electrification Act of 1936 (7 U.S.C. 931-940d) is amended to read as follows:

"TELEPHONE BANK COLLECTIONS; AVAILABILITY FOR OBLIGATIONS AND EXPENDITURES; BOOKS AND RECORDS

"SEC. 409. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, until the retirement of all class A stock, all moneys of the telephone bank shall remain on deposit in the Treasury for the account of the Rural Telephone Bank. All such moneys in excess of current requirements shall earn interest at a rate equivalent to the interest rate charged by Treasury to the financing account of the telephone bank.

"(b) The telephone bank shall maintain its books and records in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and shall create such internal program accounts or subaccounts as necessary to identify the subsidy costs to the Federal Government associated with loans made after September 30, 1991, and for the purpose of allocating funds appropriated to the telephone bank to offset such costs.

"(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, all assets of the Rural Telephone Bank as they existed on the books and records of the telephone bank as of September 30, 1991, together with assets acquired after such date by the telephone bank, including all cash, collections of principal and interest on loans and other assets, or any portion thereof, whether in the liquidating or financing account of the telephone bank, shall not be transferred to the general fund of the Treasury but shall remain as assets of the telephone bank and be accounted for thereafter in the same manner as such assets were accounted for on September 30, 1991.

"(d) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, all liabilities of the Rural Telephone Bank as they existed on the books and records of the telephone bank as of September 30, 1991, together with liabilities incurred after such date by the telephone bank under this title, including notes, debentures, or other evidences of indebtedness issued by the telephone bank under this title, whether in the liquidity or financing account of the telephone bank, shall remain as liabilities of the telephone bank, and be accounted for thereafter in the same manner as such liabilities were accounted for on September 30, 1991, until satisfied in accordance with their terms.

"(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, all shares of capital stock of the Rural Telephone Bank as they existed on the books and records of the telephone bank as of September 30, 1991, together with shares of capital stock issued by the telephone bank after such date, shall not be liquidated or retired except in accordance with the provisions of this title, whether in the liquidating or financing account of the telephone bank, but shall remain as capital stock of the telephone bank and be accounted for thereafter in the same manner as such capital stock was accounted for on September 30, 1991, until retirement or liquidation under this title."

SEC. 4. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This Act takes effect on October 1, 1992, or the date of the enactment of this Act, whichever is later.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ENGLISH] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from California [Mr. HERGER] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ENGLISH].

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 5954 would amend the Rural Electrification Act of 1936 in order to clarify the status of the rural telephone bank and the application of the Federal Credit Reform Act to the bank. This legislation is essential in maintaining the status quo for the rural telephone bank in order for rural Americans to have up-to-date telecommunications facilities at reasonable rates.

Let me explain further—the Federal Credit Reform Act was part of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 and was designed to measure more accurately the costs of Federal credit programs; place the cost of credit programs on a budgetary basis equivalent to other Federal spending; and improve the allocation of resources among credit programs and between credit and other spending programs. Under this bill, there are no objections with these legitimate objectives. The objections arise is the misapplication of Federal Credit Reform to the rural telephone bank by REA and, ultimately, the Office of Management and Budget.

The rural telephone bank was created by Congress in 1971 as an instrumentality of the United States:

> To furnish assured and viable sources of supplementary financing with the objective that the Bank will become an entirely privately owned, operated, and financed corporation.

The ultimate beneficiary of the rural telephone bank is the rural consumer in reasonable rates and up-to-date telecommunications facilities. The RTB was structured as a unique Federal institution to ensure an affordable credit source always remained available to rural Americans seeking to improve and update their telecommunications services. The bank is a mixed ownership Government corporation with three classes of stock owned by the Federal Government, class A stock; private borrowers, class B stock; and other corporations and public bodies, class C stock. Under the law, the bank will begin to redeem and retire class A stock—that stock owned by the Federal Government—as soon as practicable after September 30, 1995, in order to privatize. This bank is working exactly as intended and has greatly benefited rural Americans.

However, because of the unique nature of the rural telephone bank in the fact that it is a mixed Government ownership corporation containing a substantial amount of private capital with private stockholders and the fact that it was designed to have low-cost embedded capital in order to provide low-interest loans to rural telephone companies, special care is due when the Federal Credit Reform Act is being applied to the rural telephone bank.

H.R. 5237, the Rural Electrification Administration Improvement Act of 1992, which passed the House of Representatives on August 5, included a provision to remedy the problems associated with the application of credit reform to the rural telephone bank when it was introduced. During mark-up in the Agriculture Committee, this provision was removed at the request of the Budget Committee due to their interest in working out the problems regarding the application of credit reform to the rural telephone bank. Those negotiations were pursued by the Budget Committee and ultimately the Budget Committee was not satisfied with the result. In other words, without this legislation the Office of Management and Budget and the Rural Electrification Administration would be allowed to continue down its course of misapplying credit reform for philosophical and political reasons and to the detriment of rural America.

Without a legislative remedy, OMB and the rural telephone bank would misapply Federal Credit Reform Act and the following would take place:

First, the interest rate would increase at least 3 percentage points according to testimony by REA;

Second, the entire bank would be swept into the general fund of the Treasury raising constitutional problems under the fifth amendment takings clause;

Third, the private stock held by private stockholders would be lost to the Treasury or completely devalued;

Fourth, REA would establish a dual interest rate structure—one for new loans and another for previously advanced loans; and

Fifth, the embedded capital and repayments of principal and interest would be walled off from the bank preventing it from continuing to make loans at its costs of money as is mandated by the RE Act.

This is all according to the Administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration and is included in a letter to me dated September 17, 1992.

The committee does not believe that it was the intent of Congress to dismantle the RTB when the Federal Credit Reform Act was passed. In fact, FCRA was not intended to make any substantive changes in any Federal credit program. Our colleagues in the Senate are concerned with this same issue and have cosigned a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan, protesting OMB's interpretation of the FCRA as it is being applied to the bank. The letter states that they are prepared to seek a legislative remedy to the situation as well.

COMMITTEE INTENT

The committee intends by this bill to preserve the status quo of the rural telephone bank as it existed on September 30, 1991. The legislation is intended to preserve the bank's single interest rate formula as defined in section 408(b)(3). The committee also intends that the bank's embedded low-cost capital structure be preserved. The legislation requires that the bank's assets, liabilities, and equity be maintained in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. It is also the legislation's intent that unobligated balances of the RTB should not be transferred to the Treasury or the general fund but shall remain as assets of the bank. REA and the bank were instructed accordingly in the conference report accompanying the bill, H.R. 2698, the bill making appropriations for Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration and related agencies' programs for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1992. The committee agrees with that instruction. In addition, the bank is audited pursuant to the Government Corporation Control Act by the General Accounting Office. The bank's outside accounting auditors should continue to satisfy themselves that the bank's accounting practices meet the standards enumerated in this legislation in order to protect the investment in the bank of the Federal Government and private stockholders.

Therefore, the Agriculture Committee and the Budget Committee have worked out legislative language which is being offered today. This legislation will correct the problems associated with the misapplication of credit reform to the bank. I ask my colleagues to support H.R. 5954.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. HERGER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5954 and urge its adoption by the House.

Although the credit reform legislation we adopted in the 1990 budget act was essentially sound law, it has had at least one unintended consequence that we must correct today. That is the eventual liquidation of the rural telephone bank, a quasi-government lending institution operated with the Rural Electrification Administration. Companion legislation is moving in the other body, and I believe that we can enact this necessary legislation prior to adjournment.

Unfortunately, the RTB is being treated as if it were a Federal revolving loan fund when in fact it is substantially owned by private entities and will be fully privatized in the future. To maintain the viability of the bank, the Congress must adopt this legislation today.

It will maintain the capital structure of the rural telephone bank as the Congress intends and require that all future loan payments will be available for future bank lending activities. It also will prohibit the sweeping of any cash that may not be needed in any funding cycle.

I should point out to my colleagues that the bill does not change any of the reformed accounting procedures established by credit reform. It merely retains the status quo of the bank; all interest rate subsidies will be fully accounted for and funded in annual appropriations acts.

Mr. Speaker, I urge adoption of H.R. 5954.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ENGLISH] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5954, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include therein extraneous material on H.R. 5954, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma?

There was no objection.

ED JENKINS NATIONAL RECREATION AREA

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 6000) to redesignate Springer Mountain National Recreation Area as "Ed Jenkins National Recreation Area."

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 6000

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. REDESIGNATION.

Springer Mountain National Recreation Area in the Chattahoochee National Forest, in the State of Georgia, is hereby redesignated as "Ed Jenkins National Recreation Area."

SEC. 2. LEGAL REFERENCES.

Any reference in any law, regulation, document, record, map, or other paper of the United States to Springer Mountain Recreation Area is deemed to be a reference to Ed Jenkins National Recreation Area.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ENGLISH] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Wyoming [Mr. THOMAS] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ENGLISH].

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the Agriculture Committee recommends the passage of H.R. 6000, to rename Springer Mountain National Recreation Area in Georgia as the Ed Jenkins National Recreation Area.

It gives me great pleasure to rise today and ask the House to honor one of its most distinguished Members. As you know, ED JENKINS will be leaving us this year after 16 years of splendid service to the Ninth District of Georgia and to the U.S. House of Representatives.

ED was first elected to Congress in 1976. He was one of only four freshmen chosen to serve on the Ways and Means Committee and the Trade Subcommittee where he continues to work. In that capacity he has served as a designated official adviser to U.S. delegations to all international conferences relating to trade agreements. He also serves on the Oversight Subcommittee of Ways and Means.

He served three 2-year terms on the House Budget Committee. And during 1987, he was the only noncommittee chairman selected by the Speaker to serve on the Select Committee To Investigate Covert Arms Transactions With Iran.

In leadership roles, ED has served as codean of the Georgia delegation since 1985; as textile caucus chairman for three terms; as at-large whip for three Congresses; and as Democratic caucus cochair of the task force on international competitiveness.

Mr. Speaker, ED has earned a reputation in Congress as a negotiator; working behind the scenes to effect compromises on major pieces of legislation. His legislative priorities have been on tax and trade issues, pushing for equitable tax treatment and fair tariff protection for the textile industry so important to his native Georgia.

ED has also worked diligently to leave the legacy of the north Georgia mountains to the Ninth District and to the Nation. From 1984 to 1991, ED successfully sponsored bills to provide special protection for nearly 90,000 acres in the Chattahoochee National Forest in north Georgia.

A measure sponsored by Mr. JENKINS and enacted last year included the designation of the Springer Mountain National Recreation Area. The area's diversified natural attractions offer multirecreational uses from wilderness hiking, hunting, and fishing to developed campgrounds and programs. Adjoining State-managed park lands feature lodges and staff offering interpretative botanical, wildlife, and historical programs.

The bill before us today, H.R. 6000, will appropriately rename Springer Mountain National Recreation Area as the Ed Jenkins National Recreation Area. It was passed unanimously from the full committee last week.

I cannot think of anyone more deserving of public recognition than my colleague from Georgia, the man who made the recreation area possible through his own dedication to the protection of Georgia's natural resources.

For ED's 16 years of service in the Congress and his tireless efforts to preserve the natural beauty that is the Chattahoochee National Forest, I recommend that the House suspend the rules and pass H.R. 6000.

Mr. THOMAS of Wyoming. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the Chair will be delighted to know that I do not intend to use the 20 minutes the Chair has granted, but I do rise to say that we on this side support the redesignation of the Springer Mountain National Recreation Area, and think no one is more deserving of this rededication than ED JENKINS.

I urge the House to adopt H.R. 6000.

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to our colleague, the gentleman from Georgia [Mr. DARDEN].

Mr. DARDEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 6000, a bill designating the Ed Jenkins National Recreation Area.

Mr. Speaker, a number of years ago President Truman said, "If you want a friend in Washington, you better buy a dog."

Those of us who are in Washington and who come here frequently and go back to our districts over the weekend unfortunately do not make as many friends as we would like, because we are so busy doing our duties and being here in Congress, working and sometimes competing so much with our colleagues to get our jobs done; however, I have been fortunate, as well as many other Members of the House of Representatives have been fortunate, in having a true friend here, and that, of course, is ED JENKINS.

So I am pleased today to join in this tribute to him to designate this very beautiful forest area in his name and in his honor.

I feel like so many people in this House, a sense of great loss that ED is leaving us, but we know that he will remain our friend and he will remain available to us with his wise council and advice.

Mr. Speaker, this House of Representatives could pay a no more fitting tribute to ED JENKINS than the action which we take today. In 1991, Congressman JENKINS introduced his third bill to protect the natural resources of the north Georgia mountains, the Chattahoochee National Forest Protection Act. When this measure became law last year, it created the very valuable and scenic recreation area at Springer Mountain which we designate in his honor today.

The north Georgia mountains have been home to ED JENKINS all his life. He was educated in north Georgia. His family's roots are in north Georgia. He has represented the people of north Georgia in these mountains in the House of Representatives with great distinction and integrity. It is especially appropriate that his wise and progressive leadership be symbolized by the preservation of this majestic piece of Georgia landscape now called Springer Mountain.

Mr. Speaker, I commend the gentleman from Oklahoma for bringing this measure to the floor today, and wish our good friend, ED JENKINS, his wife, Jo, and all his family success in all their future endeavors.

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I yield as much time as he may consume to the gentleman from Georgia [Mr. LEWIS].

Mr. LEWIS of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman from Oklahoma for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to rise in support of H.R. 6000.

□ 1540

Mr. Speaker, this bill would rename Springer Mountain National Recreation Area in Georgia as the Ed Jenkins Recreation Area. It is fitting and appropriate that this area be named after the gentleman from Georgia [Mr. JENKINS] because he has worked tirelessly to protect our beautiful land in this great State of Georgia.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Georgia [Mr. JENKINS] will be leaving the Congress. He has been a real friend, and I cannot and will not forget his friendship. He will be missed from Congress for he is known for his power of persuasion, he zeal for fairness, his understanding of our diverse communities, and his ability to work behind the scenes to build consensus on the big issues.

Mr. Speaker, when the gentleman from Georgia [Mr. JENKINS] leaves Congress, he will leave a legacy of one who has worked hard, listened well, and made a difference. He is known for his trade and tax expertise, but he is also a man of conscience who has supported fairness and justice for people in this country and around the world.

ED JENKINS comes from the Appalachian Mountain district of Georgia. I know him and I know his district. He understands how important it is to leave this world a little cleaner and a little greener for unborn generations.

I support H.R. 6000 because the mountains of Georgia have always meant so much to ED JENKINS. This bill is a meaningful and beautiful way to thank him for all of his good work.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ENGLISH] for having yielded this time to me.

Mr. THOMAS of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I was pleased to be an original cosponsor of H.R. 6000, a bill which will redesignate Springer Mountain National Recreation Area in north Georgia as the Ed Jenkins National Recreation Area. This legislation was passed by the House on September 29 by voice vote.

This is a well-deserved honor for ED after his 16 years of outstanding service to the people of the Ninth Congressional District of Georgia.

Many Members of the House will remember ED for his distinguished work on the Committee on Ways and Means and the Committee's Trade Subcommittee. He has consistently been a champion for tax relief for middle- and lower-class taxpayers and the small businessowner.

Additionally, he has served as an important adviser to U.S. delegations to all international conferences, meetings, and negotiation sessions relating to trade agreements.

ED's focus in the House, however, has not solely been on fiscal matters. He has taken an active interest in preserving the scenic mountain areas in his district so that present and future generations can enjoy them. The Ninth District Congressman has passed three bills through Congress that protect close to 9,000 acres of the Chattahoochee National Forest.

In 1991, one of ED's bills created the Springer Mountain National Recreation Area. This tract of 23,330 acres offers multirecreational uses including wilderness hiking, hunting, fishing, and campground areas.

As a tribute to ED for the legacy of good works that he leaves behind for the people of the Ninth District of Georgia, I am an enthusiastic supporter of renaming the Springer Mountain National Recreation Area as the Ed Jenkins National Recreation Area.

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. THOMAS of Wyoming. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. DARDEN). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ENGLISH] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6000.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended, and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 6000, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma?

There was no objection.

DESIGNATING CERTAIN LAND AS PART OF MARK TWAIN NATIONAL FOREST

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 6014) to designate certain land in the State of Missouri owned by the United States and administered by the Secretary of Agriculture as part of the Mark Twain National Forest.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 6014

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. The boundary of the Mark Twain National Forest in the State of Missouri is modified to include all lands in Boone and Callaway Counties within the Cedar Creek Purchase Unit as generally depicted on a map entitled "Mark Twain National Forest Addition, June 1992" which map is on file and available for public inspection in the Office of the Chief, Forest Service, Washington, District of Columbia.

SEC. 2. All lands now or hereafter owned by the United States and administered by the Secretary of Agriculture within the Cedar Creek Purchase Unit, which by this Act are made a part of the Mark Twain National Forest in Missouri, shall be subject to the Weeks Act of March 1, 1911 (36 Stat. 961) as amended, and to all laws, rules, and regulations applicable to the National Forest System.

SEC. 3. The lands added to the Mark Twain National Forest by this Act shall be administered by the Secretary of Agriculture as the Cedar Creek Ranger District: Provided, That nothing in this section shall limit the authorities of the Secretary under section 11 of the Weeks Act (16 U.S.C. 521) to modify administration of this area at any time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ENGLISH] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Wyoming [Mr. THOMAS] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ENGLISH].

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Agriculture recommends the passage of H.R. 6014, a bill to designate certain federally owned land in the State of Missouri as part of the Mark Twain National Forest.

Specifically, the bill will modify the boundary of the Mark Twain National Forest to include an area known as the Cedar Creek purchase unit, which is located in Boone and Callaway Counties, MO. The unit is currently managed by the Forest Service as though it was a part of the Mark Twain, although it is outside the exterior boundaries of the national forest.

The purpose of H.R. 6014 is simply to adjust the forest boundary to include the purchase unit, thus improving administrative efficiency for the Forest Service.

This bill was introduced by Representative HAROLD VOLKMER of Missouri after consultation with the Forest Service and local citizens. The boundary adjustment is supported by commissioners in both affected counties, local public schools, the Conservation Federal of Missouri, and the Cedar Creek Grazing Association.

The Agriculture Committee approved the bill last week by voice vote, with no objections, and I urge the house to suspend the rules and pass H.R. 6014.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. THOMAS of Wyoming. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 6014.

This legislation will designate certain lands in the State of Missouri owned by the U.S. Government as part of the Mark Twain National Forest. The boundary of the Mark Twain National Forest would be modified to include all lands in Callaway and Boone Counties within the Cedar Creek purchase unit. These lands would become part of the National Forest System lands.

I urge the House to adopt this legislation.

Mr. VOLKMER. Mr. Speaker, I urge the House to approve H.R. 6014 today. This measure will simplify administration of the Mark Twain National Forest in Missouri and provide equity for Boone and Callaway Counties in the distribution of receipts brought in by the Forest Service.

The area that is the subject of this bill consists of certain lands in Boone and Callaway Counties, MO, known as the Cedar Creek purchase unit. The unit has been administrated by the Department of Agriculture's Forest Service since 1973 as though it were a part of the Mark Twain National Forest.

The unit is currently outside the exterior boundaries of the Mark Twain National Forest, and the purpose of H.R. 6014 is simply to adjust the forest boundary to include the purchase unit. The bill would place the Federal lands within the unit under the same set of laws and regulations that applies to the other national forest lands in the State.

In addition to increased administrative efficiency for the Forest Service, this boundary modification will enable the two counties to receive an equitable share of the payments provided to the State of Missouri out of national forest receipts collected in the State.

I have discussed this matter with the Forest Service at both the local level and the Washington Office, and they concur that this boundary adjustment is logical. According to the Chief of the Forest Service, the change would enhance the opportunities for recreation, grazing, and other current uses, and overall enjoyment of the area.

I have also communicated with local individuals and organizations in Missouri who are united in their support for the change. County commissioners representing both Boone and Callaway Counties, the Fulton Public Schools, the Cedar Creek Grazing Association, and the Conservation Federation of Missouri all support this action.

Mr. THOMAS of Wyoming. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I, too, have no requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ENGLISH] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6014.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof), the rules were suspended, and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 6014, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma?

There was no objection.

CEDAR RIVER WATERSHED LAND EXCHANGE ACT OF 1992

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5605) to authorize and direct land ownership consolidation in the Cedar River Watershed, Mount Baker-Snoqualmie National Forest, WA, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5605

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Cedar River Watershed Land Exchange Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. CEDAR RIVER WATERSHED, WASHINGTON.

(a) IN GENERAL.—If the city of Seattle, Washington, agrees to convey lands to the United States in accordance with this section, the Secretary of Agriculture, in exchange for such lands, shall agree to convey to the City the Federal exchange lands.

(b) EXCHANGE FOR CITY LANDS.—

(1) APPRAISAL OF FEDERAL LANDS.—Not later than nine months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Federal exchange lands shall be appraised and the results of the appraisal transmitted to the Secretary and the City.

(2) OFFER OF CITY LANDS AND APPRAISAL.—

(A) CANDIDATE CITY LANDS.—Within 60 days after the receipt of the appraisal under paragraph (1), the City shall submit to the Secretary a list of candidate lands for conveyance to the United States under this section. Such candidate lands shall be selected by the City from the City lands.

(B) ACCEPTABLE CITY LANDS.—Not later than three months after receipt of the list of candidate lands under subparagraph (A), the Secretary shall determine, in the discretion of the Secretary, which of the candidate City lands to accept. Such lands acceptable to the Secretary shall be appraised within 90 days after such determination and the results of the appraisal transmitted to both the Secretary and the City. The Secretary shall accept lands included on such list unless the lands are not valuable for purposes of the National Forest System, including management as contiguous units with other National Forest System lands.

(3) CONSUMMATION OF EXCHANGE OF INITIAL PARCELS.—Not later than two years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transfer to the City parcels of the Federal exchange lands with a total value approximately equal to the value of the City lands the Secretary determines acceptable under paragraph (2). The Secretary may also accept money to equalize the value of the lands involved in the exchange, subject to subsection (f)(2).

(c) EQUALIZATION FOR REMAINING FEDERAL EXCHANGE LANDS.—If the value of the City lands conveyed and money accepted under subsection (b) is not equal to the value of all of the Federal exchange lands, the following provisions shall apply:

(1) WAIVER BY THE CITY.—In the event the value of the City lands conveyed under subsection (b) is greater than the value of all of the Federal exchange lands, any cash equalization which might otherwise be owed to the City by the United States shall be waived.

(2) IDENTIFICATION OF EQUALIZATION LANDS AND MONEY BY THE CITY.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—In the event the value of the City lands conveyed and money accepted under subsection (b) is less than the value of all of the Federal exchange lands, the City shall, within five years after the date of initial consummation of the exchange under subsection (b), submit to the Secretary a list of lands, an amount of money, or a combination thereof which has in the aggregate a value equal to the difference in value between the City lands exchanged under subsection (b) and the value of all of the Federal exchange lands.

(B) FOREST LANDS.—Any lands included on the list pursuant to subparagraph (A) shall consist only of a tract or tracts of land within or adjacent to national forests in the State of Washington which have been—

(i) mutually identified by the Secretary and the City in advance of their inclusion on the list as acceptable to the Secretary for transfer to the United States;

(ii) appraised in accordance with this section within 90 days after their identification under clause (i); and

(iii) acquired or will be acquired by the City from a willing seller or sellers.

(3) COMPLETION OF EXCHANGE.—Not later than the end of the five-year period specified in paragraph (2)(A), the Secretary shall convey to the City the remaining Federal exchange lands in exchange for the conveyance by the City to the Secretary of lands and money acceptable to the Secretary for transfer to the United States pursuant to paragraph (2).

(d) APPRAISALS.—

(1) FINDING.—The Congress finds that use restrictions on the Cedar River Watershed imposed by Public Law 97-350 (96 Stat. 1661) coupled with the uncertainties surrounding the status of the lands as habitat for the northern spotted owl currently make appraisal of such lands difficult or unfeasible absent specific guidance from Congress.

(2) APPRAISAL ASSUMPTIONS.—(A) Except as otherwise provided by this subsection, lands to be exchanged pursuant to this section shall be appraised by an appraiser mutually acceptable to the City and the United States in accordance with the Uniform Appraisal Standards for Federal Land Acquisitions and section 206(d) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1716(d)).

(B) Federal exchange lands shall be appraised for the purposes of this section in a manner that reflects the deed restrictions imposed on the lands by subsection (e) and other applicable laws, rules, and regulations. Both Federal exchange lands and City lands located within Critical Habitat Units for the northern spotted owl (as identified by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, January 1992) shall be appraised as if subject to the deed restrictions under subsection (e).

(3) COSTS.—All costs of the appraisals shall be borne by the City.

(4) REQUIREMENT LIMITATION.—After an appraisal of lands for the purposes of this Act is accepted by both the Secretary and the City, such lands may not be appraised again for the purposes of this Act during the seven year period beginning on the date of enactment of this Act.

(e) DEED RESTRICTIONS.—The patent or other instrument of conveyance issued to the City for the Federal exchange lands conveyed under this section shall be restricted to provide the following prohibitions:

(1) The disposal of the lands or harvest of late-successional or old-growth timber, except for any timber sale or salvage sale approved before October 1, 1992, shall be prohibited.

(2) The disposal of land or harvest of timber and the construction of roads, structures, or other developed facilities on any such lands within the area identified as Critical Habitat Unit WA-33 (as identified by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, January 1992), shall be prohibited except for routine maintenance of existings roads, trails, and drainage structures, and except as necessary to meet minimum requirements for the administration of the area to protect water quality or public health and safety, to maintain existing roads and trails, to help protect biological diversity or threatened or endangered species, or to regenerate old-growth forest ecosystems in second growth areas.

(f) OTHER GENERAL PROVISIONS CONCERNING EXCHANGE.—

(1) LANDS WITH SENSITIVE ENVIRONMENTAL VALUES.—The Secretary may not reject lands suggested for conveyance by the City under this section solely on the basis that such lands contain sensitive environmental values (including but not limited to old-growth forest or threatened or endangered species habitat).

(2) LIMITATION ON AMOUNT OF MONETARY PAYMENT.—In carrying out the exchange of lands under this section, the amount of money paid to the United States under this section may not exceed 25 percent of the total value of the Federal exchange lands.

(3) SISK ACT.—Any money received by the United States pursuant to this section shall be considered money received and deposited pursuant to the Act of December 4, 1967, as amended (Public Law 90-171, 16 U.S.C. 484a, commonly known as the "Sisk Act").

(4) SPECIAL RULE.—Determinations made by the Secretary in carrying out this section shall not be considered as decisionmaking.

(g) INCLUSION OF LANDS IN APPROPRIATE SYSTEM OR UNIT.—Lands acquired by the United States pursuant to this section shall be added to and become a part of the National Forest System or, as appropriate, such other system or area within which such lands are located and shall be administered as part of such System, unit, or area as provided by section 206(c) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1716(c)). If any such lands lie outside the exterior boundaries of a national forest, the Secretary is hereby authorized and directed to modify the exterior boundaries of such forest to include such lands.

(h) INTERIM MANAGEMENT.—In order to protect the quality of drinking water and other values in the Cedar River Watershed during the period before the land exchange authorized and required by this section is completed, the Secretary of Agriculture shall manage the National Forest System lands within the hydrographic boundaries of the watershed to—

(1) prohibit public access to the watershed, except to—

(A) allow access only for the discharge of official duties related to the management of the Mt. Baker-Snoqualmie National Forest by Federal employees, holders of Forest Service contracts, and agents of the Forest Service; and

(B) allow access by officials of the City of Seattle and others authorized by the City; and

(2) maintain or improve existing characteristics of the watershed, including prohibiting the harvest of late-successional or old-growth timber, except for any timber sale or salvage sale approved before October 1, 1992.

(i) DEFINITIONS.—For the purposes of this section:

(1) CITY.—The term "City" means the city of Seattle, Washington.

(2) CITY LANDS.—The term "City lands" means approximately 17,587 acres of lands eligible to be conveyed by the City under this section, as generally described in "Cedar River Land Exchange: City of Seattle Water Department Offered Lands", dated September 1, 1992.

(3) EQUALIZATION LANDS.—The term "equalization lands" means any lands conveyed to the United States under subsection (c)(2) for the purpose of equalizing the difference in value between the City lands accepted by the Secretary under subsection (b) and the Federal exchange lands.

(4) FEDERAL EXCHANGE LANDS.—The term "Federal exchange lands" means the approximately 16,963 acres of lands owned by the United States located in the Cedar River Watershed in King County, Washington, as generally depicted on a map entitled "Cedar River Exchange-Forest Service Selected Lands" dated September 1, 1992.

(5) SECRETARY.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Agriculture.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ENGLISH] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Wyoming [Mr. THOMAS] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ENGLISH].

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5605, as amended, and urge my colleagues to support its passage.

H.R. 5605, the Cedar River Watershed Land Exchange Act of 1992, provides for the transfer of forest lands in the Cedar River watershed of the Mount Baker-Snoqualmie National Forest in Washington State, to the city of Seattle. In return, the city is to provide the Secretary of Agriculture with lands of equal value and, if necessary, such funds as may be required to equalize the value of the lands so exchanged.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation is necessary to finally complete efforts to implement an agreement between the city of Seattle and the U.S. Forest Service which was consummated in 1962.

That agreement provided that the objective of the city is to obtain complete ownership and control of the Cedar River watershed, "so as to insure in perpetuity its management of the water and forest resources." In return, the Forest Service stated that its "ultimate objective within the—watershed—is to exchange national forest lands therein to the city in order thereby to consolidate national forest holdings elsewhere".

Despite efforts during the last three decades to consummate the exchanges provided by this agreement, only a portion of the 16,963 acres the city seeks to acquire from the Forest Service has been exchanged.

The city currently owns 81 percent of the lands in the Cedar River watershed. Given the importance of these lands for maintaining the purity of the drinking water which comes from these lands, it is anxious to obtain the remaining lands currently administered by the Forest Service.

H.R. 5605 would facilitate this exchange, but would do so in a manner that protects the interests of both the city and the Federal Government. Federal lands would be transferred to the city only to the extent that the city and the Forest Service are able to agree on candidate lands that the city offers the Forest Service for exchange. An initial list of lands, previously acquired by the city for this purpose with the concurrence of Forest Service officials, will serve as the first source of exchange lands. Should the value of these tracts not be sufficient to equalize the value of the Federal exchange lands, then, by mutual agreement, additional tracts of land would subsequently be identified by the city and exchanged with the Forest Service until land values have been equalized. If necessary in carrying out these exchanges, the city may pay up to 25 percent of the total value of the Federal exchange lands.

Mr. Speaker, I want to commend our colleague, Mr. MCDERMOTT, the city of Seattle, and the Forest Service for their efforts in developing this legislation. I also want to thank the chairman of the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, Mr. MILLER, and Interior Subcommittee Chairman VENTO for their help in expediting consideration of this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I urge the Members to support passage of H.R. 5605, as amended.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. THOMAS of Wyoming. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5605.

This legislation would direct the Forest Service to exchange lands with the city of Seattle; which has been working with the Forest Service for several decades to consolidate ownership in the Cedar River watershed. The city of Seattle owns all but 17,000 acres within the watershed and would exchange lands of equal value elsewhere to complete the exchange and direct ownership to the city.

The Cedar River watershed provides the primary source of water to more than 1.2 million residents in the Greater Seattle metropolitan area and its standard of quality would be maintained through this exchange. Anything less than this total ownership for the city may imperil the quality of water delivered to the residents and require an exorbitant expenditure to construct treatment facilities. H.R. 5605 would provide the necessary protection of the Cedar River watershed and ensure continuing water quality to the Seattle metropolitan area.

Mr. Speaker, I urge that the House adopt H.R. 5605.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Washington [Mr. MCDERMOTT].

Mr. MCDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, the Cedar River watershed provides pristine, unfiltered drinking water from the western slopes of the Cascade Mountains to nearly one-quarter of Washington State's residents. For nearly a century, the city of Seattle has worked to obtain complete ownership of the Cedar River watershed. As a result of this effort, the city owns 81 percent of the watershed, with the U.S. Forest Service owning the remaining few parcels of land. H.R. 5605, the Cedar River Watershed Land Exchange Act of 1992, directs a process of land exchange at fair market value between the Forest Service and the city of Seattle that will result in complete ownership by the city.

The 1.2 million residents of King County, WA, who draw their drinking water from the Cedar River support Seattle's determination to control the watershed. At stake in the city's efforts to own the watershed is the risk of having to construct water treatment facilities that cost hundreds of millions of dollars. EPA regulations acknowledge the importance of the relationship between ownership of a watershed and the ability to control water quality. As the steward of the watershed, H.R. 5605 gives the city of Seattle the complete control it needs to exercise its responsibility to maintain water quality on behalf of local residents.

In exchange, the Forest Service will receive valuable lands that are more suitable for purposes of the National Forest System. Each parcel offered by the city of Seattle was purchased with the knowledge and concurrence of the U.S. Forest Service and in accordance with a cooperative agreement signed by the city and the Forest Service in 1962. The city's offered lands possess important recreational, wildlife, fisheries, watershed, wilderness, and resource extraction values desirable for acquisition by the United States. It should be noted that H.R. 5605 requires the Forest Service to accept only the lands that it desires, despite previous documented interest from the Forest Service in all parcels offered by the city.

I want to emphasize my belief that this bill provides the lasting benefits to the city of Seattle, and the general public, and in the protection of our natural resources. The Federal lands in the Cedar River watershed are individual parcels separated from each other and isolated from the National Forest System. The Nation benefits little from being minority owners of scattered parcels of lands in a watershed that will be off limits to all uses other than the protection of water quality for the city of Seattle. This bill simplifies management of the lands by establishing a single owner, gives Seattle the control it needs to maintain water quality, and offers the Nation substitute lands that meet the Forest Service's mandate to accommodate all potential uses of our natural resources.

In closing, I would like to point out to my colleagues that the history of Seattle's pursuit for ownership of its watershed is itself without precedent anywhere in the country. The city owns 81 percent of the watershed; it has purchased 17,500 acres of land, with Forest Service approval, to exchange with the Forest Service; it has negotiated an agreement with the Forest Service to accomplish this goal; and it has previously received encouragement from the Congress to follow this path.

I want to recognize and thank Representatives DE LA GARZA and VOLKMER, and their respective staffs for their efforts on behalf of this legislation. I urge my colleagues to support this bill and yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5605 and commend Chairman VOLKMER and Mr. MCDERMOTT for their work on this bill which was jointly referred to the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs and the Committee on Agriculture.

Originally, I had some concerns about this legislation. These concerns have been addressed in the language before us today. The bill now requires that the exchange between the Forest Service and the city of Seattle be an equal value exchange and that the lands involved be formally appraised using the uniform appraisal standards that are based on current law. Furthermore, the new language now requires that lands going into the National Forest System be worthy additions appropriate for national forest status and that the Forest Service be consulted and have final determination on which lands these should be.

Because of these improvements in the bill, I can now urge my colleagues to support the bill, as amended.

□ 1550

Mr. THOMAS of Wyoming. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. DARDEN). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ENGLISH] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5605, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks, and include therein extraneous material, on H.R. 5605.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma?

There was no objection.

INTERNATIONAL NARCOTICS CONTROL ACT OF 1992

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 6018) to amend the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 with respect to international narcotics control programs and activities, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 6018

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "International Narcotics Control Act of 1992".

SEC. 3. AUTHORIZATIONS OF APPROPRIATIONS.

Section 482(a)(1) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 is amended by striking out "$115,000,000 for fiscal year 1990" and inserting in lieu thereof "$171,500,000 for fiscal year 1993, $171,500,000 for fiscal year 1994, and $171,500,000 for fiscal year 1995".

SEC. 4. AMENDMENTS RELATING TO CERTAIN AUTHORITIES AND REQUIREMENTS.

(a) POLICY STATEMENT.—Section 481 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 is amended by striking out the section designation and section heading and subsection (a)(1) and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"SEC. 481. POLICY, GENERAL AUTHORITIES, COORDINATION, FOREIGN POLICE ACTIONS, DEFINITIONS, AND OTHER PROVISIONS.

"(a) POLICY AND GENERAL AUTHORITIES.—

"(1) STATEMENTS OF POLICY.—(A) International narcotics trafficking poses an unparalleled transnational threat in today's world, and its suppression is among the most important foreign policy objectives of the United States.

"(B) Under the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs, 1961, and under the United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, the parties are required to criminalize certain drug-related activities, provide appropriately severe penalties, and cooperate in the extradition of accused offenders.

"(C) International narcotics control programs should include, as priority goals, the suppression of the illicit manufacture of and trafficking in narcotic and psychotropic drugs, money laundering, and precursor chemical diversion, and the progressive elimination of the illicit cultivation of the crops from which narcotic and psychotropic drugs are derived.

"(D) The international community should provide assistance, where appropriate, to those producer and transit countries which require assistance in discharging these primary obligations.

"(E) The objective of the United States in dealing with the problem of international money laundering is to ensure that countries adopt comprehensive domestic measures against money laundering and cooperate with each other in narcotics money laundering investigations, prosecutions, and related forfeiture actions.

"(F) Effective international cooperation is necessary to control the illicit cultivation, production, and smuggling of, trafficking in, and abuse of narcotic and psychotropic drugs.".

(b) AUTHORITY TO CONCLUDE AGREEMENTS.—Section 481(a)(2) of that Act is amended by inserting ", including reciprocal maritime agreements," after "agreements".

(c) COORDINATION OF ALL UNITED STATES ANTINARCOTICS ASSISTANCE TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES.—Section 481(b) of that Act is amended to read as follows:

"(b) COORDINATION OF ALL UNITED STATES ANTINARCOTICS ASSISTANCE TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES.—

"(1) RESPONSIBILITY OF SECRETARY OF STATE.—Consistent with subtitle A of title I of the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988, the Secretary of State shall be responsible for coordinating all assistance provided by the United States Government to support international efforts to combat illicit narcotics production or trafficking.

"(2) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing contained in this subsection or section 489(b) shall be construed to limit or impair the authority or responsibility of any other Federal agency with respect to law enforcement, domestic security operations, or intelligence activities as defined in Executive Order 12333.".

(d) MARITIME LAW ENFORCEMENT IN ARCHIPELAGIC WATERS.—Section 481(c)(4) of that Act is amended by inserting "or archipelagic waters" after "sea".

(e) PROCUREMENT OF WEAPONS AND AMMUNITION.—Section 482(b) of that Act is amended to read as follows:

"(b) PROCUREMENT OF WEAPONS AND AMMUNITION.—

"(1) PROHIBITION.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), funds made available to carry out this chapter shall not be made available for the procurement of weapons or ammunition.

"(2) Exceptions.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply with respect to funds for the procurement of—

"(A) weapons or ammunition provided only for the defensive arming of aircraft used for narcotics-related purposes, or

"(B) firearms and related ammunition provided only for defensive purposes to employees or contract personnel of the Department of State engaged in activities under this chapter, if, at least 15 days before obligating those funds, the President notifies the appropriate congressional committees in accordance with the procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 634A.".

(f) Requirements Relating to Aircraft and Other Equipment.—

(1) Retention of title.—Section 484 of that Act is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 484. REQUIREMENTS RELATING TO AIRCRAFT AND OTHER EQUIPMENT.

"(a) Retention of Title to Aircraft.—

"(1) In general.—(A) Except as provided in paragraph (2), any aircraft made available to a foreign country under this chapter, or made available to a foreign country primarily for narcotics-related purposes under any other provision of law, shall be provided only on a lease or loan basis.

"(B) Subparagraph (A) applies to aircraft made available at any time after October 27, 1986 (which was the date of enactment of the International Narcotics Control Act of 1986).

"(2) Exceptions.—(A) Paragraph (1) shall not apply to the extent that—

"(i) the application of that paragraph with respect to particular aircraft would be contrary to the national interest of the United States; and

"(ii) the President notifies the appropriate congressional committees in accordance with the procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 634A.

"(B) Paragraph (1) does not apply with respect to aircraft made available to a foreign country under any provision of law that authorizes property that has been civilly or criminally forfeited to the United States to be made available to foreign countries.

"(3) Assistance for leasing of aircraft.—(A) For purposes of satisfying the requirement of paragraph (1), funds made available for the 'Foreign Military Financing Program' under section 23 of the Arms Export Control Act may be used to finance the leasing of aircraft under chapter 6 of that Act.

"(B) Section 61(a)(3) of that Act shall not apply with respect to leases so financed; rather the entire cost of any such lease (including any renewals) shall be an initial, one time payment of the amount which would be the sales price for the aircraft if they were sold under section 21(a)(1)(B) or section 22 of that Act (as appropriate).

"(C) To the extent that aircraft so leased were acquired under chapter 5 of that Act, funds used pursuant to this paragraph to finance such leases shall be credited to the Special Defense Acquisition Fund under chapter 5 of that Act (excluding the amount of funds that reflects the charges described in section 21(e)(1) of that Act). The funds described in the parenthetical clause of the preceding sentence shall be available for payments consistent with sections 37(a) and 43(b) of that Act.".

(2) Permissible uses of aircraft and other equipment.—Chapter 8 of part I of that Act is amended—

(A) by striking out the section designation and section heading of section 489;

(B) in subsection (a) of section 489, by striking out "In General" and inserting in lieu thereof "Permissible Uses of Aircraft and Other Equipment";

(C) in subsection (b) of section 489 by striking out "subsection (e)" and inserting in lieu thereof "section 489(a)";

(D) by redesignating subsections (a) and (b) of section 489 as subsections (b) and (c) of section 484 and inserting those subsections after subsection (a) of section 484 (as amended by paragraph (1) of this subsection); and

(E) by repealing subsections (c) and (d) of section 489.

(3) Records of aircraft use.—Section 485 of that Act is amended by striking out "Secretary of State" both places it appears and inserting in lieu thereof "President".

(g) Acquisition of Real Property; Construction of Facilities.—Section 488 of that Act is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 488. LIMITATIONS ON ACQUISITION OF REAL PROPERTY AND CONSTRUCTION OF FACILITIES.

"(a) Acquisition of Real Property.—

"(1) Prohibition.—Funds made available to carry out this chapter may not be used to acquire (by purchase or other means) any land or other real property for use by foreign military, paramilitary, or law enforcement forces.

"(2) Exception for certain leases.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to the acquisition of real property by lease of a duration not to exceed 3 years.

"(3) Report.—The Secretary of State shall provide to the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate within 30 days after the end of each quarter of the fiscal year a detailed report on all leases entered into pursuant to paragraph (2), including the cost and duration of such lease, a description of the property leased, and the purpose for which such lease was entered into.

"(b) Construction of Facilities.—

"(1) Limitation.—Funds made available to carry out this chapter may not be used for construction of facilities for use by foreign military, paramilitary, or law enforcement forces unless, at least 15 days before obligating funds for such construction, the President notifies the appropriate congressional committees in accordance with procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 634A.

"(2) Exception.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to the construction of facilities which would require the obligation of less than $750,000 under this chapter.".

SEC. 5. ANNUAL REPORTING AND CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS.

(a) Revision of Requirements For Fiscal Years 1993 Through 1995.—Chapter 8 of part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended by the preceding section of this Act, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"SEC. 489. REPORTING REQUIREMENTS FOR FISCAL YEARS 1993 THROUGH 1995.

"(a) International Narcotics Control Strategy Report.—Not later than April 1 of each year, the President shall transmit to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, a report containing the following:

"(1) For each country that received assistance under this chapter for either of the 2 preceding fiscal years, a report on the extent to which the country has—

"(A) met the goals and objectives of the United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, including action on such issues as illicit cultivation, production, distribution, sale, transport, and financing, and money laundering, asset seizure, extradition, mutual legal assistance, law enforcement and transit cooperation, precursor chemical control, and demand reduction;

"(B) accomplished the goals described in an applicable bilateral narcotics agreement with the United States or a multilateral agreement; and

"(C) taken legal and law enforcement measures to prevent and punish public corruption, especially by senior government officials, that facilitates the production, processing, or shipment of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances, or that discourages the investigation or prosecution of such acts.

"(2)(A) A description of the policies adopted, agreements concluded, and programs implemented by the Department of State in pursuit of its delegated responsibilities for international narcotics control, including appropriate information on the status of negotiations between the United States and other countries on updated extradition treaties, mutual legal assistance treaties, precursor chemical controls, money laundering, and agreements pursuant to section 2015 of the International Narcotics Act of 1986 (relating to interdiction procedures for vessels of foreign registry).

"(B) Information on multilateral and bilateral strategies with respect to money laundering pursued by the Department of State, the Department of Justice, the Department of the Treasury, and other relevant United States Government agencies, either collectively or individually, to ensure the cooperation of foreign governments with respect to narcotics-related money laundering and to demonstrate that all United States Government agencies are pursuing a common strategy with respect to major money laundering countries. The report shall include specific detail to demonstrate that all United States Government agencies are pursuing a common strategy with respect to achieving international cooperation against money laundering and are pursuing a common strategy with respect to major money laundering countries, including a summary of United States objectives on a country-by-country basis.

"(3) The identity of those countries which are—

"(A) major illicit drug producing countries or major drug-transit countries as determined under section 490(h);

"(B) the significant direct or indirect sources of narcotics and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances significantly affecting the United States;

"(C) major sources of precursor chemicals used in the production of illicit narcotics; or

"(D) major money laundering countries.

"(4) In addition, for each country identified pursuant to paragraph (3), the following:

"(A) A description of the plans, programs, and timetables adopted by such country, including efforts to meet the objectives of the United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, and a discussion of the adequacy of the legal and law enforcement measures taken and the accomplishments achieved in accord with those plans.

"(B) Whether as a matter of government policy, such country encourages or facilitates the illicit production or distribution of narcotic or psychotropic drugs or other controlled substances or the laundering of proceeds from illegal drug transactions; and whether any senior official of the government of such country engages in, encourages, or facilitates the illicit production or distribution of such drugs or substances, or the laundering of proceeds from illegal drug transactions.

"(5) In addition, for each country identified pursuant to paragraph (3)(A) or (3)(B), a detailed status report, with such information as can be reliably obtained, on the narcotic or psychotropic drugs or other controlled substances which are being cultivated, produced, or processed in or transported through such country, noting significant changes in conditions, such as increases or decreases in the illicit cultivation and manufacture of and traffic in such drugs and substances.

"(6) In addition, for those countries identified pursuant to paragraph (3)(C)—

"(A) which countries are parties to international agreements on a method for maintaining records of transactions of an established list of precursor and essential chemicals;

"(B) which countries have established a procedure by which such records may be made available to United States law enforcement authorities; and

"(C) which countries have enacted national chemical control legislation which would impose specific recordkeeping and reporting requirements for listed chemicals, establish a system of permits or declarations for imports and exports of listed chemicals, and authorize government officials to seize or suspend shipments of listed chemicals.

"(7) In addition, for those countries identified pursuant to paragraph (3)(D) the following:

"(A)(i) Which countries have financial institutions engaging in currency transactions involving international narcotics trafficking proceeds that include significant amounts of United States currency or currency derived from illegal drug sales in the United States or that otherwise significantly affect the United States;

"(ii) which countries identified pursuant to clause (i) have not reached agreement with the United States authorities on a mechanism for exchanging adequate records in connection with narcotics investigations and proceedings; and

"(iii) which countries identified pursuant to clause (ii)—

"(I) are negotiating in good faith with the United States to establish such a record-exchange mechanism, or

"(II) have adopted laws or regulations that ensure the availability to appropriate United States Government personnel and those of other governments of adequate records in connection with narcotics investigations and proceedings.

"(B) Which countries—

"(i) have ratified the United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances and are taking steps to implement that Convention and other applicable agreements and conventions such as the recommendations of the Financial Action Task Force, the policy directive of the European Community, the legislative guidelines of the Organization of American States, and other similar declarations; and

"(ii) have entered into bilateral agreements for the exchange of information on money-laundering with countries other than the United States.

"(C) Findings on each country's adoption of law and regulations considered essential to prevent narcotics-related money laundering. Such findings shall include whether a country has—

"(i) criminalized narcotics money laundering;

"(ii) required banks and other financial institutions to know and record the identity of customers engaging in significant transactions, including the recording of large currency transactions at thresholds appropriate to that country's economic situation;

"(iii) required banks and other financial institutions to maintain, for an adequate time, records necessary to reconstruct significant transactions through financial institutions in order to be able to respond quickly to information requests from appropriate government authorities in narcotics-related money laundering cases;

"(iv) required or allowed financial institutions to report suspicious transactions;

"(v) established systems for identifying, tracing, freezing, seizing, and forfeiting narcotics-related assets;

"(vi) enacted laws for the sharing of seized narcotics assets with other governments;

"(vii) cooperated, when requested, with appropriate law enforcement agencies of other governments investigating financial crimes related to narcotics; and

"(viii) addressed the problem on international transportation of illegal-source currency and monetary instruments.

The report shall also detail instances of refusals to cooperate with foreign governments, and any actions taken by the United States Government and any international organization to address such obstacles, including the imposition of sanctions or penalties.

"(b) ANNUAL REPORTS ON ASSISTANCE.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—At the time that the report required by subsection (a) is submitted each year, the Secretary of State, in consultation with appropriate United States Government agencies, shall report to the appropriate committees of the Congress on the assistance provided or proposed to be provided by the United States Government during the preceding fiscal year, the current fiscal year, and the next fiscal year to support international efforts to combat illicit narcotics production or trafficking.

"(2) INFORMATION TO BE INCLUDED.—Each report pursuant to this subsection shall—

"(A) specify the amount and nature of the assistance provided or to be provided;

"(B) include, for each country identified in subsection (a)(3)(A), information from the Drug Enforcement Administration, the Customs Service, and the Coast Guard describing in detail—

"(i) the assistance provided or to be provided to such country by that agency, and

"(ii) the assistance provided or to be provided to that agency by such country, with respect to narcotic control efforts during the preceding fiscal year, the current fiscal year, and the next fiscal year; and

"(C) list all transfers, which were made by the United States Government during the preceding fiscal year, to a foreign country for narcotics control purposes of any property seized by or otherwise forfeited to the United States Government in connection with narcotics-related activity, including an estimate of the fair market value and physical condition of each item of property transferred.

"(3) REPORTS MAY BE CLASSIFIED.—The reports required by this subsection may be provided on a classified basis to the extent necessary.

"(c) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section—

"(1) the term 'precursor chemical' has the same meaning as the term 'listed chemical' has under paragraph (33) of section 102 of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 902(33)); and

"(2) the term 'major money laundering country' means a country whose financial institutions engage in currency transactions involving significant amounts of proceeds from international narcotics trafficking.

"(d) EFFECTIVE DATES OF SECTIONS.—This section applies only during fiscal years 1993 through 1995. Section 489A does not apply during those fiscal years.

"SEC. 489A. REPORTING REQUIREMENTS APPLICABLE AFTER SEPTEMBER 30, 1995.

"(a) INTERNATIONAL NARCOTICS CONTROL STRATEGY REPORT.—

"(1) REQUIREMENT FOR REPORT.—Not later than March 1 of each year, the President shall transmit to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, a report on United States policy to establish and encourage an international strategy to prevent the illicit cultivation and manufacture of and traffic in narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances.

"(2) CONTENTS.—Each report pursuant to this subsection shall include the following:

"(A) A description of the policies adopted, agreements concluded, and programs implemented by the Department of State in pursuit of its delegated responsibilities for international narcotics control, including policy development, bilateral and multilateral funding and other support for international narcotics control projects, representations of the United States Government to international organizations and agencies concerned with narcotics control, training of foreign enforcement personnel, coordination of the international narcotics control activities of United States Government agencies, and technical assistance to international demand reduction programs.

"(B) A description of the activities of the United States in international financial institutions to combat the entry of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances into the United States for the fiscal year just ended, for the current fiscal year, and for the next fiscal year.

"(C) The identity of those countries which are the significant direct or indirect sources of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances significantly affecting the United States. For each such country, each report shall include the following:

"(i) A detailed status report, with such information as can be reliably obtained, on the narcotic or psychotropic drugs or other controlled substances which are being cultivated, produced, or processed in or transported through such country, noting significant changes in conditions, such as increases or decreases in the illicit cultivation and manufacture of and traffic in such drugs and substances.

"(ii) A description of the assistance under this chapter and the other kinds of United States assistance which such country received in the preceding fiscal year, which are planned for such country for the current fiscal year, and which are proposed for such country for the next fiscal year, with an analysis of the impact that the furnishing of each such kind of assistance has had or is expected to have on the illicit cultivation and manufacture of and traffic in narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances in such country.

"(iii) A description of the plans, programs, and timetables adopted by such country for the progressive elimination of the illicit cultivation of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances, and a discussion of the adequacy of the legal and law enforcement measures taken and the accomplishments achieved in accord with these plans.

"(iv) A discussion of the extent to which such country has cooperated with United States narcotics control efforts through the extradition or prosecution of drug traffickers, and, where appropriate, a description of the status of negotiations with such country to negotiate a new or updated extradition treaty relating to narcotics offenses.

"(D) For each major illicit drug producing country for which the President is proposing to furnish United States assistance for the next fiscal year, a determination by the President of the maximum reductions in illicit drug production which are achievable during the next fiscal year. Each such determination shall be expressed in numerical terms, such as the number of acres of illicitly cultivated controlled substances which can be eradicated.

"(E) For each major illicit drug producing country which received United States assistance for the preceding fiscal year, the actual reductions in illicit drug production achieved by that country during such fiscal year.

"(F) Specific comments and recommendations by appropriate Federal agencies involved in drug enforcement, including the United States Customs Service and the Drug Enforcement Administration, with respect to the degree to which countries listed in the report have, during the preceding year, cooperated fully with such agencies (as described in section 490A(b)).

"(G) A description of the United States assistance for the preceding fiscal year which was denied, pursuant to section 490 or 490A, to each major illicit drug producing country and each major drug-transit country.

"(b) Midyear Report.—Not later than September 1 of each year, the President shall transmit to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, a complete and detailed midyear report on the activities and operations carried out under this chapter prior to such date. Such midyear report shall include the status of each agreement concluded prior to such date with other countries to carry out this chapter.

"(c) Annual Reports on Assistance.—

"(1) In general.—At the time that the report required by subsection (a) is submitted each year, the Secretary of State, in consultation with appropriate United States Government agencies, shall report to the appropriate committees of the Congress on the assistance provided by the United States Government during the preceding fiscal year to support international efforts to combat illicit narcotics production or trafficking.

"(2) Information to be included.—Each report pursuant to this subsection shall—

"(A) specify the amount and nature of the assistance provided;

"(B) include, for each country which is a significant direct or indirect source of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances significantly affecting the United States, a section prepared by the Drug Enforcement Administration, a section prepared by the Customs Service, and a section prepared by the Coast Guard, which describes in detail—

"(i) the assistance provided or to be provided (as the case may be) to such country by that agency, and

"(ii) the assistance provided or to be provided (as the case may be) to that agency by such country, with respect to narcotic control efforts during the preceding fiscal year, the current fiscal year, and the next fiscal year; and

"(C) list all transfers, which were made by the United States Government during the preceding fiscal year, to a foreign country for narcotics control purposes of any property seized by or otherwise forfeited to the United States Government in connection with narcotics-related activity, including an estimate of the fair market value and physical condition of each item of property transferred.

"(3) Reports may be classified.—The reports required by this subsection may be provided on a classified basis to the extent necessary.

"SEC. 490. ANNUAL CERTIFICATION PROCEDURES FOR FISCAL YEARS 1993 THROUGH 1995.

"(a) Withholding of Bilateral Assistance and Opposition to Multilateral Development Assistance.—

"(1) Bilateral assistance.—Fifty percent of the United States assistance allocated each fiscal year in the report required by section 653 for each major illicit drug producing country or major drug-transit country (as determined under subsection (h)) shall be withheld from obligation and expenditure, except as provided in subsection (b). This paragraph shall not apply with respect to a country if the President determines that its application to that country would be contrary to the national interest of the United States, except that any such determination shall not take effect until at least 15 days after the President submits written notification of that determination to the appropriate congressional committees in accordance with the procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 634A.

"(2) Multilateral assistance.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall instruct the United States Executive Director of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the United States Executive Director of the International Development Association, the United States Executive Director of the Inter-American Development Bank, and the United States Executive Director of the Asian Development Bank to vote, on and after April 1 of each year, against any loan or other utilization of the funds of their respective institution to or for any major illicit drug producing country or major drug-transit country (as determined under subsection (h)), except as provided in subsection (b).

"(b) Certification Procedures.—

"(1) What must be certified.—Subject to subsection (d), the assistance withheld from a country pursuant to subsection (a)(1) may be obligated and expended, and the requirement of subsection (a)(2) to vote against multilateral development bank assistance to a country shall not apply, if the President determines and certifies to the Congress, at the time of the submission of the report required by section 489(a), that—

"(A) during the previous year the country has cooperated with the United States, or has taken adequate steps on its own, to achieve full compliance with the goals and objectives established by the United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances; or

"(B) for a country that would not otherwise qualify for certification under subparagraph (A), the vital national interests of the United States require that the assistance withheld pursuant to subsection (a)(1) be provided and that the United States not vote against multilateral development bank assistance for that country pursuant to subsection (a)(2).

"(2) Considerations regarding cooperation.—In making the determination described in paragraph (1)(A), the President shall consider the extent to which the country has—

"(A) met the goals and objectives of the United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, including action on such issues as illicit cultivation, production, distribution, sale, transport and financing, and money laundering, asset seizure, extradition, mutual legal assistance, law enforcement and transit cooperation, precursor chemical control, and demand reduction;

"(B) accomplished the goals described in an applicable bilateral narcotics agreement with the United States or a multilateral agreement; and

"(C) taken legal and law enforcement measures to prevent and punish public corruption, especially by senior government officials, that facilitates the production, processing, or shipment of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances, or that discourages the investigation or prosecution of such acts.

"(3) Information to be included in national interest certification.—If the President makes a certification with respect to a country pursuant to paragraph (1)(B), the President shall include in such certification—

"(A) a full and complete description of the vital national interests placed at risk if United States bilateral assistance to that country is terminated pursuant to this section and multilateral development bank assistance is not provided to such country; and

"(B) a statement weighing the risk described in subparagraph (A) against the risks posed to the vital national interests of the United States by the failure of such country to cooperate fully with the United States in combating narcotics or to take adequate steps to combat narcotics on its own.

"(c) Licit Opium Producing Countries.—The President may make a certification under subsection (b)(1)(A) with respect to a major illicit drug producing country, or major drug-transit country, that is a producer of licit opium only if the President determines that such country has taken steps to prevent significant diversion of its licit cultivation and production into the illicit market, maintains production and stockpiles at levels no higher than those consistent with licit market demand, and prevents illicit cultivation and production.

"(d) Congressional Review.—Subsection (e) shall apply if, within 45 calendar days after receipt of a certification submitted under subsection (b) at the time of submission of the report required by section 489(a), the Congress enacts a joint resolution disapproving the determination of the President contained in such certification.

"(e) Denial of Assistance for Countries Decertified.—If the President does not make a certification under subsection (b) with respect to a country or the Congress enacts a joint resolution disapproving such certification, then until such time as the conditions specified in subsection (f) are satisfied—

"(1) funds may not be obligated for United States assistance for that country, and funds previously obligated for United States assistance for that country may not be expended for the purpose of providing assistance for that country; and

"(2) the requirement to vote against multilateral development bank assistance pursuant to subsection (a)(2) shall apply with respect to that country, without regard to the date specified in that subsection.

"(f) RECERTIFICATION.—Subsection (e) shall apply to a country described in that subsection until—

"(1) the President, at the time of submission of the report required by section 489(a), makes a certification under subsection (b)(1)(A) or (b)(1)(B) with respect to that country, and the Congress does not enact a joint resolution under subsection (d) disapproving the determination of the President contained in that certification; or

"(2) the President, at any other time, makes the certification described in subsection (b)(1)(B) with respect to that country, except that this paragraph applies only if either—

"(A) the President also certifies that—

"(i) that country has undergone a fundamental change in government, or

"(ii) there has been a fundamental change in the conditions that were the reason—

"(I) why the President had not made a certification with respect to that country under subsection (b)(1)(A), or

"(II) if he had made such a certification and the Congress enacted a joint resolution disapproving the determination contained in the certification, why the Congress enacted that joint resolution; or

"(B) the Congress enacts a joint resolution approving the determination contained in the certification under subsection (b)(1)(B).

Any certification under subparagraph (A) of paragraph (2) shall discuss the justification for the certification.

"(g) CONGRESSIONAL REVIEW PROCEDURES.—

"(1) SENATE.—Any joint resolution under this section shall be considered in the Senate in accordance with the provisions of section 601(b) of the International Security Assistance and Arms Export Control Act of 1976.

"(2) HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—For the purpose of expediting the consideration and enactment of joint resolutions under this section, a motion to proceed to the consideration of any such joint resolution after it has been reported by the appropriate committee shall be treated as highly privileged in the House of Representatives.

"(h) DETERMINING MAJOR DRUG-TRANSIT AND MAJOR ILLICIT DRUG PRODUCING COUNTRIES FOR FISCAL YEARS 1993 THROUGH 1995.—Not later than January 1 of each year, the President shall notify the appropriate committees of the Congress of which countries have been determined to be major drug-transit countries, and which countries have been determined to be major illicit drug producing countries, for purposes of this Act.

"(i) EFFECTIVE DATES OF SECTIONS.—This section applies only during fiscal years 1993 through 1995. During those fiscal years, section 490A does not apply and the definitions provided in section 481(e)(2) and (5) do not apply.

"SEC. 490A. ANNUAL CERTIFICATION PROCEDURES AFTER SEPTEMBER 30, 1995.

"(a) WITHHOLDING OF BILATERAL ASSISTANCE AND OPPOSITION TO MULTILATERAL DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE.—

"(1) BILATERAL ASSISTANCE.—Fifty percent of the United States assistance allocated each fiscal year in the report required by section 653 for each major illicit drug producing country or major drug-transit country shall be withheld from obligation and expenditure, except as provided in subsection (b).

"(2) MULTILATERAL ASSISTANCE.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall instruct the United States Executive Director of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the United States Executive Director of the International Development Association, the United States Executive Director of the Inter-American Development Bank, and the United States Executive Director of the Asian Development Bank to vote, on and after March 1 of each year, against any loan or other utilization of the funds of their respective institution to or for any major illicit drug producing country or major drug-transit country, except as provided in subsection (b).

"(b) CERTIFICATION PROCEDURE.—

"(1) WHAT MUST BE CERTIFIED.—Subject to subsection (d), the assistance withheld from a country pursuant to subsection (a)(1) may be obligated and expended, and the requirement of subsection (a)(2) to vote against multilateral development bank assistance to a country shall not apply, if the President determines and certifies to the Congress, at the time of the submission of the report required by section 489A(a), that—

"(A) during the previous year the country has cooperated fully with the United States, or has taken adequate steps on its own—

"(i) in satisfying the goals agreed to in an applicable bilateral narcotics agreement with the United States (as described in paragraph (2)) or a multilateral agreement which achieves the objectives of paragraph (2),

"(ii) in preventing narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances produced or processed, in whole or in part, in such country or transported through such country, from being sold illegally within the jurisdiction of such country to United States Government personnel or their dependents or from being transported, directly or indirectly, into the United States,

"(iii) in preventing and punishing the laundering in that country of drug-related profits or drug-related moneys, and

"(iv) in preventing and punishing bribery and other forms of public corruption which facilitate the production, processing, or shipment of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances, or which discourage the investigation and prosecution of such acts; or

"(B) for a country that would not otherwise qualify for certification under subparagraph (A), the vital national interests of the United States require that the assistance withheld pursuant to subsection (a)(1) be provided and that the United States not vote against multilateral development bank assistance for that country pursuant to subsection (a)(2).

"(2) BILATERAL NARCOTICS AGREEMENT.—A bilateral narcotics agreement referred to in paragraph (1)(A)(i) is an agreement between the United States and a foreign country in which the foreign country agrees to take specific activities, including, where applicable, efforts to—

"(A) reduce drug production, drug consumption, and drug trafficking within its territory, including activities to address illicit crop eradication and crop substitution;

"(B) increase drug interdiction and enforcement;

"(C) increase drug treatment;

"(D) increase the identification of and elimination of illicit drug laboratories;

"(E) increase the identification of, and elimination of trafficking in, essential precursor chemicals for use in the illicit production of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances;

"(F) increase cooperation with United States drug enforcement officials; and

"(G) where applicable, increase participation in extradition treaties, mutual legal assistance provisions directed at money laundering, sharing of evidence, and other initiatives for cooperative drug enforcement.

"(3) REQUIREMENT FOR NARCOTICS AGREEMENT FOR CERTAIN COUNTRIES.—A country which in the previous year was designated as a major illicit drug producing country or a major drug-transit country may not be determined to be cooperating fully under paragraph (1)(A) unless it has in place a bilateral narcotics agreement with the United States or a multilateral agreement which achieves the objectives of paragraph (2).

"(4) INFORMATION TO BE INCLUDED IN CERTIFICATION.—If the President makes a certification with respect to a country pursuant to paragraph (1)(B), the President shall include in such certification—

"(A) a full and complete description of the vital national interests placed at risk if United States bilateral assistance to that country is terminated pursuant to this section and multilateral development bank assistance is not provided to such country; and

"(B) a statement weighing the risk described in subparagraph (A) against the risks posed to the vital national interests of the United States by the failure of such country to cooperate fully with the United States in combating narcotics or to take adequate steps to combat narcotics on its own.

"(5) LICIT OPIUM PRODUCING COUNTRIES.—The President may make a certification under paragraph (1)(A) with respect to a major illicit drug producing country, or major drug-transit country, that is a producer of licit opium only if the President determines that such country has taken steps to prevent significant diversion of its licit cultivation and production into the illicit market, maintains production and stockpiles at levels no higher than those consistent with licit market demand, and prevents illicit cultivation and production.

"(c) MATTERS TO BE CONSIDERED.—In determining whether to make the certification required by subsection (b) with respect to a country, the President shall consider the following:

"(1) Have the actions of the government of that country resulted in the maximum reductions in illicit drug production which were determined to be achievable pursuant to section 489A(a)(2)(D)? In the case of a major illicit drug producing country, the President shall give foremost consideration, in determining whether to make the determination required by subsection (b)(1)(A), to whether the government of that country has taken actions which have resulted in such reductions.

"(2) Has that government taken the legal and law enforcement measures to enforce in its territory, to the maximum extent possible, the elimination of illicit cultivation and the suppression of illicit manufacturing of and trafficking in narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances, as evidenced by seizures of such drugs and substances and of illicit laboratories and the arrest and prosecution of violators involved in the traffic in such drugs and substances significantly affecting the United States?

"(3) Has that government taken the legal and law enforcement steps necessary to eliminate, to the maximum extent possible, the laundering in that country of drug-related profits or drug-related moneys, as evidenced by—

"(A) the enactment and enforcement by that government of laws prohibiting such conduct;

"(B) that government entering into, and cooperating under the terms of, mutual legal assistance agreements with the United States governing (but not limited to) money laundering; and

"(C) the degree to which that government otherwise cooperates with United States law enforcement authorities on anti-money laundering efforts?

"(4) Has that government taken the legal and law enforcement steps necessary to eliminate, to the maximum extent possible, bribery and other forms of public corruption which facilitate the illicit production, processing, or shipment of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances, or which discourage the investigation and prosecution of such acts, as evidenced by the enactment and enforcement of laws prohibiting such conduct?

"(5) Has that government, as a matter of government policy, encouraged or facilitated the illicit production or distribution of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances?

"(6) Does any senior official of that government engage in, encourage, or facilitate the illicit production or distribution of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances?

"(7) Has that government investigated aggressively all cases in which any member of an agency of the United States Government engaged in drug enforcement activities has been the victim, since January 1, 1985, of acts or threats of violence, inflicted by or with the complicity of any law enforcement or other officer of such country or any political subdivision thereof, and energetically sought to bring the perpetrators of such offense or offenses to justice?

"(8) Having been requested to do so by the United States Government, does that government fail to provide reasonable cooperation to lawful activities of United States drug enforcement agents, including the refusal of permission to such agents engaged in interdiction of aerial smuggling into the United States to pursue suspected aerial smugglers a reasonable distance into the airspace of the requested country?

"(9) Has that government made necessary changes in legal codes in order to enable law enforcement officials to move more effectively against narcotics traffickers, such as new conspiracy laws and new asset seizure laws?

"(10) Has that government expeditiously processed United States extradition requests relating to narcotics trafficking?

"(11) Has that government refused to protect or give haven to any known drug traffickers, and has it expeditiously processed extradition requests relating to narcotics trafficking made by other countries?

"(d) CONGRESSIONAL REVIEW.—Subsection (e) shall apply if, within 45 days of continuous session (within the meaning of section 601(b)(1) of the International Security Assistance and Arms Export Control Act of 1976) after receipt of a certification under subsection (b), the Congress enacts a joint resolution disapproving the determination of the President contained in such certification.

"(e) DENIAL OF ASSISTANCE FOR COUNTRIES DECERTIFIED.—If the President does not make a certification under subsection (b) with respect to a country or the Congress enacts a joint resolution disapproving such certification, then until such time as the conditions specified in subsection (f)(1) are satisfied—

"(1) funds may not be obligated for United States assistance for that country, and funds previously obligated for United States assistance for that country may not be expended for the purpose of providing assistance for that country; and

"(2) the requirement to vote against multilateral development bank assistance pursuant to subsection (a)(2) shall apply with respect to that country, without regard to the date specified in that subsection.

"(f) RECERTIFICATION.—

"(1) TIME OF RECERTIFICATION; CONGRESSIONAL ACTION.—Subsection (e) shall apply to a country described in that subsection until—

"(A) the President makes a certification under subsection (b) with respect to that country, and the Congress does not enact a joint resolution under subsection (d) disapproving the determination of the President contained in that certification; or

"(B) the President submits, at any other time, a certification described in subparagraph (A) or (B) of subsection (b)(1) with respect to such country, and the Congress enacts a joint resolution approving the determination of the President contained in that certification.

"(2) CONGRESSIONAL REVIEW PROCEDURES.—(A) Any joint resolution under this section shall be considered in the Senate in accordance with the provisions of section 601(b) of the International Security Assistance and Arms Export Control Act of 1976.

"(B) For the purpose of expediting the consideration and enactment of joint resolutions under this section, a motion to proceed to the consideration of any such joint resolution after it has been reported by the appropriate committee shall be treated as highly privileged in the House of Representatives.

"(g) DETERMINING MAJOR DRUG-TRANSIT AND MAJOR ILLICIT DRUG PRODUCING COUNTRIES AFTER SEPTEMBER 30, 1995.—

"(1) ESTABLISHMENT OF GUIDELINES.—For each calendar year, the Secretary of State, after consultation with the appropriate committees of the Congress, shall establish numerical standards and other guidelines for determining which countries will be considered to be major drug-transit countries under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of section 481(e)(5).

"(2) NOTICE TO CONGRESS OF PRELIMINARY STANDARDS.—Not later than September 1 of each year, the Secretary of State shall make a preliminary determination of the numerical standards and other guidelines to be used pursuant to paragraph (1) with respect to that year and shall notify the appropriate committees of the Congress of those standards and guidelines.

"(3) NOTICE TO CONGRESS OF PRELIMINARY DETERMINATIONS.—Not later than October 1 of each year, the Secretary of State shall notify the appropriate committees of the Congress of—

"(A) which countries have been determined to be major drug-transit countries for that year under the numerical standards and other guidelines developed pursuant to this subsection; and

"(B) which countries have been determined to be major illicit drug producing countries for that year.".

(b) DEFINITION OF UNITED STATES ASSISTANCE.—Paragraph (4) of section 481(i) of that Act is amended to read as follows:

"(4) the term 'United States assistance' means—

"(A) any assistance under this Act (including programs under title IV of chapter 2, relating to the Overseas Private Investment Corporation), other than—

"(i) assistance under this chapter,

"(ii) any other narcotics-related assistance under this part (including chapter 4 of part II), but any such assistance provided under this clause shall be subject to the prior notification procedures applicable to reprogrammings pursuant to section 634A of this Act,

"(iii) disaster relief assistance, including any assistance under chapter 9 of this part,

"(iv) assistance which involves the provision of food (including monetization of food) or medicine, and

"(v) assistance for refugees;

"(B) sales, or financing on any terms, under the Arms Export Control Act;

"(C) the provision of agricultural commodities, other than food, under the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954; and

"(D) financing under the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945;".

SEC. 6. TECHNICAL, CONFORMING, AND OTHER AMENDMENTS; REPEAL OF OBSOLETE PROVISIONS.

(a) STATUTORY REFERENCES TO ANNUAL REPORTS, CERTIFICATIONS, AND DEFINITIONS.—After September 30, 1995, any reference in any provision of law to section 489 or 490 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 shall be deemed to be a reference to the corresponding provision of section 489A or 490A, respectively, unless the context requires otherwise. Any reference in any provision of law enacted before the date of enactment of this Act to section 481(e) or section 481(i) of that Act shall be deemed to be a reference to section 489 or section 481(e) (as amended by subsection (b)(3) of this section), respectively; and any reference in any provision of law enacted before the date of enactment of this Act to section 481(h) of that Act shall be deemed, as of October 1, 1992, to be a reference to section 490.

(b) TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENTS TO FOREIGN ASSISTANCE ACT.—Chapter 8 of part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 is amended as follows:

(1) Section 481(d)(3) is amended by striking out "subsection (e)" and inserting in lieu thereof "section 489(a)".

(2) Subsections (e), (f), (g), (h), (j), and (k) of section 481 are repealed.

(3) Subsection (i) of section 481 is amended by striking out "(i) As used in this section—" and inserting in lieu thereof "(e) DEFINITIONS.—Except as provided in sections 490(h) and (i) with respect to the definition of major illicit drug producing country and major drug-transit country, for purposes of this chapter and other provisions of this Act relating specifically to international narcotics matters—".

(4) Subsection (c) of section 482 is repealed, and subsection (d) of that section is redesignated as subsection (c).

(5) Section 486 is amended—

(A) in subsection (a), in the text preceding paragraph (1), by striking out "481(h)" and inserting in lieu thereof "490"; and

(B) in subsection (b), by striking out "(relating to foreign military sales financing)" and inserting in lieu thereof "(relating to the 'Foreign Military Financing Program')".

(6) Section 487(a)(1) is amended by striking out "(as defined in section 481(i)(3) of this Act)".

(c) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS TO EXPORT-IMPORT BANK ACT.—Section 2(b)(6) of the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945 is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (B)(iii), by striking out "481(h)(5)" and inserting in lieu thereof "490(e)"; and

(2) in subparagraph (C)(ii), by striking out "defined in section 481(i)" and inserting in lieu thereof "determined under section 490(h) or 481(e), as appropriate,".

(d) AMENDMENT TO 1989 DRUG ACT.—Section 3 of the International Narcotics Control Act of 1989 is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(j) CERTAIN FUNDING LIMITATIONS.—The dollar limitations specified in subsections (c)(1) and (d)(1) shall not apply after the date of enactment of this subsection.".

(e) REPEAL OF OBSOLETE PROVISIONS.—

(1) 1988 DRUG ACT.—All sections of the International Narcotics Control Act of 1988 (which is title IV of the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988) are repealed except for sections 4001, 4306, 4308, 4309, 4501, 4702, and 4804. Section 4501(b) of that Act is amended by striking out "Section 4601 of this title" and inserting in lieu thereof "Section 489(b) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961".

(2) 1986 DRUG ACT.—All sections of the International Narcotics Control Act of 1986 (which is title II of the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1986) are repealed except for sections 2001, 2010, 2015, 2018, and 2029.

SEC. 7. EXEMPTION OF NARCOTICS-RELATED MILITARY ASSISTANCE FOR FISCAL YEARS 1993 THROUGH 1995 FROM PROHIBITION ON ASSISTANCE FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES.

(a) EXEMPTION.—For fiscal years 1993 through 1995, section 660 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 shall not apply with respect to—

(1) transfers of excess defense articles under section 517 of that Act;

(2) funds made available for the "Foreign Military Financing Program" under section 23 of the Arms Export Control Act that are used for assistance provided for narcotics-related purposes; or

(3) international military education and training under chapter 5 of part II of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 that is provided for narcotics-related purposes.

(b) NOTIFICATION TO CONGRESS.—At least 15 days before any transfer under subsection (a)(1) or any obligation of funds under subsection (a)(2) or (a)(3), the President shall notify the appropriate congressional committees in accordance with the procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 634A of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961.

(c) COORDINATION WITH INTERNATIONAL NARCOTICS CONTROL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM.—Assistance provided pursuant to this section shall be coordinated with international narcotics control assistance under chapter 8 of part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961.

SEC. 8. WAIVER OF RESTRICTIONS FOR NARCOTICS-RELATED ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE.

For fiscal years 1992 through 1995, narcotics-related assistance under part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 may be provided notwithstanding any provision of law that restricts assistance to foreign countries (other than section 490(e) of that Act) if, at least 15 days before obligating funds for such assistance, the President notifies the appropriate congressional committees in accordance with the procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 634A of that Act.

SEC. 9. TRANSFERS OF EXCESS DEFENSE ARTICLES FOR COUNTERNARCOTICS PURPOSES.

(a) CHANGES IN AUTHORITIES.—Section 517 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 is amended—

(1) in the section heading, by striking out "MILITARY CAPABILITIES OF CERTAIN MAJOR ILLICIT DRUG PRODUCING" and inserting in lieu thereof "COUNTERNARCOTICS CAPABILITIES OF CERTAIN";

(2) in subsection (a)(1), by striking out "(as defined in section 481(i)(2))" and inserting in lieu thereof "or a major drug-transit country";

(3) in subsection (b)—

(A) by inserting "and local law enforcement agencies" after "military forces";

(B) by striking out "with local law enforcement agencies" and inserting in lieu thereof "cooperatively"; and

(C) by striking out "(as defined in section 481(i)(3))";

(4) in subsection (d), by striking out "4601 of the International Narcotics Control Act of 1988" and inserting in lieu thereof "481(b) of this Act";

(5) in subsection (i), by striking out "30" and inserting in lieu thereof "15"; and

(6) by adding at the end the following:

"(j) LIMITATION ON USE OF OTHER AUTHORITIES TO TRANSFER EXCESS DEFENSE ARTICLES.—The transfer authority provided in sections 518 and 519 may not be exercised with respect to any major illicit drug producing country or major drug-transit country in Latin America or the Caribbean.

"(k) EXCESS COAST GUARD PROPERTY.—As used in this section, the term 'excess defense articles' shall be deemed to include excess property of the Coast Guard, and the term 'Department of Defense' shall be deemed, with respect to such excess property, to include the Coast Guard.".

(b) EXCLUSION OF CONSTRUCTION EQUIPMENT FROM DEFINITION OF EXCESS DEFENSE ARTICLES.—Section 644(g) of that Act is amended by inserting "(other than construction equipment, including tractors, scrapers, loaders, graders, bulldozers, dump trucks, generators, and compressors)" after "articles" the second place it appears.

SEC. 10. PARTICIPANTS IN INTERNATIONAL MILITARY EDUCATION AND TRAINING PROGRAMS.

Section 541 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 is amended—

(1) by inserting ", and may also include legislators," after "ministries of defense"; and

(2) by striking out "or (iii)" and inserting in lieu thereof "(iii) contribute to cooperation between military and law enforcement personnel with respect to counternarcotics law enforcement efforts, or (iv)".

SEC. 11. DEFINITION OF APPROPRIATE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES.

(a) FOREIGN ASSISTANCE ACT AMENDMENTS.—Section 481(e) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended by the preceding provisions of this Act, is amended—

(1) by striking out the period at the end of paragraph (5) and inserting in lieu thereof "; and"; and

(2) after paragraph (5) insert the following:

"(6) the term 'appropriate congressional committees' means the Committee on Foreign Affairs and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Foreign Relations and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate.".

(b) FREE-STANDING PROVISIONS OF THIS ACT.—As used in this Act, the term "appropriate congressional committees" has the definition given that term by section 481(e)(6) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (as added by subsection (a) of this section).

SEC. 12. EXPORT-IMPORT BANK FINANCING OF SALES OF DEFENSE ARTICLES OR SERVICES.

(a) EXTENSION OF AUTHORITY.—Section 2(b)(6) of the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945 is amended by striking out "1992" in subparagraph (B)(vi) and inserting in lieu thereof "1997".

(b) ADDITIONAL CRITERIA FOR NATIONAL INTEREST WAIVER.—Section 2(b)(6)(D)(i) of that Act is amended by striking out "and" at the end of subclause (I), by redesignating subclause (II) as subclause (III), and by inserting after subclause (I) the following:

"(II) the President determines, after consultation with the Assistant Secretary of State for Human Rights and Humanitarian Affairs, that the purchasing country has complied with all restrictions imposed by the United States on the end use of any defense articles or services for which a guarantee or insurance was provided under subparagraph (B), and has not used any such defense articles or services to engage in a consistent pattern of gross violations of internationally recognized human rights; and".

(c) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) EXPORT-IMPORT BANK ACT.—Section 2(b)(6) of that Act is amended—

(A) in subparagraph (A), by striking out "designated" and all that follows through the end of the subparagraph and inserting in lieu thereof ", except as otherwise provided in subparagraph (B).";

(B) in subparagraph (B)—

(i) by striking out ", and section 32 of the Arms Export Control Act,"; and

(ii) in clause (v), by striking out "and services" and inserting in lieu thereof "or services";

(C) in subparagraph (D)(i)(III), as so redesignated by subsection (b) of this section, by striking out "determination has" and inserting in lieu thereof "determinations have"; and

(D) in subparagraph (D)(ii), by striking out "sentence" and inserting in lieu thereof "clause".

(2) ARMS EXPORT CONTROL ACT.—The Arms Export Control Act is amended by repealing section 32.

(d) AVOIDANCE OF DUPLICATIVE AMENDMENTS.—If an Act is enacted during 1992 entitled "An Act to reauthorize the Export-Import Bank of the United States" that contains amendments identical to amendments made by this section, the amendments contained in this section that are identical to the amendments contained in that Act shall not be effective.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from American Samoa [Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. BROOMFIELD] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from American Samoa [Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA].

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 6018, the International Narcotics Control Act of 1992.

This bill contains the international narcotics control provisions from H.R. 2508, which passed the House last year. It reflects the Foreign Affairs Committee's continuing interest and oversight of U.S. overseas drug control programs.

I believe there is strong bipartisan support for this bill, and I know of no objection to it, so I will be brief. H.R. 6018 streamlines the provisions in chapter 8 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, repeals obsolete provisions, increases attention to issues such as precursor chemical controls and money laundering, and gives the executive branch increased flexibility in certain areas.

I would like to congratulate Congressmen FEIGHAN and GILMAN, chairman and cochairman of the committee's Task Force on International Narcotics Control, for their hard work on this bill. Neither Member is able to be here today, but they both wanted to move this measure as expeditiously as possible. They have asked that I insert for the record a section-by-section analysis of the bill for the purposes of legislative history. This language is the same as the statement of managers report language in the conference report on title III of H.R. 2508, except in those instances where modifications to the conference report have been made. Chairman FASCELL is also unable to be here today, but he too supports this measure and commends the work of the task force; at his request, I will include a list of the accomplishments and activities of the task force over the past 10 years.

I would also like to thank the chairman of the Committee on Banking, Finance, and Urban Affairs, and his staff, for their cooperation in bringing this bill forward. There are several matters in this bill in which the Banking Committee has jurisdictional interests, and the language in those cases has been agreed upon with that committee.

In short, Mr. Speaker, this is a good bill. It is noncontroversial. It is supported by Members from both sides of the aisle. The administration has no objection to the bill. I urge Members to support H.R. 6018.

I also want to thank Foreign Affairs Committee staffers, Marian Chambers and Randy Scheunemann, who worked diligently on H.R. 6018.

The documents I referred to follow.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF H.R. 6018

SHORT TITLE

Section 1 specifies that this Act may be cited as the International Narcotics Control Act of 1992.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Section 2 provides a table of contents for the bill.

INM AUTHORIZATION

Section 3 authorizes international narcotics control aid for fiscal years 1993 through 1995 at $171.5 million per year, which is straightlined from the fiscal year 1992 request.

REVISIONS TO THE FOREIGN ASSISTANCE ACT

Section 4 revises policy statements and general authorities contained in section 481 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961.

Section 4(a) includes an updated reference to the 1988 United Nations Convention Against Illicit Trafficking in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, and adds to the list of objectives of U.S. drug policy the issue of drug money-laundering, to ensure that countries adopt comprehensive domestic measures against money laundering and cooperate with each other in narcotics money-laundering investigations, prosecutions, and related forfeiture actions.

Section 4(b) adds a specific authority for the President to conclude reciprocal maritime agreements.

Section 4(c) incorporates sections 4601 (a) and (c) of the 1988 Anti-Drug Abuse Act, which makes the Secretary of State responsible for coordinating all assistance provided by the U.S. Government to support international efforts to combat illicit narcotics production or trafficking, into section 481 of the Foreign Assistance Act.

Section 4(d) amends section 481(c) of the Foreign Assistance Act to add the phrase "and archipelagic waters" which permits maritime law enforcement operations in the archipelagic waters of an archipelagic state as well as the territorial waters of a country, with the agreement of the country.

Section 4(e) provides an exemption to the prohibition contained in section 482(b) of the Foreign Assistance Act on using funds authorized under this chapter to procure weapons or ammunition. That exemption allows INM to procure (1) weapons and ammunition for the defensive arming of aircraft used for narcotics-related purposes, and (2) firearms and related ammunition to be provided for defensive purposes for State Department employees engaged in activities under this title. Section 4(e) also requires prior notice of any procurement of weapons and ammunition pursuant to regular reprogramming procedures.

This modification of the prohibition in current law is provided pursuant to the request of the executive branch outlined in testimony before the House Committee on Foreign Affairs' Task Force on International Narcotics Control on May 2, 1991. The committee recognizes that monitoring and implementing U.S. narcotics control programs overseas often involves working in a dangerous environment. Counternarcotics aircraft may face hostile ground fire and INM personnel may have to travel to areas frequented by armed traffickers or narco-insurgents. In past years, the Congress has regularly earmarked foreign military financing funds for defensive aircraft arming purposes but has been reluctant to allow INM to become directly involved in the procurement of lethal equipment. However, because the current situation has resulted in long delays and bureaucratic difficulties in procuring arms for antinarcotics aircraft, and because there are no alternatives for Department of State personnel to acquire defensive firearms other than personal purchase, the committee of conference has modified a prohibition which was first enacted in 1978. Any procurement of weapons and ammunition is subject to advance notification in accordance with procedures applicable under section 634A of the Foreign Assistance Act. The committee expects that the executive branch will use this authority only for the unique situations which have been discussed with the Congress in hearing testimony and informal meetings.

Section 4(f)(1) allows the President to waive the requirement to retain title to aircraft provided by the United States to foreign countries, contained in section 484 of the Foreign Assistance Act, if that requirement's application is contrary to the national interest, and the President notifies the Congress in accordance with the procedures contained in section 634A of the Foreign Assistance Act. The House bill also clarifies the authority of the Department of Defense to finance the leasing of aircraft for the purposes of satisfying the requirements of this section (which is the same as section 3(g) of the International Narcotics Control Act of 1990 (Public Law 101-623). It further deletes the provision in current law (section 484) which waives the requirement to retain title to aircraft provided through Export-Import Bank financing. That provision was unnecessary because section 638(a) of the Foreign Assistance Act already states that no provision of that Act applies to assistance extended through the Export-Import Bank.

Section 4(f)(2) combines and modifies sections 485 and 489 of the Foreign Assistance Act and deletes the requirements of current law in sections 489(c) and 489(d) for the President to issue regulations, with advance congressional review, to ensure proper use of aircraft provided under this chapter, and makes technical corrections to section 485.

The Congress has long mandated the retention of title for aircraft provided under chapter 8 of the Foreign Assistance Act for reasons based on a series of historical experiences of misuse, abuse, and a lack of recourse in such situations. However, the committee recognizes that there may be circumstances in which the level of confidence of the executive branch in the recipient countries intentions, U.S. monitoring capabilities, or other mitigating factors might justify transfer of aircraft titles. In such cases, the President must provide the Congress with advance notification. To the degree that narcotics control aircraft are to be provided through military assistance channels and the U.S. retains title, the committee has made permanent the authority contained in section 3(g) of Public Law 101-623 of fiscal year 1991 for the Department of Defense to provide such aircraft on a lease or loan basis.

The committee notes that on numerous occasions the executive branch has testified that the Bureau of International Narcotics Matters' "air wing" is the result of the 1986 law requiring the United States to retain title to narcotics control aircraft. Given the flexibility now provided in this section to waive that requirement, the committee requests that the Bureau of International Narcotics Matters submit a report to the appropriate committees of Congress no later than three months after the date of enactment of this legislation detailing the impact of this new authority on the Bureau's "air wing". The report should include plans for coordinating funding, support, and operations of aircraft for which transfer is titled (whether by the Department of State or the Department of Defense) with the management of aircraft currently in its inventory. This report should be coordinated with the Defense Security Assistance Agency.

Section 4(g) amends section 488 of the Foreign Assistance Act to allow narcotics control assistance funds to be used to finance leases of real property of a duration of not more than three years. It further requires the Secretary of State to report quarterly on leases entered into under this authority. Finally, section 4(g) requires 15 days prior notification on the use of funds for construction of facilities which would require the obligation of more than $750,000.

The committee notes that a recent decision by the Legal Advisor at the Department of State has necessitated this change in existing law. The prohibition on the acquisition of real property was enacted in 1988 to address a specific situation in which the Department of State purchased land and an existing building to serve as a facility for local police; the committee believed that this purchase should not have been made and that the host government should have acquired the land and building in question on its own.

However, the recent decision that no leases could be paid for with narcotics control funds has resulted in a significant disruption in certain narcotics control programs, particularly in Bolivia. Because of the nature of various narcotics control efforts, such as Operation Ghost Zone in Bolivia, short-term leases of facilities are sometimes necessary and can be the most cost effective and efficient way of procuring storage and housing for host country personnel and equipment. Therefore, the committee has allowed an exemption from the prohibition for leases which do not exceed three years. The committee also notes that the quarterly report on leases entered into under this exemption will allow for a continuing review of this authority to ensure that such leases do not become a surrogate for acquiring facilities that should be more correctly provided by the host government.

The committee has also included a new notification requirement on the construction of facilities. Since the beginning of the Andean Initiative in 1989, an increasing amount of resources have been devoted to the construction of facilities, including housing, riverine facilities, and other bases of operations. The committee is concerned that this explosion in construction, both in the Andean countries and other countries, such as Mexico, has not been adequately planned or coordinated. The committee believes that the prior notification requirement in this section will enable the committee to better monitor the expenditure of funds for construction. The committee also notes that the $750,000 threshold was included so that the executive branch would not be overburdened with reporting requirements.

REPORTING AND CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

Section 5 creates new sections 489, 489A, 490, and 490A for the Foreign Assistance Act. New sections 489 and 490 substantially rewrite sections 481 (e) and (h) of the Foreign Assistance Act regarding annual reporting and certification requirements.

New section 489(a)(1) requires the President to submit a comprehensive report to the Congress not later than April 1 of each year on all countries which have received INM assistance in either of the two proceeding fiscal years, and details what must be included in that report.

New section 489(a)(2)(A) requires a description of the policies adopted, agreements concluded, and programs implemented by the Department of State in pursuit of its delegated responsibilities for international narcotics control, including the status of negotiations between the U.S. and other countries on updated extradition treaties, mutual legal assistance treaties, precursor chemical controls, money laundering, and agreements pursuant to section 2015 of the International Narcotics Control Act of 1986 (relating to interdiction procedures for vessels of foreign registry).

New section 489(a)(2)(B) requires information on multilateral and bilateral strategies with respect to money laundering pursued by the Departments of State, Justice, and the Treasury, and other relevant U.S. Government agencies, either collectively or individually, to ensure the cooperation of foreign governments with respect to narcotics-related money laundering and to demonstrate that all U.S. Government agencies are pursuing a common strategy with respect to major money laundering countries.

New section 489(a)(3) requires the report to identify which countries are (A) major illicit drug producing and drug transit countries (as determined under new section 490(h)), (B) significant direct or indirect sources of illicit drugs affecting the United States, (C) major sources of precursor chemicals used in the production of illicit narcotics, or (D) major money laundering countries.

New section 489(a)(4) requires in addition, for each of the four categories of countries identified in (a)(3), the report to include: (1) a description of the plans, programs and timetables adopted by each such country, including efforts to meet the objectives of the 1988 U.N. Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, and a discussion of the adequacy of the legal and law enforcement measures taken and the accomplishments achieved in accord with those plans; (2) whether as a matter of governmental policy, each such country encourages or facilitates the production or distribution of illegal drugs or the laundering of proceeds from illegal drug transactions; (3) and whether any senior official of the government of each such country engages in, encourages, or facilitates the production or distribution of illegal drugs, or the laundering of proceeds from illegal drug transactions.

New section 489(a)(5) requires in addition, for the major producer and transit countries and the significant source and transit countries identified in (a)(3)(A) and (B), a detailed status report, with such information as can be reliably obtained, on the illicit narcotic or psychotropic drugs or other controlled substances which are being cultivated, produced, or processed in or transported through such country, noting significant changes in conditions, such as increases or decreases in the illicit cultivation and manufacture of and traffic in such drugs and substances.

New section 489(a)(6) requires, in addition, for those countries identified as major sources of precursor chemicals in paragraph (3)(C), information on which countries: are parties to international agreements on a method for maintaining records of transactions of an established list of precursor and essential chemicals; have established a procedure by which such records may be made available to U.S. law enforcement authorities; and have enacted national chemical control legislation which impose specific recordkeeping and reporting requirements for listed chemicals, establish a system of permits or declarations for imports and exports of listed chemicals, and authorize government officials to seize or suspend shipments of listed chemicals.

New section 489(a)(7)(A) requires, for those countries identified as major money laundering countries pursuant to paragraph (3)(D), information on which countries have financial institutions engaging in currency transactions involving drug trafficking proceeds that are linked to the United States; of those countries, which have not reached agreement with the United States authorities on a mechanism for exchanging adequate records in connection with narcotics investigations and proceedings; and which of those countries which have not reached such an agreement are negotiating in good faith with the United States to establish such a record-exchange mechanism, or have adopted laws or regulations that ensure the availability to appropriate U.S. Government personnel and those of other governments of adequate records in connection with narcotics investigations and proceedings.

Section 489(a)(7)(B) also requires in addition, for those countries identified as major money laundering countries, information on which countries have ratified the 1988 U.N. Convention and are taking steps to implement that Convention and other applicable agreements and conventions, and which countries have entered into bilateral agreements for the exchange of information on money-laundering with countries other than the United States.

Section 489(a)(7)(C) requires findings, for major money laundering countries, on the country's adoption of laws and regulations considered essential to prevent narcotics-related money laundering. Such findings are to include whether a country has criminalized narcotics money laundering, required banks and other financial institutions to know and record the identity of customers engaging in significant transactions, required financial institutions to maintain records for an adequate time to reconstruct significant transactions, required or allowed financial institutions to report suspicious transactions, established systems for identifying, tracing, freezing, seizing, and forfeiting narcotics-related assets, enacted laws for the sharing of seized narcotics assets with other governments, cooperated when requested with appropriate law enforcement agencies of other governments investigating financial crimes related to narcotics, and addressed the problem on international transportation of illegal-source currency and monetary instruments. The report shall also detail instances of refusals to cooperate on the part of foreign governments, and any actions taken by the United States Government and any international organization to address such obstacles, including the imposition of sanctions or penalties.

New section 489(b)(1) requires the annual report to include information on U.S. assistance provided during the preceding, current and next fiscal years to support international efforts to combat illicit narcotics production and trafficking. Section 489(b)(2) requires the report to include (A) the amount and nature of assistance provided or to be provided, (B) for countries identified as major producers and major transit countries under subsection (a)(3)(A), information from the Drug Enforcement Administration, the Customs Service, and the Coast Guard describing in detail the assistance provided or to be provided to such country by that agency, and the assistance provided or to be provided to that agency by such country, with respect to narcotic control efforts during the preceding, current and next fiscal year, and (C) a list of all transfers which were made by the United States Government during the preceding fiscal year, to a foreign country for narcotics control purposes of any property seized by or otherwise forfeited to the U.S. Government in connection with narcotics-related activity, including an estimate of the fair market value and physical condition of each item of property transferred.

New section 489(b)(3) provides that the reports required by the subsection may be provided on a classified basis to the extent necessary.

New section 489(c) provides definitions for terms used in this section. The term "precursor chemical" has the same meaning as the term "listed chemical" has under paragraph 33 of section 102 of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 902), and the term "major money laundering country" means a country whose financial institutions engage in currency transactions involving significant amounts of proceeds from international narcotics trafficking.

New section 489(d) states that this section only applies during fiscal years 1992 and 1993, and that section 489A does not apply during those fiscal years.

New section 490 substantially revises section 481(h) of current law, relating to certification procedures for major drug countries, for fiscal years 1993 through 1995.

New section 490(a)(1) requires that 50% of U.S. assistance allocated at the beginning of each fiscal year for each major illicit drug-producing or drug-transit country shall be withheld from obligation and expenditure, except as provided in paragraph (B) and subsection (b). New section 490(a)(1) also states that subparagraph (A) shall not apply with respect to a country if the President determines that its application to that country would be contrary to the national interest of the United States, except that any such determination shall not take effect until at least 15 days after the President submits written notification of that determination to the appropriate congressional committees in accordance with the procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 634A of the Foreign Assistance Act.

New section 490(a)(2) further requires the Secretary of the Treasury to direct the U.S. Executive Directors to multilateral banks to vote, on and after April 1 of each year, against any loan to or for any major illicit drug-producing or drug-transit country except as provided in subsection (b).

New section 490(b)(1) establishes what must be certified under the certification process. It states that, subject to subsection (d), the 50% of aid withheld pursuant to subsection (a)(1) may be obligated and expended, and the requirement of subsection (a)(2) to vote against multilateral development bank assistance to a country shall not apply, if the President determines and certifies to the Congress, at the time of the annual INCSR report, that.

(A) during the previous year the country has cooperated with the United States, or has taken adequate steps on its own, to achieve full compliance with the goals and objectives established by the U.N. Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, 1988; or

(B) for a country that would not otherwise qualify for certification under subparagraph (A), the vital national interests of the United States require that the assistance withheld be provided and that the U.S. not vote against multilateral development bank assistance for that country.

New section 490(b)(2) provides that, in making the determination described in paragraph (1)(A), the President shall consider the extent to which the country has:

(A) met the goals and objectives of the 1988 U.N. Convention, including action on such issues as illicit cultivation, production, distribution, sale, transport, financing, money laundering, asset seizure, extradition, mutual legal assistance, law enforcement and transit cooperation, precursor chemicals, and demand reduction;

(B) accomplished the goals in an applicable bilateral narcotics agreement with the United States or a multilateral agreement; and

(C) taken legal and law enforcement measures to prevent and punish public corruption (especially by senior government officials) that facilitates the production, processing, or shipment of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances, or that discourages the investigation or prosecution of such acts.

New section 490(b)(3) requires the President to submit a detailed justification for national interest certifications.

New section 490(c) states that the President may make a certification under subsection (b)(1)(A) with respect to a major illicit drug producing country, or major drug-transit country which is also a producer of licit opium, only if the President determines that such country has taken steps to prevent significant diversion of its licit cultivation and production into the illicit market, and that such country maintains production and stockpiles at levels no higher than those consistent with licit market demand, and prevents illicit cultivation and production.

New section 490(d) prescribes procedures for congressional review of the President's certifications. If, within 45 calendar days after the certification is received, the Congress enacts a joint resolution disapproving the President's determination, the 50% withholding requirement and the requirement to vote against further multilateral development bank loans shall continue in effect.

New section 490(e) clarifies what assistance is to be denied in a case where either the President or the Congress determines that a country shall not be certified as fully cooperating. Funds may not be obligated for U.S. assistance to that country, and funds previously obligated for U.S. assistance may not be expended. Further, the requirement to vote against further multilateral development bank loans shall apply regardless of the April 1 date contained in subsection (a)(2).

New section 490(f) specifies procedures for recertifying countries which have been denied certification. Denial of assistance and voting against multilateral development bank loans shall continue until the President makes a certification under subsection (b)(1) (A) or (B) for a country and the Congress does not enact a joint resolution of disapproval pursuant to section 490(d), or until the President submits at any other time a national interest certification pursuant to subsection (b)(1)(B) for a country. In the second case, this only applies if either the President did not submit a certification with respect to that country under subsection (b)(1) at the time of the April 1 report, or if the Congress enacted a joint resolution under section 490(d) disapproving the President's certification determination.

New section 490(g) specifies congressional review procedures for recertification. Any joint resolution under this subsection shall be considered in the Senate in accordance with the expedited procedures specified in section 601(b) of the International Security Assistance and Arms Export Control Act of 1976; in the House of Representatives, a motion to proceed to the consideration of any such joint resolution shall be treated as highly privileged in the House.

New section 490(h) requires the President to submit to the Congress by January 1 of each year a list of those countries which he has determined are major drug producing or transit countries.

New section 490(i) specifies that this section applies only during fiscal years 1993, 1994, and 1995.

Finally, section 5(a) makes modifications to the certification procedures and reporting requirements, and the determination of major producing and transit countries in current law which become effective after September 30, 1995. These modifications are included in new sections 489A and 490A of the Foreign Assistance Act and delete obsolete requirements for consultations and congressional hearings, and obsolete references to country plans submitted pursuant to the 1961 Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs.

Section 5(b) amends section 481(i)(4) of the Foreign Assistance Act to clarify the definition of "U.S. assistance" for purposes of this chapter.

This revision of annual reporting requirements was designed in part to address concerns raised by the executive branch over the number of reporting requirements concerning narcotics control issues that have been enacted over the past decade. In response to this concern the committee has deleted certain duplicative requirements, deleted the requirement for an annual mid-year report (currently section 481(b) of the Foreign Assistance Act), consolidated other reporting requirements within the annual report required by this section, and deleted obsolete language in current law.

However, the committee has also considerably expanded the reporting requirements for the annual International Narcotics Control Strategy Report (INCSR) in three significant areas: first, by requiring the inclusion of information on all countries that have received INM assistance in either of the two preceding fiscal years; second, by broadening detailed reporting on all major money laundering and major precursor chemical source countries as well as on all significant producer and transit countries; and third, by adding references to the 1988 U.N. Convention. The committee believes that the unparalleled transnational threat posed to the United States by the international traffic in illicit narcotics, as well as the increasing multilateral consensus manifest in the entry into force of the 1988 United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, merits increased emphasis on rating counternarcotics performance with an accepted international standard and more comprehensive reporting on individual nations' counternarcotics efforts. As Drug Enforcement Administration Administrator, Robert C. Bonner, said in congressional testimony in March of 1991, "[The entry into force of the 1988 U.N. Convention] is a milestone, I believe, in the international effort to fight drug traffickers because this far-reachng treaty will go a long way toward providing the tools and international framework for combating drug trafficking, and as more nations ratify this convention, even more international cooperation will be possible."

The committee also believes that by expanding the report the issue of narcotics control will become a more firmly entrenched component of U.S. foreign policy. By expanding the need for increased attention to narcotics by foreign service officers in countries not currently covered by INM personnel, and by stressing the importance of the narcotics issue to the foreign service, the process of "weaving the issue into the fabric of our foreign policy" which was noted by Assistant Secretary of State for International Narcotics Matters Melvyn Levitsky in recent congressional testimony, will continue to be enhanced. The committee notes that it does not intend the reference to "compliance with the goals and objectives" to refer solely to signatories of the 1988 U.N. Convention; on the contrary, the committee desires to build upon the international standards established by the Convention and explicitly avoid creating any disincentives for countries to sign and ratify the Convention.

In addition, the committee has moved to a more comprehensive focus by requiring more detailed reporting on the issues of money laundering and precursor chemical production, as well as on the more traditional issues of production and transit, in recognition of the fact that effectively addressing these two important aspects of the international narcotics trade are integral to any international efforts.

While there is virtually no country in the world unaffected by international narcotics trafficking, the committee recognizes that there are significant variations in the scope of the problem among countries. For countries which are not major drug producers, drug transit countries, money laundering centers, or listed chemical sources, the subjects for reporting are identified as the extent to which a country has met the goals and objectives of the 1988 U.N. Convention, accomplished the goals in an applicable bilateral or multilateral narcotics agreement, and addressed narcotics-related corruption. The committee does not expect reporting on countries not included in the four categories listed above to be as detailed as for countries such as Peru or Mexico. This section would require reasonable efforts to examine the status of the 1988 U.N. Convention and any implementing legislation, and a brief description of efforts to address narcotics-related developments, including corruption, in a given country. Much of this information concerning the status of legal measures, ratification of the Convention, seizures, arrests, etc. should be readily available, as evidenced by the U.N. International Narcotics Control Board's annual report covering all member states of the United Nations. The committee also notes that nothing in this section would preclude INM from reporting on countries which may not yet receive INM assistance but which they believe may be significant, such as the independent states of the former Soviet Union. In addition, as long as each INM assistance recipient is included, reporting could be done on a regional basis if appropriate for countries which are not major drug producers, drug transit countries, money laundering centers, or precursor chemical sources. The committee expects that the regional format would only be used for countries in areas not currently covered in the INCSR, such as island-states in the South Pacific or smaller states in West Africa, but not for regions such as Western Europe and the Southern Cone.

By broadening the INCSR beyond its traditional focus on narcotics production and transit, this section requires a more comprehensive view of all major elements of the international narcotics trade and addresses the issues raised by the "Kerry Amendment" on money laundering (Section 4702 of the 1988 Anti-Drug Abuse Act, Public Law 100-690) and the "McConnell Amendment" on precursor chemicals (Section 599H of the Foreign Operations, Export Financing, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 1991, Public Law 101-513).

With respect to the changes in certification, as noted previously, debates about the efficacy of the certification process have taken place since its enactment. However, the committee firmly believes that certification serves a useful purpose in focusing attention on narcotics issues, both within the Congress and the executive branch. Although the executive branch was vehemently opposed to certification in the beginning, over the years this position has changed. In testimony before the Congress in recent years, executive branch officials have repeatedly stated that the certification process, while flawed in their judgment, has succeeded in highlighting to foreign governments the seriousness which the U.S. Government attaches to the issue of narcotics control.

Therefore, in an effort to accommodate concerns of the executive branch about the certification process while maintaining the leverage provided by the process, the committee has provided the President with a waiver of the 50 percent withholding requirement, reduced the congressional review period, given the President increased flexibility in determining the list of countries which are subject to certification, and provided a more streamlined method for recertifying countries in special circumstances.

In addition, in concert with the more multilateral approach the committee has adopted with respect to the annual INCSR report, the standard for certifying countries has been changed from "fully cooperating" with the United States to one based on meeting the goals and objective of the 1988 U.N. Convention.

With respect to the changes for fiscal years 1993, 1994, and 1995 in the recertification process, the committee notes the following: under current law, for a country decertified either by the President or by congressional resolution of disapproval, a Presidential recertification for the country either on grounds of full cooperation or on grounds of national interest requires affirmative congressional action. Under the new procedures, the President could recertify a country on national interest grounds any time after April 1 without affirmative congressional action, if (1) he certifies that any such country has undergone a fundamental change in government, or (2) there has been a fundamental change in the conditions that were the reason why the country was decertified. However, the procedures for recertifying on full cooperation grounds would still require affirmative congressional action. This change was provided at the request of the executive branch, which asserted that the recertification procedures in current law resulted in substantial delays in resuming assistance to Panama after the December 1989 U.S. action in that country. The committee notes that, in that case, the President transmitted to the Congress a recertification based on "full cooperation" for Panama on January 29, 1990 (Executive Communication 2373, Presidential Certification Number 90-9). Less than two weeks later, on February 7, 1990, both Houses of Congress had passed legislation to recertify Panama on the basis of national interest (see House Report 101-401, Part I, sections 102 and 103). The committee therefore does not find the assertion that recertification procedures in current law delayed the resumption of assistance to Panama persuasive. Nonetheless, the committee has provided the requested change in order to eliminate such assertions in the future.

Finally, the committee notes that the definition of "U.S. assistance" to be denied if a country is decertified has been clarified. Current law (section 481(i)(4)) defines the aid to be denied as all assistance which is not exempted in that section. This has led to confusion over how broadly non-exempted "assistance" should be construed. In the case of the Panama decertification, for example, questions were raised as to whether, in the period before Panama was recertified, the U.S. Federal Aviation Administration could provide technical assistance at airports in Panama. Further, that section designated as assistance, both for purposes of aid denial and for exemption, programs which are not normally construed to constitute foreign assistance, or which are not otherwise covered by prohibitions in the Foreign Assistance Act. The definition in this bill has therefore been changed to limit the reach of this prohibition to those programs identified in this section or excluded by this section. The only substantive change is to exempt narcotics-related economic assistance from the aid prohibition, so long as Congress is notified 15 days in advance pursuant to reprogramming procedures in section 634A of the Foreign Assistance Act.

TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS

Section 6 contains statutory clarifications resulting from the changes in reporting requirements and certification procedures for fiscal years 1992 and 1993; makes additional technical corrections to chapter 8 of the Foreign Assistance Act, and the Ex-Im Bank Act necessitated by other amendments made by this legislation; and repeals obsolete provisions of current law. Section 6 also effectively repeals certain prior year ceilings on assistance in the International Narcotics Control Act of 1989 at the request of the executive branch.

660 WAIVER

Secton 7(a) states that for fiscal years 1993, 1994, and 1995, section 660 of the Foreign Assistance Act shall not apply with respect to transfers of excess defense articles, foreign military financing assistance that is provided for narcotics-related purposes, or for international military education and training that is provided for narcotics-related purposes.

Section 7(b) requires that at least 15 days before any excess defense articles are transferred or any funds are obligated for FMF or IMET under this section, the President shall notify Congress in accordance with the procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 6304.

Section 7(c) states that assistance provided pursuant to this section shall be coordinated with international narcotics control assistance.

This section responds to an executive branch request for a waiver of the prohibition contained in section 660 of current law on providing assistance and training to foreign police forces. The executive branch requested a permanent waiver of section 660 of current law, for all economic and military foreign assistance accounts worldwide, for narcotics-related purposes. The committee has provided such a waiver only for military assistance accounts (narcotics-related excess defense articles, FMF, and IMET), with prior notice to Congress, for a 3-year "trial period" through fiscal year 1995.

The committee notes that narcotics control assistance provided under this title is permanently exempted from the prohibition contained in section 660 of the Foreign Assistance Act. Section 660 itself also exempts overseas activities conducted through the Drug Enforcement Administration. Section 506(a)(2) of the Foreign Assistance Act also contains a permanent waiver from this prohibition. The Congress has on numerous occasions provided narcotic-related waivers of this provision for specific purposes, primarily in Latin America. The committee has therefore agreed to provide a global waiver of this requirement for the relevant military assistance accounts for a three-year period. In the case of the Andean Initiative this waiver is provided in explicit recognition of the executive branch's recent emphasis on assistance to the police vis-a-vis assistance to the military. The committee stresses that this waiver is provided for narcotics-related purposes only, and that it will closely monitor any use of this authority for purposes which extend beyond those related to narcotics control objectives.

ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE WAIVER

Section 8 provides authority for the President to provide narcotics-related economic assistance notwithstanding any other provision of law except for those relating to ineligibility due to a lack of cooperation on narcotics control issues for fiscal years 1992–1995.

Under current law, assistance provided through INM is exempt from virtually any cut-off of assistance. This new section authorizes, in addition, the provision of other narcotics-related economic assistance to countries otherwise ineligible for U.S. assistance, with prior notification pursuant to the procedures contained in section 634A of the Foreign Assistance Act. The committee recognizes that there may be unique circumstances in which a country is ineligible for assistance due to non-narcotics related reasons where the provision of narcotics-related economic assistance could support U.S. counternarcotics goals. However, the committee also notes that the authority provided in this new section could be misinterpreted as a "loophole" to provide broad economic assistance to countries which are otherwise prohibited from receiving assistance, such as Pakistan. The committee therefore limited this authority to fiscal years 1992–1995. The committee will insist that "narcotics-related assistance" provided pursuant to this authority in fact has a demonstrable and direct relevance to narcotics control objectives.

EXCESS DEFENSE ARTICLES

Section 9 makes revisions to the authority to transfer excess defense articles for counternarcotics purposes contained in section 517 of the Foreign Assistance Act by adding a new subsection (j). Subsection (j) states that the transfer authority provided in sections 518 and 519 of the Foreign Assistance Act may not be exercised with respect to any major illicit drug producing country or major drug transit country in Latin America or the Caribbean.

The committee has included this restriction to address the proliferation of authorities through which excess defense articles are currently provided. Section 517 authorizes such articles to be provided for counternarcotics purposes to major drug countries in Latin America which have democratic governments and which respect human rights. It further limits the amount of articles which can be provided to any one country to $10 million per fiscal year. Section 519 authorizes such articles to be provided, world-wide, to countries for the purpose of military modernization, and contains no similar restrictions to section 517. The committee notes that a number of excess defense articles have been provided to major drug countries in Latin America using the section 519 authority rather than the appropriate section 517 authority. Section 9 therefore limits the provision of excess defense articles to major drug countries in Latin America to those provided through section 517.

Section 9 further clarifies that Department of Defense excess defense articles include Coast Guard excess property, and excludes from the definition of excess defense articles construction equipment, including tractors, scrappers, loaders, graders, bulldozers, dump trucks, generators, and compressors.

IMET

Section 10 amends section 541 of the Foreign Assistance to include new narcotics purposes for which international military education and training assistance may be used.

DEFINITIONS

Section 11 amends section 481(e) of the Foreign Assistance Act (as amended by this act) to provide a definition of appropriate congressional committees.

EXPORT-IMPORT BANK

Section 12 extends through 1997 the exemption, contained in section 2(b)(6) of the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945, from the general prohibition of Export-Import Bank financing for sales of defense articles and services to developing countries if those sales are primarily for anti-narcotics purposes. Section 12 also adds a new requirement for consultation by the Bank with the Assistant Secretary for Human Rights and Humanitarian Affairs before financing sales under this section. Section 12 also makes technical and clarifying changes to section 2(b)(6) of the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945.

Mr. BROOMFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I also rise as one of the original cosponsors of H.R. 6018, the International Narcotics Control Act of 1992.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 6018, the International Narcotics Control Act of 1992, is an important bill which will strengthen our overseas counterdrug programs. The Committee on Foreign Affairs has worked on this legislation for almost 2 years.

I would like to commend Chairman FASCELL for his diligent efforts to improve our antidrug capabilities. Congressman ED FEIGHAN, chairman of our Task Force on International Narcotics Control, and Congressman BEN GILMAN, vice-chair of the task force, have worked for many months to bring this legislation to the floor. All of them have spent many hours over the last decade in trying to improve U.S. counternarcotics efforts.

H.R. 6018 is the result of compromise by all parties. I understand the administration does not object to passage of the bill. H.R. 6018 will solve many problems which have arisen in our overseas counternarcotics efforts. Significant flexibility is granted to the administration in a number of areas. H.R. 6018 expands the annual narcotics report—especially in the increasingly important areas of money laundering and precursor chemical traffic—and highlights the U.N. convention in the annual certification process.

I believe this legislation will help provide the tools for all Americans working to lessen the flow of illegal drugs into the United States I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 6018.

Mr. FEIGHAN. Mr. Speaker, H.R. 6018 is the product of an intensive review of current law and the executive branch request regarding a number of narcotics control-related matters. It attempts to streamline current law, give the executive branch the flexibility it requested where possible, but retain important principles about which the Congress feels strongly. This bill is essentially the same as title III of H.R. 2508, which passed the House in 1991 as part of a broader bill. Several technical corrections have been made to reflect changes due to the passage of time, and to accommodate certain requests of the executive branch.

Briefly, this bill streamlines current language in the law regarding the annual drug certification and reporting process, gives the President the flexibility to determine which countries are included on the certification list for drug cooperation, and changes the date for submission of the list, waives the current 50 percent aid withholding requirement if the President determines it is in the national interest and gives prior notice to the Congress, reduces the congressional review period for the certified countries from 45 legislative days to 45 calendar days, clarifies the definition of "U.S. assistance" for international narcotics control purposes, and provides a special waiver to address unique situations in which conditions in decertified countries undergo a sudden and fundamental change. These changes would be applicable for a 3-year period; at the end of that time, current law would again become applicable unless subsequent legislation was enacted.

I would also note that the thrust of the changes in the certification and reporting process reflects the fact that narcotics control has become a truly multilateral issue with the entry into force of the 1988 U.N. Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, and that countries' narcotics control performance is linked to the multilateral standards in the landmark 1988 U.N. convention.

Mr. Speaker, this bill will not solve the drug problem in this country, but it will make a contribution to improving our international efforts to combating the illicit drug trade. It represents 10 years of experience of the committee's Task Force on International Narcotics Control, which I have had the honor to chair or cochair during that time. I would like to thank our ranking Republican, Congressman GILMAN, and his staff, Randy Scheunemann, without whose contributions and assistance this bill would not have been possible. I would also like to thank the chairman of the Banking Committee and his staff for their assistance and cooperation on those matters in this bill in which the Banking Committee has a jurisdictional interest.

Mr. Speaker, the administration supports this bill, and it has bipartisan support. I urge all Members to support its passage.

Mr. FASCELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 6018, the International Narcotics Control Act of 1992.

This measure, which is essentially the same as the narcotics title of the foreign aid conference report on H.R. 2508, represents a great deal of work and expertise by the committee's Task Force on International Narcotics Control. Congressmen FEIGHAN and GILMAN, who have had leadership positions on the task force for the past 10 years, have devoted an enormous amount of time over these years in developing legislation to address our overseas narcotics control efforts, and in monitoring the implementation of these programs.

I have long maintained that demand reduction is the only long-term solution to the drug problem facing our country. Like many Members, I have experienced frustrations over the lack of more substantial progress in our international efforts. I am particularly distressed that we were forced to drop from this bill any language relating specifically to our program in the Andes, because the administration objected to again imposing the same human rights and drug control performance conditionality language on these countries which the President has already signed into law once.

Nonetheless, this bill is a good compromise measure, and worthy of support. It broadens our focus from drug production and eradication to include other critical elements in the drug chain such as precursor chemicals and money laundering, subjects on which the executive branch has been reluctant to report. It places more emphasis on multilateral cooperation and compliance with the 1988 U.N. convention. It rewrites the law governing our narcotics control programs to delete legislative barnacles, clarify ambiguous or conflicting provisions, and provide the executive branch with the flexibility it seeks. In short, this is a good government bill.

I again commend Congressmen FEIGHAN and GILMAN for their hard work, and ask all Members to support his measure.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, as cochairman of the International Narcotics Task Force, I strongly support H.R. 6018, the International Narcotics Control Act of 1992. Congressman FEIGHAN, the chairman of our task force deserves special credit for making this legislation a reality.

Chairman FEIGHAN, who has unfortunately decided to retire after the 102d Congress, has spent many years fighting international drug traffic. He was the first chairman of our task force from 1983 to 1985. He resumed his position as chairman last year. Throughout his 10 years in Congress, ED FEIGHAN has typified a legislator who cares about policy, about the personnel charged with carrying out policy, and who is willing to listen to and consider all points of view. I know I speak for many in saying that we will miss his leadership on counternarcotics and many other issues.

H.R. 6018 is the product of a joint effort to modify the Foreign Assistance Act to reflect changes in the international struggle against narcotics traffickers. The annual certification process is linked to the 1988 U.N. convention-a globally accepted set of criteria which holds great potential to make the fight against international narcotics traffic a truly multinational battle.

H.R. 6018 also requires increased reporting on money laundering and precursor chemical countries in recognition of their crucial role in the illicit drug traffic. This legislation requires the annual international narcotics control strategy report to discuss the status of the 1988 U.N. convention and narcotics-related corruption in all countries which receive U.S. counternaroctics assistance. This modest requirement will help those of us charged with oversight to better evaluate the effectiveness of our antidrug aid.

H.R. 6018 farther provides flexibilities requested by the administration on issues ranging from aircraft titling to weapons and property acquisition. We have included certain technical provisions to address new or unanticipated situations. Throughout our deliberations, we have been guided by one principle: whatever our differences with a particular counterdrug policy, there are many dedicated Americans from many agencies working overseas in difficult—and often dangerous—conditions who deserve the best support we can provide. I believe that we have produced legislation which will improve our international drug control efforts and which will receive broad, bipartisan support in the Congress.

Accordingly, I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 6018.

Mrs. LLOYD. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in the strongest of support for H.R. 6018, the International Narcotics Control Act. While significant progress has been made in the past several years in stemming the tide of drugs coming into this country, further, more concentrated efforts are needed.

The scourge of drug use and abuse in this country has reached all parts of our society. Clearly, the problem is worse in the urban, and inner-city areas, but the rural and well off are also affected. Drug abuse not only affects the life of the abuser, but also the lives of the families and friends who are often unaware of the problem or unclear how to help.

H.R. 6018, tightens up the drug provisions contained in the 1961 Foreign Assistance Act. Specifically, it puts restrictions on the amount of U.S. foreign aid, military or economic, going to a drug producing or drug trafficking nation. The intent is to encourage drug producing countries to get out of the business if they have been or wish to continue to be recipients of U.S. assistance. Another provision of this bill, would permit the U.S. international military education and training program to cooperate with foreign counternarcotics police forces. Through shared knowledge of the problem, a more comprehensive approach to drug interdiction can be developed.

Mr. Speaker, these provisions represent another example of the wide variety of approaches needed to attack the international drug trade. Throughout my tenure, I have supported other initiatives to suppress the proliferation of drugs including the highly regarded Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988 (P.L. 100–690) which created the office of drug czar and increased penalties for drug trafficking, including the death penalty for the drug related killing of a law enforcement officer.

My colleagues, we must face the reality of drug abuse and proliferation head on. People with drug problems are out there and are affecting our children, our friends, and our constituents. Let us reaffirm our commitment to addressing this national tragedy and vote to support H.R. 6018.

Mr. BROOMFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I thank the distinguished gentleman from Michigan [Mr. BROOMFIELD], the ranking minority member of the committee, for his remarks.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from American Samoa [Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6018.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks, and include therein extraneous material, on H.R. 6018.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from American Samoa?

There was no objection.

WOMEN'S SOCCER AS A MEDAL SPORT IN 1996 OLYMPICS

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and concur in the Senate concurrent resolution (S. Con. Res. 127) to express the sense of Congress that women's soccer should be a medal sport in the 1996 Centennial Olympic Games in Atlanta, GA.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. CON. RES. 127

Whereas participation in soccer programs by women in the United States and abroad has increased dramatically since 1988;

Whereas 45 nations competed in the 1st Women's World Soccer Championships in the People's Republic of China;

Whereas the United States Women's National Soccer Team won the 1st Women's World Soccer Championships;

Whereas bids have been extended to host the 2d Women's World Soccer Championships;

Whereas 64 nations have a national women's soccer team;

Whereas 40 percent of young soccer players in the United States are female;

Whereas one-third of the children under the age of 18 in the United States play soccer;

Whereas 26 percent of the more than 29,000 soccer players at the college level in the United States are women;

Whereas one-third of the 327,000 soccer players at the high school level in the United States are women;

Whereas, during the 1990–1991 school year, high schools in the United States added soccer to their sports programs more often than any other sport;

Whereas Atlanta, Georgia, will host the 1996 Olympic games;

Whereas many nations have announced that they will give women's soccer priority in their Olympic programs once it becomes a medal sport; and

Whereas the Congress has in the past designated a special day to honor women and girls in sports: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That it is the sense of the Congress that women's soccer should be a medal sport at the 1996 centennial Olympic games in Atlanta, Georgia.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rules, the gentleman from American Samoa [Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. BROOMFIELD] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from American Samoa [Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA].

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this resolution, which passed the other body on September 25, provides unequivocal support to efforts to make women's soccer a medal sport in time for the next Olympic games to be held in Atlanta in 1996. I would like to commend the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. MORAN] for his leadership in assuring timely consideration of this measure.

Soccer is one of the most popular sports throughout the world. It is a sport played by youngsters everywhere and it is a sport enjoyed by young and old, men and women, as both participants and fans. It is a sport so universal in its appeal that it is surprising that it is not already an Olympic sport for both men and women. But somehow, women's soccer has not been honored by being designated an Olympic medal sport. We hope that this resolution will help end that oversight.

While baseball, American football, and basketball remain the chief U.S. team sports, soccer is spreading rapidly in popularity. Women's soccer in particular is a fast growing major sport. One out of three youngsters in the United States under age 18 play soccer. In fact, 40 percent of youth soccer players in our country are female; one-fourth of college soccer players are female, and one-third of all high school soccer players are female.

Let's send a powerful message to the International Olympic Committee. I urge my colleagues to support women's soccer by voting for Senate Concurrent Resolution 127.

I want to take this opportunity to recognize the contribution of Mike Finley of the Foreign Affairs Committee for his work on this measure.

□ 1600

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BROOMFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I want to express my support for this resolution.

The most popular sport around the world, soccer is fast becoming a favorite sport in this country as well. Youth soccer leagues exist all around the Nation, and enjoy increasingly widespread participation.

Many of the kids who first joined these youth soccer leagues over a decade ago are now representing the United States in international competition. The winning performance of the U.S. women's team at the Women's World Soccer Championships demonstrates how the United States is rapidly becoming a world power in this sport.

The International Olympic Committee should recognize the great popularity that soccer enjoys among women around the world, and the high quality of play in women's soccer. It is time to give the U.S. women's soccer team a chance to go for the gold in Atlanta.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. DARDEN). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from American Samoa [Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA] that the House suspend the rules and concur in the Senate concurrent resolution, Senate Concurrent Resolution 127.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate concurrent resolution was concurred in.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the Senate concurrent resolution just considered and concurred in.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from American Samoa?

There was no objection.

CALLING FOR UNITED STATES TO HOST 1998 PLENIPOTENTIARY CONFERENCE OF THE INTERNATIONAL TELECOMMUNICATIONS UNION

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and agree to the resolution (H. Res. 566) calling for the United States to host the 1998 Plenipotentiary Conference of the International Telecommunications Union.

The Clerk read as follows:

H. RES. 566

Whereas the United States last hosted the International Telecommunications Union Plenipotentiary Conference in 1947;

Whereas in the period since that Conference, the union of computers and telephony has ushered in the drawing of the "Information Age";

Whereas the United States recognizes the importance of the International Telecommunications Union (ITU) in setting global standards, frequency allocation, and regulation of the use of geostationary orbit slots for satellites;

Whereas France hosted the last Plenipotentiary Conference in 1988, Japan is scheduled to host the 1994 Conference, and these countries are among our strongest international competitors in the provision of telecommunications goods and services;

Whereas the International Telecommunications Union Plenipotentiary Conference brings together many of the world's most influential government and private sector telecommunications officials and hosting the 1998 Conference would provide United States business, particularly small business, with an opportunity to interact with these officials and showcase American products and talent; and

Whereas the United States, as the preeminent supplier of telecommunications goods and services, by hosting the 1998 International Telecommunications Union Plenipotentiary Conference, would underscore the essential role of the United States in the international telecommunications arena: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the House of Representatives that the United States Government should extend an invitation to host the 1998 International Telecommunications Union Plenipotentiary Conference at the earliest appropriate opportunity.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from American Samoa [Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Michigian [Mr. BROOMFIELD] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from American Samoa [Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA].

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of House Resolution 566 which resolves that the United States should extend an invitation to the International Telecommunication Union to host the 1998 Plenipotentiary Conference of its 172 member countries.

The activities of the ITU are of growing importance to the U.S. telecommunications industry through its role in the international marketplace in facilitating global standards, allocating frequencies, and in allocating geostationary orbital slots. A healthy telecommunications industry is critical to the U.S. economy and national security and the ITU is becoming increasingly critical to that segment of our economy.

The last Plenipotentiary Conference was hosted by France and the next is to be hosted by Japan, two of the United States most significant competitors in telecommunications technology and services. The importance of the ITU has not been lost by these nations. In contrast the United States has not hosted an ITU Plenipotentiary Conference since 1947.

This resolution is an attempt at trying to rectify this situation. House Resolution 566 expresses the sense of the House of Representatives that the U.S. Government should extend an invitation to host the 1998 ITU Plenipotentiary Conference at the earliest appropriate opportunity. Mr. Speaker I urge my colleagues to support this resolution.

Before ending, I want to thank Foreign Affairs Committee staffer, Richard McBride, who contributed immensely to House Resolution 566.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BROOMFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I join in urging our colleagues to approve this resolution which calls for the United States to host the international meeting of telecommunications experts in 1998.

The United States continues to be the world's leader in telecommunications goods and services. Our willingness to host the 1998 Conference of the International Telecommunications Union will underline our intention to remain an active participant in this growing and dynamic field.

Every 5 years, this international conference brings together many of the world's most influential government and private sector telecommunications officials. Aside from the important issues to be discussed at the Conference, it would provide U.S. businesses, particularly small businesses, with an opportunity to meet with these officials and exhibit American products.

Mr. Speaker, hosting the Conference of the 170-member International Telecommunications Union will be good for the United States as a leader in this field. It will also be good for U.S. business. The House should approve this resolution, and endorse an invitation from the United States to the ITU to meet in the United States in 1998.

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. BROOMFIELD. I yield to the gentleman from American Samoa.

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I would like at this time to again express my deepest appreciation to the gentleman from Michigan, who is the esteemed senior ranking member of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs. I want to say that Mr. BROOMFIELD will be sorely missed by this Member with his retirement this year.

I want to wish him the best in his endeavors and that they all be fruitful. I hope that despite his departure from this Chamber in the new session of the 103d Congress, that I, along with the other Members on both sides of the aisle, will continue to benefit from and draw upon his wisdom and the vast amount of experience that he possesses in foreign affairs. Certainly, Mr. BROOMFIELD with his work in Congress over so many years has made tremendous, important contributions to this great Nation of ours. With the gentleman from Michigan leaving at the end of this Congress, I just wanted to note for the RECORD that his leadership, guidance, and foresight will be greatly missed.

Mr. BROOMFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman for his very generous remarks. The feeling is mutual. I obviously will regret not being around here, but after 36 years, I am ready for retirement. I will be here in the Washington area, so our paths will cross in the future, too. I thank the gentleman very much for his nice comments.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from American Samoa [Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA] that the House suspend the rules and agree to the resolution, House Resolution 566.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the resolution just considered and adopted.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from American Samoa?

There was no objection.

REGARDING FLIGHT OF REFUGEES AND DISPLACED PERSONS IN YUGOSLAVIA

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and agree to the resolution (H. Res. 557) concerning the plight of refugees and displaced persons in the former Yugoslav Republics.

The Clerk read as follows:

H. RES. 557

Whereas refugees and displaced persons from the former Yugoslav republics, particularly those from Bosnia-Herzegovina, have endured tremendous suffering;

Whereas the problem of refugees and displaced persons represents a humanitarian crisis with significant international repercussions;

Whereas the number of missing persons whose fate is uncertain has reached an unacceptably high level;

Whereas the results of the abhorrent process of "ethnic cleansing" cannot be accepted by the international community;

Whereas the United Nations has undertaken commendable and courageous actions to alleviate the suffering of refugees and displaced persons; and

Whereas Serbia and its ally Montenegro are considered to be primarily responsible for creation of the refugee and displaced persons crisis: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives—

(1) urges the President to assist the United Nations in intensifying measures to address the plight of refugees and displaced persons from the former Yugoslav republics, especially Bosnia-Herzegovina, including—

(A) the expansion of existing efforts by the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees in the former Yugoslav republics to expedite assistance to refugees and displaced persons for the duration of the crisis;

(B) immediate provision of emergency shelter, foodstuffs, sanitation facilities, and medical care to refugees and displaced persons from Bosnia-Herzegovina;

(C) expansion of the registration process for all refugees and displaced persons in order to determine the magnitude and nature of refugee flows, with reliance on the assistance of appropriate agencies of the United States Government as necessary;

(D) a general accounting of persons missing, captured, injured, or killed in hostilities, in coordination with concerned governments, the International Committee of the Red Cross, and other groups which may have relevant information; and

(E) a determination of the places of origin of each refugee and displaced person, and inventories of abandoned property, to assist in the eventual process of repatriation and compensation; and

(2) urges the President to seek international agreement on the following—

(A) reaffirming the right of all refugees to return to their former residences and to receive appropriate compensation;

(B) to the extent consistent with international law, authorizing the use of seized assets of the former Yugoslav Government to assist the international relief effort; and

(C) declaring null and void any documents signed under duress which transfer property of members of one ethnic group to members or organizations of another ethnic group.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. SAWYER] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. BROOMFIELD] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. SAWYER].

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I would like to thank Chairman FASCELL and our ranking member, Mr. BROOMFIELD, for recognizing the importance of this resolution and bringing it to the floor. I am also grateful to Representatives HAMILTON, GILMAN, YATRON, and BEREUTER for expediting their respective subcommittee procedures. Finally, let me recognize the valuable assistance of the staff of the full committee as well as the staffs of the human rights and international organizations and Europe and Middle East subcommittees.

All of us have experienced a sense of horror and outrage over the reports and images of systematic executions, concentration camps, and mass expulsions in former Yugoslavia.

This conflict poses a significant threat to international security for a variety of reasons, not the least of which is that it has generated over 2.3 million refugees and displaced persons.

As the Balkan winter approaches, relief officials warn that tens of thousands of already devastated victims will soon face the risk of death because they lack adequate shelter and supplies to survive the coming harsh weather.

By calling for an intensification of relief efforts, my resolution represents a means for translating our desire to do something into concrete actions. This Nation can help bring material comfort to the refugees and displaced persons and avert this winter's looming tragedy.

We are under no illusions that the provision of relief represents a long-term solution to this conflict. Ultimately, the parties themselves must come to terms with one another. In the meantime, however, this resolution lays out the fundamental principles that should guide future actions by the international community to help bring order to this chaotic situation.

For example, my resolution urges the President to seek international agreement on the fundamental rights of refugees and displaced persons, including the right of return and compensation. It also addresses the abhorrent process of ethnic cleansing by asking the President to pursue an agreement declaring null and void those documents signed under duress which result in forcible property transfers among ethic groups. Such actions would send a clear message that intimidation, theft, and expulsion will not be tolerated.

A crucial and central feature of this resolution is its provision to establish a comprehensive documentation mechanism for all refugees and displaced persons. The development of a reliable enumeration procedure will provide a clearer picture of refugee flows and, more importantly, will ultimately hold all sides accountable for the safety, repatriation, and compensation for persons who have been forced to flee their homes.

While the Congress has held the Government of Serbia and Montenegro primarily responsible for the conflict and subsequent forced migrations, this resolution makes no ethnic distinctions when it comes to defining the rights of refugees or the provision of relief.

I urge my colleagues to join me in passing this resolution and sending a strong signal of commitment to the refugees and displaced persons in former Yugoslavia, who undoubtedly feel that the international community is not sufficiently engaged in addressing their plight.

The message we send today is this:

> The United States and the community of nations care what happens to these people, and we are keeping track of them.

Today, the Washington Post reports on its front page that the refugee crisis is worsening dramatically as Serbian forces have intensified their drive to brutally cleanse northwestern Bosnia of its remaining Moslems. Need I say that this horrible news lends greater urgency to our efforts to pass this timely resolution.

Should we fail to act now, the humanitarian crisis will most certainly deepen before Congress can next act on this important issue in January. By that time it may be too late. This is protection we can offer today.

I would add that the administration has no objection to this resolution.

I thank my colleagues for their thoughtful attention and urge their support.

□ 1610

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BROOMFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I strongly support the resolution before us concerning the plight of refugees and displaced persons in the former Yugoslavia. I commend Congressman SAWYER for this timely legislative initiative.

The tragedy in the former Yugoslavia continues to unfold. The terrible policy of ethnic cleansing by ethnic Serbians goes on as part of the scheme of Serbian President Slobodan Milosevic to build a Greater Serbia.

In recent months, the world has been shocked to learn about the existence of prison camps where innocent human beings are executed, starved, and tortured. Many of the stories and photographs of the camps in Bosnia and the displaced families remind me of the events in Europe many years ago when another madman tried to impose his vision of a future Europe.

Serbian aggression has taken at least 20,000 lives, wounded far more, and displaced over 2 million civilians. Thousands in Bosnia are unaccounted for. The ongoing crisis in Yugoslavia is the most serious conflict in Europe since the end of the Second World War; the innocent victims of this pointless violence deserve our help.

This resolution urges the President to continue working with the United Nations to do more for refugees and displaced persons. It also urges an expansion of programs by the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees. In additon, this resolution calls for the provision of emergency food and shelters for refugees, and reaffirms the right of these people to return to their homes. With the coming of winter in former Yugoslavia, additional assistance must be provided to these innocent people who have suffered so much as the result of the reckless policies of Serbia's Communist government.

My heart and those of all Americans go out to people throughout the world who have lost friends and loved ones during this terrible bloodletting in the former Yugoslavia. The war there is a true catastrophe for a country that once prided itself for ethnic harmony. America must work with the United Nations to ensure that we are doing everything possible to assist those in need in those troubled lands.

I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this important resolution.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Nebraska [Mr. BEREUTER].

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Michigan for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, as ranking member on the Subcommittee of Human Rights, this Member rises in strong support of House Resolution 557. It goes straight to the heart of one of the most troubling international crises that the international community must face.

We are all aware of the massive dislocation that has been caused by the civil war and ethnic conflict in Yugoslavia. Age old animosities have once again surfaced with decidedly lethal consequences. The situation is particularly tragic in Bosnia, where the ethnic mix of Orthodox Serbs, Catholic Croats, and Moslems had managed to coexist for generations. Not long ago ethnic harmony had been the norm—now this has been replaced by blood feuds and senseless carnage.

Mr. Speaker, there is plenty of blame to pass around. Elements of the Croatian community have acted aggressively, and portions of the Moslem community have sought to crate a Moslem state in Europe. But it is clear that the Bosnian Serb partisans bear the bulk of the responsibility for the suffering in Bosnia and the rest of Yugoslavia. Bosnian Serb militiamen, with their abominable crusade of ethnic cleansing, have proceeded to tear apart communities where people of different faiths have long lived peaceably.

Hunderds of thousands of Bosnians have been forced, quite literally at gunpoint, to sign over their property and flee from their homes. Everything they own has been taken from them. It is estimated that, out of a total Bosnian population of 4 million, that over 1 million are now refugees. The great majority of these are Moslems and Croats who have been forced to flee from territories controlled by Serb militiamen.

As disgusting as this callous seizure of property is, Mr. Speaker, there are far more heinous activities occurring. The State Department now acknowledges credible reports of the murder of some 3,000 men, women, and children who were detained at Serbian-run detention camps near the Bosnian town of Brcko. These are people who are apparently murdered simply because their parents were not Serbian. If the report is, indeed, true, nothing, absolutely nothing, can excuse this vile slaughter of innocent civilians, and this body has a moral obligation to speak decisively in condemning Serbian atrocities.

Under U.N. Security Council Resolution 771, the United Nations is empowered to fully investigate the situation in the detention camps, whoever might run them. In addition, the United Nations has the authority to convene a war crimes tribunal to bring to trial those who are responsible for these terrible acts. This Member would urge the United Nations to act swiftly and decisively to bring this practice to an end and the perpetrators to justice. This Member would also say that the United States and the European Community must be much more active in putting an end to the senseless slaughter and violence that has overtaken Yugoslavia.

Mr. Speaker, this Member would commend the author of this resolution, the distinguished gentleman from Ohio [Mr. SAWYER], for his leadership and persistence in pursuing this matter. His resolution makes it clear that the United States will not ignore those who have been forced to flee for their lives. This Member commends him for his efforts, and I would say that I will gladly work with him or any other Members in pursuing other initiatives aimed at ending the tragic conflict in the Balkans.

Mr. BROOMFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the distinguished gentlewoman from Maryland [Mrs. BENTLEY].

Mrs. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Michigan for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I came over here for another reason, and I did not know that this was on the floor. I do want to commend the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. SAWYER] for taking the lead on House Resolution 557. I do have a couple of questions I would like to ask.

I would ask the gentleman, are we talking about all refugees throughout the whole area? There are 2½ million refugees from all of these republics.

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentlewoman yield?

Mrs. BENTLEY. I yield to the gentleman from Ohio.

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I would reply that yes, it is virtually all refugees without regard to ethnic or national status. While previous resolutions may have sought to attribute blame for the circumstances that caused this, this resolution does not. It recognizes that all human tragedy is equal in a circumstance like this.

Mrs. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I think that is very important, and I do want to join in, then, in supporting this. Fingers have all been pointed at Serbia regularly. There are in Serbia 527,000 refugees right now, 90,000 of whom are Muslims, and most, about 400,000 of these refugees, have been living in people's private homes there.

Because of the economic sanctions that have been imposed they are now facing the problem of having to turn those people out because they cannot feed them and they do not have the warmth any more to keep them warm, so we have a double problem with all of these people who are homeless and are going to be thrown out. I am very delighted that the gentleman is covering everybody in this, and I want to join in this resolution.

□ 1620

This is a tragedy. It is a real tragedy, and I have been spending many, many hours trying to help resolve it. Just a few minutes ago we ended a briefing by Bishop Atanasije Jevtie who is the Serbian Orthodox bishop of Hercegovina, and I was pointing out the problems that have arisen there in the short time that he has been with all of the people, and he presented some very interesting information for the members of the Human Rights Caucus and the Helsinki Caucus.

Again I do want to thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

Mr. BROOMFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to take a moment to thank both the gentlewoman from Maryland for her thoughtful comments and question and the gentleman from Nebraska for his powerful endorsement of this.

I also want to take a moment to identify and associate myself with the comments of my friend from American Samoa, Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA, with regard to our friend, the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. BROOMFIELD], whose standards of bipartisanship and collaboration really set a model for us all as we seek to engage the United States in the coming decades across the frontiers of this changing world, and to suggest that his service in this chamber is among the best argument I know against the folly of term limitations.

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of House Resolution 557, of which I am a cosponsor. This resolution focuses needed attention on the plight of refugees and displaced persons in the former Yugoslav republics.

The crisis that has caused Yugoslavia's violent disintegration, has created over 2 million refugees and displaced persons in the process. Some are the victims of ethnic cleansing policies, while other fled from the fighting that consumed their once peaceful villages and towns. Many have no homes to which they can return. And, as the fighting uproots more and more innocent civilians, winter is beginning to set in, straining the already large international effort to assist the fleeing masses. A particular burden is held by those neighboring or nearby countries to which the refugees escape. The United States, for its part, has delivered, to date, more than $50 million worth of assistance, and has promised an additional $40 million to help the refugees survive what will be a difficult winter.

This resolution reaffirms our support for and encouragement of such efforts. It also states some important principles that the international community should follow, such as reaffirming the right of refugees to return to their former residences and to receive appropriate compensation, and declaring property transfer documents signed by refugees under duress to be null and void. As chairman of the Helsinki Commission, I view principles such as these to be critically important.

I would also point out, Mr. Speaker, that this resolution correctly states that Serbia and Montenegro, who together make up a new Yugoslav federation, are primarily responsible for the creation of the refugee crisis, but it does not in any way discriminate against refugees or displaced persons. Moslems, Croats, and Serbs have all suffered from this conflict.

In the final analysis, Mr. Speaker, the best solution to the refugee crisis created by the Yugoslav conflict is to bring the fighting to an end, and to begin the processes of reconstruction and reconciliation that must inevitably take place in the region. The sooner we do that, the better. In the meantime, however, we must realize the need for short-term measures to alleviate the plight of those most victimized by this horrible conflict. This resolution helps to do that, and I want to thank and commend my colleague, Representative TOM SAWYER, for taking the lead on this important issue.

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. DARDEN). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. SAWYER] that the House suspend the rules and agree to the resolution, H. Res. 557.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the resolution just agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR., FEDERAL BUILDING

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5831) to designate the Federal building located at 312 South Main Street in Victoria, TX, as the "Martin Luther King, Jr., Federal Building," as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5831

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. DESIGNATION.

The Federal building located at Main and Church Streets in Victoria, Texas, shall be known and designated as the "Martin Luther King, Jr. Federal Building".

SEC. 2. REFERENCES.

Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the Federal building referred to in section 1 shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Martin Luther King Jr. Federal Building".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentlewoman from Maryland [Mrs. BENTLEY] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON].

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

H.R. 5831, as amended, is a bill to designate the Federal building located at Main and Church Streets in Victoria, TX, as the "Martin Luther King, Jr., Federal Building." This bill has my enthusiastic and wholehearted support. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., is undoubtedly the greatest civil rights leader in this country's history. Through his philosophy and strategy of nonviolence, he pursued his goal of integration in spite of arrest, jailings, and threats on his life.

In December 1964, Dr. King was honored by being awarded the Nobel Peace Prize. On November 2, 1983, he was further honored by having a law passed making the third Monday in January of each year be a national holiday in his memory.

The honor bestowed on Dr. King by this legislation is well deserved for this remarkable leader and I urge support for its enactment.

I urge adoption of H.R. 5831, as amended, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself so much time as needed.

Dr. Martin Luther King's influence as a civil rights leader is still being felt some 24 years after his tragic death. His famous "I Have a Dream" speech continues to provide a powerful framework wherein thousands of individuals each year are encouraged to strive for a better life.

Dr. King's contributions are immeasurable, and thus it is most appropriate that we honor him by naming the Federal building in Victoria, TX, as the "Martin Luther King, Jr., Federal Building." I especially want to commend GREG LAUGHLIN for introducing this bill and moving it through the Public Works Committee. I urge approval of the bill.

Mr. LAUGHLIN. Mr. Speaker, today I rise in strong support of H.R. 5831, legislation I recently introduced to designate a Federal building in Victoria, TX, as the "Martin Luther King, Jr., Federal Building."

Mr. Speaker, naming the Federal building located at Main and Church Street in Victoria, TX, is a true reminder of the influence that Dr. King was for all of us, not just Americans of African descent, but Americans whose origins can be found in all corners of the globe.

The unnamed Federal building is a downtown landmark, and is visited by hundreds and seen by thousands of Victoria residents and visitors on a daily basis.

A memorial to Dr. King placed at this site will provide continued inspiration to all who visit it, particularly to the hundreds of young men and women in the community.

Mr. Speaker, it is my hope that the young people in this Victoria community who visit this building will come to understand that it recognizes not only the contributions of this great leader, but also two very basic principles necessary for the healthy functioning of our society.

The first is that change, even very fundamental change, is to be achieved through nonviolent means.

The other basic principle is that the reconciliation of the races, the inclusion into the mainstream of American life of all its people, is essential to the basic health of this Nation.

Mr. Speaker, Dr. King helped us to see that we can bring down all barriers that are placed in our way. This great undertaking was not without pain, and is not yet complete, but is transforming this Nation for the better.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., dedicated his life to achieving equal treatment and enfranchisement for all Americans through nonviolent means.

Mr. Speaker, I hope you can understand why I believe it would be most appropriate to recognize Dr. King by naming the Federal building in Victoria in his honor.

Mrs. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5831, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

The title of the bill was amended so as to read: "A bill to designate the Federal Building located at Main and Church Streets in Victoria, TX, as the 'Martin Luther King, Jr., Federal Building.'"

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative day in which to revise and extend their remarks on the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia?

There was no objection.

RICHARD H. CHAMBERS U.S. COURT OF APPEALS BUILDING

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5822) to designate the U.S. Court of Appeals Building located at 125 South Grand Avenue in Pasadena, CA, as the "Richard H. Chambers United States Court of Appeals Building."

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5822

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. DESIGNATION OF BUILDING.

The United States Court of Appeals Building located at 125 South Grand Avenue in Pasadena, California, shall be known and designated as the "Richard H. Chambers United States Court of Appeals Building".

SEC. 2. REFERENCES.

Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the courthouse referred to in section 1 shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Richard H. Chambers United States Court of Appeals Building".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentlewoman from Maryland [Mrs. BENTLEY] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognized the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON].

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

H.R. 5822, is a bill to designate the building located at 125 South Grand Avenue in Pasadena, CA, as the "Richard H. Chambers United States Court of Appeals Building." Richard H. Chambers has had a very distinguished legal career. Following college at the University of Arizona in 1929, and law school at Stanford University in 1932, he worked in private practice from 1932–41. His career was interrupted for military service until 1945, when he resumed private practice until 1954.

On May 13, 1954, President Eisenhower appointed Richard H. Chambers to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. He served as chief judge for 17 years until December 31, 1976, when he took senior status.

He has enjoyed an outstanding reputation as a jurist and is richly deserving of this honor.

I urge adoption of H.R. 5822, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself as much time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 5822 which will designate the U.S. Court of Appeals Building in Pasadena, CA, as the "Richard H. Chambers United States Court of Appeals Building."

Judge Chambers was appointed to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit in 1930. He served as chief judge for 17 years from August 6, 1959, to June 30, 1976. Prior to his appointment to the bench, Judge Chambers served in the U.S. Army Air Corps during World War II.

Given Judge Chambers's distinguished record of public service, H.R. 5822 is a fitting tribute. I want to commend my colleague, CARLOS MOORHEAD, for introducing this bill and bringing it to the committee's attention. I urge my colleagues to support the bill.

Mr. MOORHEAD. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to revise and extend my remarks.

I rise in support of H.R. 5822.

I very much appreciate the work and leadership provided by the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. SAVAGE] and the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. INHOFE]. I also would like to thank the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. ROE] and the gentleman from Arkansas [Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT] for their assistance.

H.R. 5822 would rename the Vista Del Arroyo Building in Pasadena, CA, after Judge Richard H. Chambers. Judge Chambers was most active in getting the court moved to this building, a historic landmark that has been newly renovated.

Judge Chambers was appointed to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit on April 30, 1954, and entered on duty May 13, 1954. He served as chief judge for 17 years from August 6, 1959, to June 30, 1976. He took senior judge status on December 31, 1976. He is a graduate of the University of Arizona, receiving an A.B. degree in 1929, and Stanford University, receiving an LL.B. degree in 1932. During World War II he served in the U.S. Army Air Corps, 1942–45. I have attached his bio to my statement.

Since he was the guiding light behind this development, I feel it is only right and just that the court be named in this honor. Neither of the California Senators, nor the Governor, has any objection to this proposal. Congressman ROYBAL is also a sponsor of the legislation.

As I pointed out, Judge Chambers is an outstanding jurist who has devoted much of his adult life to public service on the beach. Presently he is a senior judge, 86 years old and has been in the hospital since July of this year. Although initially he resisted having the courthouse named after him, he has withdrawn that resistance. I urge support for this legislation.

CHAMBERS, RICHARD H.—BIBLIOGRAPHY

Judge Chambers was appointed to the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit on April 30, 1954 and entered on duty May 13, 1954. He served as Chief Judge from August 6, 1959 to June 30, 1976. He took senior judge status on December 31, 1976. He is a graduate of the University of Arizona, receiving an A.B. degree in 1929, and Stanford University, receiving an LL.B. degree in 1932. During World War II he served in the United States Army Air Corps, 1942–1945.

Judge Chambers was a member of the Judicial Conference of the United States, 1959–1976; the Committee on Judicial Statistics, 1960–1969; the Executive Committee, 1970–1975; and Chairman of the Committee on Pacific Ocean Territories, 1976–1982.

Judge Chambers is married to the former Mary Martin and has two daughters: Martha Chambers Froese and Janet Chambers Crews. He is a member of the American Bar Association, the American Law Institute, the American Judicature Society, and the Institute of Judicial Administration.

Mrs. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have no other requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I have no requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5822.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 5822, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. DARDEN). Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia?

There was no objection.

RONALD REAGAN BUILDING

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 4281) to designate the U.S. Federal building and U.S. courthouse to be located at Fifth and Ross Streets in Santa Ana, CA, as the "Ronald Reagan Building" as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 4281

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. DESIGNATION.

The Federal building and courthouse to be constructed at Fifth and Ross Streets in Santa Ana, California, shall be known and designated as the "Ronald Reagan Federal Building and Courthouse".

SEC. 2. REFERENCES.

Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the Federal building and courthouse referred to in section 1 shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Ronald Reagan Federal Building and Courthouse".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentlewoman from Maryland [Mrs. BENTLEY] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON].

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

H.R. 4281, as amended, is a bill to designate the Federal building and courthouse to be constructed at Fifth and Ross Streets in Santa Ana, CA, as the "Ronald Reagan Federal Building and Courthouse." It is always a pleasure and a privilege to recognize a President of the United States by designating a Federal building and courthouse in his honor.

I urge adoption of H.R. 4281, as amended.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I want to commend our colleague, Mr. COX, for his diligence and persistence on this bill. He has, I believe, identified a very fitting tribute to former President Ronald Reagan. Since President Reagan is a longtime resident of California and a former Governor of California, it is very fitting that we honor his accomplishments by naming a new Federal building and courthouse for him in his home State.

During his tenure as President, Ronald Reagan distinguished himself not only as a statesman on domestic issues, but also in the international arena. His challenge to then President Gorbachev to tear down the Wall began the process of ending the cold war.

Unquestionably his contributions to the Nation and the world will long be remembered and admired. Therefore, I am pleased to rise in strong support of this effort, and I urge my colleagues to do the same.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from California [Mr. COX], the author of this bill.

Mr. COX of California. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 4281, which will, as has been described, officially name the new Orange County courthouse the Ronald Reagan Federal Building and Courthouse.

It is once in every generation or two that an extraordinary individual comes along who has a significant impact not only on national events but on the values and aspirations of people all over the world. Ronald Reagan was such a person.

Already history has recorded the enormously positive impact that Ronald Reagan has had on this Nation and on the development of freedom and democracy around the world.

Mr. Speaker, I was fortunate to have had the opportunity to serve President Reagan as his senior associate counsel in the White House. Having worked with the President, I speak from experience when I say that his geniality, his good humor, his steady judgment, and his constancy of purpose are traits that every statesman should emulate, and his message of optimism and inclusion which generated so much pride, energy, and enthusiasm during his Presidency is one that every American and every freedom-loving human being will be wise to take to heart.

Ronald Reagan was the first American President since Dwight Eisenhower to serve out two full terms, and he left office as one of the most popular Presidents of all time. His accomplishments are legion under his leadership. The economy grew by the size of West Germany, 20 million jobs. More Americans were working than at any time in our history. Interest rates were cut in half, while inflation was reduced from 13 percent to 3 percent. The Reagan Presidency marked the longest period of sustained economic growth in peacetime American history.

Just as impressive is President Reagan's tremendous positive impact on the international scene. Ronald Reagan did not seek to contain communism but to liberate its subjects and extend freedom and democracy around the globe. He challenged the Soviet Communist Party's chief, "Mr. Gorbachev, tear down this wall," and he backed it up with United States nuclear missiles in Europe, and aggressive development of the strategic defense initiative, and consistent support of anti-Communist heroes throughout the Soviet Empire. Afghanistan, with United States support, defeated the Red army, the Berlin Wall did come down, and Poles, Hungarians, Czechs, Slovaks, and Germans were free at last.

As the Western forces of free enterprise and democracy, following the lead of President Reagan, brought about the collapse of the Soviet Union's outer empire, the captive nations of Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia became independent not only in theory but in fact.

Finally, as the inner Soviet Empire fell, captive nations such as Ukraine and Armenian became sovereign States once again.

President Reagan always put his faith in the people rather than in government. Perhaps George Will put it best when he said that President Reagan knows what Dr. Johnson knew, that people more often need to be reminded than informed. By communicating a vision of what is best about America, he succeeded beyond any of our wildest imaginings in motivating and energizing this Nation.

U.S. News & World Report summed it up as follows:

> Ronald Reagan proved that the Presidency still works, that it is still possible to succeed in the Presidency by skillfully exercising its powers of symbol, ceremony, and vision.

And he helped the Nation regain its self-confidence.

It is especially fitting that we name this new courthouse for President Ronald Reagan in light of his enormous influence in establishing the rule of law in place of Communist dictatorship for so many of our fellow human beings, and although Ronald Reagan now belongs to the citizens of the world and to the ages, those of us who are Californians will always think of him as the favorite son of our Golden State. Mr. Reagan spent the majority of his adult life living and working in California, and during this more than three decades of public service developed an unparalleled kinship and popularity with tens of millions of respectful and grateful people.

By all accounts, California's support for Ronald Reagan in California is nowhere stronger than in my home, Orange County, whose citizens I am now privileged to represent.

Although Orange County has grown phenomenally over the last 20 years, its access to justice has not followed suit. Currently more than 2.4 million Orange Countians have no permanent Federal courthouse, but fortunately, because of the farsighted leadership of the Committee on Public Works and Transportation, we are now well on our way to rectifying that.

The General Services Administration, the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts, and the Congress have agreed upon and are working together to construct the first permanent Federal courthouse in Orange County.

Design work is now underway, and soon Orange County residents will finally have ready access to justice in their own community.

Naming this facility for Ronald Reagan is one small way Californians can say thanks for his over 30 years of public service and his extraordinary legacy in California and around the world.

My legislation, H.R. 4281, has the support of every county, State, and Federal official in Orange County, Republican and Democrat. Many of them have written to the Committee on Public Works and Transportation in support of honoring President Reagan in this way.

Mr. Speaker, I am especially pleased we are naming this building today before the adjournment of the 102d Congress. This will be the first ever Federal building named after President Reagan. Rather than waiting for future generations to honor his memory, we are honoring President Reagan today himself. The people of Orange County and the people of California and the Nation want to let President Reagan know of their deep appreciation for his hard work and dedication.

Naming the building today will give us that opportunity.

I appreciate the support of my colleagues on the Subcommittee on Public Buildings and Grounds in the passage of this bill, and I urge all of my colleagues to vote in favor of this legislation.

Mrs. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Arkansas [Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT], the distinguished ranking minority leader on the Committee on Public Works and Transportation.

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I want to commend the gentleman from California [Mr. COX] for his initiative on H.R. 4281 and also to thank the chairman of the subcommittee, the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. SAVAGE], and the vice chairman of the subcommittee, the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON], and the gentlewoman from Maryland [Mrs. BENTLEY] for managing this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 4281, which will designate the Federal building and courthouse to be constructed at 5th and Ross Streets in Santa Ana, CA, as the "Ronald Reagan Federal Building and Courthouse." This is a fitting tribute to former President Reagan, given his long and distinguished service to the people of California and the Nation.

During his administration, President Reagan put forward a strong domestic agenda, and one that was characterized by limited government and lower taxes. He was determined to lift the burden of Federal bureaucracy from the shoulders of American business, and to ease the tax burden of American taxpayers.

In the area of international affairs, President Reagan was outspoken in his resolve to use American foreign policy to encourage freedom and democracy throughout the world and to bring an end to Communist rule in Eastern Europe. Under his leadership, the beginning of the end of the cold war was set in motion and the foothold of democracy in central America became stronger.

President Reagan is without question one of the great statesmen of our time, and it is very appropriate that we honor him in this way. I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 4281.

Mr. PACKARD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to rise in support of the bill H.R. 4281 introduced by my colleague from California, CHRISTOPHER COX, which seeks to name the new Orange County courthouse in honor of President Ronald Reagan.

As a representative of Orange County, and a proud American, I believe that it would be a tribute to both President Reagan as well as the residents of Orange County to do so.

It was our 40th President who proclaimed that:

> America is back, a giant, powerful in its renewed spirit, its growing economy, powerful in its ability to defend itself and secure the peace, and powerful in its ability to build a new future. This is not debatable.

As by ushering this renewed spirit, President Reagan led this country through the longest period of peacetime economic expansion. This is a fitting salute to a man who's vision and convictions changed America's course for the better, and made Americans believe in themselves again.

President Reagan reoriented our defense policy to reflect his belief that peace could be achieved through strength. The fall of the Berlin Wall and the collapse of communism in the former Soviet Union are a part of the Reagan legacy.

Also a part of this great president's legacy was his conviction that a government big enough to give everything to you, was a government big enough to take everything away. His principles were economic and social self-determination. That is why he cut personal tax rates by 25 percent; to restore economic freedom to the families of America, instead of feeding their hard-earned tax dollars to that insatiable beast, the Federal Government.

I urge my colleagues to support this measure to name the new Orange County courthouse after one of our greatest Presidents: Ronald Reagan.

Mrs. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I have no further request for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. ABERCROMBIE). The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 4281, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof), the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

The title of the bill was amended so as to read: "A bill to designate the Federal building and courthouse to be constructed at 5th and Ross Streets in Santa Ana, CA, as the 'Ronald Reagan Federal Building and Courthouse'."

The motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

□ 1640

GENERAL LEAVE

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 4281, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. ABERCROMBIE). Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia?

There was no objection.

FEDERAL WATER POLLUTION CONTROL ACT AMENDMENTS WITH REGARD TO THE GREAT LAKES

Mr. NOWAK. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5990) to amend the Federal Water Pollution Control Act to provide for assessments of contaminated sediments at areas of concern in the Great Lakes, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5990

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. GREAT LAKES MANAGEMENT.

(a) REMOVAL OF TOXIC POLLUTANTS.—Section 118(c)(7) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1268(c)(7)) is amended by adding at the end the following new subparagraphs:

"(D) FULL SCALE DEMONSTRATION PROJECTS.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—The Program Office shall conduct 5 full scale demonstration projects of promising technologies to remedy contaminated sediments at such sites as the Program Office determines are appropriate. In selecting such sites, the Program Office shall give priority consideration to the sites referred to in subparagraph (A).

"(ii) DEADLINES.—The Program Office shall—

"(I) by December 31, 1994, complete engineering plans for the full scale demonstration projects to be conducted under this subparagraph; and

"(II) by December 31, 1999, complete the full scale demonstration projects to be conducted under this subparagraph.

"(E) ASSESSMENTS AND PILOT SCALE DEMONSTRATION PROJECTS.—

"(i) ASSESSMENTS.—The Program Office shall conduct chemical, physical, and biological assessments of contaminated sediments at each area of concern and, based on such assessments, make recommendations on technologies to remedy contaminated sediments at each such area. In conducting such assessments, the Program Office shall incorporate previous findings which are relevant to the assessments and avoid duplication of previous or ongoing efforts.

"(ii) PILOT SCALE DEMONSTRATION PROJECTS.—If, after conducting assessments under clause (i), the Program Office does not have sufficient information to make recommendations on technologies to remedy contaminated sediments at an area of concern, the Program Office shall obtain such information by conducting a pilot scale demonstration project of promising technologies to remedy contaminated sediments at the area of concern.

"(iii) DEADLINES.—The Program Office shall—

"(I) by December 31, 1998, complete assessments of contaminated sediments to be conducted under clause (i);

"(II) by December 31, 1998, transmit to Congress (as part of a comprehensive report required by paragraph (10)) recommendations made under clause (i) on technologies to remedy contaminated sediments for those areas of concern for which the Program Office has sufficient information to make the recommendations and a description of pilot scale demonstration projects to be conducted under clause (ii), including the locations of such projects and engineering plans for such projects; and

"(III) by December 31, 2000, complete all pilot scale demonstration projects to be conducted under clause (ii) and transmit to Congress (as part of a comprehensive report required by paragraph (10)) a final report containing findings on activities conducted under this subparagraph and recommendations for remediation of contaminated sediments at each area of concern.

"(F) DISSEMINATION OF INFORMATION AND COORDINATION.—The Program Office shall assist in and promote the dissemination of information on technologies to remedy contaminated sediments at areas of concern, including the dissemination of such information to Federal departments and agencies.".

(b) LAKEWIDE MANAGEMENT PLANS.—Section 118(c)(4) of such Act (33 U.S.C. 1268(c)(4)) is amended by striking "and" at the end of subparagraph (B) and by striking subparagraph (C) and inserting the following:

"(C) by January 1, 1994—

"(i) publish in the Federal Register a final Lakewide Management Plan for Lake Michigan and begin implementation of such plan; and

"(ii) publish in the Federal Register a proposed Lakewide Management Plan for Lake Ontario and solicit public comments;

"(D) by January 1, 1995—

"(i) submit a proposed Lakewide Management Plan for Lake Ontario to the International Joint Commission for review; and

"(ii) publish in the Federal Register a proposed Lakewide Management Plan for Lake Erie and solicit public comments;

"(E) by January 1, 1996—

"(i) publish in the Federal Register a final Lakewide Management Plan for Lake Ontario and begin implementation of such plan; and

"(ii) submit a proposed Lakewide Management Plan for Lake Erie to the International Joint Commission for review; and

"(F) by January 1, 1997, publish in the Federal Register a final Lakewide Management Plan for Lake Erie and begin implementation of such plan.".

(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 118(h) of such Act (33 U.S.C. 1268(h)) is amended to read as follows:

"(h) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—There is authorized to be appropriated to the Administrator to carry out this section $30,000,000 per fiscal year for each of fiscal years 1992 through 1999. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

"(2) ALLOCATIONS.—40 percent of the amounts appropriated pursuant to paragraph (1) in a fiscal year shall be used by the Program Office to carry out assessments and full and pilot scale demonstration projects under subsection (c)(7).".

(2) APPLICABILITY.—The amendment made by paragraph (1) shall not apply to amounts appropriated on or before September 30, 1992. Such amounts shall remain available until expended for purposes provided under section 118(h) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act as in effect on September 25, 1992.

(d) CONFORMING AND TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS.—Section 118(c) of such Act (33 U.S.C. 1268(c)) is amended—

(1) in the heading to paragraph (6), by striking "5-YEAR PLAN AND PROGRAM" and inserting "PLAN AND PROGRAM";

(2) in the heading to paragraph (7), by striking "5-YEAR STUDY AND DEMONSTRATION PROJECTS" and inserting "STUDY AND DEMONSTRATION PROJECTS"; and

(3) in paragraph (7)—

(A) by striking "(A)" and inserting "(A) 5-YEAR STUDY.—";

(B) by indenting subparagraph (A) and aligning subparagraph (A) with subparagraph (B);

(C) by striking "(B)" and inserting "(B) DEADLINES FOR DEMONSTRATION PROJECTS.—"; and

(D) by striking "(C)" and inserting "(C) Publication of information.—".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New York [Mr. NOWAK] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Arkansas [Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York [Mr. NOWAK].

Mr. NOWAK. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, on September 22, 1992, I introduced H.R. 5990, a bill to continue the activities of the EPA's Great Lakes national program office and continue the research into the assessment and remediation of contaminated sediments [ARCS] in the Great Lakes.

Because of their vast size and volume, it had been thought that the Great Lakes could assimilate almost any amount of waste. Unfortunately, that is clearly not the case. Only about 1 percent of the volume of the lakes flows out of the St. Lawrence River in any year.

The lack of regular flushing leads to the accumulation of toxic chemicals in sediments. Benthic organisms can take up these pollutants allowing them to enter the food chain. Toxics may bioaccumulate in fish, increasing dramatically the concentration of pollutants. Our key impediment to success in remediation of contaminated sediments has been the lack of experience with cleanup technologies. To fill this gap, the Water Quality Act 1987 established a 5-year program for EPA to test sediment cleanup technologies in the Great Lakes. On April 8, 1992, the Subcommittee on Water Resources of the Committee on Public Works and Transportation held a hearing on the assessment and remediation of contaminated sediments in the Great Lakes. Testimony received by the subcommittee was uniformly in support of continuing the ARCS Program. Interests representing the Great Lakes, the environmental community, business representatives, States, Federal, and international agencies all agreed that the preliminary research of EPA and the Army Corps of Engineers had been very successful.

The bill, H.R. 5990, would extend the program from the pilot experiments to full-scale demonstration projects of promising technologies.

Under the bill, the Great Lakes National Program Office [GLNPO] would be directed to conduct and provide within 2 years engineering plans for full-scale demonstration of contaminated sediment removal at the five priority sites already identified. The Office would also be directed to conduct full-scale demonstrations of contaminated sediments removal action at each of the five sites. If the Office cannot make a remediation recommendation, it is to conduct a pilot scale demonstration of promising remedial technologies. The bill also authorizes GLNPO to carry out an assessment at each of the areas of concern. The Office is further directed to complete a lakewide management plan as mandated by the International Joint Commission for Lake Ontario by 1994 and for Lake Erie by 1995.

Mr. Speaker, the bill as reported by the Committee on Public Works and Transportation had new formula funding of 30 percent or $5 million whichever is less for both monitoring and for carrying out assessments and demonstration projects for remediation of contaminated sites. To give the agency more flexibility, the amendment goes back to the formula under current law that prescribes that 40 percent of funding for the Great Lakes National Program Office be dedicated to assessment and remediation of contaminated sediments, and contains no formula for monitoring.

I urge the Members of the House to support this bill, as amended.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5900, a bill to reauthorize and amend the Clean Water Act's Program to protect water quality and remove contaminated sediments in the Great Lakes.

First, let me commend the leadership of the House Public Works and Transportation Committee for its interest in and efforts behind this bill. Chairman BOB ROE and ranking minority member of the Water Resources Subcommittee, TOM PETRI, have cooperated fully in fashioning and moving H.R. 5990 through committee and to the floor.

And I would be remiss if I did not congratulate the retiring chairman of the Water Resources Subcommittee, HENRY NOWAK, for his leadership and tireless efforts in promoting this bill and protecting the Great Lakes throughout his career in Congress. H.R. 5990 is just one example of his commitment to Great Lakes water quality.

This legislation amends and extends provisions in the Clean Water Act relating to the Great Lakes (section 118). The bill authorizes $30 million a year for 8 years for EPA's Great Lakes National Program Office. It includes specific schedules and directives regarding several demonstration projects assessing and cleaning up contaminated sediment toxic hotspots; it also includes schedules to develop and implement lakewide management plans.

Mr. Speaker, a healthy Great Lakes ecosystem is critically important to this Nation, indeed, to the entire North American continent. EPA's national program has been successful to date. Much work remains to be done, however. The agency's Great Lakes Program deserves continued authorization, guidance, and support. H.R. 5990 can help in that respect.

The committee has included a few substantive changes to the bill since markup on September 24. The amendment included in the motion to suspend the rules modifies the bill's authorization for the priority site demonstration projects and for nutrient and toxics monitoring. The amendment adjusts the minimum allocation for priority site demonstrations and deletes the reference to a minimum allocation for monitoring.

Mr. Speaker, while H.R. 5990 is not a perfect bill, it is worthy of our support. The Nation needs to continue its commitment to the Great Lakes.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. NOWAK. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New York [Mr. NOWAK] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5990, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-third having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended, and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. NOWAK. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 5990, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

FEDERAL WATER POLLUTION CONTROL ACT AMENDMENTS TO EXTEND STORMWATER DISCHARGE DEADLINE

Mr. NOWAK. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 6004) to amend the Federal Water Pollution Control Act to extend the deadline by which permits for discharges for municipal and industrial stormwater discharges are required until October 1, 1994.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 6004

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That section 402(p) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1342(p)) is amended in each of paragraphs (1) and (6) by striking "1992" and inserting "1994".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New York [Mr. NOWAK] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Arkansas [Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York [Mr. NOWAK].

□ 1650

Mr. NOWAK. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to bring to the floor the bill H.R. 6004, which extends the deadline by which permits for certain municipal and industrial stormwater discharges are required until October 1, 1994.

In the Water Quality Act of 1987, which amended the Federal Water Pollution Control Act of 1972, a provision was included establishing a comprehensive, phased approach to the regulation of stormwater discharges. This provision required various permit application deadlines and requirements for certain municipal and industrial stormwater discharges, as well as other discharges of stormwater that could contribute to water quality standard violations or significantly contribute pollutants to waters of the United States.

The 1987 amendments established deadlines to implement the permit program for stormwater discharges associated with industrial activity, discharges from large municipal separate storm sewer systems serving a population of 250,000 or more, and discharges from medium municipal separate storm sewer systems serving a population of 100,000 or more but less than 250,000.

Permits for small systems, those serving a population of less than 100,000, were not required until October 1, 1992. EPA was required to issue by October 1, 1992, regulations establishing a comprehensive regulatory program for these smaller communities. This has not yet been done.

EPA and others are concerned about the scope and complexity of this program for smaller communities. By some estimates, this program could include tens of thousands of currently unregulated municipalities and a million or more currently unregulated facilities. At this point, the October 1, 1992 deadline is unrealistic.

H.R. 6004 amends the act to extend the October 1, 1992, moratorium for 2 more years, to October 1, 1994. The bill also extends by 2 years the requirement that EPA issue regulations for these smaller community discharges. These deadline extensions will allow EPA and smaller communities the necessary time to comply with requirements for regulation of stormwater discharges.

Mr. Speaker, this bill is needed to prevent small communities from becoming violators of the law on October 1. It is a good bill. It is a reasonable bill, and I strongly urge its passage.

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 6004, a bill to amend the Clean Water Act to extend permit application and regulation deadlines for certain stormwater discharges.

This narrowly crafted bill provides regulatory relief to small and rural towns across America. At the same time, it ensures that EPA and the States will have greater opportunity to fashion reasonable, environmentally protective management strategies for stormwater.

First, let me thank and commend the leadership of the Public Works and Transportation Committee: Chairman BOB ROE, Water Resource Subcommittee Chairman HENRY NOWAK, and ranking minority member of the subcommittee, TOM PETRI. We certainly wouldn't be on the floor today debating this critically important bill if they had not been willing to offer their support and leadership.

I particularly want to thank both Chairman ROE and Chairman NOWAK who are retiring at the end of this session. Throughout their tenure on the Public Works and Transportation Committee, they have sought bipartisan, consensus solutions to public works and environmental protection problems. They have risen to the challenge to meet this Nation's infrastructure and economic development needs without compromising environmental quality. This bill, H.R. 6004, is entirely consistent with that approach and philosophy.

I introduced H.R. 6004 just last week. However, both the need for and momentum behind the bill have been in the making for some time now.

The 1987 amendments to the Clean Water Act set up an ambitious, phased approach to the regulation of stormwater. That approach involved numerous permit application and compliance deadlines, focusing first on dischargers of the greatest concern, such as certain industrial activities and medium- to large-sized municipalities. EPA was required to promulgate guidelines and regulations for industrial activities and cities of 250,000 or more within 2 years of enactment and for cities of 100,000 or more but less than 250,000 within 4 years of enactment.

The Stormwater Program, however, has faced a lot of scientific, legal, and institutional obstacles. EPA has missed its target deadlines and is only now beginning to implement stormwater regulations for industries and large cities. EPA and the States are simply not ready to move ahead on stormwater regulations for smaller cities—that is, cities under 100,000 population—and for countless other dischargers. Unfortunately, the statutory moratorium on stormwater permitting for small towns and other lower priority dischargers expires on October 1 of this year—literally only days away.

When this moratorium expires, small towns, nonindustrial concerns such as parking lot owners, and even private homeowners, could be in violation of the act unless Congress moves to extend the deadline. And that is precisely what my bill does—nothing more, nothing less.

H.R. 6004 amends section 402(p) of the act to extend the October 1, 1992 moratorium date for 2 years, to October 1, 1994. The bill also extends by 2 years the section 402(p)(6) requirement that EPA issue regulations for discharges not enumerated in section 402(p)(2).

Why do we need this legislation? Simply because Federal, State, and local officials, communities, certain industries, and others responsible for stormwater discharges need more time. Without an extension of the moratorium, EPA and State regulators, local officials and countless others could become literally swamped with paperwork, redtape, and litigation. The Association of State and Interstate Water Pollution Control Administrators and the National League of Cities recognize that an administrative nightmare and a frenzy of lawsuits could result if the moratorium is unchanged and a huge permitting program is hastily imposed.

That's why these groups and others support H.R. 6004. They recognize it buys a little time for developing a more rational and workable approach to a serious but complex environmental challenge.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 6004 is a very narrowly crafted regulatory relief bill. It steers clear of the many controversial issues involved in EPA's stormwater regulatory program. I, for one, would have liked to address some of the other concerns raised by countless groups regarding permits, water quality standards, and differing requirements for municipal and industrial sources. Like many others, I would also have no problem with an extension longer than 2 years for low priority discharges so that we can push ahead with the more serious stormwater problems. EPA and others have said they need much more time to fashion a responsible program.

Mr. Speaker, an additional comment is warranted regarding the overall thrust of this bill and the entire Permitting, Management, and Control Program authorized under section 402(p). We are providing EPA and others more time to address certain so-called phase II discharges. At the same time, though, EPA and others must ensure an effective permitting program, to address so-called phase I discharges, that avoids unnecessary, duplicative, or costly sampling, testing, monitoring, reporting, and other requirements. For example, in cases where groups have undertaken sampling in order to comply with current deadlines, it would make sense that data already gathered could serve as the basis for future applications. Such an approach could help avoid redundant testing.

In the meantime, Congress cannot delay passing this critically important bill. We should pass it and send it to the other body immediately. The Nation's small towns, water quality officials, and all the impacted facilities and potentially regulated entities need this modest regulatory relief package now. The 2-year extension will also allow Congress time to fashion amendments to the stormwater program during debate on Clean Water Act reauthorization next year.

For all of these reasons, Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 6004. It's a small but important step toward more realistic deadlines and more reasonable regulations.

Mr. NOWAK. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, at this time I would like to acknowledge the great work of the gentleman from Arkansas [Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT]. I have worked with him and many others on this bill for 18 years and certainly his leadership concern and especially his staying the course, if you will, in all these bills has meant a great deal to all of us in committee and certainly in the House and in this country.

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. NOWAK. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. ABERCROMBIE). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New York [Mr. NOWAK] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6004.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. NOWAK. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks, and include therein extraneous material, on H.R. 6004, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

APPOINTMENT OF ADDITIONAL CONFEREES ON H.R. 429, RECLAMATION PROJECTS AUTHORIZATION AND ADJUSTMENT ACT OF 1992

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, and pursuant to clause 6(f) of rule X, the Chair makes the following appointments to fill vacancies occasioned by the death of Representative JONES of North Carolina on the committee of conference on the bill (H.R. 429) to amend certain Federal reclamation laws to improve enforcement of acreage limitations, and for other purposes:

As an additional conferee from the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries for consideration of titles II through VI, IX, XXX, and XXXIV of the House amendment to the Senate amendment, and titles II through VI, IX, XXXIII, XXXIV, XXXVI, and XXXVIII of the Senate amendment to the House amendment to the Senate amendment, and modification committed to conference: Mr. LIPINSKI.

As an additional conferee from the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries for consideration of titles I, VII, XI, and XVII through XX of the House amendment to the Senate amendment, and titles I, VII, XI, XII, XIV, XV, XIX, and XX of the Senate amendment to the House amendment to the Senate amendment, and modifications committed to conference: Mr. HUGHES.

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will notify the Senate of the change in conferees.

JICARILLA APACHE TRIBE WATER RIGHTS SETTLEMENT

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5122) relating to the settlement of the water rights claims of the Jicarilla Apache Tribe Water Rights Settlement Act as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5122

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Jicarilla Apache Tribe Water Rights Settlement Act".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress hereby finds and declares that—

(1) the Jicarilla Apache Tribe has multiple claims against the State of New Mexico, the United States, and other parties, related to water rights for its reservation in northern New Mexico and based on the alleged infringement of those rights;

(2) Federal water resource projects have diverted water upstream from the Jicarilla Apache Indian Reservation and have impounded water downstream from the reservation, but no provision has been made for substantial water resource development to benefit the reservation;

(3) a full and final settlement of the water rights claims of the Jicarilla Apache Tribe will inure to the benefit of the Tribe, the State of New Mexico, and the United States;

(4) this Act, together with a Settlement Contract between the Jicarilla Apache Tribe and the United States, is intended to provide for the full, fair and final resolution of the water right claims of the Tribe, and to secure to the Tribe a perpetual water supply for use on its reservation;

(5) the Jicarilla Apache Tribe may use this water supply outside the boundaries of its reservation consistent with the terms of a Settlement Contract between the Tribe and the United States; and

(6) the Secretary, in accordance with the requirements of section 11(a) of the Act of June 13, 1962 (76 Stat. 96, 99; Public Law 87-483), has determined by hydrologic investigations that sufficient water to fulfill the Settlement Contract is reasonably likely to be available for use in the State of New Mexico under the allocations made in articles III and XIV of the Upper Colorado River Basin Compact and has transmitted such determination to Congress by letter dated February 2, 1989.

SEC. 3. PURPOSE.

It is the purpose of this Act to—

(1) approve, ratify and incorporate by reference the Settlement Contract; and

(2) to authorize the actions and appropriations necessary and appropriate for the United States to fulfill its obligations under such contract and this Act.

SEC. 4. DEFINITIONS.

As used in this Act:

(1) The term "Settlement Contract" means a contract between the United States and the Jicarilla Apache Tribe setting forth the commitments, rights, and obligations of the United States and the Tribe in providing for the resolution of all water right claims of the Tribe.

(2) The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Interior.

(3) The term "Tribe" means the Jicarilla Apache Tribe of Indians organized under a revised constitution adopted December 15, 1968, pursuant to the Indian Reorganization Act (25 U.S.C. 476 et seq.) and duly recognized by the United States of America.

(4) The term "Navajo Reservoir" means the reservoir created by the impoundment of the San Juan River at the Navajo Dam as authorized by the Act of April 11, 1956 (70 Stat. 105).

(5) The term "San Juan-Chama Project" means the Project authorized by section 8 of the Act of June 13, 1962 (76 Stat. 96, 97), and the Act of April 11, 1956 (70 Stat. 105).

SEC. 5. SETTLEMENT CONTRACT APPROVAL.

(a) SETTLEMENT CONTRACT.—The Secretary, acting on behalf of the United States, and the President of the Tribe, acting pursuant to an authorization from the Jicarilla Apache Tribal Council, are authorized to enter into the Settlement Contract, but in no event shall such contract be limited by any term of years, or be canceled, terminated or rescinded by the action of any party, except by an Act of Congress hereafter enacted.

(b) APPROVAL OF SETTLEMENT CONTRACT.—The Congress approves, ratifies, and hereby incorporates by reference the Settlement Contract.

(c) AUTHORITY OF SECRETARY.—The Secretary is authorized to enter into such agreements and to take such measures as the Secretary may deem necessary or appropriate to fulfill the intent of the Settlement Contract and this Act.

SEC. 6. WATER AVAILABLE UNDER THE CONTRACT.

(a) WATER AVAILABLE.—Water made available annually under the Settlement Contract approved by section 5 of this Act is in the following amounts under water rights held by the Secretary for the following projects or sources:

	Total diversion (acre-feet/year)	Total depletion (acre-feet/year)
Navajo Reservoir or Navajo River	33,500	25,500
San Juan-Chama Project	6,500	6,500
Total	40,000	32,000

(b) AMENDMENTS TO CONTRACT.—The Secretary may enter into amendments to the Settlement Contract which would in his judgment be in the interest of water conservation and in the spirit of this settlement of the claims of the Tribe, but the water depletions shall not exceed the amounts set forth in this section.

(c) RIGHTS OF THE TRIBE.—The Tribe will be entitled under the Settlement Contract to use any and all return flows attributable to uses of the water by the Tribe or its contractors, as long as the water depletions do not exceed the amounts set forth in this section.

SEC. 7. SUBCONTRACTS.

(a) AUTHORITY OF TRIBE.—When water made available under the Settlement Contract approved by section 5 of this Act is not being used by the Tribe, the Tribe may subcontract with third parties, subject to the approval of the Secretary in accordance with this section, to supply water for beneficial use outside of the reservation, subject to and not inconsistent with the same requirements and conditions of State law, any applicable Federal law, interstate compact, and international law as apply to the exercise of water rights held by non-Federal, non-Indian entities. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to establish, address, prejudice, or prevent any party from litigating, whether or to what extent any of the aforementioned laws do or do not permit, govern, or apply to the use of the Tribe's water outside the State.

(b) MAXIMUM TERM.—The Tribe shall not permanently alienate any rights it has under the Settlement Contract. The maximum term of any water use subcontract, including all renewals, shall not exceed 99 years in duration.

(c) APPROVAL OF SECRETARY.—(1) The Secretary shall approve or disapprove any subcontracts submitted to him for approval within—

(A) 180 days after submission; or

(B) 60 days after compliance, if required, with section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4332(2)(C)), or any other requirement of Federal law, whichever is later.

(2) Any party to a subcontract may enforce the provision of this subsection pursuant to section 1361 of title 28, United States Code.

(d) PREEMPTION.—The authorization provided for in subsection (a) and the approval authority of the Secretary provided for in subsection (c) shall not amend, construe, supersede, or preempt any Federal law, interstate compact, or international treaty that pertains to the Colorado River or its tributaries, including the appropriation, use, development, storage, regulation, allocation, conservation, exportation, or quality of those waters. The provisions of section 2116 of the Revised Statutes (25 U.S.C. 177) shall not apply to any water made available under the Settlement Contract.

(e) FORFEITURE.—The nonuse of the water supply secured herein by a subcontractor of the Tribe shall in no event result in a forfeiture, abandonment, relinquishment, or other loss of all or any part of the rights exercised by the Tribe under the Settlement Contract.

SEC. 8. TRUST FUND; AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF TRUST FUND.—There is hereby established in the Treasury a fund to be known as the Jicarilla Apache Water Resources Development Trust Fund (hereafter in this section referred to as the "Fund").

(b) AUTHORIZATION.—There are authorized to be appropriated:

(1) $6,000,000 for deposit, in accordance with the following schedule, in the Fund, to be expended by the Tribe for any water resource development costs, including costs associated with this settlement:

(A) $2,000,000 shall be deposited in the first fiscal year which commences following the date of the enactment of this Act;

(B) $2,000,000 during the fiscal year next following the first fiscal year referred to in subparagraph (A); and

(C) $2,000,000 during the fiscal year next following the second fiscal year referred to in subparagraph (B); and

(2) such amounts as are necessary, for expenditures by the Secretary, to pay the Tribe's share of the operation, maintenance, and replacement costs for the San Juan-Chama Project, when the Secretary has waived the Tribe's obligation to pay such costs pursuant to subsection (c)(1) and section 10(f) of the Settlement Contract.

(c) NO PER CAPITA PAYMENTS.—No part of the principal of the fund, or of the income accruing to such fund, or the revenue from any water use subcontract, shall be distributed to any member of the Tribe on a per capita basis.

(d) WAIVERS.—Notwithstanding the provisions of the Act of August 4, 1939 (53 Stat. 1187), or any other provision of law:

(1) When the conditions specified in section 10(f) of the Settlement Contract are satisfied, the Secretary may waive all or part of the Tribe's share of the construction costs, and the operation, maintenance, and replacement costs for the Navajo Reservoir and the San Juan-Chama Project.

(2) When all or part of the Tribe's share of the construction costs for the San Juan-Chama Project are waived by the Secretary, that portion of those costs waived shall be nonreimbursable.

(3) The Tribe's share of the construction cost obligation for the San Juan-Chama Project, both principal and interest, due from 1972 to the execution of the Settlement Contract shall be nonreimbursable.

(e) DISMISSAL OF CLAIMS.—(1) Amounts authorized to be appropriated to the Fund under subsection (b)(1) may not be expended until the following conditions are met:

(A) The following actions brought by the Tribe against the United States have been dismissed:

(i) Jicarilla Apache Tribe against United States, et al., Civil No. 82-1327 JP (D.N.M.).

(ii) Claims 3 and 4 in Jicarilla Apache Tribe against United States, No. 112-77 (U.S. Claims Ct.).

(B) Partial final decrees which would quantify the Tribe's reserved water right claims have been entered in the following general stream adjudications:

(i) New Mexico against United States, et al., No. 75-184 (11th Jud. Dist., San Juan County, New Mexico), involving claims to the waters of the San Juan River and its tributaries.

(ii) New Mexico against Aragon, et al., Civil No. 79-41 SC (D.N.M.), involving claims to the Rio Chama and its tributaries.

(2) Within a reasonable time after the date of the enactment of this Act and the execution of the Settlement Contract pursuant to section 5(a), the United States, the Tribe, and the State of New Mexico shall file joint motions in the general stream adjudications specified in paragraph (1)(B) for the entry of partial final decrees, agreed to by the United States, the Tribe, and the State of New Mexico on July 9, 1992, to quantify the Tribe's reserved water right claims consistent with the Settlement Contract, subject to amendments.

(3) If the two partial final decrees specified in paragraph (1)(B) are not entered by December 31, 1996, the Fund shall be terminated, and amounts contributed to the Fund by the United States, shall be deposited in the general fund of the Treasury.

SEC. 9. ENVIRONMENTAL COMPLIANCE.

Execution of the Settlement Contract shall not constitute a major Federal action under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.). The Secretary shall comply with all aspects of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, the Endangered Species Act, and other applicable environmental laws and regulations in fulfilling the terms of the Settlement Contract.

SEC. 10. PROTECTION OF RIGHTS.

The tribal rights under the Settlement Contract approved by section 5 of this Act, and the water rights adjudicated by final decrees in general stream adjudications consistent with such contract, shall inure to the benefit of the Tribe, and the Tribe shall not be denied all or any part of such rights absent its consent unless such rights are explicitly abrogated by an Act of Congress hereafter enacted.

SEC. 11. DISCLAIMER.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Nothing in this Act shall be construed to alter, amend, repeal, construe, interpret, modify, or be in conflict with the provisions of the Boulder Canyon Project Act (45 Stat. 1057); the Boulder Canyon Project Adjustment Act (54 Stat. 774); the Colorado River Storage Project Act (70 Stat. 105); the Colorado River Basin Project Act (82 Stat. 885); the Act of June 13, 1962 (76 Stat. 96); the Colorado River Compact of 1922 made effective by Public Proclamation of the President of the United States on June 25, 1929 (46 Stat. 3000); the Upper Colorado River Basin Compact (63 Stat. 31); the Rio Grande Compact (53 Stat. 785); or the Treaty between the United States of America and the United Mexican States (59 Stat. 1219).

(b) RELATIVE TO OTHER TRIBES.—Nothing in the Settlement Contract or this Act shall be construed in any way to quantify or otherwise adversely affect the land and water rights, claims, or entitlements to water of the Navajo Nation, or any Indian tribe, pueblo, or community, other than the Jicarilla Apache Tribe.

□ 1700

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. ABERCROMBIE). Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. HEFLEY] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the legislation presently under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 5122, the Jicarilla Apache Tribe Water Rights Settlement Act is sponsored by Congressman RICHARDSON. This bill approves and ratifies the settlement agreement between the Jicarilla Apache Tribe, the United States, and the State of New Mexico. The settlement agreement provides for a total diversion of 40,000 acre-feet/year for the Jicarilla Apache Tribe. Of this amount, 33,500 acre-feet/year shall come from the Navajo Reservoir and the remainder shall come from the San Juan-Chama project.

This settlement will secure a perpetual supply of water for the tribe for its use on the reservation. The bill authorizes the Jicarilla Apache Tribe to sell, exchange, or lease water subject to the approval of the Secretary. Under the terms of the agreement the tribe may not permanently alienate any rights under the contract and the maximum term for any subcontract shall be 99 years.

The bill also provides that there are authorized to be appropriated $6 million for deposit in a water resources development trust fund for the Jicarilla Apache Tribe. These amounts shall be paid in three annual installments of $2 million.

The committee adopted several amendments to H.R. 5122 to address the concerns of the Department of Justice, the Lower Colorado River Basin States, and the Navajo Nation.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation would provide for the full, fair and final resolution of the water rights claims of the Jicarilla Apache Tribe. This legislation has the support of the administration, the Jicarilla Apache Tribe, and the State of New Mexico. I urge my colleagues to support this very important legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New Mexico [Mr. RICHARDSON].

Mr. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, H.R. 5122 provides congressional approval for an historic agreement that will settle the Indian water rights claims of the Jicarilla Apache Tribe—the first such negotiated settlement of Indian water rights in the State of New Mexico.

The Jicarilla Apache Reservation is located between the federally constructed San Juan-Chama trans-mountain diversion project and the Navajo Reservoir. While both projects significantly depleted water resources that the tribe had depended upon for ages, the Bureau of Reclamation excluded the tribe from participating in or benefiting from the projects—leaving the tribe no choice but to file suit against the United States.

The Jicarilla Tribe has for years engaged in negotiations with the Department of the Interior to settle the tribe's water-related claims. The terms and conditions of the negotiated settlement are embodied in a contract between the tribe and the United States, a contract fully supported by the New Mexico Interstate Stream Commission. I submit a copy of this contract to be inserted in the RECORD.

Enactment of H.R. 5122 will enable the tribe to enter into partial final decrees with the State of New Mexico, quantifying its water rights in the Rio Chama and San Juan River stream systems, and securing a perpetual water supply for the tribe.

In addition, this legislation establishes a water resource development trust fund that will be used by the tribe for water development costs and the costs associated with the implementation of the settlement.

It is important to note that during consideration of H.R. 5122 in the Committee on Interior, I offered amendments that addressed concerns raised by the administration, the Lower Colorado River Basin States, and the Navajo Nation. The bill was passed unanimously by the committee.

However, additional concerns were recently raised regarding section 9(a) of the bill, which would prohibit the use of water from the San Juan Chama project to offset depletions from other water projects in the San Juan River basin in order to comply with the Endangered Species Act. This section in no way exempts this legislation from compliance with the Endangered Species Act, but is intended to protect the San Juan Chama water allocation. In an effort to resolve the concerns, I have agreed to strike section 9(a) from the bill.

Mr. Speaker, a great number of people in New Mexico are watching the progress of this legislation closely. It not only sets a benchmark for the settlement of Indian water rights in our State, but across the country.

CONTRACT BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND THE JICARILLA APACHE TRIBE

PREAMBLE

This contract is entered into this —— day of ——, 1992, between the United States of America, acting through the Secretary of the Interior pursuant to the Jicarilla Apache Water Rights Settlement Act of ——, 1992, 105 Stat. ——, and the Act of June 13, 1962, 76 Stat. 96, and the Jicarilla Apache Tribe.

EXPLANATORY RECITALS

Witnesseth, That:

Whereas, the United States and the Jicarilla Apache Tribe have negotiated a resolution of all water right claims of the Tribe, including tribal reserved rights claims which are the subject of general stream adjudications in state and federal courts in New Mexico and which claims, if unresolved, impair water resource development by the Tribe and the State of New Mexico; and,

Whereas, the settlement of these claims will secure to the Tribe a perpetual water supply; and

Whereas, in order to preserve opportunities for Indian reservation development while at the same time allowing for other economical water resource development, it is the intent of this contract that the Jicarilla Apache Tribe, if it does not or cannot put the water supply secured to it under this contract to use, may exercise the right to market such water; and,

Whereas, the Jicarilla Apache Tribe has never been the beneficiary of any public water resource development, though federal projects have diverted water upstream from the Jicarilla Apache Indian Reservation and have impounded water downstream from the reservation; and,

Whereas, the federal government is undertaking no obligation to construct any additional water resource development facility to fulfill the terms and conditions of this contract; rather, the Tribe will be free to determine both the use to which the water will be applied and the need to construct any facilities; and,

Whereas, the Secretary of the Interior has determined in accordance with section 11 of the Act of June 13, 1962, 76 Stat. 96, 99–100, pursuant to the hydrologic determination submitted to Congress on February 2, 1989, that there is sufficient water reasonably likely to be available for use in the State of New Mexico to enable the United States to enter into this contract;

Now therefore, in consideration of mutual and dependent covenants and conditions contained herein, the parties agree to the following:

GENERAL DEFINITIONS

1. When used herein, unless otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent hereof, the term:

(a) "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Department of the Interior or a designee.

(b) "Contracting Officer" means the representative of the Commissioner of Reclamation authorized to administer this contract.

(c) "Tribe" means the Jicarilla Apache Tribe, acting through its authorized representative.

(d) "Navajo Reservoir" means the reservoir created by the impoundment of the San Juan River at the Navajo Dam as authorized by the Act of Congress of April 11, 1956, 70 Stat. 105, as amended.

(e) "Navajo Reservoir Supply" means the water that the Secretary of the Interior is entitled to use under the rights acquired pursuant to New Mexico State Engineer file Nos. 2848, 2849, 2873, 2917 combined, and 3215. The Secretary's water rights for the San Juan-Chama Project and for the New Mexico portion of the Animas-LaPlata Project are not a part of the Navajo Reservoir Supply.

(f) "San Juan-Chama Project" means the Project authorized by Section 8 of the Act of June 13, 1962, 76 Stat. 96, and the Act of April 11, 1956, 70 Stat. 105, as amended.

(g) "Navajo River" means the river of that name which flows across the Jicarilla Apache Indian Reservation in New Mexico, and all tributaries thereto.

(h) Reservation" means the Jicarilla Apache Indian Reservation, as recognized by the Secretary of the Interior on the date of this contract.

CONDITIONS

2. (a) Except for the commitments made in section 3(a), this contract will give rise to rights and obligations on the part of the Jicarilla Apache Tribe and the United States only after the following events have occurred:

(i) the lawsuit styled Jicarilla Apache Tribe v. United States, et al., Civ. No. 82–1327 JP (U.S. Dist. Ct., D.N.M.), has been dismissed with prejudice pursuant to a stipulation of the parties;

(ii) Claims 3 and 4 of the lawsuit styled Jicarilla Apache Tribe v. United States, Cl.Ct. No. 112–77, have been dismissed with prejudice pursuant to a stipulation of the parties;

(iii) this contract is incorporated by reference in, and becomes a part of, a partial final decree entered by the District Court of San Juan County, New Mexico, in the general stream adjudication of the San Juan River stream system, New Mexico v. United States, No. 75–184, which decree adjudicates all the water rights fo the Jicarilla Apache Tribe in the following manner:

(A) the decree shall provide that the reserved water rights of the Tribe, when added to the Tribe's reserved water rights adjudicated in the Rio Chama stream system, authorize diversion not to exceed 40,000 acre-feet per year from the two stream systems, in addition to the amounts referred to in subsections 2(a)(iii)(C) and 2(a)(iv)(B); and

(B) the decree shall provide that those reserved water rights referred to in subsection 2(a)(iii)(A) shall be subordinated to the rights of the Jicarilla Apache Tribe under this contract; and

(C) the decree shall adjudicate the water rights the Tribe has under state law and any water rights the Tribe has to groundwater, ponds and lakes which are within the Reservation which are recognized in addition to the rights which the Tribe acquires under this contract; provided, that nothing herein shall be construed to limit the right of the Tribe to withdraw and use groundwater which withdrawal and use does not deplete the San Juan River stream system;

(iv) this contract is incorporated by reference in and becomes a part of a partial final decree entered by the U.S. District

Court of the District of New Mexico in the general stream adjudication of the Rio Chama stream system, New Mexico v. Aragon, Civ. No. 7941 SC, which decree adjudicates all the water rights of the Jicarilla Apache Tribe in the following manner:

(A) the decree shall provide that the reserved water rights of the Tribe shall be subordinated to the rights of the Jicarilla Apache Tribe under this contract; and

(B) the decree shall adjudicate the water rights which the Tribe has under state law and any water rights the Tribe has to groundwater, ponds or lakes which are within the Reservation, which are recognized in addition to the rights which the Tribe acquires under this contract; Provided, that nothing herein shall be construed to limit the right of the Tribe to withdraw and use groundwater/which withdrawal and use does not deplete the Rio Chama stream system.

(b) A "partial final decree . . . which . . . adjudicates all the water rights of the Jicarilla Apache Tribe," within the meaning of subsection (a)(iii) of this section, means a state district court decree which, after a stipulation of the United States, the Jicarilla Apache Tribe, the State of New Mexico, and BHP-Utah International, Inc., and after the hearing of any objections or opposition, adjudicates all the water rights of the Tribe in the stream system consistent with the terms and conditions of this contract. Within the meaning of subsection (a)(iv), such decree means a federal district court decree which, after a stipulation of the United States, the Jicarilla Apache Tribe, and the State of New Mexico, and after the hearing of any objections or opposition, adjudicates all the water rights of the Tribe in the stream system consistent with the terms and conditions of this contract. The possibility that future objections to these decrees may be raised in the context of the entire general stream adjudication of all water rights in the stream system does not render these partial final decrees anything other than "final" for purposes for purposes of this contract.

PRELIMINARY UNDERSTANDINGS

3. (a) Both the United States and the Jicarilla Apache Tribe will in good faith take all steps necessary to assure the fulfillment of the conditions of section 2.

(b) It is understood between the parties that all stipulated dismissals and partial final decrees referred to in section 2(a) constitute mutual consideration for the purchase and delivery of water under this contract, and that neither party will have any obligation under this contract to purchase water from or deliver water to the other party until all the conditions of section 2 have been met.

WATER DELIVERY PROVISIONS

4. (a) The United States agrees to deliver, or make available for delivery, to the Tribe up to a total of 40,000 acre-feet of water per year from the Navajo Reservoir Supply, including any diversion from the Navajo River on the Reservation, and from the San Juan-Chama Project, in accordance with the provisions of this contract. To the extent that delivery of water is made through federal water resource facilities, the Tribe will reimburse for this service in accordance with the provisions of section 10 of this contract.

(b) Of the water to be made available under subsection 4(a), the Tribe may divert up to 33,500 acre-feet per year from the Navajo River on the Reservation. The Tribe must notify the Contracting Officer at least 30 days prior to any such diversion of the amount and timing of the diversion. Because water diverted from the Navajo River on the Reservation will not have been stored or diverted through federal water resource facilities, no cost shall be charged to the Tribe by the United States for the diversion of that water, notwithstanding the provisions of section 10 of this contract.

(c) Of the water to be made available under subsection 4(a), the Tribe may divert and the United States agrees to deliver up to 33,500 acre-feet per year from the Navajo Reservoir supply; provided, that the total diversions under this contract from the Navajo Reservoir Supply do not exceed 33,500 acre-feet of water per year.

(d) Of the water to be made available under subsection 4(a), the United States agrees to deliver up to 6,500 acre-feet per year from the San Juan-Chama Project. The point of delivery for San Juan-Chama water shall be the existing outlet works at Heron Reservoir unless otherwise agreed by the Contracting Officer and the Tribe.

(e) Separate contracts for additional water, whether for temporary or permanent use, as available, may be negotiated by the Tribe with the Bureau of Reclamation in the future, but they do not constitute any part of the consideration for this contract.

(f) The water delivery rights recognized by this contract shall be perpetual, and the Tribe shall have the right to subcontract with others for use of said water supply as provided in section 11.

(g) The Tribe shall have no holdover storage rights in the Navajo or Heron Reservoirs from year to year. Any water subject to delivery hereunder not called for by the end of each calendar year shall become integrated with the water supply for all purposes of the reservoirs at that time.

(h) Nothing in this section is intended to impose on the United States any obligation to maintain the Navajo Reservoir and San Juan-Chama Project beyond their useful lives or to take extraordinary measures to keep these facilities operating.

(i) The United States agrees that it will make provision for the buy-out of private water rights, effective prior to the year 2040, aggregating 11,000 acre-feet depletion of the San Juan River stream system in New Mexico with the State's allocation of Upper Colorado River Basin water, as reflected on page 23 of the hydrologic determination sent to Congress on February 2, 1989, or make other satisfactory provision to reconcile those commitments with New Mexico's allocation. Either the Tribe or the State of New Mexico may specifically enforce this contractual obligation provided that this obligation may not be enforced prior to the year 2000. The Tribe's right to delivery of water prior to the year 2040 under the terms of this section dependent upon the United States' fulfillment of this obligation.

TRANSPORTATION LOSSES

5. Transportation of water from the reservoir or other points of delivery shall be the sole responsibility of the Tribe, so that no conveyance losses, including channel losses, shall be borne by the United States.

CONSTRUCTION AND OPERATION OF FACILITIES

6. Nothing herein shall be construed to obligate the United States to construct, install, operate, or maintain pumps, pipelines, storage tanks, distribution lines, or other facilities required to take, measure, convey, or distribute water for use beyond agreed upon points of delivery.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR DISTRIBUTION

7. Upon delivery the Tribe shall be responsible for the control, carriage, handling, distribution, measurement, and use of all water made available under this contract, and shall hold the United States, its officers, agents, employees, and successors or assigns, harmless from every claim for damages to persons or property, direct or indirect, and of whatever nature arising out of or in any manner connected with the control, carriage, handling, distribution or use of such water beyond the point of delivery.

WATER SUPPLY

8. (a) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this contract, in times of shortage the Tribe will share in the available water supply in the manner set forth in Section 11(a) of the Act of June 13, 1962, 76 Stat. 96, 99–100.

(b) With respect to water made available under the terms of this contract from the San Juan-Chama Project, during periods when the Contracting Officer finds that the actual available water supply is more or less than the estimated firm yield of the Project, the Tribe shall share in the available water supply in the ratio that its contract amount bears to the firm yield.

(c) On account of drought or other causes outside the control of the United States, there may occur at times during any year a shortage in the quantity of water available for use by the Tribe pursuant to this contract. In no event shall any liability accrue against the United States, or any of its officers, agents or employees, for any damage, direct or indirect, arising out of any such shortage, and the payments due the United States provided for herein shall not be reduced because of such shortage.

UNCONTROLLABLE FORCES

9. (a) Neither party shall be considered to be in default in respect to any obligation hereunder if prevented from fulfilling such obligation by reason of uncontrollable forces. The term uncontrollable forces shall mean, for the purposes of this contract, any cause beyond the control of the party affected, including but not limited to, drought, failure of facilities, flood, earthquake, storm, lightning, fire, epidemic, war, riot, civil disturbance, labor disturbance, sabotage, and restraint by court or public authority, which by exercise of due diligence and foresight, such party could not reasonably have been expected to avoid. Either party rendered unable to fulfill any obligation by reason of uncontrollable forces shall exercise due diligence to remove expeditiously such inability.

(b) If and only if the United States is unable to deliver all or part of the San Juan-Chama Project water to the Tribe pursuant to section 4(d) as a result of the physical failure of the project, the Tribe may take an equivalent amount of water out of the Navajo Reservoir supply, notwithstanding the provisions of section 4(c).

COST PROVISIONS

10. (a) Charges for water from the Navajo Reservoir Supply will be as follows:

(i) Construction costs shall be charged at the annual amortization rate of $2.60 per acre-foot ending at the year 2012 for water delivered for irrigation. Construction charges for water delivered for irrigation of Indian land shall be allocated and payment deferred under the provisions of the Leavitt Act, 47 Stat. 564, as authorized in section 4(d) of the Colorado River Storage Project Act.

(ii) Construction costs shall be charged to the Tribe at an annual amortization rate of $2.60 per acre-foot ending at the year 2012 for Navajo Reservoir Supply water delivered for municipal and industrial uses.

(iii) The Tribe shall pay the United States, or its designee if some organization other than the United States is operating the project, its proportionate share of the annual operation, maintenance and replacement costs (OM&R) assignable to the amount of water made available from the Navajo Reservoir Supply to the Tribe through this contract.

(iv) The Contracting Officer or a designee will bill the Tribe for construction and OM&R costs for Navajo Reservoir on or before September 1 of the year proceeding the year of use. The Tribe shall pay all accrued costs within 30 days after receipt of the bill.

(b) The Tribe's construction cost obligation for the San Juan-Chama Project is estimated to be $1,056,250. Payment for the principal and interest due from 1972 through date of execution of this contract shall be treated as non-reimbursable. Construction costs shall be charged at an annual amortization rate of $3.25 per acre-foot ending at the year 2021 for water delivered for irrigation. Construction charges for water delivered for irrigation on Indian land shall be allocated and payment deferred under the provisions of the Leavitt Act, 47 Stat. 564, as authorized in section 4(d) of the Colorado River Storage Project Act.

(i) Construction costs for irrigation water converted and designated as municipal and industrial water shall be charged to the Tribe at an annual amortization rate of $29.40 per acre-foot ending at the year 2021, including the project interest rate of 3.046% on the unpaid balance. Payments made by the Tribe for municipal and industrial water pursuant to this subsection shall be applied according to Reclamation law. This amortization rate for the San Juan-Chama Project, as provided herein, shall be paid by the Tribe until the actual costs have been determined in the final cost allocation. Upon completion of the final cost allocation, the amortization rate payable by the Tribe shall be adjusted to provide payment on the basis of actual costs until its share of the project is paid off.

(ii) The Contracting Officer or a designee will bill the Tribe for construction costs associated with the San Juan-Chama Project on or before September 1 of the year preceding the year of use. The Tribe shall pay all accrued costs within 30 days after receipt of the bill.

(iii) The Tribe shall pay the United States, or its designee if some organization other than the United States is operating the project, its proportionate share of the annual operation, maintenance and replacement costs (OM&R) assignable to the amount of water made available from the San Juan-Chama Project to the Tribe through this contract.

(iv) OM&R costs for the San Juan-Chama Project shall be paid on the basis of annual estimates made by the Secretary. A billing from the Secretary will be sent to the Tribe on or before May 1 for the next year's annual reimbursable OM&R costs assessed to the Tribe. The Tribe shall advance its share of the OM&R costs for each calendar year in quarterly payments which will be due on December 31 of the same calendar year as the billing, and on March 10, May 10, and August 30 of the year of applicability. The first such billing will be issued immediately following execution of this contract. In the event this first notice shall be for costs of service of less than a full year, such costs shall be prorated for the period covered. Each billing shall show an itemization of the estimated reimbursable OM&R costs of the San Juan-Chama Project.

(iv) The Tribe shall pay its rata share of the annual OM&R costs of the San Juan-Chama Project, based upon the ratio of the number of acre-feet allocated to the Tribe to the total number of acre-feet under contract by all contractors for San Juan-Chama Project water.

(c) In the event either the OM&R cost estimate falls short of the actual costs in any period, or whenever it is anticipated by the Contracting Officer that a deficit will occur during the year, supplemental notices may be issued by the Contracting Officer requesting additional funds. OM&R funds not spent during one calendar year will be carried over for use during the next calendar year with funds required for that year being reduced accordingly. An itemized statement of actual costs incurred during each year shall be furnished to the Tribe.

(d) The annual amortization rates and annual OM&R assessments specified in section 10(a) and 10(b) above shall be charged to the Tribe for all water subcontracted to third parties.

(e) Billings from the Contracting Officer and payments by the Tribe of the construction and OM&R costs outlined under this section shall be made on the basis of section 10(a) and 10(b) as may be modified by section 10(f). For project operation purposes, the Tribe will provide an annual notice to the Contracting Officer listing the amount of water estimated to be used by the Tribe, the estimated period and point of diversion for each intended purpose and a listing of all executed subcontracts with third parties, including those subcontracts anticipated to be executed during the year of applicability. The Tribe shall send this notice on or before February 1 of the year preceding the year of use described in the notice. Upon receipt of such notice, the Contracting Officer will bill the Tribe for payment of costs as prescribed herein. Billing adjustments will be made to correct for differences in the estimated and actual use of water during the preceding year.

(f) All of part of the annual construction and OM&R costs may be waived on a project-specific basis if the Tribe demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary that, practically speaking, no market exists for all or part of the water contracted from either Navajo Reservoir Supply or the San Juan-Chama Project. Such demonstration shall be in written form and shall accompany the February 1 notice provided for in section 10(e). With respect to the San Juan-Chama Project, those OM&R costs waived on an annual basis will be paid by the Secretary, and those construction costs waived annually will be treated as non-reimbursable.

SUBCONTRACTING

11. (a) When water made available under this contract is not being used by the Tribe, the Tribe may subcontract with third parties, subject to the approval of the Secretary in accordance with this section, to supply water for beneficial use outside of the Reservation, subject to and not inconsistent with the same requirements and conditions of State law, and any applicable Federal law, interstate compact, and international law as apply to the exercise of water rights held by non-federal, non-Indian entities; provided, however, that nothing in this contract shall be construed to establish, address, or prejudice whether, or to prevent any party from litigating whether, or to the extent to which, any of the aforementioned laws do or do not permit, govern, or apply to the use of the Tribe's water outside the State.

(b) Subcontracts made the Tribe with third parties shall be subject to the provisions of this contract and must include terms of use, purchase, measurement, operations, and default. A copy of each proposed subcontract shall be filed with the Contracting Officer and the New Mexico Interstate Stream Commission prior to being executed by the Tribe, and two copies of each executed subcontract shall be filed with the Contracting Officer and one copy with the New Mexico Interstate Stream Commission.

(c) Prior to approving any tribal subcontract, the Secretary shall comply with section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, 42 U.S.C. §4332(2)(C).

(d) The Secretary shall approve any subcontract submitted by the Tribe if he determines:

(i) that the diversion and use of water under the subcontract would comply with applicable state law, including all applicable permitting and reporting requirements of the New Mexico State Engineer;

(ii) that the sum of the term of the subcontract plus all renewals is no more than 99 years;

(iii) that the use of water under the subcontract is not inconsistent with the provisions of the Endangered Species Act or other provisions of Federal law designed to protect the environment;

(iv) that the subcontract is sufficiently specific as to the amount of water and points of diversion to enable the Contracting Officer to account for the water as it is diverted; or, in the alternative, that the subcontract reserves the Contracting Officer's right to review and approve future diversions sought under the subcontract, such review and approval to be consistent with this contract;

(v) that delivery obligations under the subcontract are not inconsistent with other obligations of the Secretary to deliver water under preexisting contracts; and

(vi) that the subcontract is in the best interests of the Tribe.

(e) The Tribe agrees to include the following equal opportunity language in any subcontract for use of water off the Reservation:

(i) The subcontractor will not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religion, sex or national origin. The subcontractor will take affirmative action to ensure that applicants are employed, and that employees are treated during employment, without regard to race, color, religion, sex or national origin. Such action shall include, but not be limited to, the following: Employment, upgrading, demotion or transfer, recruitment or recruitment advertising, layoff or termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation, and selection for training, including apprenticeship.

(ii) The subcontractor will, in all solicitations or advertisements for employees placed by or on behalf of the subcontractor, state that all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex or national origin.

(iii) The Tribe will take such action with respect to any subcontractor as the Contracting Officer may direct as a means of enforcing such provisions, including sanctions for noncompliance; provided however, if the Tribe becomes involved in, or is threatened with, litigation with a subcontractor as a result of such direction, the Tribe may request the United States to enter into such litigation to protect the interest of the United States.

Nothing in paragraphs (i) through (iii), above, shall be read as prohibiting the Tribe from requiring that subcontractors give preferential employment to members of the Jicarilla Apache Tribe.

FISH AND WILDLIFE COORDINATION

12. (a) The Tribe, the Fish and Wildlife Service, the Bureau of Reclamation and the Bureau of Indian Affairs agree to cooperate and coordinate in the planning and construction of projects, diversions and changes in water management associated with the water made available to the Tribe under the terms of this agreement as required by federal law, including, but not limited to, the Bald and Golden Eagle Protection Act, the Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act, the Endangered Species Act, the Clean Water Act, and the National Environmental Policy Act.

(b) The Tribe and the Department of the Interior agree to work with the State of New Mexico and affected water users to assure that Navajo Dam and Reservoir and San Juan-Chama Project are operated in compliance with applicable laws while meeting water delivery obligations, so as to provide, to the maximum extent possible, quantities and timing of deliveries to provide for downstream flows necessary to maintain and protect existing fisheries and other resources, with particular emphasis on endangered species.

DOWNSTREAM FISHERY RESOURCE

13. Operation of the Navajo Reservoir has created a substantial stream fishery resource in the reach of the San Juan River below Navajo Dam. The Contracting Officer and the Tribe, subject to such water rights as have been heretofore and may be hereinafter granted or adjudicated upon the San Juan River or the tributaries thereof, agree to encourage water deliveries at points of diversion that would be compatible with maintaining the downstream fishery. The Tribe agrees to work closely with the United States Fish and Wildlife Service in all municipal and industrial water marketing and deliveries to protect this fishery resource insofar as practicable.

AIR AND WATER POLLUTION CONTROL

14. The Tribe agrees that it will comply fully with federal air and water pollution control laws, now or hereafter in force. Also, the Tribe agrees that any subcontract it may enter into for the furnishing of water pursuant to this contract will contain similar air and water pollution control provisions including state and local requirements, where applicable. The Tribe further agrees that any such subcontract it may enter into will require that its designs and plans for air and water pollution control facilities or equipment which are necessary parts of any design, facility, plant, or process which utilizes water delivered from the Navajo Reservoir Supply or San Juan-Chama Project will be submitted to the Secretary for his review and written comments prior to contracting for said facilities, their installation or major modification thereof.

BOOKS, ACCOUNTS AND RECORDS

15. (a) The Tribe shall establish and maintain accounts and other books and records such as are necessary to enable the Secretary to operate the subject facilities. Reports thereon shall be furnished to the Contracting Officer in such form and on such date or dates as he may require. Subject to applicable Federal laws and regulations, each party shall have the right during office hours to examine and make copies of the other party's books and records relating to matters covered by this contract.

(b) Subsection (a) of this section shall not apply to water diverted directly for the Navajo River for use on the Jicarilla Apache Reservation. For such water the Tribe is required only to notify the Contracting Officer, at least 30 days prior to any such diversion, of reasonable estimates of the amount and timing of the diversion, and to provide the Contracting Officer, within 30 days after diversion of the water, with proof of actual amount of water diverted.

COMPLIANCE WITH RECLAMATION LAWS

16. The parties agree that the delivery of irrigation water or the use of federal facilities pursuant to this contract is governed by applicable Reclamation law, except that this delivery or use is not subject to the Reclamation Reform Act of 1982, as amended.

RULES, REGULATIONS, AND DETERMINATIONS

17. (a) The United States or its assigns shall take all prudent and ordinary measures to operate and maintain all existing facilities necessary to this contract, but nothing in this section shall be construed to require the United States to operate such facilities beyond the useful life of the existing facilities. These facilities will be operated for multiple benefits of the project in accordance with project authorization and contracts, including this contract. The contracting Officer, in consultation with the Tribe, shall have the right to make determinations necessary to administer this contract that are consistent with the express and implicit conditions of this contract, the laws of the United States and rules and regulations promulgated by the Secretary of the Interior.

(b) Where the terms of this contract provide for action to be based upon the opinion or determination of either party to this contract, whether or not stated to be conclusive, said terms shall not be construed as permitting such action to be predicated upon arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable opinions or determinations.

GENERAL OBLIGATION—BENEFITS CONDITIONED UPON PAYMENT

18. (a) The obligation of the Tribe to pay the United States as provided in this contract is a general obligation of the Tribe notwithstanding he manner in which the obligation may be distributed among the Tribe's water users and notwithstanding the default of individual water users in their obligations to the Tribe.

(b) The payment of charges becoming due hereunder is a condition precedent to receiving benefits under this contract. The Tribe shall have no right to the use of water supplied from any project facilities during any period in which the Tribe may be in arrears in the payment of any operation, maintenance, and replacement charges due the United States or in arrears for more than 12 months in the payment of any construction and interest installments due the United States.

(c) The Tribe shall pay penalty charges on delinquent installments or payments. When payment is not received by the due date, the Tribe shall pay an interest charge for each day the payment is delinquent beyond the due date. When a payment becomes 60 days delinquent, the Tribe shall pay an administrative charge to cover additional costs of billings and processing the delinquent payment. When a payment is delinquent 90 days or more, the Tribe shall pay an additional penalty charge of 6 percent per year for each day the payment is delinquent beyond the due date. Further, the Tribe shall pay any fees incurred for debt collection services associated with the delinquent payment.

(d) The interest charge rate shall be the greater of the rate prescribed quarterly in the Federal Register by the Department of the Treasury for application to overdue payments or the interest rate of 0.5 percent per month prescribed by section 6 of the Reclamation Project Act of 1939, 53 Stat. 1191. The interest charge rate shall be determined as of the due date and remain fixed for the duration of the delinquent period.

(e) When a partial payment for a delinquent account is received, the amount received shall be applied first to the penalty, second to the administrative charges, third to the accrued interest and finally to the overdue payment.

WATER QUALITY

19. The operation and maintenance of project facilities shall be performed in such manner as is practicable to maintain the quality of raw water made available through such facilities at the highest level reasonably attainable, as determined by the United States. The United States does not warrant the quality of water and is under no obligation to construct or furnish water treatment facilities to maintain or better the quality of water.

WATER CONSERVATION

20. Prior to the delivery of water provided from or conveyed through federally constructed or federally financed facilities pursuant to this contract, the Tribe shall develop an affective water conservation program which shall contain definite water conservation objectives, appropriate economically feasible water conservation measures, and time schedules for meeting those objectives. At subsequent three-year intervals, the Tribe shall submit a report on the results of the program to the Contracting Officer for review. Based on the conclusions of the review, the Contracting Officer and the Tribe shall consult and agree to continue or to revise the existing water conservation program. This paragraph shall be included in all subcontracts, and such measures shall be required of all water purchasers.

CONTINGENT UPON APPROPRIATIONS OR ALLOTMENT OF FUNDS

21. The expenditure of any money or the performance of any obligation by the United States under this contract shall be contingent upon appropriations or allotments of funds. Absence of appropriation or allotment of funds shall not relieve the Tribe from any obligations under this contract. No liability shall accrue against the United States in case funds are not appropriated or allotted.

NOTICES

22. Any notice, demand, or request authorized or required by this contract shall be deemed to have been given on behalf of the Tribe when mailed, postage prepaid, or delivered to the Regional Director, Upper Colorado Region, Bureau of Reclamation, 125 South State Street, P.O. Box 11568, Salt Lake City, Utah 84111, and on behalf of the United States when mailed, postage prepaid, or delivered to the Tribe. The designation of the addressee or the address may be changed by notice given in the same manner as provided in this section for other notices.

OFFICIALS NOT TO BENEFIT

23. No Member of or Delegate to Congress or Resident Commissioner or official of the Tribe shall benefit from this contract or any subcontract other than as a water user or landowner in the same manner as other water users or landowners.

SAVINGS CLAUSES

24. (a) Prior to the fulfillment of the conditions in section 2, nothing in this contract

shall be construed as an admission, or be used by any party as evidence, that the Tribe is or is not legally entitled to reserved water rights in the San Juan or the Rio Chama stream systems.

(b) Nothing contained in this contract shall be construed to alter, amend, repeal, interpret, modify, or be in conflict with the provisions of the Boulder Canyon Project Act, 45 Stat. 1057; the Boulder Canyon Project Adjustment Act, 54 Stat. 774; the Colorado River Compact, proclaimed on June 25, 1929, 46 Stat. 3000; the Upper Colorado River Basin Compact, 63 Stat. 31; the Rio Grande Compact of 1938, 53 Stat. 785; the 1944 Treaty with the United Mexican States, Treaty Series 994, 59 Stat. 1219; the Act of June 13, 1962, 76 Stat. 96; the Colorado River Basin Project Act, 82 Stat. 885; or the Colorado River Storage Project Act, 70 Stat. 105.

(c) The use of water, including that diverted from the Colorado River system to the Rio Grande Basin, through works constructed under the authority of the Act of June 13, 1962, 76 Stat. 96, shall be subject to and controlled by the Colorado River compact, the Upper Colorado River Basin compact, the Boulder Canyon Project Act, the Boulder Canyon Project Adjustment Act, the Colorado River Storage Project Act, and the Mexican Water Treaty (Treaty Series 994), and shall be included within and shall in no way increase the total quantity of water to the use of which the State of New Mexico is entitled and limited under said compacts, statutes, and treaty.

TERMINATION

25. This contract may not be canceled, terminated, or rescinded by either party, except by act of Congress.

In witness whereof, the parties hereto executed this contract this day and year first above written.

——— ———.
Secretary of the Interior.

——— ———,
President, Jicarilla Apache Tribe.

Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER] for his outstanding leadership, and his ability and his outstanding work on this legislation.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from New Mexico [Mr. RICHARDSON] for his work on behalf of this settlement. Obviously, without his stewardship of this issue, it would not have come to fruition so that we could consider it in the House today. My staff informs me that he has been most helpful on all of these matters, and he has worked diligently on this, and I do want to thank him.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5122, the Jicarilla Apache Tribe Water Rights Settlement Act. H.R. 5122 implements a fair and equitable settlement agreement between the Jicarilla Apache Tribe and the Interior Department quantifying the tribe's water rights from the Rio Chama and San Juan River.

Although the administration, the States of California and Arizona, and the Navajo Tribe all expressed some reservations with the bill as introduced, I am pleased to note that after several weeks of productive meetings between the parties, these concerns have been satisfactorily resolved.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support passage of this legislation.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate and welcome the Interior Committee report views regarding the intent of the negotiated compromise language included in H.R. 5122, as amended, pertaining to the water marketing provisions of the legislation and the settlement agreement.

Representatives of the Colorado River Basin States, the 10 Colorado River tribes, and the Department of the Interior met in Albuquerque, NM, on September 2, 1992, to discuss this issue relative to the concerns some of us raised. Together, they developed the substitute water marketing language that was adopted during the committee markup of H.R. 5122 on September 23, 1992. I very much appreciate the work all the interests invested in this issue to respond to the difficulties we had with the original bill language.

The Arizona Department of Water Resources was involved in those discussions and has written to me to express acceptance of the compromise embodied in the amendment adopted by the committee. As I said during the committee markup of the bill, I also accepted the substitute language. The intent of this language is to neither enhance nor diminish the respective legal positions of the tribes and the States relative to the marketing of water into the Lower Colorado River Basin.

Having said that, from a personal perspective I remain uncomfortable with this water marketing proposal. Notwithstanding the substantial stipulations and provisos in the bill text, and the clear, detailed explanatory language in the committee report, the settlement agreement still contemplates the potential future disposal into the Lower Basin, of Colorado River water allocated by compact and law to the upper basin States. Such action presents an issue and point of law that is in dispute regarding the law of the river.

Absent negotiated agreements among the seven basin States and tribal governments regarding out-of-basin water marketing and related matters, this settlement agreement appears to me to invite eventual law of the river litigation of a potentially massive nature, at the expense of those entities which are not a party to this settlement.

My hope is every effort will be made to address and resolve these crucial, intricate, emotional, and controversial Colorado River water supply issues within the context of good-faith discussions and negotiations among all Colorado River tribal governments, all seven Colorado River Basin States, and the Federal Government, in lieu of unilateral actions and litigation.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5122, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended, and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CLERK OF THE HOUSE

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Clerk of the House of Representatives:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, September 29, 1992.

Hon. THOMAS S. FOLEY,
The Speaker, U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: Pursuant to the permission granted in Clause 5 of Rule III of the Rules of the U.S. House of Representatives, I have the honor to transmit a sealed envelope received from the White House at 6:01 p.m. on Monday, September 28, 1992 and said to contain the enrolled bill H.R. 5318, An Act regarding the extension of most-favored-nation treatment to the products of the People's Republic of China, and for other purposes; and the President's veto message thereon.

With great respect, I am
Sincerely yours,
DONNALD K. ANDERSON,
Clerk, U.S. House of Representatives.

UNITED STATES-CHINA ACT OF 1992—VETO MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES (H. DOC. NO. 102–398)

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following veto message from the President of the United States:

To the House of Representatives:

I am returning herewith without my approval H.R. 5318, the "United States-China Act of 1992," which places additional conditions on renewal of China's most-favored-nation (MFN) trade status.

I share completely the goals of this legislation: to see greater Chinese adherence to international standards of human rights, free and fair trade practices, and international nonproliferation norms. However, adding broad conditions to China's MFN renewal would not lead to faster progress in advancing our goals. To those who advocate this approach, let me set the record straight.

Our policy of comprehensive engagement lets the Chinese know in no uncertain terms that "business as usual" is not possible until they take steps to resolve our differences. Through multiple, focussed measures, we are eliciting the results we seek.

This year China joined global efforts to control the spread of nuclear weapons and ballistic missiles by declaring adherence to the Missile Technology Control Regime's (MTCR) guidelines and parameters and signing the Nuclear Proliferation Treaty (NPT). Chinese behavior remains MTCR-consistent, and we have begun a dialogue with the Chinese on their responsibilities under the NPT. We continue to monitor vigilantly China's weapons export practices. We have used the sanction authorities available successfully and remain prepared to do so again if necessary.

We have made progress on the resolution of outstanding trade issues with our agreements to protect Intellectual Property Rights and to ban prison labor exports. I will not allow, however, market access to remain a one-sided benefit in China's favor while our bilateral trade deficit grows. If China fails to reduce trade barriers, we are prepared to take trade action under the statutory guidelines of section 301 of the Trade Act of 1974.

The limited steps China has taken on human rights are inadequate. But our human rights dialogue gives us an avenue to express our views directly to China's leaders. Significant improvement in China's human rights situation, including freedom for all those imprisoned solely for the peaceful expression of their beliefs, remains our objective. It is easy to be discouraged by the pace of progress in this area. But it would be a serious mistake to let our frustration lead us to gamble with policies that would undermine our goals.

Withdrawing MFN or conditioning it, such that it will be withdrawn at a later date, will not promote these goals. H.R. 5318 imposes unworkable constraints on our bilateral trade. Among the casualties of this bill would be the dynamic, market-oriented regions of southern China and Hong Kong, as well as those Chinese who support reform and rely on outside contact for support.

The impact of this bill would extend beyond the state enterprise system, harming independent industrial and agricultural entities that have sprung up in China since the advent of economic reform and its opening to the outside. These family-owned and operated entities are interlinked in the manufacturing process with large, state-controlled factories and marketing agencies. They would not be shielded from the effects of this bill.

Americans too would be affected. This year our exports to China will climb to about $8 billion. China's retaliation for the loss of MFN would cost us this growing market and thousands of American jobs. We would cede our market share to our foreign competitors who impose no restrictions on their trade with China, at a time when China is taking market-opening measures that our trade negotiators fought to obtain.

Our policy seeks to address issues of vital concern to us and looks to the future of our relations with a country that is home to almost one-quarter of the human race. MFN is a means to bring our influence to bear on China. Comprehensive engagement is the process we use to transform this influence into positive change. The relationship between these two key elements of our China policy is a powerful one, and the absence of one element diminishes the potency of the other. We continue to advance broad U.S. objectives without imposing economic hardship on Americans because both elements of our policy are in place.

Engagement through our democratic, economic, and educational institutions instead of confrontation offers the best hope for reform in China. MFN is the foundation we need to engage the Chinese. H.R. 5318 places conditions on MFN renewal for China that will jeopardize this policy and includes a requirement that infringes upon the President's exclusive authority to undertake diplomatic negotiations on behalf of the United States.

In order to protect the economic and foreign policy interests of the United States, I am returning H.R. 5318 to the House of Representatives without my approval.

GEORGE BUSH.

THE WHITE HOUSE, September 28, 1992.

1710

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. ABERCROMBIE). The objections of the President will be spread at large upon the Journal, and the message and bill will be printed as a House document.

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that further consideration of the veto message on the bill, H.R. 5318, be postponed until Wednesday, September 30, 1992, and that the veto message be the first unfinished business.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Missouri?

There was no objection.

JENA BAND OF CHOCTAWS OF LOUISIANA RESTORATION ACT

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 3095) to restore and clarify the Federal relationship with the Jena Band of Choctaws of Louisiana.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 3095

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Jena Band of Choctaws of Louisiana Restoration Act".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

The Congress makes the following findings:

(1) In 1902, after presenting testimony before the Dawes Commission, each family of the Jena Choctaw Tribe was identified as full-blooded Mississippi Choctaw, an Indian tribe recognized by the Federal Government and entitled to land and services from the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

(2) As recently as 1968–1972, members of the Jena Band of Choctaws of Louisiana have received Federal benefits because of their status as Indians.

(3) Actions by the Bureau of Indian Affairs, including the provision of services specifically to the Tribe during the 1930's, acknowledgement of the Tribe's eligibility under the Indian Reorganization Act, and the offer to the Tribe of tribal lands in Mississippi, established Federal recognition of the Jena Band of Choctaws of Louisiana as a separate and distinct Indian tribe.

(4) The Tribe continues to exist as a separate and distinct tribe, is recognized by the State of Louisiana as a separate and distinct Indian tribe, has received funding from the Department of Housing and Urban Development for the construction of a Tribal Center, and has received funding from the Administration for Native Americans for administrative training for tribal staff, preparation of a 5-year economic development plan, development of the tribal constitution, and other tribal projects.

(5) The Tribe has maintained a continuous line of leadership and now consists of approximately 152 members of which nearly 60 percent possess one-half or more Choctaw blood quantum.

(6) Members of the Tribe would be living on trust land and receiving the full range of services to which all federally recognized Indians are entitled if the Bureau of Indian Affairs had fulfilled commitments made to the Tribe during the 1930's.

(7) Denial of full Federal benefits and services to which the Jena Band is entitled as a federally recognized Indian tribe has exacerbated the many serious problems facing the Tribe including poverty, alcohol and substance abuse, poor health, inadequate education and substandard living conditions.

(8) Restoration of Federal recognition of the Tribe is supported by all the federally recognized tribes in Louisiana and by the Mississippi Choctaw.

(9) It is appropriate for Congress to restore recognition of the Tribe since the Bureau of Indian Affairs does not maintain procedures or standards for determining whether a group has been previously recognized and the recognition procedure set forth in part 83 of title 25, Code of Federal Regulations, is intended to apply to initial recognition of a tribe.

SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS.

For purposes of this Act:

(1) The term "Tribe" means the Jena Band of Choctaws of Louisiana.

(2) The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Interior.

(3) The term "Interim Council" means the Board of Directors of the Jena Band of Choctaws, Inc.

(4) The term "member" means an individual who is enrolled on the membership roll of the Tribe.

(5) The term "State" means the State of Louisiana.

SEC. 4. RESTORATION OF FEDERAL RELATIONSHIP.

Federal recognition of the Tribe extended by the Department of Interior in a letter dated July 11, 1938, and signed by the Assistant Commissioner of Indian Affairs Zimmerman and evidenced by other actions by the Bureau of Indian Affairs is hereby restored. All Federal laws of general application to Indians and Indian tribes including the Act of June 18, 1934 (48 Stat. 984; 25 U.S.C. 461 et seq.), popularly known as the "Indian Reorganization Act", shall apply with respect to the Tribe and to the members.

SEC. 5. RESTORATION OF RIGHTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—All rights and privileges of the Tribe, and members thereof, which may have been abrogated or diminished before the date of enactment of this Act are hereby restored.

(b) EXISTING RIGHTS OF TRIBE.—Nothing in this Act may be construed to diminish any rights or privileges of the Tribe, or of its members, that existed prior to the date of the enactment of this Act.

(c) EXISTING RIGHTS AND OBLIGATIONS.—Except as otherwise specifically provided in any other provision of this Act, nothing in this Act may be construed as altering or affecting—

(1) any rights or obligations with respect to property,

(2) any rights or obligations under any contract,

(3) any hunting, fishing, trapping, gathering, or water rights of the Tribe or its members, or

(4) any obligation to pay a tax levied before the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 6. SERVICES.

The Tribe and its members shall be eligible for all services and benefits that are provided by the Federal Government to Indians because of their status as federally recognized Indians and, notwithstanding any other provision of law, such services and benefits shall be provided after the date of enactment of this Act, to the Tribe and its members, without regard to the existence of a reservation for the Tribe or the location of the residence of any member on or near any Indian reservation.

SEC. 7. INTERIM GOVERNMENT.

Until such time as a constitution for the Tribe is adopted in accordance with section 9(a), the Tribe shall be governed by the Interim Council.

SEC. 8. MEMBERSHIP ROLL.

(a) BASE ROLL.—The membership list submitted to the Secretary by the Tribe on May 2, 1985, shall constitute the base roll of the Tribe, subject to the approval of the Secretary.

(b) ELIGIBILITY.—

(1) INTERIM MEMBERSHIP.—Until a constitution is adopted in accordance with section 9, an individual shall be eligible for membership in the Tribe, and the name of the individual shall be placed on the membership roll of the Tribe, if—

(A) the individual is living and is not an enrolled member of another Indian tribe that is recognized by the Federal Government, and

(B) the individual—

(i) was included on the membership list submitted to the Secretary on May 2, 1985,

(ii) was entitled to be included on such list under criteria established by the Tribe in its Articles of Incorporation dated May 22, 1974, but was not included, or

(iii) is a lineal descendant of an individual, living or deceased, who is included on such list.

(2) APPEAL TO SECRETARY.—Any individual who is excluded from the membership roll of the Tribe by the Interim Council may appeal to the Secretary for a determination of the eligibility of the individual for membership in the Tribe. Any individual that the Secretary determines in such an appeal to be eligible for membership in the Tribe shall be included on the membership roll.

SEC. 9. TRIBAL CONSTITUTION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Upon the written request of the Interim Council, the Secretary shall conduct, by secret ballot, an election to adopt a constitution for the Tribe. Such constitution shall be submitted by the Interim Council to the Secretary no later than one year following the date of enactment of this Act. The election shall be conducted in accordance with section 16 of the Act of June 18, 1934 (48 Stat. 987; 25 U.S.C. 476).

(b) ELECTION OF TRIBAL OFFICIALS.—Not later than 120 days after the Tribe adopts a tribal constitution, the Secretary shall conduct an election by secret ballot for the purpose of electing tribal officials as provided in the constitution. Such election shall be conducted according to the procedures stated in subsection (a) except to the extent that such procedures conflict with the tribal constitution.

(c) TRIBAL GOVERNMENT.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the governing body of the Tribe established under the constitution adopted under subsection (a) shall be treated as an Indian tribal government for purposes of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, and all other Federal laws of general application to Indians and Indian tribes, including the Act of June 18, 1934 (48 Stat. 984; 25 U.S.C. 461 et seq.).

SEC. 10. REGULATIONS.

The Secretary shall prescribe such regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 11. REAL PROPERTY.

(a) PROPERTY HELD IN TRUST.—The Secretary is authorized to accept in the name of the United States in trust for the benefit of the Tribe any real property acquired by the Tribe prior to or after enactment of this Act and located within the parishes of Rapides, Grant, or La Salle, Louisiana. The Secretary may accept in the name of the United States in trust for the benefit of the Tribe any real property held or acquired by the Tribe prior to or after the date of enactment of this Act that is located outside of such parishes.

(b) SUBJECT TO EXISTING RIGHTS AND OBLIGATIONS.—Any real property taken in trust by the Secretary shall be subject to—

(1) all legal rights and interests in such land held by any person at the time of acquisition of such land by the Secretary, including any lien, mortgage, or previously levied and outstanding State or local tax;

(2) foreclosure or sale in accordance with the laws of the State of Louisiana pursuant to the terms of any valid obligation in existence at the time of the acquisition of such land by the Secretary; and

(3) the provisions of the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act (25 U.S.C. 2701 et seq.).

(c) TAX EXEMPTION.—Any real property held in trust by the Secretary pursuant to this Act shall be exempt from Federal, State, and local taxation on and after the date such property is accepted by the Secretary.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. HEFLEY] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks, and include therein extraneous material, on S. 3095, the bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 3095 is sponsored by Senator JOHNSTON and a companion bill, H.R. 3607, is sponsored by Mr. HUCKABY and Mr. BAKER.

The bill restores the Federal recognition to the Jena Band of Choctaws of Louisiana. It is a small band of 152 members. The committee held a hearing on the measure in July and the bill has a great deal of merit.

The Jena Band has submitted a series of letters to the committee covering the last 100 years of its history. These letters indicate that the tribe was recognized as a group of full-blooded Indians by the Dawes Commission at the turn of the century. In addition, during the 1930's, the tribe was provided with Federal funds for a school.

The bill restores the tribe to the status that was acknowledged in 1938 by the Bureau of Indian Affairs in a letter from the Assistant Commissioner of Indian Affairs. At that time, the BIA offered to provide the tribe with Federal trust land on the Mississippi Choctaw Reservation and other Federal services, but the promise was never fulfilled.

In a letter from A.L. Hector, Superintendent, BIA Field Service, Choctaw Agency, dated December 15, 1937, it states:

> There are only about 60 Indians there, mostly belonging to families or two cliques, actually 5 or 6 families. I believe that the ultimate solution for these would be to offer them rehabilitation with the Choctaws in Mississippi as they are Choctaw and speak the language. They are sharecroppers and wage hands where they are and are the remanent (sic) of a one time more numerous band decimated by tuberculosis and removal to Oklahoma.

This passage clearly indicates that there were a group of Choctaws living at Jena at the time.

There are several letters dealing with the issues of the schooling of the Jena Choctaw Indians which culminate in a letter of July 11, 1938, from Assistant Commissioner Zimmerman to the Choctaw Agency:

> This will be your authority for transferring as many of these Indians to the Pearl River area in Mississippi as you find it possible to persuade to take up new land. We hope that these transfers may be arranged promptly so as to deal with the entire situation effectively.

This letter clearly indicates the extension of Federal benefits and the acknowledgment of tribal rights by the Federal Government since the area alluded to is part of the Mississippi Choctaw Indian Reservation. It should be noted that, in general, only federally recognized Indian tribes reside on trust land and this offer by the BIA to the Jena Choctaws establishes that the Bureau considered the Jena to be eligible for all Federal rights and benefits guaranteed to Indian tribes.

I urge my colleagues to support this restoration.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 3095, the Jena Band of Choctaw of Louisiana Recognition Act.

This bill would formally extend Federal recognition to the Jena Band of Choctaws for the first time, making the band and its 152 members eligible for the services extended by the Bureau of Indian Affairs to Indians because of their status as Indians.

Mr. Speaker, while I support passage of this measure, I would like to point out that I have some reservations regarding section 2(9) of the bill. That section contains language which is ambiguous and, as a result, might be cause for future litigation. The BIA's recognition regulations do not apply to groups which the Federal Government recognized or dealt with as Indian tribes in 1978 when the regulations were adopted, or to presently recognized groups. In that sense the bill is correct that the BIA does not have regulations dealing with Indian tribes which were previously recognized; that is, recognized since 1978.

It is incorrect to suggest, however, that the BIA does not have regulations dealing with determining whether groups which claim previous recognition, or may once have had treaty relations or other dealings with the Federal Government, still exist as an Indian tribe. Such regulations do exist.

In closing, Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this measure.

Mr. HUCKABY. Mr. Speaker, S. 3095, a bill to restore to the Jena Band of Choctaws of Louisiana their status as a federally recognized Indian tribe, is scheduled for floor consideration today. It is nearly identical to a bill I introduced, H.R. 3607, on which the House Interior Committee held hearings. I am pleased to have as cosponsors of this measure the members from the Louisiana House delegation, as well as BEN NIGHTHORSE CAMPBELL, BILL RICHARDSON, and ENI FALEOMAVAEGA, each of whom serves on the Interior Committee. I urge the House to support its passage.

Based on the 1990 census, the Fifth Congressional District of Louisiana which I represent was redrawn and the Jena Band is now no longer located in my new district. However, I feel it is not only my responsibility to follow through with the legislation I initiated, but it is also out of compassion I feel for a tribe that has struggled for years to obtain what it justly deserves.

The legislation would not create a new Indian tribe. Rather, it would restore the status of an Indian tribe to the Jena Band, which has previously been recognized by the Bureau of Indian Affairs [BIA] on several occasions.

In restoring Federal recognition to the Jena Band, S. 3095 will help the tribe address many serious problems, including poverty, alcohol and substance abuse, poor health, inadequate education, and substandard housing.

The arguments supporting restoration of Federal recognition for the Jena Band are strong and compelling.

As early as 1902, each family of the Jena Band of Choctaws was identified as full-blooded Mississippi Choctaw, entitling them to land and services from the Federal Government. Every publicly available census since 1880 has identified Jena Band of Choctaw members as full-blooded Choctaw Indians residing in Louisiana.

The BIA's actions during the 1930's, including providing services to the band, acknowledging the band's eligibility under the Indian Reorganization Act and offering the band tribal lands, established Federal recognition of the Jena Band of Choctaws of Louisiana as a separate and distinct Indian tribe.

Again, during the 1930's, the BIA provided appropriated funds to a contract school for the Jena Band, clearly indicating recognition of the tribe by the Federal Government.

In 1938, the Assistant Commissioner of Indian Affairs acknowledged in written correspondence the band's eligibility to trust land and services under the Indian Reorganization Act. The same letter offered to relocate the tribe to trust lands in Mississippi where, living on their own lands, the tribe would be eligible for Federal services and benefits. This BIA offer acknowledged the Jena Band's status as an Indian band or tribe.

Unfortunately, the BIA never followed through on any of the promises or commitments it made to the Jena Band. Since no members were able to read or write English—Choctaw is their native language—they were unable to motivate the BIA to act.

Had the BIA fulfilled its written commitments to the Jena Band, the tribe would now be living on trust land and receiving the full range of services offered to all other federally recognized Indian tribes.

All of the federally recognized tribes in Louisiana and the Mississippi Band of Choctaw support restoration of Federal recognition of the Jena Band of the Louisiana Choctaw. Furthermore, the Governor of Louisiana supports reinstatement of the Jena Band's status as a federally recognized tribe and the Louisiana State Legislature has passed a resolution supporting the tribe's efforts.

Before I close, Mr. Speaker, I believe it is important to address the legitimate concerns of some Members who do not think that Congress should be involved in recognizing new Indian tribes. It is true that BIA has regulations and an administrative procedure governing the initial Federal recognition of Indian tribes. Those regulations, however, simply do not apply to a tribe, such as the Jena Band, which has been previously recognized.

The BIA has no procedures whatsoever for determining whether an Indian tribe has been previously recognized. In the absence of any standards or procedures, the Congress has traditionally restored the status of such tribes by enacting restoration legislation similar to S. 3095. It is therefore both appropriate and necessary for the Congress to enact S. 3095 which would simply restore to the Jena Band the federally recognized status to which they are entitled.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of S. 3095, legislation restoring Federal recognition to the Jena Band of Choctaw. Federal recognition was previously established through Federal commitments made to the Jena Band since 1902, and I believe their recognition must be restored.

In 1902, after presenting testimony before the Dawes Commission, each family of the Jena Band of Choctaw was identified as a full-blooded Mississippi Choctaw entitled to land and services from the BIA's predecessors. Since then, specific actions taken by the BIA have established Federal recognition of the Jena Band as a separate and distinct Indian tribe. These actions include: The written acknowledgement of the band's eligibility under the Indian Reorganization Act; the provision of services specifically to the band during the 1930's; and the offer of tribal lands in Mississippi to the band.

The Jena Band of Choctaw continues to exist as a separate and distinct Indian tribe. It is recognized as such by the State of Louisiana and the Administration for Native Americans [ANA], which has provided funding to the band for tribal staff, preparation of a 5-year economic plan, development of the tribal constitution, and other projects. The band has maintained a continuous leadership and consists of approximately 152 members.

Once an Indian tribe is recognized by the Federal Government, the relationship can be dissolved only by Congress. This is true whether the recognition was by Congress or the executive branch. To date, Congress has passed no legislation revoking Federal recognition of the Jena Band. It was the BIA's predecessor agency's inaction that resulted in the Jenas' loss of recognition status.

The U.S. Supreme Court in United States versus John, confirming the status of the Choctaw in Mississippi, noted that neither the fact that the Indians are merely a remnant of a larger group of Indians nor the fact that Federal supervision over them has not been continuous, destroys the power to deal with them.

The Jena Band of Choctaw began their journey for Federal recognition 90 years ago when the Jena Band marched 9 long months from their home in Louisiana to Muskogee, OK, to testify before the Dawes Commission.

The Dawes Commission identified the Jena members as full-blooded Mississippi Choctaw Indians entitled to land and services. But no land or benefits were given to them and they returned to Louisiana in March 1903. Upon their arrival home, the Jena Band received a letter stating that they could claim the land and benefits to which they were entitled, but only if they were to return to Oklahoma by August—only 4½ months later. The trip, of course, was impossible to make in such a short time and was never made.

During the 1930's, the Jena Band received educational benefits through the Bureau of Indian Affairs. Later, in 1938, the BIA offered the Jena reservation lands in Mississippi—a strong, clear, and unambiguous confirmation of the tribe's status as a recognized Indian tribe.

The Jena Band has repeatedly sought to have their Federal recognition restored. The BIA has insisted that the tribe go through the standard acknowledgment process which is the means by which new tribes are recognized. Of course, this procedure does not apply to the Jena Band because they were previously recognized and the BIA's acknowledgment process does not include standards for determining whether a tribe was previously recognized.

Further, the BIA has repeatedly expressed its view that the Jena Band should not be recognized despite substantial evidence to the contrary and near unanimity among experts, Indian tribes, and others, that the Jena Band should be recognized. We have asked the administration to acknowledge the tribe, but BIA has declined.

Throughout this process, the Jena have struggled in the face of poverty and other difficulties to maintain continuity in their traditions. Despite the temptation to lose hope, they have never lost faith in the justice this country would eventually show them. These are deserving people with a reasonable request. I believe we have an obligation to act. This Congress has the authority and ample precedent to restore the Federal relationship with the Jena Band and I hope that we will finally do what is right in this case.

I commend my colleague from Louisiana, Mr. HUCKABY, for introducing this much needed legislation. I wholeheartedly support restoring the Jena Band of Choctaw's Federal recognition. Restoration of Federal recognition for the Jena Band of Choctaw is also supported by, among others, all of the federally recognized tribes in Louisiana, the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and the State Legislature of Louisiana, and the Mississippi Choctaw Indians.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER] that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 3095.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

INDIAN EMPLOYMENT, TRAINING, AND RELATED SERVICES DEMONSTRATION ACT OF 1992

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 1530) to authorize the integration of employment, training, and related services provided by Indian tribal governments, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 1530

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Indian Employment, Training and Related Services Demonstration Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. STATEMENT OF PURPOSE.

The purposes of this Act are to demonstrate how Indian tribal governments can integrate the employment, training and related services they provide in order to improve the effectiveness of those services, reduce joblessness in Indian communities and serve tribally-determined goals consistent with the policy of self-determination.

SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS.

For the purposes of this Act, the following definitions apply:

(1) INDIAN TRIBE.—The terms "Indian tribe" and "tribe" shall have the meaning given the term "Indian tribe" in section 4(e) of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act.

(2) INDIAN.—The term "Indian" shall have the meaning given such term in section 4(d) of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act.

(3) SECRETARY.—Except where otherwise provided, the term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Interior.

SEC. 4. INTEGRATION OF SERVICES AUTHORIZED.

The Secretary of the Interior, in cooperation with the appropriate Secretary of Labor, Secretary of Health and Human Services, or Secretary of Education, shall, upon the receipt of a plan acceptable to the Secretary of the Interior submitted by an Indian tribal government, authorize the tribal government to coordinate, in accordance with such plan, its federally funded employment, training, and related services programs in a manner that integrates the program services involved into a single, coordinated, comprehensive program and reduces administrative costs by consolidating administrative functions.

SEC. 5. PROGRAMS AFFECTED.

The programs that may be integrated in a demonstration project under any such plan referred to in section 4 shall include any program under which an Indian tribe is eligible for receipt of funds under a statutory or administrative formula for the purposes of job training, tribal work experience, employment opportunities, or skill development, or any program designed for the enhancement of job opportunities or employment training.

SEC. 6. PLAN REQUIREMENTS.

For a plan to be acceptable pursuant to section 4, it shall—

(1) identify the programs to be integrated;

(2) be consistent with the purposes of this Act authorizing the services to be integrated in a demonstration project;

(3) describe a comprehensive strategy which identifies the full range of potential employment opportunities on and near the tribal government's service area, and the education, training and related services to be provided to assist Indian workers to access those employment opportunities;

(4) describe the way in which services are to be integrated and delivered and the results expected from the plan;

(5) identify the projected expenditures under the plan in a single budget;

(6) identify the agency or agencies of the tribal government to be involved in the delivery of the services integrated under the plan;

(7) identify any statutory provisions, regulations, policies, or procedures that the tribal government believes need to be waived in order to implement its plan; and

(8) be approved by the governing body of the affected tribe.

SEC. 7. PLAN REVIEW.

Upon receipt of the plan from a tribal government, the Secretary of the Interior shall consult with the Secretary of each Federal department providing funds to be used to implement the plan, and with the tribal government submitting the plan. The parties so consulting shall identify any waivers of statutory requirements or of Federal departmental regulations, policies, or procedures necessary to enable the tribal government to implement its plan. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Secretary of the affected department shall have the authority to waive any regulation, policy, or procedure promulgated by that department that has been so identified by such tribal government or department, unless the Secretary of the affected department determines that such a waiver is inconsistent with the purposes of this Act or those provisions of the statute from which the program involved derives its authority which are specifically applicable to Indian programs.

SEC. 8. PLAN APPROVAL.

Within 90 days after the receipt of a tribal government's plan by the Secretary, the Secretary shall inform the tribal government, in writing, of the Secretary's approval or disapproval of the plan. If the plan is disapproved, the tribal government shall be informed, in writing, of the reasons for the disapproval and shall be given an opportunity to amend its plan or to petition the Secretary to reconsider such disapproval.

SEC. 9. JOB CREATION ACTIVITIES AUTHORIZED.

The plan submitted by a tribal government may involve the expenditure of funds for the creation of employment opportunities and for the development of the economic resources of the tribal government or of individual Indian people if such expenditures are consistent with an overall regional economic activity which has a reasonable likelihood of success and consistent with the purposes specifically applicable to Indian programs in the statute under which the funds are authorized.

SEC. 10. PRIVATE SECTOR TRAINING PLACEMENTS.

A tribal government participating in a demonstration program under this Act is authorized to utilize funds available under such plan to place participants in training positions with private employers and pay such participants a training allowance or wage for a period not to exceed 12 months, if the tribal government obtains a written agreement from the private employer to provide on-the-job training to such participants and, upon satisfactory completion of the training period, to guarantee permanent employment to such participants for a minimum of 12 months.

SEC. 11. FEDERAL RESPONSIBILITIES.

(a) RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.—Within 180 days following the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Interior, the Secretary of Labor, the Secretary of Health and Human Services and the Secretary of Education shall enter into an interdepartmental memorandum of agreement providing for the implementation of the demonstration projects authorized under this Act. The lead agency for a demonstration program under this Act shall be the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Department of the Interior. The responsibilities of the lead agency shall include—

(1) the use of a single report format related to the plan for the individual project which shall be used by a tribal government to report on the activities undertaken under the project;

(2) the use of a single report format related to the projected expenditures for the individual project which shall be used by a tribal government to report on all project expenditures;

(3) the development of a single system of Federal oversight for the project, which shall be implemented by the lead agency; and

(4) the provision of technical assistance to a tribal government appropriate to the project, except that a tribal government shall have the authority to accept or reject the plan for providing such technical assistance and the technical assistance provider.

(b) REPORT REQUIREMENTS.—The single report format shall be developed by the Secretary, consistent with the requirements of this Act. Such report format, together with records maintained on the consolidated program at the tribal level shall contain such information as will allow a determination that the tribe has complied with the requirements incorporated in its approved plan and will provide assurances to each Secretary that the tribe has complied with all directly applicable statutory requirements and with those directly applicable regulatory requirements which have not been waived.

SEC. 12. NO REDUCTION IN AMOUNTS.

In no case shall the amount of Federal funds available to a tribal government involved in any demonstration project be reduced as a result of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 13. INTERAGENCY FUND TRANSFERS AUTHORIZED.

The Secretary of the Interior, Secretary of Labor, Secretary of Health and Human Services, or the Secretary of Education, as appropriate, is authorized to take such action as may be necessary to provide for an interagency transfer of funds otherwise available to a tribal government in order to further the purposes of this Act.

SEC. 14. ADMINISTRATION OF FUNDS AND OVERAGE.

(a) ADMINISTRATION OF FUNDS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Program funds shall be administered in such a manner as to allow for a determination that funds from specific programs (or an amount equal to the amount attracted from each program) are spent on allowable activities authorized under such program.

(2) SEPARATE RECORDS NOT REQUIRED.—Nothing in this section shall be construed as requiring the tribe to maintain separate records tracing any services or activities conducted under its approved plan to the individual programs under which funds were authorized, nor shall the tribe be required to allocate expenditures among such individual programs.

(b) OVERAGE.—All administrative costs may be commingled and participating Indian tribes shall be entitled to the full amount of such costs (under each program or department's regulations), and no overage shall be counted for Federal audit purposes, provided that the overage is used for the purposes provided for under this Act.

SEC. 15. FISCAL ACCOUNTABILITY.

Nothing in this Act shall be construed so as to interfere with the ability of the Secretary or the lead agency to fulfill the responsibilities for the safeguarding of Federal funds pursuant to the Single Audit Act of 1984.

SEC. 16. REPORT ON STATUTORY OBSTACLES TO PROGRAM INTEGRATION.

(a) PRELIMINARY REPORT.—Not later than two years after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit a preliminary report to the Select Committee on Indian Affairs of the Senate and the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of the House of Representatives on the status of the implementation of the demonstration program authorized under this Act.

(b) FINAL REPORT.—Not later than five years after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit a report to the Select Committee on Indian Affairs of the Senate and the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs and the Committee on Education and Labor of the House of Representatives on the results of the implementation of the demonstration program authorized under this Act. Such report shall identify statutory barriers to the ability of tribal governments to integrate more effectively their employment, training, and related services in a manner consistent with the purposes of this Act.

SEC. 17. LABOR MARKET INFORMATION ON THE INDIAN WORK FORCE.

(a) REPORT.—The Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of Labor, shall, in a consistent and reliable manner, develop, maintain and publish, not less than biennially, a report on the population, by gender, eligible for the services which the Secretary provides to Indian people. The report shall include, but is not limited to, information at the national level by State, Bureau of Indian Affairs Service area, and tribal level for the—

(1) total service population;

(2) the service population under age 16 and over 64;

(3) the population available for work, including those not considered to be actively seeking work;

(4) the employed population, including those employed with annual earnings below the poverty line; and

(5) the numbers employed in private sector positions and in public sector positions.

(b) INDIAN DEMOGRAPHIC INFORMATION.—The Secretary, in consultation with the Bureau of the Census of the Department of Commerce, and the National Center for Native American Studies and Policy Development authorized by Public Law 101–301, shall prepare a report on the need for comprehensive, accurate and periodically updated information on the size and characteristics of the Indian and Alaska Native population throughout the entire United States. This report shall include the need for information, together with the cost of acquiring such information, on the characteristics and need for education, health, housing, job training, and other basic needs of such population, and shall take into consideration the need for this information by Indian tribes and organizations serving Indians in non-reservation areas. The report shall be submitted to the Select Committee on Indian Affairs of the Senate and the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs and the Committee on Education and Labor of the House of Representatives not later than 12 months after the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 18. ASSIGNMENT OF FEDERAL PERSONNEL TO STATE INDIAN ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMS.

Any State with an economic development program targeted to Indian tribes shall be eligible to receive, at no cost to the State, such Federal personnel assignments as the Secretary, in accordance with the applicable provisions of the Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970, may deem appropriate to help ensure the success of such program.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. HEFLEY] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks, and include therein extraneous material, on S. 1530, the bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 1530 is the Indian Employment, Training and Related Services Demonstration Act. This bill authorizes as demonstration program that would enable Indian tribal governments to consolidate various employment programs.

Tribal governments currently administer a variety of employment programs provided by several different Federal agencies. The burden for tribes to operate these programs is heavy and tribes are required to meet several administrative and reporting requirements set by each Federal agency. This bill would allow Indian tribes in the demonstration project to consolidate these programs and submit a single application to the Interior Department.

I thank my colleagues at the Committee on Education and Labor who assisted the Interior Committee in the amendment version which is before the House today. I am submitting a letter from Chairman FORD which states that his concerns have been met in the amended bill.

This bill calls for no expenditure of funds and is simply a better way to provide employment programs for Indian people.

I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION AND LABOR,
Washington, DC, September 28, 1992.

Hon. GEORGE MILLER,
Chairman, Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: I am writing concerning the proposed consideration of S. 1530, the Indian Employment, Training and Related Services Demonstration Act of 1991, which is scheduled for consideration under Suspension of the Rules on Tuesday, September 29, 1992. As you know, on May 21, 1992, I wrote to the Speaker setting out the concerns of the Committee on Education and Labor relating to this legislation and the fact that parts of it fall within our jurisdiction. At that time, I made it clear that if those concerns were not addressed, I would have to seek sequential referral of the legislation.

I am pleased that our staffs have been able to fashion a compromise which addresses our concerns and will allow this program to reach its goals. I am in agreement with the substance of this compromise and will not register objection to consideration of the measure on Tuesday. However, in view of this Committee's jurisdiction under the Rules of the House and our continuing interest in this area, and in light of the continuing cooperation between our Committees in addressing the employment and training needs of Native Americans, I ask that you include this letter in the record of the debate on S. 1530 to protect this Committee's jurisdictional interests.

With kind regards,

Sincerely,

WILLIAM D. FORD,
Chairman.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of S. 1530, the Indian Employment, Training and Related Services Demonstration Act of 1992.

This bill would allow the tribes to reduce chronic unemployment and enhance their economic self-sufficiency by establishing a mechanism that will make it possible for them to integrate all of their employment services—regardless of funding source—into a single comprehensive program.

Mr. Speaker, S. 1530 has broad bipartisan backing and is supported by the administration. I urge my colleagues to do the same.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER] that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 1530, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

(a) INSURED DEPOSITORY INSTITUTIONS.—Section 11(c)(5) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (12 U.S.C. 1821(c)(5)) is amended by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

"(M) MONEY LAUNDERING OFFENSE.—The Attorney General notifies the appropriate Federal banking agency or the Corporation in writing that the insured depository institution has been found guilty of a criminal offense under section 1956 or 1957 of title 18, United States Code, or section 5322 of title 31, United States Code.".

(b) INSURED CREDIT UNIONS.—Section 206(h)(1) of the Federal Credit Union Act (12 U.S.C. 1786(h)(1)) is amended—

(1) by redesignating subparagraphs (C) and (D) as subparagraphs (D) and (E), respectively; and

(2) by inserting after subparagraph (B) the following new subparagraph:

"(C) the Attorney General notifies the Board in writing that an insured credit union has been found guilty of a criminal offense under section 1956 or 1957 of title 18, United States Code, or section 5322 of title 31, United States Code;".

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect on December 20, 1992.

SEC. 102. REVOKING CHARTER OF FEDERAL DEPOSITORY INSTITUTIONS CONVICTED OF MONEY LAUNDERING OR CASH TRANSACTION REPORTING OFFENSES.

(a) NATIONAL BANKS.—Section 5239 of the Revised Statutes (12 U.S.C. 93) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(c) FORFEITURE OF FRANCHISE FOR MONEY LAUNDERING OR CASH TRANSACTION REPORTING OFFENSES.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—

"(A) CONVICTION OF TITLE 18 OFFENSES.—

"(i) DUTY TO NOTIFY.—If a national bank, a Federal branch, or Federal agency has been convicted of any criminal offense under section 1956 or 1957 of title 18, United States

Code, the Attorney General shall provide to the Comptroller of the Currency a written notification of the conviction and shall include a certified copy of the order of conviction from the court rendering the decision.

"(ii) NOTICE OF TERMINATION; PRETERMINATION HEARING.—After receiving written notification from the Attorney General of such a conviction, the Comptroller of the Currency shall issue to the national bank, Federal branch, or Federal agency a notice of the Comptroller's intention to terminate all rights, privileges, and franchises of the bank, Federal branch, or Federal agency and schedule a pre-termination hearing.

"(B) CONVICTION OF TITLE 31 OFFENSES.—If a national bank, a Federal branch, or a Federal agency is convicted of any criminal offense under section 5322 of title 31, United States Code, after receiving written notification from the Attorney General, the Comptroller of the Currency may issue to the national bank, Federal branch, or Federal agency a notice of the Comptroller's intention to terminate all rights, privileges, and franchises of the bank, Federal branch, or Federal agency and schedule a pretermination hearing.

"(C) JUDICIAL REVIEW.—Section 8(h) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act shall apply to any proceeding under this subsection.

"(2) FACTORS TO BE CONSIDERED.—In determining whether a franchise shall be forfeited under paragraph (1), the Comptroller of the Currency shall take into account the following factors:

"(A) The extent to which directors or senior executive officers of the national bank, Federal branch, or Federal agency knew of, or were involved in, the commission of the money laundering offense of which the bank, Federal branch, or Federal agency was found guilty.

"(B) The extent to which the offense occurred despite the existence of policies and procedures within the national bank, Federal branch, or Federal agency which were designed to prevent the occurrence of any such offense.

"(C) The extent to which the national bank, Federal branch, or Federal agency has fully cooperated with law enforcement authorities with respect to the investigation of the money laundering offense of which the bank, Federal branch, or Federal agency was found guilty.

"(D) The extent to which the national bank, Federal branch, or Federal agency has implemented additional internal controls (since the commission of the offense of which the bank, Federal branch, or Federal agency was found guilty) to prevent the occurrence of any other money laundering offense.

"(E) The extent to which the interest of the local community in having adequate deposit and credit services available would be threatened by the forfeiture of the franchise.

"(3) SUCCESSOR LIABILITY.—This subsection does not apply to a successor to the interests of, or a person who acquires, a bank, a Federal branch, or a Federal agency that violated a provision of law described in paragraph (1), if the successor succeeds to the interests of the violator, or the acquisition is made, in good faith and not for purposes of evading this subsection or regulations prescribed under this subsection.

"(4) DEFINITION.—The term 'senior executive officer' has the same meaning as in regulations prescribed under section 32(f) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act.".

(b) FEDERAL SAVINGS ASSOCIATIONS.—Section 5 of the Home Owners' Loan Act (12 U.S.C. 1464) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(w) FORFEITURE OF FRANCHISE FOR MONEY LAUNDERING OR CASH TRANSACTION REPORTING OFFENSES.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—

"(A) CONVICTION OF TITLE 18 OFFENSES.—

"(i) DUTY TO NOTIFY.—If a Federal savings association has been convicted of any criminal offense under section 1956 or 1957 of title 18, United States Code, the Attorney General shall provide to the Director a written notification of the conviction and shall include a certified copy of the order of conviction from the court rendering the decision.

"(ii) NOTICE OF TERMINATION; PRETERMINATION HEARING.—After receiving written notification from the Attorney General of such a conviction, the Director shall issue to the savings association a notice of the Director's intention to terminate all rights, privileges, and franchises of the savings association and schedule a pretermination hearing.

"(B) CONVICTION OF TITLE 31 OFFENSES.—If a Federal savings association is convicted of any criminal offense under section 5322 of title 31, United States Code, after receiving written notification from the Attorney General, the Director may issue to the savings association a notice of the Director's intention to terminate all rights, privileges, and franchises of the savings association and schedule a pretermination hearing.

"(C) JUDICIAL REVIEW.—Subsection (d)(1)(B)(vii) shall apply to any proceeding under this subsection.

"(2) FACTORS TO BE CONSIDERED.—In determining whether a franchise shall be forfeited under paragraph (1), the Director shall take into account the following factors:

"(A) The extent to which directors or senior executive officers of the savings association knew of, or were involved in, the commission of the money laundering offense of which the association was found guilty.

"(B) The extent to which the offense occurred despite the existence of policies and procedures within the savings association which were designed to prevent the occurrence of any such offense.

"(C) The extent to which the savings association has fully cooperated with law enforcement authorities with respect to the investigation of the money laundering offense of which the association was found guilty.

"(D) The extent to which the savings association has implemented additional internal controls (since the commission of the offense of which the savings association was found guilty) to prevent the occurrence of any other money laundering offense.

"(E) The extent to which the interest of the local community in having adequate deposit and credit services available would be threatened by the forfeiture of the franchise.

"(3) SUCCESSOR LIABILITY.—This subsection shall not apply to a successor to the interests of, or a person who acquires, a savings association that violated a provision of law described in paragraph (1), if the successor succeeds to the interests of the violator, or the acquisition is made, in good faith and not for purposes of evading this subsection or regulations prescribed under this subsection.

"(4) DEFINITION.—The term 'senior executive officer' has the same meaning as in regulations prescribed under section 32(f) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act.".

(c) FEDERAL CREDIT UNIONS.—Title I of the Federal Credit Union Act (12 U.S.C. 1752 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 131. FORFEITURE OF ORGANIZATION CERTIFICATE FOR MONEY LAUNDERING OR CASH TRANSACTION REPORTING OFFENSES.

"(a) FORFEITURE OF FRANCHISE FOR MONEY LAUNDERING OR CASH TRANSACTION REPORTING OFFENSES.—

"(1) CONVICTION OF TITLE 18 OFFENSES.—

"(A) DUTY TO NOTIFY.—If a credit union has been convicted of any criminal offense under section 1956 or 1957 of title 18, United States Code, the Attorney General shall provide to the Board a written notification of the conviction and shall include a certified copy of the order of conviction from the court rendering the decision.

"(B) NOTICE OF TERMINATION; PRETERMINATION HEARING.—After receiving written notification from the Attorney General of such a conviction, the Board shall issue to such credit union a notice of its intention to terminate all rights, privileges, and franchises of the credit union and schedule a pretermination hearing.

"(2) CONVICTION OF TITLE 31 OFFENSES.—If a credit union is convicted of any criminal offense under section 5322 of title 31, United States Code, after receiving written notification from the Attorney General, the Board may issue to such credit union a notice of its intention to terminate all rights, privileges, and franchises of the credit union and schedule a pretermination hearing.

"(3) JUDICIAL REVIEW.—Section 206(j) shall apply to any proceeding under this section.

"(b) FACTORS TO BE CONSIDERED.—In determining whether a franchise shall be forfeited under subsection (a), the Board shall take into account the following factors:

"(1) The extent to which directors, committee members, or senior executive officers (as defined by the Board in regulations which the Board shall prescribe) of the credit union knew of, or were involved in, the commission of the money laundering offense of which the credit union was found guilty.

"(2) The extent to which the offense occurred despite the existence of policies and procedures within the credit union which were designed to prevent the occurrence of any such offense.

"(3) The extent to which the credit union has fully cooperated with law enforcement authorities with respect to the investigation of the money laundering offense of which the credit union was found guilty.

"(4) The extent to which the credit union has implemented additional internal controls (since the commission of the offense of which the credit union was found guilty) to prevent the occurrence of any other money laundering offense.

"(5) The extent to which the interest of the local community in having adequate deposit and credit services available would be threatened by the forfeiture of the franchise.

"(c) SUCCESSOR LIABILITY.—This section does not apply to a successor to the interests of, or a person who acquires, a credit union that violated a provision of law described in subsection (a), if the successor succeeds to the interests of the violator, or the acquisition is made, in good faith and not for purposes of evading this section or regulations prescribed under this section.".

SEC. 103. TERMINATING INSURANCE OF STATE DEPOSITORY INSTITUTIONS CONVICTED OF MONEY LAUNDERING OR CASH TRANSACTION REPORTING OFFENSES.

(a) STATE BANKS AND SAVINGS ASSOCIATIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 8 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (12 U.S.C. 1818) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(w) TERMINATION OF INSURANCE FOR MONEY LAUNDERING OR CASH TRANSACTION REPORTING OFFENSES.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—

"(A) CONVICTION OF TITLE 18 OFFENSES.—

"(i) DUTY TO NOTIFY.—If an insured State depository institution has been convicted of any criminal offense under section 1956 or 1957 of title 18, United States Code, the Attorney General shall provide to the Corporation a written notification of the conviction and shall include a certified copy of the order of conviction from the court rendering the decision.

"(ii) NOTICE OF TERMINATION; PRETERMINATION HEARING.—After receipt of written notification from the Attorney General by the Corporation of such a conviction, the Board of Directors shall issue to the insured depository institution a notice of its intention to terminate the insured status of the insured depository institution and schedule a hearing on the matter, which shall be conducted in all respects as a termination hearing pursuant to paragraphs (3) through (5) of subsection (a).

"(B) CONVICTION OF TITLE 31 OFFENSES.—If an insured State depository institution is convicted of any criminal offense under section 5322 of title 31, United States Code, after receipt of written notification from the Attorney General by the Corporation, the Board of Directors may initiate proceedings to terminate the insured status of the insured depository institution in the manner described in subparagraph (A).

"(C) NOTICE TO STATE SUPERVISOR.—The Corporation shall simultaneously transmit a copy of any notice issued under this paragraph to the appropriate State financial institutions supervisor.

"(2) FACTORS TO BE CONSIDERED.—In determining whether to terminate insurance under paragraph (1), the Board of Directors shall take into account the following factors:

"(A) The extent to which directors or senior executive officers of the depository institution knew of, or were involved in, the commission of the money laundering offense of which the institution was found guilty.

"(B) The extent to which the offense occurred despite the existence of policies and procedures within the depository institution which were designed to prevent the occurrence of any such offense.

"(C) The extent to which the depository institution has fully cooperated with law enforcement authorities with respect to the investigation of the money laundering offense of which the institution was found guilty.

"(D) The extent to which the depository institution has implemented additional internal controls (since the commission of the offense of which the depository institution was found guilty) to prevent the occurrence of any other money laundering offense.

"(E) The extent to which the interest of the local community in having adequate deposit and credit services available would be threatened by the termination of insurance.

"(3) NOTICE TO STATE BANKING SUPERVISOR AND PUBLIC.—When the order to terminate insured status initiated pursuant to this subsection is final, the Board of Directors shall—

"(A) notify the State banking supervisor of any State depository institution described in paragraph (1) and the Office of Thrift Supervision, where appropriate, at least 10 days prior to the effective date of the order of termination of the insured status of such depository institution, including a State branch of a foreign bank; and

"(B) publish notice of the termination of the insured status of the depository institution in the Federal Register.

"(4) TEMPORARY INSURANCE OF PREVIOUSLY INSURED DEPOSITS.—Upon termination of the insured status of any State depository institution pursuant to paragraph (1), the deposits of such depository institution shall be treated in accordance with subsection (a)(7).

"(5) SUCCESSOR LIABILITY.—This subsection does not apply to a successor to the interests of, or a person who acquires, an insured depository institution that violated a provision of law described in paragraph (1), if the successor succeeds to the interests of the violator, or the acquisition is made, in good faith and not for purposes of evading this subsection or regulations prescribed under this subsection.

"(6) DEFINITION.—The term 'senior executive officer' has the same meaning as in regulations prescribed under section 32(f) of this Act.".

(2) TECHNICAL AMENDMENT.—Section 8(a)(3) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (12 U.S.C. 1818(a)(3)) is amended by inserting "of this subsection or subsection (w)" after "subparagraph (B)".

(b) STATE CREDIT UNIONS.—Section 206 of the Federal Credit Union Act (12 U.S.C. 1786) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(v) TERMINATION OF INSURANCE FOR MONEY LAUNDERING OR CASH TRANSACTION REPORTING OFFENSES.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—

"(A) CONVICTION OF TITLE 18 OFFENSES.—

"(i) DUTY TO NOTIFY.—If an insured State credit union has been convicted of any criminal offense under section 1956 or 1957 of title 18, United States Code, the Attorney General shall provide to the Board a written notification of the conviction and shall include a certified copy of the order of conviction from the court rendering the decision.

"(ii) NOTICE OF TERMINATION.—After written notification from the Attorney General to the Board of such a conviction, the Board shall issue to such insured credit union a notice of its intention to terminate the insured status of the insured credit union and schedule a hearing on the matter, which shall be conducted as a termination hearing pursuant to subsection (b) of this section, except that no period for correction shall apply to a notice issued under this subparagraph.

"(B) CONVICTION OF TITLE 31 OFFENSES.—If a credit union is convicted of any criminal offense under section 5322 of title 31, United States Code, after prior written notification from the Attorney General, the Board may initiate proceedings to terminate the insured status of such credit union in the manner described in subparagraph (A).

"(C) NOTICE TO STATE SUPERVISOR.—The Board shall simultaneously transmit a copy of any notice under this paragraph to the appropriate State financial institutions supervisor.

"(2) FACTORS TO BE CONSIDERED.—In determining whether to terminate insurance under paragraph (1), the Board shall take into account the following factors:

"(A) The extent to which directors, committee members, or senior executive officers (as defined by the Board in regulations which the Board shall prescribe) of the credit union knew of, or were involved in, the commission of the money laundering offense of which the credit union was found guilty.

"(B) The extent to which the offense occurred despite the existence of policies and procedures within the credit union which were designed to prevent the occurrence of any such offense.

"(C) The extent to which the credit union has fully cooperated with law enforcement authorities with respect to the investigation of the money laundering offense of which the credit union was found guilty.

"(D) The extent to which the credit union has implemented additional internal controls (since the commission of the offense of which the credit union was found guilty) to prevent the occurrence of any other money laundering offense.

"(E) The extent to which the interest of the local community in having adequate deposit and credit services available would be threatened by the termination of insurance.

"(3) NOTICE TO STATE CREDIT UNION SUPERVISOR AND PUBLIC.—When the order to terminate insured status initiated pursuant to this subsection is final, the Board shall—

"(A) notify the commission, board, or authority (if any) having supervision of the credit union described in paragraph (1) at least 10 days prior to the effective date of the order of the termination of the insured status of such credit union; and

"(B) publish notice of the termination of the insured status of the credit union.

"(4) TEMPORARY INSURANCE OF PREVIOUSLY INSURED DEPOSITS.—Upon termination of the insured status of any State credit union pursuant to paragraph (1), the deposits of such credit union shall be treated in accordance with section 206(d)(2).

"(5) SUCCESSOR LIABILITY.—This subsection does not apply to a successor to the interests of, or a person who acquires, an insured credit union that violated a provision of law described in paragraph (1), if the successor succeeds to the interests of the violator, or the acquisition is made, in good faith and not for purposes of evading this subsection or regulations prescribed under this subsection.".

SEC. 104. REMOVING PARTIES INVOLVED IN CURRENCY REPORTING VIOLATIONS.

(a) FDIC-INSURED INSTITUTIONS.—

(1) VIOLATION OF REPORTING REQUIREMENTS.—Section 8(e)(2) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (12 U.S.C. 1818(e)(2)) is amended to read as follows:

"(2) SPECIFIC VIOLATIONS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Whenever the appropriate Federal banking agency determines that—

"(i) an institution-affiliated party has committed a violation of any provision of subchapter II of chapter 53 of title 31, United States Code, and such violation was not inadvertent or unintentional;

"(ii) an officer or director of an insured depository institution has knowledge that an institution-affiliated party of the insured depository institution has violated any such provision or any provision of law referred to in subsection (g)(1)(A)(ii); or

"(iii) an officer or director of an insured depository institution has committed any violation of the Depository Institution Management Interlocks Act, the agency may serve upon such party, officer, or director a written notice of the agency's intention to remove such party from office.

"(B) FACTORS TO BE CONSIDERED.—In determining whether an officer or director should be removed as a result of the application of subparagraph (A)(ii), the agency shall consider whether the officer or director took appropriate action to stop, or to prevent the recurrence of, a violation described in such subparagraph.".

(2) CERTAIN FELONY CHARGES.—Section 8(g)(1) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (12 U.S.C. 1818(g)(1)) is amended to read as follows:

“(1) SUSPENSION OR PROHIBITION.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Whenever any institution-affiliated party is charged in any information, indictment, or complaint, with the commission of or participation in—

“(i) a crime involving dishonesty or breach of trust which is punishable by imprisonment for a term exceeding one year under State or Federal law, or

“(ii) a criminal violation of section 1956, 1957, or 1960 of title 18, United States Code, or section 5322 of title 31, United States Code, the appropriate Federal banking agency may, if continued service or participation by such party may pose a threat to the interests of the depository institution's depositors or may threaten to impair public confidence in the depository institution, by written notice served upon such party, suspend such party from office or prohibit such party from further participation in any manner in the conduct of the affairs of the depository institution.

“(B) PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO NOTICE.—

“(i) COPY.—A copy of any notice under subparagraph (A) shall also be served upon the depository institution.

“(ii) EFFECTIVE PERIOD.—A suspension or prohibition under subparagraph (A) shall remain in effect until the information, indictment, or complaint referred to in such subparagraph is finally disposed of or until terminated by the agency.

“(C) REMOVAL OR PROHIBITION.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—If a judgment of conviction or an agreement to enter a pretrial diversion or other similar program is entered against an institution-affiliated party in connection with a crime described in subparagraph (A)(i), at such time as such judgment is not subject to further appellate review, the appropriate Federal banking agency may, if continued service or participation by such party may pose a threat to the interests of the depository institution's depositors or may threaten to impair public confidence in the depository institution, issue and serve upon such party an order removing such party from office or prohibiting such party from further participation in any manner in the conduct of the affairs of the depository institution without the prior written consent of the appropriate agency.

“(ii) REQUIRED FOR CERTAIN OFFENSES.—In the case of a judgment of conviction or agreement against an institution-affiliated party in connection with a violation described in subparagraph (A)(ii), the appropriate Federal banking agency shall issue and serve upon such party an order removing such party from office or prohibiting such party from further participation in any manner in the conduct of the affairs of the depository institution without the prior written consent of the appropriate agency.

“(D) PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO ORDER.—

“(i) COPY.—A copy of any order under subparagraph (C) shall also be served upon the depository institution, whereupon the institution-affiliated party who is subject to the order (if a director or an officer) shall cease to be a director or officer of such depository institution.

“(ii) EFFECT OF ACQUITTAL.—A finding of not guilty or other disposition of the charge shall not preclude the agency from instituting proceedings after such finding or disposition to remove such party from office or to prohibit further participation in depository institution affairs, pursuant to paragraph (1), (2), or (3) of subsection (e) of this section.

“(iii) EFFECTIVE PERIOD.—Any notice of suspension or order of removal issued under this paragraph shall remain effective and outstanding until the completion of any hearing or appeal authorized under paragraph (3) unless terminated by the agency.”.

(b) CREDIT UNIONS.—

(1) VIOLATION OF REPORTING REQUIREMENTS.—Section 206(g)(2) of the Federal Credit Union Act (12 U.S.C. 1786(g)(2)) is amended to read as follows:

“(2) SPECIFIC VIOLATIONS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Whenever the Board determines that—

“(i) an institution-affiliated party has committed a violation of any provision of subchapter II of chapter 53 of title 31, United States Code, unless such violation was inadvertent or unintentional;

“(ii) an officer or director of an insured credit union has knowledge that an institution-affiliated party of the insured credit union has violated any such provision or any provision of law referred to in subsection (i)(1)(A)(ii); or

“(iii) an officer or director of an insured credit union has committed any violation of the Depository Institution Management Interlocks Act, the Board may serve upon such party, officer, or director a written notice of the Board's intention to remove such officer or director from office.

“(B) FACTORS TO BE CONSIDERED.—In determining whether an officer or director should be removed as a result of the application of subparagraph (A)(ii), the Board shall consider whether the officer or director took appropriate action to stop, or to prevent the recurrence of, a violation described in such subparagraph.”.

(2) CERTAIN FELONY CHARGES.—Section 206(i)(1) of the Federal Credit Union Act (12 U.S.C. 1786(i)(1)) is amended to read as follows:

“(1) SUSPENSION OR PROHIBITION AUTHORIZED.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Whenever any institution-affiliated party is charged in any information, indictment, or complaint, with the commission of or participation in—

“(i) a crime involving dishonesty or breach of trust which is punishable by imprisonment for a term exceeding one year under State or Federal law, or

“(ii) a criminal violation of section 1956, 1957, or 1960 of title 18, United States Code, or section 5322 of title 31, United States Code, the Board may, if continued service or participation by such party may pose a threat to the interests of the credit union's members or may threaten to impair public confidence in the credit union, by written notice served upon such party, suspend such party from office or prohibit such party from further participation in any manner in the conduct of the affairs of the credit union.

“(B) PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO NOTICE.—

“(i) COPY.—A copy of any notice under subparagraph (A) shall also be served upon the credit union.

“(ii) EFFECTIVE PERIOD.—A suspension or prohibition under subparagraph (A) shall remain in effect until the information, indictment, or complaint referred to in such subparagraph is finally disposed of or until terminated by the Board.

“(C) REMOVAL OR PROHIBITION.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—If a judgment of conviction or an agreement to enter a pretrial diversion or other similar program is entered against an institution-affiliated party in connection with a crime described in subparagraph (A)(i), at such time as such judgment is not subject to further appellate review, the Board may, if continued service or participation by such party may pose a threat to the interests of the credit union's members or may threaten to impair public confidence in the credit union, issue and serve upon such party an order removing such party from office or prohibiting such party from further participation in any manner in the conduct of the affairs of the credit union without the prior written consent of the Board.

“(ii) REQUIRED FOR CERTAIN OFFENSES.—In the case of a judgment of conviction or agreement against an institution-affiliated party in connection with a violation described in subparagraph (A)(ii), the Board shall issue and serve upon such party an order removing such party from office or prohibiting such party from further participation in any manner in the conduct of the affairs of the credit union without the prior written consent of the Board.

“(D) PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO ORDER.—

“(i) COPY.—A copy of any order under subparagraph (C) shall also be served upon such credit union, whereupon such party (if a director or an officer) shall cease to be a director or officer of such credit union.

“(ii) EFFECT OF ACQUITTAL.—A finding of not guilty or other disposition of the charge shall not preclude the Board from instituting proceedings after such finding or disposition to remove such party from office or to prohibit further participation in credit union affairs, pursuant to paragraph (1), (2), or (3) of subsection (g) of this section.

“(iii) EFFECTIVE PERIOD.—Any notice of suspension or order of removal issued under this paragraph shall remain effective and outstanding until the completion of any hearing or appeal authorized under paragraph (3) unless terminated by the Board.”.

(c) ATTORNEY GENERAL NOTICE REQUIREMENT.—Section 1956 of title 18, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

“(g) NOTICE OF CONVICTION OF FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS.—If any financial institution or any officer, director, or employee of any financial institution has been found guilty of an offense under this section, section 1957 or 1960 of this title, or section 5322 of title 31, the Attorney General shall provide written notice of such fact to the appropriate regulatory agency for the financial institution.”.

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Where"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new paragraphs:

"(2) DOMESTIC FUNDS TRANSFERS.—Whenever the Secretary and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (hereafter in this section referred to as the 'Board') determine that the maintenance of records, by insured depository institutions, of payment orders which direct transfers of funds over wholesale funds transfer systems has a high degree of usefulness in criminal, tax, or regulatory investigations or proceedings, the Secretary and the Board shall jointly prescribe regulations to carry out the purposes of this section with respect to the maintenance of such records.

"(3) INTERNATIONAL FUNDS TRANSFERS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary and the Board shall jointly prescribe, after consultation with State banking supervisors, final regulations requiring that insured depository institutions, businesses that provide check cashing services, money transmitting businesses, and businesses that issue or redeem money orders, travelers' checks or other similar instruments maintain such records of payment orders which—

"(i) involve international transactions; and

"(ii) direct transfers of funds over wholesale funds transfer systems or on the books of any insured depository institution, or on the books of any business that provides check cashing services, any money transmitting business, and any business that issues or redeems money orders, travelers' checks or similar instruments, that will have a high degree of usefulness in criminal, tax, or regulatory investigations or proceedings.

"(B) FACTORS FOR CONSIDERATION.—In prescribing the regulations required under subparagraph (A), the Secretary and the Board shall consider—

"(i) the usefulness in criminal, tax, or regulatory investigations or proceedings of any record required to be maintained pursuant to the proposed regulations; and

"(ii) the effect the recordkeeping required pursuant to such proposed regulations will have on the cost and efficiency of the payment system.

"(C) AVAILABILITY OF RECORDS.—Any records required to be maintained pursuant to the regulations prescribed under subparagraph (A) shall be submitted or made available to the Secretary or the Board upon request.".

(b) TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 21 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (12 U.S.C. 1829b) is amended—

SEC. 208. ANTI-MONEY LAUNDERING TRAINING TEAM.

The Secretary of the Treasury and the Attorney General shall jointly establish a team of experts to assist and provide training to foreign governments and agencies thereof in developing and expanding their capabilities for investigating and prosecuting violations of money laundering and related laws.

SEC. 209. INTERNATIONAL MONEY LAUNDERING REPORTS.

(a) UNITED STATES OBJECTIVES.—Section 481(a)(1) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C 2291(a)(1)) is amended—

(1) by striking out "and" at the end of subparagraph (D);

(2) by redesignating subparagraph (E) as subparagraph (F); and

(3) by inserting after subparagraph (D) the following new subparagraph:

"(E) the objective of the United States in dealing with the problem of international money laundering should be to ensure that countries adopt comprehensive domestic measures against money laundering and cooperate with each other in narcotics money laundering investigations, prosecutions, and related forfeiture actions; and"

(b) ANNUAL REPORTS.—Section 481(e) of that Act (22 U.S.C 2291(e)) is amended—

(1) by redesignating paragraphs (7) and (8) as paragraphs (8) and (9), respectively; and

(2) by inserting after paragraph (6) the following new paragraph (7):

"(7)(A) Each report pursuant to this subsection shall include a report on major money laundering countries. This report shall specify—

"(i) which countries are major money laundering countries;

"(ii) which countries identified pursuant to clause (i) have financial institutions engaging in currency transactions involving international narcotics trafficking proceeds that include significant amounts of United States currency or currency derived from illegal drug sales in the United States or that otherwise significantly affect the United States;

"(iii) which countries identified pursuant to clause (ii) have not reached agreement with the United States authorities on a mechanism for exchanging adequate records in connection with narcotics investigations and proceedings;

"(iv) which countries identified pursuant to clause (iii)—

"(I) are negotiating in good faith with the United States to establish such a record-exchange mechanism, or

"(II) have adopted laws or regulations that ensure the availability to appropriate United States Government personnel and those of other governments of adequate records in connection with narcotics investigations and proceedings; and

"(v) which countries identified pursuant to clause (i)—

"(I) have ratified the United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances and are taking steps to implement that Convention and other applicable agreements and conventions such as the recommendations of the Financial Action Task Force, the policy directive of the European Community, the legislative guidelines of the Organization of American States, and other similar declarations, and

"(II) have entered into bilateral agreements for the exchange of information on money-laundering with countries other than the United States.

"(B) In addition, for each major money laundering country, the report shall include findings on the country's adoption of law and regulations considered essential to prevent narcotics-related money laundering. Such findings shall include whether a country has—

"(i) criminalized narcotics money laundering;

"(ii) required banks and other financial institutions to know and record the identity of customers engaging in significant transactions, including the recording of large currency transactions at thresholds appropriate to that country's economic situation;

"(iii) required banks and other financial institutions to maintain, for an adequate time, records necessary to reconstruct significant transactions through financial institutions in order to be able to respond quickly to information requests from appropriate government authorities in narcotics-related money laundering cases;

"(iv) required or allowed financial institutions to report suspicious transactions;

"(v) established systems for identifying, tracing, freezing, seizing, and forfeiting narcotics-related assets;

"(vi) enacted laws for the sharing of seized narcotics assets with other governments;

"(vii) cooperated, when requested, with appropriate law enforcement agencies of other governments investigating financial crimes related to narcotics; and

"(viii) addressed the problem on international transportation of illegal-source currency and monetary instruments.

The report shall also detail instances of refusals to cooperate with foreign governments, and any actions taken by the United States Government and any international organization to address such obstacles, including the imposition of sanctions or penalties.

"(C) The report shall also include information on multilateral and bilateral strategies pursued by the Department of State, the Department of Justice, the Department of the Treasury, and other relevant United States Government agencies, either collectively or individually, to ensure the cooperation of foreign governments with respect to narcotics-related money laundering.

"(D) The report shall include specific detail to demonstrate that all United States Government agencies are pursuing a common strategy with respect to achieving international cooperation against money laundering and are pursuing a common strategy with respect to major money laundering countries, including a summary of United States objectives on a country-by-country basis.

"(E) As used in this paragraph, the term 'major money laundering country' means a country whose financial institutions engage in currency transactions involving significant amounts of proceeds from international narcotics trafficking.".

(c) DEFINITION OF MAJOR DRUG-TRANSIT COUNTRY.—Section 481(i)(5) of that Act (22 U.S.C. 2291(i)(5)) is amended—

(1) by inserting "or" at the end of subparagraph (A);

(2) by striking out "or" at the end of subparagraph (B) and inserting in lieu thereof a period; and

(3) by striking out subparagraph (C).

TITLE IV—REPORTS AND MISCELLANEOUS

SEC. 401. STUDY AND REPORT ON REIMBURSING FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS AND OTHERS FOR PROVIDING FINANCIAL RECORDS.

(a) Study Required.—The Attorney General, in consultation with the Secretary of the Treasury and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System and other appropriate banking regulatory agencies, shall conduct a study of the effect of amending the Right to Financial Privacy Act by allowing reimbursement to financial institutions for assembling or providing financial records on corporations and other entities not currently covered under section 1115(a) of such Act (12 U.S.C. 3415). The study shall also include analysis of the effect of allowing nondepositor licensed transmitters of funds to be reimbursed to the same extent as financial institutions under that section.

(b) Report.—Before the end of the 180-day period beginning on the date of enactment of this Act, the Attorney General shall submit a report to the Congress on the results of the study conducted pursuant to subsection (a).

SEC. 402. REPORTS OF INFORMATION REGARDING SAFETY AND SOUNDNESS OF DEPOSITORY INSTITUTIONS.

(a) Reports to Appropriate Federal Banking Agencies.—

(1) In general.—The Attorney General, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the head of any other agency or instrumentality of the United States shall, unless otherwise prohibited by law, disclose to the appropriate Federal banking agency any information that the Attorney General, the Secretary of the Treasury, or such agency head believes raises significant concerns regarding the safety or soundness of any depository institution doing business in the United States.

(2) Exceptions.—

(A) Intelligence information.—

(i) In general.—The Director of Central Intelligence shall disclose to the Attorney General or the Secretary of the Treasury any intelligence information that would otherwise be reported to an appropriate Federal banking agency pursuant to paragraph (1). After consultation with the Director of Central Intelligence, the Attorney General or the Secretary of the Treasury, shall disclose the intelligence information to the appropriate Federal banking agency.

(ii) Procedures for receipt of intelligence information.—Each appropriate Federal banking agency, in consultation with the Director of Central Intelligence, shall establish procedures for receipt of intelligence information that are adequate to protect the intelligence information.

(B) Criminal investigations, safety of government investigator, informants, and witnesses.—If the Attorney General, the Secretary of the Treasury or their respective designees determines that the disclosure of information pursuant to paragraph (1) may jeopardize a pending civil investigation or litigation, or a pending criminal investigation or prosecution, may result in serious bodily injury or death to Government employees, informants, witnesses or their respective families, or may disclose sensitive investigative techniques and methods, the Attorney General or the Secretary of the Treasury shall—

(i) provide the appropriate Federal banking agency a description of the information that is as specific as possible without jeopardizing the investigation, litigation, or prosecution, threatening serious bodily injury or death to Government employees, informants, or witnesses or their respective families, or disclosing sensitive investigation techniques and methods; and

(ii) permit a full review of the information by the Federal banking agency at a location and under procedures that the Attorney General determines will ensure the effective protection of the information while permitting the Federal banking agency to ensure the safety and soundness of any depository institution.

(C) Grand jury investigations; criminal procedure.—Paragraph (1) shall not—

(i) apply to the receipt of information by an agency or instrumentality in connection with a pending grand jury investigation; or

(ii) be construed to require disclosure of information prohibited by rule 6 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure.

(b) Procedures for Receipt of Disclosure Reports.—

(1) In general.—Within 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, each appropriate Federal banking agency shall establish procedures for receipt of a disclosure report by an agency or instrumentality made in accordance with subsection (a)(1). The procedures established in accordance with this subsection shall ensure adequate protection of information disclosed, including access control and information accountability.

(2) Procedures related to each disclosure report.—Upon receipt of a report in accordance with subsection (a)(1), the appropriate Federal banking agency shall—

(A) consult with the agency or instrumentality that made the disclosure regarding the adequacy of the procedures established pursuant to paragraph (1), and

(B) adjust the procedures to ensure adequate protection of the information disclosed.

(c) Effect on Agencies.—This section does not impose an affirmative duty on the Attorney General, the Secretary of the Treasury, or the head of any agency or instrumentality of the United States to collect new or to review existing information.

(d) Definitions.—For purposes of this section, the terms "appropriate Federal banking agency" and "depository institution" have the same meanings as in section 8 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act.

(e) Report.—The Attorney General and the Secretary of the Treasury shall report to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs of the Senate and the Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs of the House of Representatives, not later than 90 days after the end of each calendar year on their utilization of the exceptions provided in subsection (a)(1)(B).

(B) by adding at the end the following new sentence:

"The Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe regulations to permit color illustrations of such currency of the United States as the Secretary determines may be appropriate for such purposes.".

(3) by redesignating paragraph (2) as paragraph (3) and inserting after paragraph (1) the following new paragraph:

"(2) The provisions of this section shall not permit the reproduction of illustrations of obligations or other securities, by or through electronic methods used for the acquisition, recording, retrieval, transmission, or reproduction of any obligation or other security, unless such use is authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury. The Secretary shall establish a system to ensure that the legitimate use of such electronic methods and retention of such reproductions by businesses, hobbyists, press or others shall not be unduly restricted."; and

(4) in paragraph (3), as redesignated by paragraph (3) of this subsection, by striking "but not for advertising purposes except philatelic advertising,".

TITLE VI—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

SEC. 601. CIVIL MONEY PENALTIES.

(a) In General.—Section 5321(a)(6) of title 31, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"(6) Negligence.—

"(A) In general.—The Secretary of the Treasury may impose a civil money penalty of not more than $500 on any financial institution which negligently violates any provision of this subchapter or any regulation prescribed under this subchapter.

"(B) Pattern of negligent activity.—If any financial institution engages in a pattern of negligent violations of any provision of this subchapter or any regulation prescribed under this subchapter, the Secretary of the Treasury may, in addition to any penalty imposed under subparagraph (A) with respect to any such violation, impose a civil money penalty of not more than $50,000 on the financial institution.".

(b) Effective Date.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply with respect to violations committed after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 602. AUTHORITY TO ORDER DEPOSITORY INSTITUTIONS TO OBTAIN COPIES OF CTRS FROM CUSTOMERS WHICH ARE UNREGULATED BUSINESSES.

Section 5326 of title 31, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by redesignating subsection (b) as subsection (d); and

(2) by inserting after subsection (a) the following new subsection:

"(b) Authority To Order Depository Institutions To Obtain Reports From Customers.—

"(1) In general.—The Secretary of the Treasury may, by regulation or order, require any depository institution (as defined in section 3(c) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act)—

"(A) to request any financial institution (other than a depository institution) which engages in any reportable transaction with the depository institution to provide the depository institution with a copy of any report filed by the financial institution under this subtitle with respect to any prior transaction (between such financial institution and any other person) which involved any portion of the coins or currency (or monetary instruments) which are involved in the reportable transaction with the depository institution; and

"(B) if no copy of any report described in subparagraph (A) is received by the depository institution in connection with any reportable transaction to which such subparagraph applies, to submit (in addition to any report required under this subtitle with respect to the reportable transaction) a written notice to the Secretary that the financial institution failed to provide any copy of such report.

"(2) Reportable transaction defined.—For purposes of this subsection, the term 'reportable transaction' means any transaction involving coins or currency (or such other monetary instruments as the Secretary may describe in the regulation or order) the total amounts or denominations of which are equal to or greater than an amount which the Secretary may prescribe.".

SEC. 603. WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION FOR EMPLOYEES OF FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS OTHER THAN DEPOSITORY INSTITUTIONS.

(a) In General.—Subchapter II of chapter 53 of title 31, United States Code, is amended by inserting after section 5327 (as added by section 201(a) of this Act) the following new section:

"§5328. Whistleblower protections

"(a) Prohibition Against Discrimination.—No financial institution may discharge or otherwise discriminate against any employee with respect to compensation, terms, conditions, or privileges of employment because the employee (or any person acting pursuant to the request of the employee) provided information to the Secretary of the Treasury, the Attorney General, or any Federal supervisory agency regarding a possible violation of any provision of this subchapter or section 1956, 1957, or 1960 of title 18, or any regulation under any such provision, by the financial institution or any director, officer, or employee of the financial institution.

"(b) ENFORCEMENT.—Any employee or former employee who believes that such employee has been discharged or discriminated against in violation of subsection (a) may file a civil action in the appropriate United States district court before the end of the 2-year period beginning on the date of such discharge or discrimination.

"(c) REMEDIES.—If the district court determines that a violation has occurred, the court may order the financial institution which committed the violation to—

"(1) reinstate the employee to the employee's former position;

"(2) pay compensatory damages; or

"(3) take other appropriate actions to remedy any past discrimination.

"(d) LIMITATION.—The protections of this section shall not apply to any employee who—

"(1) deliberately causes or participates in the alleged violation of law or regulation; or

"(2) knowingly or recklessly provides substantially false information to the Secretary, the Attorney General, or any Federal supervisory agency.

"(e) COORDINATION WITH OTHER PROVISIONS OF LAW.—This section shall not apply with respect to any financial institution which is subject to section 33 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act, section 213 of the Federal Credit Union Act, or section 21A(q) of the Home Owners' Loan Act (as added by section 251(c) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Improvement Act of 1991).".

(b) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of sections for chapter 53 of title 31, United States Code, is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 5327 (as added by section 1021(c) of this Act) the following new item:

"5328. Whistleblower protections.".

SEC. 604. ADVISORY GROUP ON REPORTING REQUIREMENTS.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—Not later than 90 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Treasury shall establish a Bank Secrecy Act Advisory Group consisting of representatives of the Department of the Treasury, the Department of Justice, and the Office of National Drug Control Policy and of other interested persons and financial institutions subject to the reporting requirements of subchapter II of chapter 53 of title 31, United States Code, or section 6050I of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(b) PURPOSES.—The Advisory Group shall provide a means by which the Secretary—

(1) informs private sector representatives, on a regular basis, of the ways in which the reports submitted pursuant to the requirements referred to in subsection (a) have been used;

(2) informs private sector representatives, on a regular basis, of how information regarding suspicious financial transactions provided voluntarily by financial institutions has been used; and

(3) receives advice on the manner in which the reporting requirements referred to in subsection (a) should be modified to enhance the ability of law enforcement agencies to use the information provided for law enforcement purposes.

(c) INAPPLICABILITY OF FEDERAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE ACT.—The Federal Advisory Committee Act shall not apply to the Bank Secrecy Act Advisory Group established pursuant to subsection (a).

SEC. 605. GAO FEASIBILITY STUDY OF THE FINANCIAL CRIMES ENFORCEMENT NETWORK.

(a) STUDY REQUIRED.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall conduct a feasibility study of the Financial Crimes Enforcement Network (popularly referred to as "Fincen") established by the Secretary of the Treasury in cooperation with other agencies and departments of the United States and appropriate Federal banking agencies.

(b) SPECIFIC REQUIREMENTS.—In conducting the study required under subsection (a), the Comptroller General shall examine and evaluate—

(1) the extent to which Federal, State, and local governmental and nongovernmental organizations are voluntarily providing information which is necessary for the system to be useful for law enforcement purposes;

(2) the extent to which the operational guidelines established for the system provide for the coordinated and efficient entry of information into, and withdrawal of information from, the system;

(3) the extent to which the operating procedures established for the system provide appropriate standards or guidelines for determining—

(A) who is to be given access to the information in the system;

(B) what limits are to be imposed on the use of such information; and

(C) how information about activities or relationships which involve or are closely associated with the exercise of constitutional rights is to be screened out of the system; and

(4) the extent to which the operating procedures established for the system provide for the prompt verification of the accuracy and completeness of information entered into the system and the prompt deletion or correction of inaccurate or incomplete information.

(c) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—Before the end of the 1-year period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General of the United States shall submit a report to the Congress containing the findings and conclusions of the Comptroller General in connection with the study conducted pursuant to subsection (a), together with such recommendations for legislative or administrative action as the Comptroller General may determine to be appropriate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ANNUNZIO] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Iowa [Mr. LEACH] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ANNUNZIO].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ANNUNZIO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 6048, the bill now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore [Mr. ABERCROMBIE]. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Mr. ANNUNZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. Mr. Speaker, H.R. 6048, the Financial Institutions Enforcement Improvements Act, is based on H.R. 26, money laundering legislation which I introduced over a year ago, and which was passed by the House last year by a vote of 406 to 0.

The bill before us today represents a compromise between H.R. 26 and the money laundering provisions passed by the other body as part of S. 2733 on July 1.

I am pleased that the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. WYLIE] is a cosponsor of this legislation. He has worked very hard with me over the past 3 years to pass a money laundering bill. His cooperation and dedication to putting an end to money laundering has made it possible to bring this bill to the floor today. I also want to acknowledge the significant contributions of the gentleman from Iowa [Mr. LEACH] in developing this important piece of legislation.

I also want to point out that the provisions of this bill have been worked out with both the Judiciary and Foreign Affairs Committees, both of which have jurisdiction over parts of the bill.

H.R. 6048 will strengthen existing law by plugging loopholes and ensuring that those financial entities and persons assisting money launderers are punished. It contains the death penalty for money laundering financial institutions. Federally chartered or insured financial institutions which launder money put their charters or insurance certificate at risk of revocation if they are convicted of money laundering. Branches or agencies of foreign banks operating in the United States also risk losing their licenses if they are convicted of money laundering. This bill will put the next BCCI out of business.

Money laundering is a crime which makes the illegal drug business profitable. The vast amount of cash generated by drug dealers is actually a liability. Without a place to launder cash, drug dealers would be left with a vast pile of worthless paper. To profit from their murderous business they must be able to convert the cash into bank credits which can be concealed easily and transferred rapidly.

H.R. 6048 is a compromise that has been carefully crafted between the Members of the House and Senate Banking, Judiciary, and Foreign Affairs Committees. It resolves the differences between both the two Houses' money laundering bills. Passage of the bill today will give the other body the opportunity to agree to this bill before Congress adjourns at the end of the week and send it to the President.

The House gave its unanimous support to H.R. 26 last year by a vote of 406 to 0. Similar money laundering legislation had passed the House in 1990 by an identical vote.

I urge the House to do the same with this current, improved version of H.R. 26 so that we may send this legislation to the Senate and then President as soon as possible.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this bill as well. I must tell my colleagues, it is a very important piece of legislation. It represents 2½ years of hard work by the distinguished subcommittee chairman, the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ANNUNZIO], and the ranking member, the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. WYLIE].

But I would like to pay particular attention today to the work of the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ANNUNZIO]. Quite frankly, I think, FRANK, it is your persistence, your hard work, your dedication that has precipitated this bill, and it is a real testament to your leadership and your 2½ decades of service here to the Congress.

This is not an unimportant bill. It gives additional tools to banking regulators, prosecutors, and law enforcement officials to punish individuals and financial institutions engaged in money laundering.

The most significant sanction in this bill is a potential loss of an institution's charter if it engages in money laundering. And as the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ANNUNZIO] has pointed out, our recent experience with the Bank of Credit and Commerce International, BCCI, exemplifies the need for this kind of extreme sanction.

Another section of the bill enhances the ability of the U.S. attorneys to seize and forfeit laundered assets.

As the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ANNUNZIO] has said, this bill has passed this Congress actually on three prior occasions. Additional provisions have been added by Members of the other body, and I think they are very helpful. They include reports on international money laundering and an increase in penalties for illegal money transmitters and counterfeiters.

My colleagues should also know that a number of laws involving money laundering already exist, and the vast majority of financial institutions take pains to comply with these laws. Banks currently file over 7 million currency transactions reports with the Treasury Department.

A fair question, therefore, can be asked: Why more regulation of an overregulated industry? Why more potential intrusion of Government into private bank accounts?

In ordinary circumstances, this Member would be dubious of the approach contemplated in this bill, but these are not ordinary times. If one believes, as I do, that America is more challenged by drug dealers today than it was by commissars yesterday, this kind of approach makes a great deal of sense, because one of the very few ways to hold white collar criminals accountable is to trace their transactions through bank accounts.

Here let me just stress the timeliness of this particular day's consideration of this particular issue. Today law enforcement officials from the United States, Colombia, and Italy announced that they had arrested more than 165 people on charges related to the laundering of money from worldwide sales of cocaine by the Sicilian mafia and Colombian cocaine cartels. At a news conference in Rome, a senior Italian investigator said that he would not hesitate to define this operation as "the most important ever carried out in Italy and Europe against drug trafficking and money laundering."

In a 2-year investigation, Federal law enforcement officials traced more than $40 million from cocaine sales as this amount of money was transferred to Colombia through accounts at large commercial banks in the United States. Officials did not identify any of the banks involved. Commercial banks have become more attentive to money laundering in the last decade, but Federal officials have said none of the banks reported the transactions as suspicious.

My own sense is that as much as previous law has been very helpful, we do need to focus more of our efforts in the movement of funds internationally.

This bill will allow us to do that by requiring the Treasury and the Federal Reserve to promulgate regulations requiring banks to keep adequate records of large international wire transfers.

I urge my colleagues to support this bill in the wake of the BCCI scandal. But much more importantly, in the daily battle against drug kingpins, we owe it to our Federal law enforcement officials to do as much as we can to assist them in the war on drugs and the concomitant practice of money laundering.

Finally, let me just stress as strongly as I can that sometimes legislation comes to this body because it is commonsensical. Sometimes it comes because of the persistence and dedication of single Members. In this case, both have combined.

This particular bill, which potentially drives a large stake into the heart of some of the worst kinds of white collar crime, is a testament to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ANNUNZIO]. And for that, we thank him.

Mr. WYLIE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 6048, the Financial Institutions Enforcement Improvements Act. I also want to thank my colleague, FRANK ANNUNZIO, for his leadership and his persistence in the fight against money laundering.

The genesis of the bill before us today is the conviction of BCCI in 1988 of money laundering charges in Florida. At that time, FRANK ANNUNZIO asked a very valid question: How is it that an institution that is convicted of laundering millions of dollars for the Colombian cartels is allowed to remain open? His response was to introduce a bill in early 1990 that mandated that any institution convicted of money laundering give up its charter and close its doors. I worked with FRANK on the charter revocation provisions and I offered a number of amendments to enhance the criminals penalties for money laundering and make it easier for the government to seize laundered funds.

We passed this money laundering legislation in the House in April 1990, by a vote of 406 to zero. We again passed a similar bill in October 1990. The bill was considered a third time in April 1991. Today is the fourth time that we will consider this legislation and I am hopeful that this bill will eventually pass in the other body. H.R. 6048 consists of practically all of the provisions that were in the three previous House bills plus some language, mainly law enforcement in nature, that was added at the request of Members of the Senate.

I am particularly proud of the provisions that we placed in this bill to make it easier for Federal law enforcement officials to seize laundered money. Federal district courts are endowed with jurisdiction in civil forfeiture cases. Fungible property, including cash, monetary instruments, and deposits, can be forfeited within 1 year of the money laundering offense giving rise to the forfeiture.

This bill makes it a Federal crime to obstruct a money laundering investigation. It also increases the criminal penalties for money laundering conspiracies.

Mr. Speaker, I have often said that money laundering is the lifeblood of any criminal enterprise involved in the sale of illegal drugs. We owe it to the police and the prosecutors to do as much as we can to assist in the ongoing war on drugs. H.R. 6048 will give U.S. attorneys and Federal law enforcement officials more tools to prosecute money launderers and seize the ill-gotten proceeds of the drug trade. I urge my colleagues to vote for this bill.

Mr. GONZALEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 6048, the Financial Institutions Enforcement Improvements Act. I want to congratulate Mr. ANNUNZIO for his efforts to bring this money laundering bill back before this House before his retirement later this year. Mr. ANNUNZIO's leadership and tireless determination will be greatly missed on the Banking Committee and in this House. I wish him well in his retirement.

This bill, in similar form, first passed the House in 1990 and again in June 1991. The version before you today has been worked out between the House Banking Committee, the House Judiciary Committee, the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and the appropriate committees in the other body.

This bill combats drug traffickers by attacking their ability to launder money through financial institutions by providing regulators with the ability to appoint conservators, revoke charters, and terminate deposit insurance for depository institutions convicted of money laundering. I urge my colleagues to support this legislation as the next important step in addressing the drug trade that is threatening to destroy our communities.

Mr. LEACH. Mr. Speaker, the minority has no further requests for time, and I would yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ANNUNZIO. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Iowa for his very kind remarks.

I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ANNUNZIO] that the House spend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6048, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

ARKANSAS-IDAHO LAND EXCHANGE ACT OF 1992

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 2572) to authorize an exchange of lands in the States of Arkansas and Idaho, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 2572

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Arkansas-Idaho Land Exchange Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) the Potlatch Corporation has offered to the United States Government an exchange of lands under which Potlatch would receive approximately 17,625 acres of scattered tracts of Federal lands in the State of Idaho in return for conveying to the United States lands owned by Potlatch consisting of approximately 40,922 acres of undisturbed bottomland hardwood lands in the State of Arkansas and approximately 1,170 acres of lands with important recreational and fisheries values in the State of Idaho;

(2) the lands in Arkansas that Potlatch has offered to convey to the United States are surrounded by Federal and State lands on the Cache and White Rivers which are designated as a "Wetland of International Importance" under the Convention on Wetlands of International Importance (commonly referred to as the "Ramsar Convention"), one of only 10 areas in the United States so designated;

(3) acquisition of these lands by the United States will remove the lands from sustained timber production and other development in the heart of this critical wetland ecosystem;

(4) the lands Potlatch has offered to convey to the United States will qualify for inclusion as a Wetland of International Importance under the Ramsar Convention;

(5) the lands Potlach has offered to convey to the United States are outstanding fish and wildlife habitat and should continue to be made available for activities such as public hunting, fishing, trapping, nature observation, enjoyment, and education;

(6) the lands the United States would convey to Potlatch do not contain comparable fish, wildlife, or wetland values;

(7) appraisals of all lands to be conveyed in the exchange have been completed; and

(8) the United States and Potlatch have agreed to the values and boundaries of all lands to be conveyed in the exchange and concur that the lands to be conveyed by Potlatch and the lands to be conveyed by the United States are of equal value.

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this Act is to authorize and require the Secretary and the Secretary of Agriculture to participate in an exchange of lands that will provide environmental and economic benefits to the States of Arkansas and Idaho and to the Nation.

SEC. 3. EXCHANGE.

(a) INTER-AGENCY LAND TRANSFERS.—

(1) TRANSFERS BETWEEN SECRETARY AND SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE.—

(A) TRANSFER TO SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE.—Notwithstanding the provisions of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1701 et seq.), not later than 30 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transfer to the jurisdiction of the Secretary of Agriculture for inclusion in the National Forest System approximately 9,114 acres of public lands in the State of Idaho, as identified upon a map entitled "Arkansas-Idaho Exchange—Idaho Lands", dated July 1992 and available for inspection in appropriate offices of the Secretary.

(B) TRANSFER TO SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE.—Subsequent to the exchange required by subsection (b), the Secretary shall transfer to the Secretary of Agriculture for inclusion in the National Forest System approximately 891 acres of public lands in the State of Idaho identified for postexchange transfer upon the map referenced in subparagraph (A).

(2) TRANSFER TO SECRETARY.—Not later than 30 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Agriculture shall transfer to the Secretary for conveyance to Potlatch pursuant to subsection (b), approximately 7,979 acres of lands within the National Forest System in the State of Idaho, as identified upon the map referenced in subparagraph (A).

(b) EXCHANGE OF LANDS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding the provisions of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1701 et seq.), within 60 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall convey to Potlatch, in accordance with the provisions of the National Wildlife Refuge System Administration Act of 1966 (16 U.S.C. 668dd-668ee) and subject to paragraph (2) and any valid existing rights, approximately 17,625 acres of public lands in the State of Idaho identified for transfer to Potlatch on the map referenced in subsection (a)(1)(A) in exchange for lands owned by Potlatch consisting of—

(A) approximately 40,921 acres in the State of Arkansas, as depicted for transfer to the United States upon a map entitled "Arkansas-Idaho Land Exchange—Arkansas Lands," dated July 1992 and available for inspection in appropriate offices of the Secretary, and

(B) approximately 1,170 acres in the State of Idaho, as identified for transfer to the United States upon the map referenced in subsection (a)(1)(A).

(2) LIMITATION.—The Secretary may not convey any lands to Potlatch under this subsection unless title to the lands to be conveyed by Potlatch in exchange is in accordance with the Department of Justice standards for the preparation of title evidence in land acquisitions by the United States.

(c) GENERAL PROVISIONS.—

(1) MAPS CONTROLLING.—To ensure the management benefits of consolidating isolated tracts of lands, any conflict between a number of acres of lands referred to in this Act and a depiction of the lands on a map referenced in this Act shall be resolved in favor of the map.

(2) CANCELLATION.—Prior to implementation of the exchange required by subsection (b), if Potlatch notifies the Secretary in writing that it no longer intends to complete the exchange, the lands referenced in subsection (a) shall revert to their status as of the day before the date of enactment of this Act, and shall be managed in accordance with applicable management plans.

(3) FINAL MAPS.—Not later than 6 months after the conclusion of the exchange required by subsection (b), the Secretary shall transmit maps accurately depicting the lands transferred and conveyed pursuant to this Act and the acreages and legal descriptions of such lands to the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs and the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources and the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate.

(4) WITHDRAWAL.—Subject to valid existing rights, the lands depicted for conveyance to Potlatch on the map referenced in subsection (a)(1)(A) are withdrawn from all forms of entry and appropriation under the public land laws (including the mining laws) and from operation of the mineral leasing and geothermal leasing laws effective upon the date of the enactment of this Act. Such withdrawal shall terminate on the date of completion of the exchange required by subsection (b) or on the date of any notification by Potlatch of a decision not to complete the exchange pursuant to paragraph (2).

(5) POWER SITE RESERVATIONS.—The following Executive Orders shall have no effect insofar as they involve the following described lands:

(A) The Executive order dated July 2, 1910, which established Powersite Reserve No. 91, with respect to those lands at Boise Meridian, T. 45 N., R. 4 E., Sec. 18, SW¼NE¼, comprising approximately 40 acres.

(B) The Executive order dated July 2, 1910, which established Powersite Reserve No. 106, with respect to those lands at Boise Meridian, T. 32 N., R. 5 E., Sec. 14, W½NE¼NE and SE¼NE¼NE¼, comprising approximately 30 acres.

(C) The Executive order dated August 31, 1917, which established Power Reservation No. 654, with respect to those lands at Boise Meridian, T. 48 N., R. 1 W., Sec. 3, SE¼NE¼, comprising approximately forty acres, and T. 46 N., R. 2 W., Sec. 14, lot 1, comprising approximately 28.15 acres.

(6) INDEMNITY LIST CLASSIFICATION ORDER.—Bureau of Land Management Indemnity List Classification Orders on public lands to be conveyed to Potlatch as required by subsection (b) are hereby removed from such classification.

(7) CONVEYANCE DOCUMENTS; BEFORE SURVEY.—Lands to be conveyed by the United States pursuant to subsection (b) on which any boundary is required to be surveyed in order to describe remaining public lands shall be conveyed by an interim conveyance. An interim conveyance under this paragraph shall convey to and vest in the recipient the same right, title, and interest in and to such lands as the recipient would have received in a patent issued pursuant to this Act. Upon completion of the survey, the Secretary shall issue a patent for such lands. The boundaries of such lands shall be those which were defined in and conveyed by the interim conveyance, except that the boundaries shall be corrected and redescribed in the patent, where necessary, as a result of the survey of such lands.

SEC. 4. USE OF ACQUIRED LANDS.

(a) NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE SYSTEM.—

(1) ADDITION TO THE SYSTEM.—The Secretary shall add the lands conveyed to the United States in Arkansas pursuant to section 3(b), to the Cache River and White River National Wildlife Refuges, as depicted upon the map described in such section. The Secretary shall manage such lands in accordance with the provisions of the National Wildlife Refuge System Administration Act of 1966 (16 U.S.C. 668dd–668ee).

(2) PLAN PREPARATION.—Within 24 months after the completion of the exchange required by section 3(b), the Secretary shall prepare and implement a single refuge management plan for the Cache River and White River Refuges, as expanded by this Act. Such plan shall recognize the important public purposes served by nonconsumptive activities, other recreational activities, and wildlife-related public use, including hunting, fishing, and trapping. The plan shall permit, to the maximum extent practicable, such uses to the extent that they are consistent with sound wildlife management and in accordance with the National Wildlife Refuge System Administration Act of 1966 (16 U.S.C. 668dd–668ee) and other applicable law. Any regulations promulgated by the Secretary with respect to fishing, hunting, and trapping on those lands shall, to the extent practicable, be consistent with State fish and wildlife laws and regulations. In preparing the management plan and regulations, the Secretary shall consult with the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission.

(3) INTERIM USE OF LANDS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subparagraph (B), during the period beginning on the date of the completion of the exchange of lands under subsection 3(b) and ending on the first date of the implementation of the plan prepared under paragraph (2), the Secretary shall administer all lands added to the Cache River and White River National Wildlife Refuges pursuant to this Act in accordance with the National Wildlife Refuge System Administration Act of 1966 (16 U.S.C. 668d–668ee) and other applicable law.

(B) HUNTING SEASONS.—During the period described in subparagraph (A), the duration of any hunting seasons on the lands referred to in subsection (a) shall comport with State law.

(b) PUBLIC LANDS.—

(1) STATUS.—Except as provided in section 3(a)(1)(B), the lands referred to in section 3(b)(1)(B) shall be public lands, as defined in section 103(e) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1701 et seq.), and shall be managed in accordance with the provisions of such Act.

(2) GRANDMOTHER MOUNTAIN AREA.—Subject to valid existing rights, those Federal and non-Federal lands within the Grandmother Mountain Wilderness Study Area which are transferred to the jurisdiction of the Forest Service pursuant to section 3(b) shall be managed so as to preserve their suitability for designation as wilderness, pursuant to section 603(c) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1782(c)), until the Congress determines otherwise. Nothing in this Act shall be construed as permitting or prohibiting continued use of motorized vehicles on existing routes within such area at the level of such use as was permitted on August 1, 1992.

(3) PLAN AMENDMENTS AND ENVIRONMENTAL ANALYSIS.—Within 24 months after the completion of the exchange under section 3(b), the Secretary and the Secretary of Agriculture shall prepare amendments to applicable resource management plans and accompanying documents pursuant to section 202 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1712), section 6 of the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Planning Act of 1974 (16 U.S.C. 1604), and section 102(2) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4332(2)) for lands in Idaho conveyed to the United States pursuant to section 3(b).

SEC. 5. DEFINITIONS.

For purposes of this Act, the term—

(1) "Potlatch" means the Potlatch Corporation, chartered in the State of Delaware;

(2) "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Interior; and

(3) "lands" means both the surface and subsurface estates whenever both estates are owned by the United States or Potlatch, as applicable.

SEC. 6. OUACHITA NATIONAL FOREST BOUNDARY ADJUSTMENT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The boundaries of the Ouachita National Forest are hereby adjusted to include those lands generally depicted on the map entitled "Proposed Proclamation Boundary Extension, East End of Lake Ouachita" and dated August 3, 1992.

(b) MAP AND LEGAL DESCRIPTION.—The map described in subsection (a) and a legal description of the lands depicted on the map shall be on file and available for public inspection in the appropriate offices of the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture. Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Agriculture shall prepare a legal description of the lands depicted on the map referred to in subsection (a). Such map and legal descriptions shall have the same force and effect as if included in this Act, except that the Secretary may correct clerical and typographical errors.

(c) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—For the purpose of section 7 of the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 (16 U.S.C. 4601–9), the boundaries of the Ouachita National Forest, as adjusted by this Act, shall be considered to be the boundaries of such forest as of January 1, 1965.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the Senate bill, S. 2572, the bill now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 2572 is a Senate passed bill that provides for an equal value exchange between the United States and the Potlatch Corp. whereby the United States would obtain important conservation lands in Arkansas that would be added to the National Wildlife Refuge System, and in return Potlatch will receive an equal value of Federal lands in Idaho. The bill also provides for transfer of management responsibilities between the Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management with respect to certain other Federal lands in Idaho.

During our consideration of the bill, the Interior Committee adopted an amendment by the gentleman from Idaho. [Mr. LAROCCO] dealing with the management of the Grandmother Mountain Wilderness study area in Idaho, now managed by the Bureau of Land Management, but which under the bill would be transferred to the management of the Forest Service.

The Interior Committee amendment makes it clear that after such a transfer these wilderness study lands will continue to be managed to protect their wilderness values. It also maintains the ability of the Land Managing Agency to continue to address use of motorized vehicles, without any specific limitations imposed by Congress.

Mr. Speaker, this is a good bill that provides for a land exchange that will have important environmental benefits, while not compromising the important policy that wilderness study areas should not as a usual matter be released back to multiple-use management in a piecemeal fashion, but instead should ordinarily be addressed only in the context of a general, statewide wilderness bill.

Senator BUMPERS, along with his colleague from Arkansas, Senator PRYOR, and the two Idaho Senators are to be congratulated for their leadership on this measure, and I want also to commend Mr. LAROCCO for his good work in connection with its consideration by our committee. My thanks also go to the leadership of the Agriculture Committee and Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee for their careful and prompt consideration of this matter. I urge the passage of the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, we have no objections, and the administration has no objections to this bill. I urge its passage.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this bill and am proud to be a cosponsor of the legislation. This bill, as amended, is good for the States of Arkansas and Idaho.

I would like to draw your attention to a provision contained in section 4 of the bill, a provision which I offered. This provision guarantees that the land in Arkansas will be kept open to the public for hunting, fishing, and trapping. This language is intended to guarantee that the good people of Arkansas will continue to have the opportunity to fully enjoy the great natural beauty of the land included in the Cache and White River Refuges.

For this reason, I ask that you support this very worthwhile and important legislation.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 2572, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN RESEARCH AND INTERPRETIVE CENTER

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 2548) to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to establish an Abraham Lincoln Research and Interpretive Center, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 2548

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. ABRAHAM LINCOLN INTERPRETIVE CENTER.

The Act entitled "An Act to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to establish the Lincoln Home National Historic Site in the State of Illinois, and for other purposes", approved August 18, 1971 (85 Stat 347), is amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 4. ABRAHAM LINCOLN INTERPRETIVE CENTER.

"(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—In order to provide for the education, inspiration and benefit of the American people, and to further the interpretation of the life and contributions of Abraham Lincoln and his times, the Secretary of the Interior is authorized to establish at or near the Lincoln Home National Historic Site an interpretive center which shall be known as the Abraham Lincoln Interpretive Center (hereafter in this section referred to as the 'center'). The center shall be added to and administered as part of the Lincoln Home National Historic Site. Upon establishment of the center, the boundary of the Lincoln Home National Historic Site is hereby modified to include the center.

"(b) ACQUISITION OF LAND.—For the purposes of this section, the Secretary may acquire land or interests in land near the Lincoln Home National Historic Site by donation, purchase with donated or appropriated funds, or exchange. Lands or interests therein owned by the State of Illinois or any political subdivision thereof may be acquired only by donation.

"(c) CONSTRUCTION, OPERATION, AND MAINTENANCE OF FACILITIES.—In carrying out this section, the Secretary is authorized to construct, operate, and maintain a facility, including an exhibit area, in order to preserve and make available materials related to the life of Abraham Lincoln and to provide interpretive and educational services which communicate the meaning of the life of Abraham Lincoln.

"(d) COOPERATIVE AGREEMENTS.—In carrying out this section, the Secretary may enter into cooperative agreements with (1) appropriate Federal agencies and the State of Illinois, or any political subdivision thereof, for the interpretation of resources of the center, and (2) with the owners of documents and artifacts of historical or cultural significance as determined by the Secretary.

"(e) DOCUMENTS AND ARTIFACTS.—In carrying out this section, the Secretary may acquire by purchase with donated funds, exchange, loan, or donation documents and artifacts related to the purpose of the center for display at the center.

"(f) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—In addition to amounts authorized to be appropriate by section 3, there is authorized to be appropriated not more than $18,000,000 to carry out this section.".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. HEFLEY] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 2548, the legislation now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 2548 is legislation introduced by Representative RICHARD DURBIN to provide for the establishment of an Abraham Lincoln Interpretive Center at the existing Lincoln Home National Historic Site in Springfield, IL.

Abraham Lincoln is one of the most significant figures in the history of the United States. Springfield is the site of many significant events in the life of the 16th President of the United States. Abraham Lincoln moved to Springfield in 1837 and lived there on and off until departing for the White House in 1861. Springfield was the place where Lincoln married, raised his family, practiced law, campaigned for political office and is buried.

The Lincoln Home National Historic Site was established in 1971. The current visitors center has no exhibits on Lincoln and the storage area for Lincoln related item which is an old barn on the site, lacks proper insulation, leading to variations in heat and humidity which could be damaging to historical resources. Although there are several Lincoln sites in the National Park System, none of them tell the story of his entire life or his years as President. The center will interpret Lincoln's life and contributions, provide an opportunity to exhibit Lincoln artifacts and documents owned by the National Park Service and orient visitors to other Lincoln related sites in the Springfield area.

The Interior Committee adopted an amendment in the nature of a substitute which significantly scaled back the scope and potential costs of the bill from when it was introduced. The substitute deleted authorization for a research or library component of the proposed center. A research facility is not in keeping with the mission of the National Park Service and there would have been significant costs associated with the proposed research center. The substitute made several other changes including providing that State lands could be acquired by donation only and allowing purchase of Lincoln related artifacts with donated funds only.

Mr. Speaker, Abraham Lincoln is revered throughout the world for his dedication to the principles of freedom and democracy. He played a critical role in one of the most trying times in our Nation's history. His legacy goes beyond one of national significance to one of international significance. The bill we are considering today would help interpret the life and contributions of the person who may well be the most significant figure in the history of the United States.

The bill as amended is a straightforward authorization for a visitors center at an existing park unit. The current park facilities are inadequate. The Interior Committee substitute reduces the costs of the proposed center by nearly two-thirds the amount originally contemplated and brings it in line with the interpretive mission of the National Park Service. The extraordinary life and historical contributions of the 16th president of the United States deserve to be interpreted for the benefit of present and future generations. I urge my colleagues to support the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I have strong concerns about H.R. 2548, which would authorize construction of an $18 million Lincoln interpretive center in Springfield, IL.

I know that the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] has made a strong effort to cut back on the scope of this proposal. He has worked hard at it. It was originally proposed to be a $30 to $60 million proposal. He has cut it back to $18 million. It think that is commendable.

Mr. Speaker, our 16th president remains a reversed figure in American history today and is well-known throughout the world as a true leader in the struggle for democracy and freedom.

President Lincoln certainly deserves recognition within the National Park System and he is so honored, more than any other American already.

In fact, there are currently seven units of the Park System which deal substantially with Lincoln's life and accomplishments.

The Lincoln story has been covered, literally, from cradle to grave.

The Springfield site, as it is, does a good job of presenting Lincoln's years in that city.

The site has a 5,700-square foot visitor center which is adequate to meet basic visitor center needs.

Besides these facilities, Springfield is home to the Lincoln collection of the State historical society and is about 50 miles from the University of Illinois at Champaign, which has one of the foremost Lincoln centers in the world.

Mr. Speaker, I am going to oppose this bill because I cannot see how we can possibly justify it, even at the reduced amount of money, even at the $18 million in taxpayer's dollars, when we have a backlog in the Park Service of some 30 parks that are waiting their first visitor center. It is not a matter of improving a visitor center for them, it is a matter of awaiting their first visitor center.

The National Park Service never has identified a need for this facility. It appears to me that the real proponents of this facility are the city of Springfield and the State of Illinois, and I think that is fine. President Lincoln is a favorite some of the State of Illinois, and if they want to attract more visitors to the State of Illinois I think they should do it. If they can do it with a Lincoln Center, I think they should do that, but I also, Mr. Speaker, think they should pay for it from the State of Illinois, rather than us pay for it out of the Federal budget, as difficult as it is for us to get the funds together to do the things that are desperately needed within our Park System right now.

Mr. Speaker, I would encourage opposition to this bill.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. DURBIN].

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me. It is with humility and some irony that this Democrat rises to speak on behalf of the most famous Republican President in the history of our Nation, and albeit the most famous President in the history of our Nation.

I am a resident of Springfield, IL, Mr. Lincoln's home town. My congressional office is located in the Lincoln home area. The gentleman from Colorado [Mr. HEFLEY] and the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] I think would be amazed at the number of people who come to visit the Lincoln home, not only from Illinois but across the Nation and around the world.

□ 1740

Each year we estimate some 600,000 visitors come to the Lincoln home. Unfortunately, they see a great Lincoln home, but they do not see other things that tell the Lincoln story.

For example, there is a handwritten version of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address in his own handwriting which we do not have any place to display at this point. That is one very tiny example of the artifacts and documents from Mr. Lincoln's life which are spread across the Nation now, and are not gathered in one place for protection.

When this idea first was presented I asked the National Park Service to establish a feasibility study on this Abraham Lincoln Study Center, and they did a masterful job. In the course of that feasibility study they came to the conclusion that there just was no single repository in the United States for the Lincoln documents and artifacts. They are spread and scattered across the Nation, and it is very, very difficult, in fact impossible for true Lincoln scholars, or even persons interested in the history of his life to learn the story, so we went to work to put together a proposal.

I want to commend my colleagues, the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. HEFLEY] and the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO], for accepting what we know to be the budgetary realities in this town by reducing the National Park Service's high estimate of $60 to $18 million for the interpretive and visitors center. I would like to make the comment that we in Illinois do not come to this Chamber very often when we are looking for help with the National Park Service. This particular Park Service facility, the Lincoln home, was authorized in 1971. This is the first attempt to expand that authorization over 20 years later. This is the only National Park Service site in my State. Some States are blessed with 20 and more National Park Service sites, and I think that is all well and good for our Nation. But we come infrequently to ask for help. We try as best we can to reduce our demands to a realistic level, and we certainly come when we believe there is a need, and in this situation, in this circumstance I think the gentleman from Colorado and the gentleman from Minnesota will agree that this President who has no Presidential library, who has no Lincoln museum, and in fact with the seven Park Service sites has pieces of his life that are being highlighted in different spots across the Nation, really deserves one center that attempts to interpret his life. We are proud to ask that it be located in Lincoln's hometown.

I thank the committee for their fine work, and I hope that the committee and the House will give this favorable consideration.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I urge support for the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BILBRAY). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 2548, as amended.

The question was taken.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 5 of rule I and the Chair's prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

CONVEYING CERTAIN LANDS TO TOWN OF TAOS, NM

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5548) to direct the Secretary of Agriculture to convey certain lands to the town of Taos, NM, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5548

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. CONVEYANCE OF PROPERTY.

Not later than 6 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Agriculture shall convey by quit-claim deed to the town of Taos, New Mexico, subject to the terms and conditions stated in section 2, all right, title, and interest of the United States in and to the land and improvements thereon described as follows:

That property locally referred to as the "Old Taos Ranger District Office and Warehouse" located in the town of Taos, Taos County, New Mexico, containing approximately 0.633 acres, specifically described in that certain warranty deed dated January 22, 1937, by William T. And Mary E. Hinde, husband and wife, to the United States, as recorded on January 23, 1937, in book A–34, page 415, of the Record of Deeds of Taos County, New Mexico.

SEC. 2. TERMS AND CONDITIONS.

(a) CONSIDERATION.—The conveyance described in section 1 shall be in consideration of the amount of $360,000, payable in full within the 6-month period referred to in section 1 or, at the option of the town of Taos, in 20 annual payments of $18,000 due on January 1 of the first year following enactment of this Act and annually thereafter until the total amount due has been paid, as agreed upon by the Secretary of Agriculture. The cash so received shall be deposited into a special fund in the Treasury which will remain available subject to appropriations until expended by the Secretary for the purpose of acquiring, within the State of New Mexico, lands or administrative facilities on National Forest System lands. The town of Taos shall not be charged interest on amounts owed the United States for such conveyance.

(b) RELEASE.—On transfer of the property under section 1 the town of Taos shall release the United States from any liability for claims relating to the property.

(c) REVERSION.—The conveyance described in section 1 shall be a conveyance of fee simple title to the property, subject to reversion to the United States if the property, subject to reversion to the United States if the property is used for other than public purposes or if the compensation requirements described in subsection (a) are not met.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. HEFLEY] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 5548, the bill we are now considering.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. Mr. Speaker, H.R. 5548, introduced by Mr. RICHARDSON, would convey to the city of Taos, NM, the Old Taos Ranger District Office and Warehouse. This building is currently owned by the Forest Service, but is no longer needed by the agency which has vacated the building and is now leasing it to the city. The Forest Service has testified in favor of conveying the building to the city as long as the United States receives fair market value for the property. The bill, as amended, does require the city to pay fair market value for the property.

The bill before us is also consistent with budget proceedings. The use of funds received from the sale of the building are subject to appropriation.

This bill is noncontroversial and I urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5548, which would authorize the sale of the Old Taos Forest Service Ranger Station and Warehouse to the city of Taos, NM.

This legislation has been fully explained by Chairman VENTO. It is supported by the administration and the entire New Mexico congressional delegation. I believe the $360,000 price for this facility included in the legislation is fair to both the taxpayer and the city of Taos. Mr. RICHARDSON and Chairman VENTO certainly did a good job of producing a bill that is fair and still supported by the major interests involved.

I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 5548.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New Mexico [Mr. RICHARDSON], the sponsor of this bill.

Mr. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, passage of H.R. 5548 is critically important to the town of Taos and Taos County, NM. This legislation will convey the Forest Service's Old Taos Ranger Station to the town of Taos, NM.

For many years the town of Taos has tried to obtain the old Forest Service Ranger Station building in hopes of converting it into a children's library and adult literacy center. Because the condition of the building makes it no longer suitable for use by the Forest Service, the building would be ideal for the town's purposes.

However, because of the Taos' meager financial resources, this has not been possible. For the fiscal year 1992, the town of just over 4,000 people raised $186,932 from property taxes. The median family income in Taos is $12,928, and 26.5 percent of families in Taos live below the poverty line. Like the rest of Taos County, which is consistently one of the poorest in the Nation, the unemployment rate hovers around 20 percent. In addition, the town recently received a preliminary construction cost estimate for the renovations necessary to make the building suitable for use as a children's library—a staggering $420,000.

H.R. 5548 will allow the town to obtain the building, at fair market value, under terms that won't impose financial hardship. The town of Taos maintains strict preservation requirements for buildings in the downtown area, ensuring that the historical and cultural integrity of the building will be protected.

Mr. Speaker, transfer of the Old Forest Service building to the town of Taos is a logical and practical move for everyone involved. More importantly, it will serve as an invaluable resource for the town to help educate future generations. I urge my colleagues to join me in support.

Mr. Speaker, I include for the RECORD the attached testimony given by the mayor of Taos before the Interior Subcommittee on National Parks and Public Lands.

TESTIMONY OF THE MAYOR OF TAOS

Mr. Chairman, Honorable Members of this Committee. I am Eloy A. Jeantete. I am the Mayor of Taos. With me is Gus Cordova, the Town Manager. Taos is a small community of 4,000 people located in northcentral New Mexico.

I thank you for the opportunity to come before this committee, and testify on a matter that is very important to our community. I am also pleased to see you again, Mr. Chairman. It has been a couple of years since we last discussed this issue in your office.

Allow me to explain the nature of our request. The United States Forest Service has recently vacated an old office building that was built in 1937. The adobe building was constructed using WPA funds and labor, and was designed to house the district office of the Carson National Forest.

The building and attached garage is approximately 6,000 square feet and sits on a small lot that is 6/10 of an acre. The building has a reception area, two lavatories, a storage room, 10 garage bays, and several offices.

The pueblo style building is constructed of adobe walls and a mixture of wood and concrete floors. The roof structure of the building is built-up with several inches of dirt fill under a conventional asphalt membrane.

The property is not assessed by the County, and no property taxes are paid by the government.

The reason that this building is important to the citizens of Taos, is that it is located next to our community center. All the surrounding buildings are owned by the Town of Taos and are used for government purposes.

We feel that the building could serve the citizens of our community better if it was owned by the taxpayers, as opposed to putting it up for bid for the private sector. It's location would allow us to repair it and make it part of our public buildings.

We have tried for some time now to obtain funding to construct a library for our community. We have not been successful. As a result, we continue to lease a building that is owned by the University of New Mexico, in order to provide library services to our citizens.

The old forest service building could be remodeled to meet our needs for library space. Our highest priority would be to house the children's library which is now overcrowded due to lack of space, very little parking and poor accessibility. We would also like to house our adult literacy program in this building. We have many of our citizens that require this program, and this building could provide the much needed learning environment.

As you are aware, Mr. Chairman, we have come to Washington once before, to appeal to your good judgement, to make this building available to our citizens. We had hoped that somehow the building could be transferred from the federal government to our local government at no cost to the taxpayers.

We had hoped that since taxpayer dollars built the structure in 1937, that the local taxpayers could get to benefit for it's future use.

As I understand, the Forest Service does not agree with my assessment. The Forest Service would like for us to pay $330,000 to acquire the facility. Mr. Chairman, I suggest to you that the taxpayers did not pay $330,000 to build the facility in 1937. The only reason that it is appraised so high, is because it is located in our central business district.

In all fairness to the Forest Service, whom we have alot of respect for; they have agreed to let us pay the $330,000 over a period of twenty years. This is very reasonable on their part, and we thank them.

My primary concern is that the building is very old. It needs a new roof. It also needs new plumbing and new electrical wiring. The heating system needs to be replaced. The windows and doors need to be replaced with energy efficient products.

We have consulted a local architect for advise. He has informed me that the repairs to the building will cost at least $150,000.

You may ask, why does the Mayor want it, if it is so old and in need of repair? Mr. Chairman, and members of this committee. We simply cannot afford to let this opportunity go by, and let the private sector convert it into small shops or other uses incompatible with our community needs.

Mr. Chairman, you may not be able to transfer this building to us without some form of compensation. The rules of government may not allow this committee to do it. But I, in fairness to our citizens, felt an obligation to at least ask you to consider it.

Our second request, Mr. Chairman, would be for the committee to take into consideration the condition of the building. Assuming the architects estimate is correct, the building could be depreciated by $150,000. This would mean that the building would be purchased by the Town for $180,000 over a twenty year period.

This would be a good compromise, in that we would use the savings to repair the building, and make it usable for the library in a shorter period of time. The federal government would also receive just compensation.

Finally, Mr. Chairman, if none of the two proposals are acceptable to the committee; we will accept whatever decision the committee feels is necessary. I know that the committee will use its good judgment, and I trust that you will make the right decision.

Thank you very much Mr. Chairman. Mr. Cordova and I stand before you to answer any questions you may have.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join in support of this legislation and I thank the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. HEFLEY] and the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO].

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5548, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

MIMBRES CULTURE NATIONAL MONUMENT ESTABLISHMENT ACT OF 1992

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 1528) to establish the Mimbres Culture National Monument and to establish an archeological protection system for Mimbres sites in the State of New Mexico, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 1528

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Mimbres Culture National Monument Establishment Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSES.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds that—

(1) the prehistoric Mimbres tradition was the most significant expression of the Mogollon culture, and represents one of three great prehistoric civilizations of the American Southwest;

(2) the Mimbres and Gila River valleys, including the Silver City, New Mexico, area, contain many Mimbres sites;

(3) some of the Mimbres pueblos in those valleys were built during the classic phase of that culture in the 11th century and are among the largest in the southwestern United States;

(4) the Mimbres people developed sophisticated canal irrigation technology prior to the Anasazi Culture;

(5) the Mimbres material culture is epitomized by distinctive and strikingly painted black-on-white pottery that is recognized as the consummation of several formal, pictorial, and iconographic traditions in the American Southwest;

(6) Mimbres pottery is internationally known and is probably the single most famous prehistoric American art style;

(7) many Mimbres sites have been vandalized or destroyed, and remaining sites are threatened by further vandalism and illegal pot-hunting; and

(8) in recognition of the national significance of the Mimbres sites and the urgent need to protect the valuable Mimbres cultural resources from vandalism and destruction, it is appropriate that a national monument and a system of archeological protection sites be established in New Mexico.

(b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this Act are—

(1) to recognize the nationally significant cultural resources associated with the prehistoric Mimbres tradition;

(2) to provide for the protection and interpretation of these resources for the benefit and enjoyment of present and future generations;

(3) to facilitate research activities; and

(4) to encourage government and private sector protection actions.

SEC. 3. ESTABLISHMENT OF THE MONUMENT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—There is hereby established the Mimbres Culture National Monument (hereinafter in this Act referred to as the "monument") in the State of New Mexico as a unit of the National Park System, consisting of approximately 945 acres, including the Cameron Creek, Mattocks, TJ Ruin, and Woodrow Units, as generally depicted on a map entitled "Mimbres Culture National Monument", numbered 80,008 and dated September 1992. Such map shall be kept on file and available for public inspection in the office of the Director of the National Park Service and in appropriate offices of the National Park Service in the State of New Mexico.

(b) ACQUISITION OF LANDS.—(1) The Secretary of the Interior (hereinafter in this Act referred to as the "Secretary") is authorized to acquire lands and interests in land within the boundaries of the monument by donation, purchase with donated or appropriated funds, or exchange, except that lands or interests therein owned by the State of New Mexico or a political subdivision thereof may not be acquired except by donation or exchange.

(2) Lands or interests in land may not be added to the monument after the date of enactment of this Act without specific authorization by Congress and the consent of the owner of such land or interest therein, except that, the Secretary may acquire necessary access easements to provide for administrative or public access, or to provide alternative access to landowners, in accordance with the general management plan required by section 4(b) of this Act.

(3) Subject to negotiated agreements to ensure cultural resource protection, an owner of improved residential property within the boundaries of the monument may, on the date of the acquisition of such property, retain for the owner and the owner's successors and assigns, a right of use and occupancy of the property for such residential purposes as existed before August 2, 1991, for a term, as the owner may elect—

(i) of not more than 25 years; or

(ii) ending at the death of the owner or the owner's spouse, whichever is later.

(c) VISITOR CENTER.—The Secretary shall establish a visitor center and administrative headquarters for the monument in Silver City, New Mexico. The Secretary is authorized to acquire, in accordance with subsection (b)(1) of this section, up to 3 acres of land in Silver City for the purpose of establishing the visitor center and administrative headquarters.

SEC. 4. ADMINISTRATION OF THE MONUMENT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall administer the monument in accordance with the provisions of this Act and laws generally applicable to the administration of units of the National Park System, including the Act of August 25, 1916 (39 Stat. 535; 16 U.S.C. 1, 2–4), and the Act of August 21, 1935 (49 Stat. 666; 16 U.S.C. 461 et seq.).

(b) GENERAL MANAGEMENT PLAN.—Not later than 3 complete fiscal years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall, in consultation with appropriate Federal and State agencies, public and private entities, affected landowners, and American Indian groups, including the Zuni Tribe, prepare and transmit to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the United States Senate and the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of the United States House of Representatives a general management plan (hereinafter in this Act referred to as the "plan") for the monument consistent with the purposes of this Act. The plan shall include—

(1) a statement of the number of visitors and types of public use within the monument which can be accommodated in accordance with the protection of the monument's resources;

(2) a resource protection program, including resource inventories;

(3) a general interpretive program, which shall include dissemination of information on the Masau Trail;

(4) a general development plan for the monument, including a description of facilities needed to accommodate for public use and for resource protection, and the estimated costs thereof;

(5) a research plan to evaluate broad aspects of the Mimbres culture, developed in cooperation with other Federal and State agencies, and public and private entities;

(6) a feasibility analysis of the WS Ranch archaeological site, including management options and the potential for public use and interpretation;

(7) details of proposed cooperative agreements; and

(8) a joint management plan for the Mimbres Culture Archaeological Sites Protection System established pursuant to section 5 of this Act. Such plan shall include—

(A) resource protection measures and associated costs;

(B) research needs and plans;

(C) a general interpretive program for the system; and

(D) guidelines for cooperative agreements, proposed cooperative agreements, and associated costs.

(c) COOPERATIVE AGREEMENTS.—(1) The Secretary may enter into cooperative agreements with appropriate local institutions of higher learning for the purpose of establishing a curatorial operation for the care and maintenance of Mimbres cultural artifacts. Such cooperative agreements may include an agreement to provide funding assistance, subject to appropriation, specifically for the curation of Mimbres cultural artifacts.

(2) The Secretary may enter into cooperative agreements with other Federal agencies and other public and private entities for the implementation of the research plan referred to in subsection (b)(5).

(d) RESEARCH SITE.—The Secretary shall administer the Woodrow Unit of the monument primarily as a research site. General public use facilities shall not be provided at the Woodrow Unit.

(e) IRRIGATION DITCH MANAGEMENT.—The Secretary shall not interfere with the continued use, maintenance, and operation of irrigation ditches located within the boundaries of the monument as of the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 5. MIMBRES CULTURE ARCHAEOLOGICAL SITE PROTECTION SYSTEM.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—(1) In order to encourage the protection, interpretation, research, and integration of information about the Mimbres culture, there is hereby established the Mimbres Culture Archaeological Site Protection System (hereinafter in this Act referred to as the "system") in the State of New Mexico, as generally depicted on a map entitled "Mimbres Culture Archaeological Site Protection System", numbered 80,006–B and dated April, 1991.

(2) The system shall consist of the following eleven sites—Black Mountain; Cottonwood; Gatton Park; Lake Roberts; Old Town; Pony Hills; Pine Flat; Red Rock Cemetery; Red Rock Pithouse; WS Ranch; and Rio Vista.

(b) ADDITIONAL SITES.—(1) The Secretary shall undertake research to locate additional Mimbres sites on Federal lands in New Mexico.

(2) The owner of a non-Federal site may nominate such site for inclusion in the system. Upon nomination of such site, the Secretary shall review the site to determine whether the addition of the site is consistent with the purposes of the system. The Secretary shall include any recommendation with respect to the site in the report referred to in subsection (c).

(3) Addition of new sites or deletion of existing sites from the system may only be made by an Act of Congress.

(c) REPORT.—Not later than 3 years after the completion of the general management plan referred to in section 4(b), the Secretary shall prepare and transmit a report to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the United States Senate and the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of the United States House of Representatives providing recommendations for additions to or deletions from the list of archaeological protection sites set forth in subsection (a)(2).

(d) ADMINISTRATION.—(1) The Secretary, or the Secretary of Agriculture, where appropriate, in consultation and cooperation with affected Federal and State agencies and landowners, shall administer lands within the system in a manner that will provide for the protection, preservation, and interpretation of Mimbres cultural resources and to facilitate research activities associated with such resources.

(2) Any Federal land management plan providing for the use or management of any area within the protection system shall be reviewed and amended as necessary to bring such plan into conformity with this section.

(3) Non-Federal lands or interests therein may not be acquired for addition to the system.

(e) COOPERATIVE AGREEMENTS.—(1) The Secretary or the Secretary of Agriculture, where appropriate, may enter into cooperative agreements with other Federal, State, and local agencies, public and private entities, private landowners, and other persons for the purposes of administration, management, protection, research, and interpretation of sites within the system.

(2) Federal funds may be expended, subject to appropriation, on non-Federal sites through cooperative agreements with, and the consent of, the owners of such sites.

(f) ADVISORY COMMITTEE.—The Secretary shall establish an Advisory Committee, composed of representatives of Federal and State government agencies, landowners within the monument, residents of the Mimbres and Gila River valleys, and other interested parties, to provide guidance in the preparation and implementation of the general management plan for the monument and the joint management plan for the archaeological sites protection system required by section 4(b).

(g) SAVINGS PROVISIONS.—Nothing in this Act shall be construed to affect the application of the Archaeological Resources Protection Act of 1979 to any lands, including lands within the system.

SEC. 6. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. HEFLEY] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on S. 1528, the bill before us.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 1528, which passed the Senate on November 26, 1991, establishes a national monument and protection system for certain Mimbres culture sites in the State of New Mexico.

The Mimbres lived in the American Southwest between 200 and 1150 A.D. and are known for their black on white decorated pottery, as well as for their large Pueblo-like villages and extensive canal irrigation. Public Law 100–559 directed the National Park Service to conduct a study of the Mimbres culture. That study, completed in December of 1989, found the remaining identified Mimbres sites nationally significant and threatened by development and vandalism, and listed several alternatives for commemorating the Mimbres culture in southwestern New Mexico.

To recognize these nationally significant cultural resources and to provide for their protection and interpretation, S. 1528 would establish the Mimbres Culture National Monument, which would consist of approximately 959 acres at four identified sites in southwest New Mexico. The legislation also would establish a Mimbres culture archeological site protection system, consisting of 11 sites, primarily for protection and research purposes.

Mr. Speaker, the version I am bringing to the House today incorporates several changes made by the committee. Senator BINGAMAN, the sponsor of S. 1528, Representative RICHARDSON and others have been working to develop legislation which incorporates appropriate protection for the Mimbres resources with an understanding of the particular concerns of those who will be affected by this legislation.

Residents of the Mimbres valley have expressed concern about whether there will be sufficient public participation in the planning process and about some of the property proposed for the Mattocks site. As a result, language has been included directing the appointment of local residents to the advisory committee established in section 5, authorizing the advisory committee's input into both the general management plan for the monument and the joint management plan for the archeological sites, and modifying the boundaries of the Mattocks site which is part of the proposed monument. Because of the boundary modification, language has also been included to provide for administrative or public access to the site, and for alternative access to landowners.

Mr. Speaker, these are clearly endangered resources. I believe the bill we are bringing to the floor today offers effective protection for nationally significant resources which have been studied and found suitable and feasible for inclusion in the National Park System, and I urge my colleagues' support.

□ 1750

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to S. 1528, a bill to establish a new monument in the State of New Mexico to preserve the Mimbres culture.

I join with the administration and the Member of the affected district, Mr. SKEEN, in opposing this bill and I do so for several important reasons.

First and most importantly, there are already thousands of Mimbres culture sites already permanently protected in public ownership under the management of the State of New Mexico, the Forest Service, the Bureau of Land Management, National Park Service and private foundations.

In fact, three of the four sites proposed in this new park are already in public ownership, including the site which the NPS states is the largest and best preserved Mimbres site in existence.

In other words, Mr. Speaker, there is no justification for creating this new park.

Second, I oppose this measure because of a costly $8 to $12 million museum/regional tourist center which is proposed for Silver City.

It appears to me that visitor center is the primary objective of this measure, in an attempt to attract tourist dollars into that town.

If this proposal was serious about protecting the best examples of Mimbres sites which are not currently in protected ownership, it would include sites very different from those in the measure before us today.

This measure has become very controversial in the State of New Mexico because of the proposed acquisition of the Mattocks site, which would involve the removal of about 20 private property owners.

Not only do a substantial majority of the 20 private property owners object to this measure, but so do the many potential neighbors in the immediate park vicinity who are very concerned about the everexpanding nature of our national parks.

It has been my experience on the Interior Committee that their apprehension is well founded; in this Congress alone, the Interior Committee has passed over 20 bills to expand existing units of the Park System at a cost of nearly $200 million.

Unfortunately, our majority was unable to agree with the very reasonable language which was suggested by the New Mexico delegation to resolve their concerns with respect to this bill.

Therefore, I ask my colleagues to join me in opposing this measure.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New Mexico [Mr. RICHARDSON].

Mr. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, this bipartisan legislation, introduced by my colleagues from New Mexico, Senators BINGAMAN and DOMENICI, addresses the dire need to protect prehistoric Mimbres culture sites in our State—ancient sites clearly in imminent danger of destruction.

As we speak, these sites, which offer endless opportunities to learn about our past as New Mexicans and Americans, are being compromised by pothunting and looting. S. 1528, which establishes the Mimbres Culture National Monument, will protect these sites for current and future generations.

This legislation is a result of the National Mimbres Culture Study Act of 1988, a bipartisan effort passed by Congress that directed the National Park Service to conduct a study of Mimbres culture to determine its significance in illustrating and commemorating the prehistory of the Southwest, and to provide alternatives for preserving this culture. Through this study the Park Service clearly found that the ancient Mimbres sites located within boundary of S. 1528 are of national significance and merit protection.

Equally as important as protecting the vanishing symbols of prehistoric life in New Mexico is the effort made by Senator BINGAMAN to address the concerns of local landowners regarding the impact of S. 1528 on private property. The process up to this point has been extensive and accommodating to local residents. S. 1528 will not require anyone residing within the boundaries of the monument to leave their property, and assures that no lands will be added to the monument without consent of the landowner and authorization by Congress.

Despite these efforts, questions have been raised as to whether or not we can afford to establish the Mimbres National Monument. The real question is whether we can afford not to establish this monument, which will protect nationally significant archaeological sites, serve as an invaluable educational resource, and spur economic development through increased tourism in New Mexico.

S. 1528 has the support of the local and county chambers of commerce, major environmental groups such as the Sierra Club and the Wilderness Society, and the State of New Mexico.

Mr. Speaker, this is a good bill, not only for New Mexicans but for everyone. I urge my colleagues to support this effort.

Support this bipartisan legislation to preserve the legacy of New Mexico's most famous prehistoric culture.

It was passed unanimously by the Senate and the House Interior Committee, sponsored by Senators BINGAMAN and DOMENICI.

The Mimbres Indians of southwestern New Mexico left an enduring presence in their distinctive black and white pottery, dwellings, and other artifacts. But for many decades these ancient villages have been devastated by voracious and destructive grave robbing. This legislation is needed to put an end to looting and vandalism of Mimbres artifacts. S. 1528 will create a National Park Service unit to preserve and interpret these resources for future generations of New Mexicans.

The Mimbres Culture National Monument would include four nationally significant Mimbres archaeological sites and a centrally located visitor center/monument headquarters in Silver City, NM. The Mimbres National Monument will be a superb educational resource for area residents, children, and visitors—an opportunity to interpret and understand the day-to-day life of the Mimbres people.

The monument will benefit economic development and tourism, bringing jobs to Grant County. The monument will draw thousands of visitors to the area, fueling the local economy with outside dollars.

S. 1528 is supported by the following groups: Silver City/Grant County Chamber of Commerce, Sierra Club, the Wilderness Society, Grant County Commission, town of Silver City, New Mexico State Office of Cultural Affairs, New Mexico Archeological Council, and Silver City Main Street Project.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to our good friend and colleague, the gentleman from New Mexico [Mr. SKEEN], in whose district this project is located.

Mr. SKEEN. Mr. Speaker, notwithstanding the arguments you have heard in favor of this bill, I am sorry that I have to oppose this, because preserving the Mimbres culture is a very important thing. It can be done, but it can be done without overriding the property rights of individuals. I think that is a very important aspect of this bill, because 17 of the 21 people affected by this measure do not want to sell their property to the Federal Government; 17 of the 21 of the landowners affected by this legislation are opposed to the Federal Government taking their private land for the creation of this national monument.

I want to ensure that the Federal Government does not have the right or the authority to purchase private property that contains Mimbres sites except from willing landowners who want to sell that property.

The administration is strongly opposed to this bill, because it fails to protect sufficiently the interests of the private landowners both within and outside of the boundaries of the proposed monument.

This bill itself has created a tremendous furor in the Mimbres Valley amongst private landowners who happen to have sites that are considered to be of interest to the preservation of this culture.

The Mimbres Valley residents took a straw vote from three choices, and the three choices were to reject the controversial bill outright; second, to compromise by taking out the condemnation language; or, third, to accept the bill; 127 residents voted against the bill, 110 voted for the compromise, and 8 voted to accept the bill unchanged.

□ 1800

I suggested that early on the dropping of the language dealing with the condemnation of private property to acquire the so-called Mattocks site. This approach was rejected. We could preserve the Mimbres culture through existing federally owned facilities and save the taxpayers about $20 million.

There currently exists over 2,000 sites on the BLM and Forest Service land; in fact, the TJ Ruin site already has a visitors center, parking lot, easements, and a ranger station.

As a member of the Subcommittee on Interior Appropriations, I understand firsthand the very tight budget constraints that the agency is facing and the problems of properly funding existing national parks.

The gentleman from Colorado [Mr. HEFLEY], I think articulated that particular issue very well.

Mr. Speaker, by creating new parks, we are robbing our existing national parks of the money they need and need desperately.

Finally, I am concerned that this legislation contains too many open-ended parameters for the future acquisition of sites for the interpretation of this culture.

I reluctantly have to oppose this bill, and I will ask for a vote.

I appreciate the opportunity to offer my thoughts and comments on the pending legislation, S. 1528, regarding the establishment of the Mimbres National Monument introduced by Senator BINGAMAN. This controversial legislation has infuriated the Mimbres Valley residents in my district due to the condemnation of private property of 17 landowners and the fear that the Federal Government will not stop there.

I want to ensure that the Federal Government does not have the authority to purchase private property that contains Mimbres sites except from willing landowners. After visiting the site last summer and discussing the issues with residents of the valley on numerous occasions, it is clear that there remain strong feelings within the Mimbres Valley that the Congress is forcing the acquisition of historic properties from private owners wanting to keep their lands.

Within the last few weeks the Mimbres Valley residents made their feelings official by taking a straw vote from three choices: reject the controversial Mimbres Culture National Monument Establishment Act, compromise, or accept the current legislation; 127 residents voted against the bill outright, 110 voted for a compromise which would take out the condemnation language, and only 8 people voted to accept the bill unchanged.

Due to the controversy surrounding the bill as currently drafted, I suggest dropping the language dealing with the condemnation of private property to acquire the controversial Mattox site. This approach was rejected by Senator BINGAMAN, the sponsor of the bill.

I believe we should take advantage of the fact that we could preserve the Mimbres culture through existing federally owned facilities. There currently exist over 2,000 sites on BLM and Forest Service land. In fact, the T.J. Ruin site already has a visitor center, parking lot, roads, easements, and a ranger station. It is unclear why we are advancing a measure which will add a third land management agency into the mix of administration of Mimbres sites and cost the taxpayers millions of dollars.

As a member of the Interior Appropriations Subcommittee, I understand first hand the very tight budget constraints that the agency is facing, and the problem of properly funding existing national parks. We must be able to afford the cost of purchasing these sites under increasingly tight budget constraints. By creating new parks, we are robbing our existing national parks of the money they need.

In addition, I am concerned that this legislation contains too many open-ended parameters for future acquisition of sites for the interpretation of this culture. I believe we should make the determination in consultation with the Mimbres Valley residents and hold the legislation to that amount.

Therefore, I ask that you reject this bill, S. 1528, as drafted, until an accommodation can be reached among the National Park Service, the Mimbres Valley residents and the congressional delegation.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I confess to being somewhat confused about the administration's comments on this bill.

A public hearing on S. 1528 was held on May 21, 1992 before the Subcommittee on National Parks and Public Lands. At that time, the National Park Service testified in strong support of S. 1528. A thorough discussion of the sites to be included, their significance, and the suitability and feasibility of including them within a national monument was held. The National Park Service testified that these sites were chosen by an interdisciplinary planning team, including professional archeologists, on the basis of their research and visitor use potential. The Park Service further testified that the legislation before us today is—

> The result of an effective consultation process that included the New Mexico delegation, the National Park Service and other Federal agencies, the State of New Mexico, private landowners and interested citizens in the Silver City area."

Furthermore N.P.S. Director James Ridenour, in his May 21, 1992 prepared statement stated "we are pleased that the Senate passed this measure on November 26, 1991. We support enactment of S. 1528 if amended as we suggest herein." An eminent domain exception was not a request on May 21, 1992 or since then from the Park Service.

Now I have before me, from the Office of Management and Budget, a statement of administration policy opposing passage of S. 1528 because "it fails to protect sufficiently the interests of the private landowners both within and outside the boundaries of the prepared monument." That is the essence of the statement. No particular provision is cited to support this accusation, nor is there discussion on the bill itself, a bill the administration has expressed support for on at least two occasions—during testimony before the Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources and, of course, during the hearing my subcommittee held in May.

Apparently, the administration is confused not only about the provisions of this bill, but about their own position. In the 4 months since the hearing on this bill, I have heard of no administrative objection to its passage. Yet an obviously hastily prepared two sentence statement, sent to my office yesterday, claims that the administration opposes this bill. I am offended by this statement and by this administration's which tends to circumvent the public hearing process and to modify their position. I urge my colleagues to support this bill based on the long-standing and thoroughly researched support of this bill espoused by the administration in the subcommittee hearing.

Mr. SKEEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. VENTO. I yield to the gentleman from New Mexico.

Mr. SKEEN. I thank the chairman of the subcommittee for yielding to me.

Mr. Speaker, I want to commend the chairman of the subcommittee and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. HEFLEY], both for the work they have done. But if you think you are confused or that the administration is confused, you are right; I think everybody dealing with this particular topic, subject, issue, has thrown a little bit of confusing light or spin on it, including my good friend, the gentleman from New Mexico, BILL RICHARDSON, who in the last paragraph of his letter responding to some of the issues on this concern, wrote:

> Finally, the bill will be amended further in the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, of which I am a member, to change the status of the controversial Mattocks site to a research site. This will be done to further accommodate the concerns of local residents.

Well, that did not happen. So, despite all the effort that has been done to accommodate these folks, there is still a lot of confusion about the land situation, particularly how you are going to acquire this land. Also, the appetite of the Park Service to acquire additional lands once it becomes situated.

I think that is what is causing the problem.

Mr. VENTO. I appreciate the gentleman's observation. Perhaps a closer reading of what has occurred—and I was happy to yield to the gentleman—would be helpful to the gentleman before a vote does take place.

But I will state for the record, and it is explicitly stated in the bill, that there is no attempt to expand the site other than coming back with legislation and, hopefully, with the consent of the landowner.

In fact, the legislation specifically states that.

As the gentleman knows, it is one of the key provisions that Senator BINGAMAN attempted to work out, and I think it was done satisfactorily.

Mr. SKEEN. Will the gentleman yield further?

Mr. VENTO. I yield to the gentleman.

Mr. SKEEN. I thank the gentleman for yielding further.

Mr. Speaker, the accommodation was very sincere and, I think, very appropriate. But that does not allay the fear of the people who have watched the Park Service in the past. And I think that is the problem.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Just a couple of points: As I understand this, this did start out as a good bipartisan effort. But that broke down in our committee. Seemingly, in our great desire to reach out like an octopus and grab every square foot of ground out there that might conceivably have some historical value, we have overextended ourselves.

Mr. Speaker, I have an article from the Silver City Daily Press, Silver City, NM, September 25, 1992, where Senator PETE DOMENICI, Republican of New Mexico, "has strong objections to an amendment made to the Mimbres monument bill passed by the congressional subcommittee Wednesday."

So, again, I think we screwed it up in committee. It was a bipartisan bill. Almost everybody was going along with it. It was being sought.

I would also like to share a brief statement from a letter that I have from the Office of Cultural Affairs, State of New Mexico, cultural affairs and historic preservation division, where they point out that within southwestern New Mexico there are over 3,500 archeological sites relating to the Mimbres culture from A.D. 200 to 1400.

They also point out that of these, 65 percent of these 3,500 sites are already owned by the Federal Government. Still, we reach out to grab and grab and grab some more and create the problem that Congressman SKEEN is trying to relate to.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New Mexico, [Mr. RICHARDSON].

Mr. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, first of all let me respond to my friend, the gentleman from Colorado: Senator DOMENICI is supporting this legislation. I am authorized to say this, although probably it should come better from others.

But he and Senator BINGAMAN are strongly in support of this legislation, as is the Silver City Grant County Chambers of Commerce, the Grant County Commission—these are local officials—the town of Silver City, the New Mexico State Office of Cultural Affairs, the New Mexico Archeological Council, the Silver City Main Street project.

Let me just state for the record the House bill is smaller in acreage than the Senate bill.

So, again, I respect my good friend, JOE SKEEN. There are some concerns by some landowners. But I think a major effort has been made to accommodate them. I think what we are talking about is preserving four nationally significant archaeological sites which are going to benefit economic development and tourism. Again, I just did not want to leave the impression that it is not a bipartisan effort, at least in the other body.

While I respect my good friend's view that there has been some division, I did want to put that on the record.

Mr. SKEEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. RICHARDSON. I yield to the gentleman.

Mr. SKEEN. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I would have been delighted to have made it a totally bipartisan action, but it did not work out that way because of the situation on this land. All the folks that are in favor of this are tourist-connected of one kind or another, I can understand that because that is money coming into those communities. I think it is very important that it does.

However, on the other hand, the people opposing it are the people who own the land. They own it. They do not want to lose it. They do not want to give it up.

I think their rights should be respected, and that is the point I am trying to make. If it had been an easier acquisition, it could have been totally bipartisan, I agree with you. I think this is an important issue, and culture maintenance and interpretation is extremely important. But on the other hand, people's rights to ownership of their lands, I think, is one of the sacred trusts that we have in this country.

□ 1810

Mr. RICHARDSON. Well, again, Mr. Speaker, I would just like to conclude by saying that it is bipartisan legislation. It does preserve the legacy of New Mexico's most famous prehistoric culture.

It passed unanimously in the Senate and in the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

It is an important piece of legislation.

Yes, the local residents, some have concerns. It is not perfect, but a majority of individuals in that county and the State, the elected officials, seem to support it.

Mr. Speaker, I would urge support for the legislation.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BILBRAY). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 1528, as amended.

The question was taken.

Mr. SKEEN. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 5 of rule I, and the Chair's prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

OLYMPIC NATIONAL PARK

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 4489) to provide for a land exchange with the city of Tacoma, WA, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 4489

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

TITLE I—LAND EXCHANGE WITH CITY OF TACOMA, WASHINGTON

SEC. 101. LAND EXCHANGE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—(1) If the city of Tacoma, Washington, in a manner consistent with this title, offers to transfer to the United States the lands identified in paragraph (2) in exchange for the lands described in paragraph (3), the Secretary of the Interior (hereafter in this title referred to as the "Secretary") shall carry out such exchange as soon as is reasonably possible.

(2) The lands to be conveyed to the United States by the city of Takoma are approximately 45 acres owned by the State of Washington Department of Natural Resources located in the Soleduck and Quileute areas within the authorized boundary of Olympic National Park.

(3) The lands to be conveyed to the city of Tacoma are approximately 30 acres of land adjacent to Lake Cushman identified as lands to be transferred to the city of Tacoma as depicted on the map entitled "Proposed Boundary Revision Olympic National Park" and dated July 29, 1991. Such map, and a legal description of the lands to be conveyed to the city of Tacoma, shall be on file and available for public inspection with the Director of the National Park Service, Department of the Interior.

(b) CONDITIONS.—(1) Any exchange of lands pursuant to this title shall occur only if—

(A) the city of Tacoma demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary that the city of Tacoma is able to deliver to the United States clear and unencumbered title to the lands identified in subsection (a)(2), and that after such exchange there will be no legal impediment to the management of such lands as part of Olympic National Park under all provisions of law applicable to Olympic National Park;

(B) the Secretary is reasonably satisfied that an environmental review of the Cushman Project (No. 460) sufficient to meet the requirements of law has been initiated;

(C) the city of Tacoma has entered into an enforceable agreement with the Secretary which provides that lands acquired by the city of Tacoma through an exchange under this title will be managed in a manner consistent with the management of those same lands during the time such lands were managed by the National Park Service; and

(D) the city of Tacoma offers, in good faith, to negotiate with the Skokomish Tribe regarding the impact of the Cushman Project on fish, wildlife, estuary, and cultural resources, and to fund appropriate studies concerning such impacts (to be jointly administered by the city and the Tribe), to the extent that further information is needed to facilitate such negotiations and such information is reasonably obtainable.

(2) The land exchange authorized by this section shall be subject to the laws and regulations applicable to exchanges involving lands managed by the Secretary as part of the National Park System.

SEC. 102. BOUNDARY ADJUSTMENT.

At the same time that the Secretary exchanges lands pursuant to this title, the Secretary shall adjust the boundaries of Olympic National Park in the manner depicted on the map referenced in section 101(a)(3) so as to exclude from such unit of the National Park System the lands transferred to the city of Tacoma by the Secretary pursuant to such exchange.

SEC. 103. ADDITIONAL PROVISIONS.

Nothing in this title shall be construed—

(1) as approval or disapproval of any reservoir operating level for the Cushman Reservoir which, after a boundary adjustment under section 102, would not inundate any lands within any unit of the National Park System;

(2) to limit the right or ability of any party, including any Indian tribe and Federal Agency, to fully participate as intervenors or otherwise in any process relating to the Cushman Project (No. 460); or

(3) as limiting or otherwise affecting any rights by treaty, executive order, or Federal law of the Skokomish Tribe or any other Indian tribe, including (but not limited to) rights related to fishing or the use of water.

TITLE II—OLYMPIC EXPERIMENTAL STATE FOREST

SEC. 201. PURPOSE.

The purpose of this title is to assist the experimental management and research program being conducted by the State of Washington on State-owned trust lands on the western Olympic Peninsula in order to contribute to the conservation of the northern spotted owl, old growth ecosystems and fishery resources and to provide for a sustainable supply of timber and trust income in a manner that is consistent with these conservation objectives.

SEC. 202. DEFINITIONS.

For purposes of this title:

(1) The term "conservation" means the use of all methods and procedures which are necessary to bring any endangered species or threatened species to the point at which the measures provided by the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) are no longer necessary. Such measures and procedures include, but are not limited to, all activities associated with scientific resources management such as research, census, law enforcement, habitat acquisition and maintenance, propagation, live trapping, and transplantation, and, in the extraordinary case where population pressures within a given ecosystem cannot be otherwise relieved, may include regulated taking.

(2) The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Interior acting through the Director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service.

SEC. 203. MANAGEMENT AND RESEARCH PLAN FOR THE OLYMPIC STATE EXPERIMENTAL FOREST.

(a) PLAN DEVELOPMENT.—The State of Washington may develop and submit to the Secretary of the Interior a management and research plan for the Olympic Experimental State Forest that—

(1) is based upon the recommendations of the Commission on Old Growth Alternatives for Washington's Forest Trust Lands contained in the June 1989 final report of the Commission;

(2) is developed by the State land management agency in consultation with the State wildlife agency and the Olympic Natural Resources Center or a comparable research institution: Provided, however, That the research components of the plan shall be developed jointly by the State land management agency and the Olympic Natural Resources Center or a comparable research institution and in consultation with the State wildlife agency;

(3) provides for the close integration of research and management in the plan, and

(4) shall be accompanied by a draft of the detailed statement on the proposed actions under the plan required by section 102(2)(c) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4332(2)(C)).

(b) PLAN CONTENTS.—(1) The plan shall provide for the conservation of the northern spotted owl on the Olympic Experimental State Forest and reflect scientifically sound ecosystem management principles designed to contribute to the conservation of fisheries, other sensitive species and the ecology of the forest generally.

(2) The plan shall contain the following elements:

(A) A framework for coordinated decisionmaking for implementing the plan among the State land management agency, the State wildlife agency and the Olympic Natural Resources Center or a comparable research institution.

(B) A detailed description of the individual elements of the management and research plan; the process for implementing and funding the plan and an allocation of responsibilities for plan implementation and enforcement.

(C) Findings of the State wildlife agency about the extent to which the plan will achieve the objectives in paragraph (1).

SEC. 204. PLAN REVIEW AND APPROVAL.

(a) PLAN REVIEW.—Upon submission of the management and research plan for the Olympic Experimental State Forest under section 203(a), the Secretary shall determine whether the plan—

(1) provides for the conservation of the northern spotted owl in the experimental forest; and

(2) is consistent with the final northern spotted owl recovery plan as it applies to the Olympic Peninsula or, in the absence of a final recovery plan, the draft northern spotted owl recovery plan dated April 1992 as it applies to the Olympic Peninsula.

(b) REVIEW AND PUBLIC COMMENT.—The Secretary shall after notice and public comment complete the review of the management and research plans within 90 days after the submission of the plan and supporting documentation by the State of Washington under section 203(a) or within such other period of time as is mutually agreeable to the Secretary and the State of Washington.

(c) APPROVAL.—If the Secretary determines that the management and research plan for the Olympic Experimental State Forest meets the standards of subsection (a), the Secretary shall approve the plan and so notify the State.

(d) RELATIONSHIP TO OTHER LAW.—If the State authorities identified by the plan as responsible for implementing it comply with their obligations under the approved plan, any activity conducted pursuant to it in the Olympic Experimental State Forest shall not be considered a prohibited taking of the northern spotted owl under the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.).

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. HEFLEY] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks, and include therein extraneous material on H.R. 4489, the bill now being considered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 4489 is legislation introduced by Representative NORM DICKS to provide for a land exchange between the city of Tacoma, WA, and Olympic National Park.

The city of Tacoma operates a hydroelectric project which inundates a small portion of Olympic National Park. The city is seeking a long-term relicense of the facility. That portion of the project which encroaches on Olympic National Park land cannot be relicensed, so the city entered into negotiations with the National Park Service last year to find lands which may be appropriate for exchange.

H.R. 4489 as amended would authorize a land exchange in which the city of Tacoma would convey two inholdings consisting of approximately 45 acres within Olympic National Park to the National Park Service in exchange for the National Park Service conveying to the city of Tacoma approximately 30 acres near Lake Cushman. The lands to be given to the National Park Service are of greater value than the lands being exchanged and the National Park Service testified as to their importance in managing the park. Following the land exchange, the Secretary of the Interior would then modify the boundaries of Olympic National Park to reflect the results of the exchange.

The Interior Committee has worked closely with the author of the bill, the National Park Service, the Skokomish Indian Tribe and the city of Tacoma to work out a substitute amendment which addresses various concerns which were raised about the bill. The substitute before us today is a compromise bill which meets the concerns of all the parties involved. It will provide for the land exchange without prejudicing or limiting the involvement of any party to freely participate in the overall relicensing of the hydroelectric facility.

The bill before us today also incorporates the provisions of the bill H.R.

4615. This bipartisan bill passed the House on August 11 of this year by voice vote. This bill authorizes the State of Washington to submit to the Secretary of the Interior a management and research plan for the Olympic Experimental State Forest. The purpose is to explore forest management approaches which provide for sustainable timber yields and conservation of sensitive species and ecosystems. The bill only effects State owned forest lands.

Mr. Speaker, H.R 4489, as amended, resolves a longstanding problem between the city of Tacoma and the National Park Service and provides for an experimental program on a State forest which could provide valuable insights in complex forest issues in the Pacific Northwest. I urge Members to support the bill as amended.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 4489 which authorizes a land exchange between the city of Tacoma, WA, and the Olympic National Park.

This legislation has been fully explained by Chairman VENTO. Although I support the bill, I must point out one concern about it.

I do not believe that this legislation should get involved, in any way, with the environmental review associated with the relicensing of the FERC permit for the Cushman Dam. the dam existed before the park was created and is located outside the park boundary. The FERC relicensing process is complicated enough without it getting new congressional mandates.

This legislation, and its accompanying report, should not address the FERC relicensing issue or any environmental review associated with that process.

Title II of this bill deals with the Olympic Experimental State Forest and is identical to a bill passed by the House last August, H.R. 4615. That legislation has strong bipartisan support in the committees on Agriculture and Merchant Marine as well as the Washington delegation. I have no objection to including that bill as title II to H.R. 4489.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Washington [Mr. DICKS], the sponsor of the Tacoma legislation.

Mr. DICKS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to express my strong support for the bill under suspension, H.R. 4489, which will allow for a land exchange for the Olympic National Park related to the city of Tacoma's Cushman hydroelectric project.

I want to thank the very able chairman of the Interior Committee, the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER], and the subcommittee chairman, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO], for their hard work and cooperation in getting this bill out of committee, and onto the floor. I also want to commend the ranking Republican member for his cooperation on this particular project as well.

This bill reflects good cooperation in the State of Washington among affected and concerned interests. I especially want to thank the Skokomish Tribe for its cooperation and support on the Cushman bill, as well as the city of Tacoma and our local utility, Tacoma City Light. I want to thank the Park Service, and particularly the supervisor of the Olympic National Park for her commitment to working out the concerns associated with this proposal.

This bill solves a problem for the city of Tacoma, it resolves concerns for the Olympic National Park, and it ensures that the interests of the Skokomish Indian Tribe are protected. Specifically, H.R. 4489 provides for the exchange of 45 acres of non-Federal land on the Olympic Peninsula in Washington State, located in the Soleduck and Quileute areas of the Olympic National Park, for 30 acres of Federal land overlapping Lake Cushman. The bill ensures that the land exchange and the accompanying title transfer occurs through the mutual consent and cooperation of the Department of Interior and the city of Tacoma.

Additionally, the bill allows for the city of Tacoma to work with the Skokomish Tribe and negotiate issues related to impacts of the Cushman project on fish, wildlife, and other natural resources. I would also add that the committee has done a fine job in showing sensitivity to the tribe's concerns with the FERC process. I am pleased that we have been able to work with the city of Tacoma and the Skokomish Tribe to develop report language accompanying this bill to ensure that nothing in the bill will in any way impede upon or shape the outcome of the FERC relicensing process related to the Cushman project.

I would also like to thank Chairman MILLER, Chairman STUDDS, and Chairman VENTO for agreeing to offer a floor substitute to this bill, which will allow for the inclusion of H.R. 4615, the Olympic Peninsula experimental forest bill. The Olympic experimental forest bill is very important to the State of Washington, and has the full support of our State's delegation.

The Olympic Peninsula experimental forest concept represents a creative attempt to address multiuse management concerns on the State land base on the Olympic Peninsula. The experimental forest is very promising for its potential to benefit timber-dependent communities such as Forks, Washington, and communities on the Olympic Peninsula are very supportive of what the State is attempting to achieve with the forest.

The concept of an experimental forest was initially recommended by the State's commission on old growth alternatives in 1989. The experimental forest concept represents an innovative approach to the ecological management of 260,000 acres of Washington State-owned trust land.

The proposed experimental forest lies on the western Olympic Peninsula, and contains most of the old growth forest remaining on State lands. Specifically, H.R. 4615 allows for the State of Washington to develop and submit to the Secretary of the Interior a management plan for the Olympic experimental State forest that is based on the recommendations of the commission on old growth alternatives, is developed by the State land management agency in consultation with the State wildlife agency and Olympic natural resources center, and provides for the close integration of research and management in the plan.

I ask that my colleagues support the Vento substitute, which includes both the Olympic National Park land exchange bill, H.R. 4489, and the Olympic experimental forest bill, H.R. 4615.

Mr. Speaker, I also want to thank the chairman for the courtesy of placing on this legislation the measure dealing with our experimental forests, which is very crucial to the future of our State and particularly our forest practices, and again I want to commend the gentlewoman from Washington [Mrs. UNSOELD] for her dedication and commitment to getting that legislation enacted. I am pleased to be a cosponsor of it. I just want to commend her again for the tremendous effort she made to get this bill through several committees and now we are sending it to the Senate with the help of our Senators, and Members of the other body. We hope we can enact both these bills as this session comes to an end.

Again I want to thank my friend and classmate, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] for his help and cooperation on these two measures.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from Washington [Mrs. UNSOELD], a major sponsor of the provision added to the Tacoma bill.

Mrs. UNSOELD. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this legislation to resolve an ongoing dispute over land occupied by the Cushman hydroelectric project within the Olympic National Park. I want to commend my friend and Washington State colleague, Mr. DICKS, for his work on this bill.

I also want to thank Chairman VENTO for allowing the text of H.R. 4615 to be included in the substitute. This is a bill I introduced to establish a 260,000 acre experimental forest on State-owned lands on the Olympic Peninsula. It was unanimously adopted by the House on August 11. The only change being made today is a clarification to ensure that the management plan for the experimental forest is consistent with NEPA. My understanding is that, with this additional language, the other body is prepared to accept this proposal.

Mr. Speaker, the Olympic Experimental Forest bill will help develop a new generation of forest management methods designed to provide both sustainable harvests and healthy ecosystems for fish and wildlife. It provides an alternative to the save or sacrifice dichotomy we now face—an alternative to the choice between total preservation or clear cuts and plantations.

A lot of hard work by a lot of people in the Northwest has gone into the two provisions of the bill before us today and I urge its adoption.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to express my support for H.R. 4489, a bill authorizing a land exchange between the Olympic National Park and the city of Tacoma Public Utilities. The bill is needed so that a boundary dispute within my district can be resolved. This dispute has been a continuing source of concern for the residents of Lake Cushman, as they have seen their property values affected and their recreational facilities threatened.

I believe that this bill represents a well balanced solution which protects the interests of the Lake Cushman residents, many whom are retired; the power consumers of the city of Tacoma, who depend on the lake's hydropower; and the Olympic National Park.

This legislation is supported by our colleagues in the Senate, Mr. ADAMS and Mr. GORTON. Similar legislation has passed the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee. The executive branch supports this legislation as the Park Service has been involved from the beginning in efforts to find a solution to the problem. The Olympic National Park gains 45 acres of sensitive lands which are currently in private hands, in exchange for the 30 plus acres which the Tacoma public utility receives from the park. The land which the utility gains will continue to be administered as it has in the past 30 years, except that it will now be owned by the utility.

I would like to thank Chairmen VENTO and MILLER for their prompt action on this legislation, and for their efforts to ensure that the legislation was responsive to all of the parties, including the Skokomish Tribe, which has some concerns with the FERC relicensing. I would also like to thank Congressman DICKS for introducing, and his efforts to pass, this bill.

Finally, I understand that the Interior Committee has added a slightly revised version of a previously passed House bill to H.R. 4489. The Olympic experimental forest bill, introduced by our colleague, Representative UNSOELD, passed the House on a voice vote. To facilitate its passage in the Senate, it is necessary for the House to repass this slightly changed version of this bill. I strongly support this legislation.

H.R. 4489 represents a win-win situation for all concerned, and I urge my fellow Members to pass this legislation today.

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO], that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 4489, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

UTAH SCHOOLS AND LANDS IMPROVEMENT ACT OF 1992

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5118) to exchange lands within the State of Utah, between the United States and the State of Utah, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5118

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Utah Schools and Lands Improvement Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. UTAH-NAVAJO LAND EXCHANGE.

(a) ADDITIONS TO RESERVATION.—For the purpose of securing in trust for the Navajo Nation certain lands belonging to the State of Utah, which comprise approximately 38,500 acres of surface and subsurface estate, and approximately an additional 9,500 acres of subsurface estate, as generally depicted on the map entitled "Utah-Navajo Land Exchange", dated May 18, 1992, such lands are hereby declared to be part of the Navajo Indian Reservation in the State of Utah effective upon the completion of conveyance from the State of Utah and acceptance of title by the United States.

(b) AUTHORIZATION.—The Secretary of the Interior is authorized to acquire through exchange those lands described in subsection (a) which are owned by the State of Utah, subject to valid existing rights.

SEC. 3. STATE LANDS WITHIN THE GOSHUTE INDIAN RESERVATION.

(a) ADDITION TO RESERVATION.—For the purpose of securing in trust for the Goshute Indian Tribe certain lands belonging to the State of Utah, which comprise approximately 980 acres of surface and subsurface estate, and an additional 480 acres of subsurface estate, as generally depicted on the map entitled "Utah-Goshute Land Exchange", dated May 18, 1992, such lands are hereby declared to be part of the Goshute Indian Reservation in the State of Utah effective upon the completion of conveyance from the State of Utah and acceptance of title by the United States.

(b) AUTHORIZATION.—The Secretary of the Interior is authorized to acquire through exchange those lands described in subsection (a) which are owned by the State of Utah, subject to valid existing rights.

(c) OTHER LAND.—(1) The following tract of Federal land located in the State of Nevada, amounting to about 5 acres more or less, together with all improvements thereon is hereby declared to be part of the Goshute Indian Reservation, and shall be held in trust for the Goshute Indian Tribe: Township 30 North, range 69 East, Lots 5, 6, 7, 9, 11, and 14 of Section 34.

(2) No part of such lands shall be used for gaming or any related purpose.

SEC. 4. IMPLEMENTATION.

The exchanges authorized by sections 2 and 3 of this Act shall be conducted without cost to the Navajo Nation and the Goshute Indian Tribe.

SEC. 5. STATE LANDS WITHIN THE NATIONAL FOREST SYSTEM.

(a) AUTHORIZATION.—The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to accept on behalf of the United States the school and institutional trust lands owned by the State of Utah within units of the National Forest System, comprising approximately 76,000 acres as depicted on a map entitled "Utah Forest Land Exchange", dated May 18, 1992.

(b) STATUS.—Any lands acquired by the United States pursuant to this section shall become a part of the national forest within which such lands are located and shall be subject to all the laws and regulations applicable to the National Forest System.

SEC. 6. STATE LANDS WITHIN THE NATIONAL PARK SYSTEM.

(a) AUTHORIZATION.—The Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized to accept on behalf of the United States all school and institutional trust lands owned by the State of Utah located within all units of the National Park System located within the State of Utah on the date of enactment of this Act.

(b) STATUS.—(1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, all lands of the State of Utah within units of the National Park System that are conveyed to the United States pursuant to this section shall become a part of the appropriate unit of the National Park System, and be subject to all laws and regulations applicable to that unit of the National Park System.

(2) The Secretary of the Interior shall, as a part of the exchange process of this Act, credit to the State of Utah the fair market value of 580.64 acres within Capitol Reef National Park that were conveyed by the State of Utah to the United States on July 2, 1971, for which the State has never been compensated. The fair market value of these lands shall be established pursuant to section 8 of this Act.

SEC. 7. OFFER TO STATE.

(a) SPECIFIC OFFERS.—Within 30 days after enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Interior shall send the State of Utah a list of lands, or interests in lands, within the State of Utah for transfer to the State of Utah in exchange for the State lands and interests described in sections 2, 3, 5, and 6 of this Act. Such list shall include only the following Federal lands, or interests in lands:

(1) Blue Mountain Telecommunications Site, fee estate, approximately 640 acres.

(2) Beaver Mountain Ski Resort Site, fee estate, approximately 3,000 acres, as generally depicted on the map entitled "Beaver Mountain Ski Resort" dated September 16, 1992.

(3) The unleased coal located in the Winter Quarters tract.

(4) The unleased coal located in the Crandall Canyon tract.

(5) All royalties receivable by the United States with respect to coal leases in the Quitchupah (Convulsion Canyon) tract.

(6) The unleased coal in the Cottonwood Canyon tract.

(7) The unleased coal in the Soldier Creek tract.

(b) ADDITIONAL OFFERS.—(1) In addition to the lands and interests specified in subsection (a), the Secretary may offer to the State of Utah the right to receive a portion of the royalties receivable by the United States with respect to Federal geothermal, oil, gas, or other mineral interests in Utah which on August 1, 1992 were under lease and covered by an approved permit to drill or plan of development and plan of reclamation, were in production, and were not under administrative or judicial appeal.

(2) No offer under this subsection shall be for royalties aggregating more than 50 percent of the total appraised value of the State lands described in sections 2, 3, 5, and 6.

(3) The Secretary shall make no offer under this subsection which would enable the State of Utah to receive royalties exceeding a total amount of $25,000,000 unless such offer has been approved by enactment of an appropriate joint resolution of Congress.

(4) If the total value of lands and interests therein and royalties offered to the State pursuant to subsections (a) and (b) is less than the total value of the State lands described in sections 2, 3, 5, and 6, the Secretary shall provide the State a list of all public lands in Utah that as of August 1, 1992, the Secretary, in resource management plans prepared pursuant to the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976, had identified as suitable for disposal by exchange or otherwise, and shall offer to transfer to the State any or all of such lands, as selected by the State, in partial exchange for such State lands, to the extent consistent with other applicable laws and regulations.

SEC. 8. APPRAISAL OF LANDS TO BE EXCHANGED.

(a) EQUAL VALUE.—All exchanges authorized under this Act shall be for equal value. No later than 90 days after enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Interior, the Secretary of Agriculture, and the Governor of the State of Utah shall arrange for appraisal of the lands or interests therein involved in the exchanges authorized by this Act. A detailed appraisal report shall utilize nationally recognized appraisal standards including, to the extent appropriate, the Uniform Appraisal Standards for Federal Land Acquisition.

(b) DEADLINE AND DISPUTE RESOLUTION.—(1) If after 2 years from the date of enactment of this Act, the State of Utah and the Secretary of the Interior have not agreed upon the values of the lands or interests therein involved in some or all of the exchanges authorized by this Act, notwithstanding any other provisions of law, either the State or the Secretary may bring an action for resolution of any values in dispute in any appropriate United States District Court, and such court shall have jurisdiction to hear, determine, and render judgment on the value of any and all lands, or interests therein, involved in the exchange.

(2) The United States District court shall be empowered to order appropriate actions by the Secretary, including the making of payments based on any additional offer made pursuant to section 7(b)(1) and the conveyance to the State of as many Federal lands or interests therein described in section 7 and offered by the Secretary as may be required to provide the State of Utah value equal to the value of the lands described in sections 2, 3, 5, and 6 that the State conveys to the United States as part of an exchange authorized by this Act.

(3) Any action provided for in this subsection can be filed with the court no sooner than 2 years and no later than 5 years after the date of enactment of this Act. Any decision of a District Court under this Act may be appealed in accordance with applicable laws and rules.

SEC. 9. TRANSFER OF TITLE.

(a) TERMS.—(1) The State of Utah shall be entitled to receive so much of those lands or interests in lands and additional royalties described in section 7 that are offered by the Secretary of the Interior and accepted by the State as are equal in value to the State lands and interests described in sections 2, 3, 5, and 6, but no payment shall be made with respect to an offer pursuant to section 7(b)(1) before October 1, 1995.

(2) For those properties where fee simple title is to be conveyed to the State of Utah, the Secretary of the Interior shall convey, subject to valid existing rights, all right, title and interest, subject to the provisions of subsection (b). For those properties where less than fee simple is to be conveyed to the State of Utah, the Secretary shall reserve to the United States all remaining right, title and interest of the United States.

(3) All right, title, and interest in any mineral rights described in section 7 that are conveyed to the State of Utah pursuant to this Act shall revert to the United States upon removal of minerals equal in value to the value attributed to such rights in connection with an exchange under this Act.

(4) If the State of Utah accepts the offers provided for in this Act, the State shall convey to the United States, subject to valid existing rights and in a form in accordance with the Department of Justice standards for the preparation of title evidence in land acquisitions by the United States, all right, title and interest of the State to all school and institutional trust lands described in sections 2, 3, 5, and 6 of this Act. Except as provided in section 7(b), conveyance of all lands or interests in lands shall take place within 60 days following agreement by the Secretary of the Interior and the Governor of the State of Utah, or entry of an appropriate order of judgment by the district court.

(b) INSPECTIONS.—Both parties shall inspect all pertinent records and shall conduct a physical inspection of the lands to be exchanged pursuant to this Act for the presence of any hazardous materials as presently defined by applicable law. The results of those inspections shall be made available to the parties. Responsibility for costs of remedial action related to materials identified by such inspections shall be borne by those entities responsible under existing law.

(c) CONDITIONS.—(1) With respect to the lands and interests described in section 7(a), enactment of this Act shall be construed as satisfying the provisions of section 206(a) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 requiring that exchanges of lands be in the public interest.

(2) Development of any mineral interest transferred to the State of Utah pursuant to this Act shall be subject to all laws, rules, and regulations applicable to development of non-Federal mineral interests, including, where appropriate, laws, rules, and regulations applicable to such development within National Forests.

SEC. 10. MISCELLANEOUS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—As soon as practicable after enactment, a map and legal description of the lands added to the Navajo and Goshute Indian Reservations and all lands exchanged under this Act shall be filed by the appropriate Secretary with the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate, and each such map and description shall have the same force and effect as if included in this Act, except that the appropriate Secretary may correct clerical and typographical errors in each such legal description and map. Each such map and legal description shall be on file and available for public inspection in the offices of the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of the Interior and the Utah offices of the appropriate agencies of the Department of the Interior and Department of Agriculture.

(b) PILT.—Section 6902(b) of title 31, United States Code, is amended by striking "acquisition." and inserting in lieu thereof "acquisition, nor does this subsection apply to payments for lands in Utah acquired by the United States if at the time of such acquisition units, under applicable State law, were entitled to receive payments from the State for such lands, but in such case no payment under this chapter with respect to such acquired lands shall exceed the payment that would have been made under Utah State law as of the date of enactment of the Utah Schools and Lands Improvement Act of 1992 if such lands had not been acquired.".

(c) INTENT.—The lands and interests described in section 7 are an offer related only to the State lands and interests described in this Act, and nothing in this Act shall be construed as precluding conveyance of other lands or interests to the State of Utah pursuant to other exchanges under applicable existing law or subsequent Act of Congress. It is the intent of Congress that the State should establish funding, or some other mechanism, to assure that counties within the States are treated equitably as a result of this exchange.

(d) COSTS.—The United States and the State of Utah shall each bear its own respective costs incurred in the implementation of this Act.

(e) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this Act—

(1) the term "school and institutional trust lands" means those properties granted by the United States in the Utah Enabling Act to the State of Utah in trust and other lands which under State law must be managed for the benefit of the public school system or the institutions of the State which are designated by the Utah Enabling Act;

(2) the term "public lands" has the same meaning as in the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976;

(3) the term "State" means the State of Utah; and

(4) the term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Interior.

SEC. 11. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Utah [Mr. HANSEN] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. VENTO. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks, and include therein extraneous material, on H.R. 5118, the bill now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mrs. UNSOELD). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, H.R. 5118 was introduced by Representative OWENS of Utah, who has worked tirelessly, along with the rest of the Utah delegation and the State administration, to enable us to bring it to the floor today.

The bill provides for transfer to the National Government of more than 202,600 acres of State-owned lands and minerals located within units of the National Park and National Forest Systems and Indian reservations in Utah, in return for which the State will receive equal value in the form of a mix of specified lands and interests in lands, and perhaps a limited share of royalties from existing, producing Federal mineral leases in Utah.

The bill is called the Utah Schools and Lands Improvement Act because the transfers to the State will benefit the school trust established at the time of Utah's Statehood and because the bill addresses land-management problems that have their roots in the history of the American people's public domain lands.

Madam Speaker, the current pattern of land ownership in Utah, as in other Western States, leaves much to be desired. The National Government granted more than 7.5 million acres of land to the new State of Utah at the time of its admission to the Union. These grants were intended to promote economic development and, through the largest of the several grants to the State, to benefit Utah's public schools.

Unfortunately, because the grants were based on the arbitrary straight lines of surveyors rather than on topography or the characteristics of the land, the result has been to fragment land ownership patterns in ways that present difficult problems for all concerned, especially for those responsible for managing the lands held by the State and National governments.

More than 10 years ago, under the leadership of Utah's former Governor, the late Scott Matheson, the State government developed a proposal—known as Project Bold—for broad-scale adjustment of the land-ownership pattern in Utah through the exchange of State lands for lands held by the National Government on behalf of the American people.

More recently, in 1988, the Subcommittee on National Parks and Public Lands held a field hearing in Salt Lake City on a bill introduced by the gentleman from Utah [Mr. OWENS] that would have established a process for implementing the sort of exchanges that Governor Matheson had envisioned.

At that time, the new State administration did not believe that legislation was necessary in order to complete extensive exchanges. Since then, however, Governor Bangerter and his administration have sought the assistance of Congress in resolving deadlocks, in particular over how to resolve disagreements as to the values to be assigned to the lands and interests proposed for exchange.

On July 17 of this year, a month after our subcommittee hearing on H.R. 5118, Governor Bangerter wrote to me and other members of the Interior Committee reporting that the State and the national administration had reached agreement on the outline of a legislative proposal. The bill now before us is based on that proposal, with important refinements developed by the Interior Committee.

The bill requires appraisal of all the lands and interests to be exchanged, and provides that disagreements over valuation can be resolved through judicial action in Federal court. It combines certainty about the State and national lands and minerals involved with administrative flexibility, by giving the Secretary of the Interior carefully limited discretion to include additional mineral royalties as part of the value to be given the State in return for the State's national park, national forest, and Indian reservation inholdings. Also included are important provisions to protect the environmental and other values of the national lands as well as to require that exchanges be fair to both the taxpayers of the Nation and the State of Utah.

Madam Speaker, the bill is explained in more detail in the report of the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. Therefore, I will conclude by saying that this is a very significant measure and by again expressing my appreciation for the hard work of the gentleman from Utah [Mr. OWENS] on this issue. Along with Representative HANSEN, our other Utah colleague on the Interior Committee, as well as Representative ORTON, Mr. OWENS deserves congratulations for this bill—a bill that honors the memory of Governor Matheson, a bill that is in the interest both of the State of Utah and the National Government, and a bill that deserves the approval of the House.

□ 1820

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HANSEN. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of the Utah Schools and Lands Improvement Act of 1992. This is legislation that Gov. Norman Bangerter brought to Utah's congressional delegation earlier this year. I would like to thank my good friend Governor Bangerter for his tireless work on behalf of this bill.

When Utah was admitted into the Union in 1896, it was granted sections of land to be used for the support of its common schools. Subsequently, the United States created Federal reservations for native Americans, military purposes, development of forest lands, and preservation of uniquely beautiful lands in national parks and monuments. All of these reservations were superimposed upon the existing school trust lands, thereby complicating the management of the Federal reservations and curtailing the economic development of the State lands. The Federal Government has enjoyed the use of the State's trust lands inheld in its Federal reservations without providing compensation for that use.

Throughout the history of the State of Utah, succeeding Governor's have tried unsuccessfully to enter into negotiations with the Federal Government to resolve this dilemma. Now working with Utah's education, business, and environmental communities, we have found a solution that will allow the State to realize the purpose for which these trust lands were originally designated. The legislation the House considers today will authorize a value for value exchange of approximately 200,000 acres of school trust lands trapped within national parks, national forests, and Indian reservations for various Federal resources. The State would receive as much of the Federal resources as is required to equal the value of the State lands being offered. Value would be set by appraisals and reconciliation of appraisal differences.

Sections 2 and 3 of the bill authorize the acquisition of State trust lands within the Navajo and Goshute Reservations. The language in these sections is necessary to ensure that the lands are held in trust for the members of these native American nations. Section 5 describes the lands within the national forests in Utah that are to be conveyed to the United States. The total acreage is 76,000 acres. Section 6 authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to make similar exchanges of all school and institutional trust lands located within the National Park System.

It is important to note that this bill has been carefully crafted so that the sections describing the reservation, forest, and park lands are discrete and will allow separate negotiations to occur between the State and the appropriate Federal agency. This legislation authorizes a process for exchange, and does not mandate that exchange occur if the State and the Federal Government cannot reach agreement on the value of lands described. This point is critical to the State. The Federal Government has enjoyed the use of the State's trust lands inheld in its Federal reservations without providing compensation for that use. Subsequently, the school trust fund has suffered. Utah must be allowed to receive full value for these lands including, the unknown potential of the subsurface estates within the Forest Service boundaries, in order to assure a fair and equitable exchange.

The bill also directs the Secretary of the Interior to offer identified lands and mineral royalties in exchange for Utah's inholdings. It further dictates that royalties may contribute no more than 50 percent of the total value of the State's lands. Further, the bill establishes a cap on the total amount of royalties that the State can receive.

Governor Bangerter and I share a great concern with this restriction in the bill. We have all expended great time and energy to bring this legislation to a successful end. The cap set by the Interior Committee would force the State to repeat this time consuming legislative process should the limit be exceeded. The requirements by which the Department of the Interior and the State will carry out the appraisals of the respective properties is spelled out very clearly in the bill. We believe these requirements eliminate the need for the additional review that would be triggered by the cap. This is an issue that I intended to address by amendment in full committee, but I have agreed to allow the legislation to go forward to keep this process moving as I believe the other body will resolve it.

This legislation is important to Utah's schools and equally as important to the improved management of the Nation's forests and parks. I would like to thank Secretary Lujan and Cy Jamison for their assistance. Their service and the help of countless others has been invaluable. I am sure that as this legislation moves forward we can work out the difference that I have outlined and bring it to a speedy and successful conclusion.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Madam Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Utah [Mr. OWENS] who has been, as I said, a tireless advocate and worker along with others in the delegation who have worked a long time toward this coming to fruition. I sincerely hope it makes it all the way.

Mr. OWENS of Utah. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO], the chairman of the subcommittee whose tireless efforts themselves are responsible for bringing up to this point, and, if we do succeed, it will be in large part due to his very serious and sincere assistance here.

This is a historic moment. Utah has several million acres of land which is checkerboarded within the Federal lands throughout our State. This is a historic bill because it is the first time that Congress has acted to move some of this land which the State owns into productivity, and this legislation, as my colleague, the gentleman from Utah [Mr. HANSEN], just mentioned and as the chairman of the subcommittee pointed out, will have an immense impact for the school children of the State of Utah, moving resources which lay fallow and unproductive into cash resources to assist in the payment of the costs of educating our school children.

Great credit goes properly to Governor Bangerter who was the originator of this legislation in which the delegation has unitedly gotten in back of to bring to fruition, as well as to Senator GARN and Attorney General Paul Van Damme, and to my colleague, the gentleman from Utah [Mr. HANSEN], and our third colleague, the gentleman from Utah [Mr. ORTON], great credit is also due, and I express appreciation to them and to the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER] as well. Great and significant work has been done by Steve Boyden, Assistant Attorney General, Debby Turner running the Utah State office, my own administrative assistant, Scott Kearin, and the committee staff Dan Beard, Dan Adamson, and particularly Stan Sloss. They are responsible for bringing this legislation to the point of passage today.

With only 200,000 acres out of over 3 million possible acres of State land involved in this exchange, Madam Speaker, we are not going to answer every question about the future of Utah's State school lands in this bill. But this is an excellent start, and all of Utah's school children will benefit from this infusion of many millions of dollars into the State school trust from San Juan County in the canyons of southern Utah to Salt Lake County in the urban north.

This bill is also critically important environmentally and is supported by a coalition of environmental groups. It means better and more consistent management of natural lands in Utah. Without this legislation to eliminate the risk of commercial development in the parks and Forest Service lands, Madam Speaker, we could conceivably see another kind of golden arches someday among the sandstone formation of Arches National Park. This bill removes the Sword of Damocles of inappropriate State development from the heart of some of our most precious national park lands.

Most of all, Madam Speaker, this bill does mean much needed funds for Utah's school system and represents the partial realization of promises made to Utah by the Federal Government at the time of statehood, now nearly 100 years ago.

☐ 1830

Utah has waited a long time for a solution to this perplexing dilemma. I thank the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs for bringing this measure up today and for their support.

Mr. HANSEN. Madam Speaker, I thank Chairman VENTO and his staff for helping us on this matter. I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Madam Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mrs. UNSOELD). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5118, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended, and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

SUNDRY MESSAGES FROM THE PRESIDENT

Sundry messages in writing from the President of the United States were communicated to the House by Mr. McCathran, one of his secretaries.

SPRING MOUNTAINS NATIONAL RECREATION AREA ACT

Mr. VENTO. Madam Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 4590) to establish the Spring Mountains National Recreation Area in Nevada, and for other purposes; as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 4590

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Spring Mountains National Recreation Area Act".

SEC. 2. DEFINITIONS.

As used in this Act:

(1) NATIONAL FOREST LANDS.—The term "National Forest lands" means lands included in the National Forest System (as defined in section 11(a) of the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Planning Act of 1974 (16 U.S.C. 1609(a))).

(2) RECREATION AREA.—The term "Recreation Area" means the Spring Mountains National Recreation Area established by this Act.

(3) SECRETARY.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Agriculture.

SEC. 3. PURPOSES.

The purposes of this Act are to—

(1) preserve scenic, scientific, historic, cultural, natural, wilderness, watershed, riparian, wildlife, threatened and endangered species, and other values contributing to public enjoyment and biological diversity in the Spring Mountains of Nevada;

(2) ensure appropriate conservation and management of natural recreation resources in the Spring Mountains; and

(3) provide for the development of public recreation opportunities in the Spring Mountains for the enjoyment of present and future generations.

SEC. 4. ESTABLISHMENT OF RECREATION AREA.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subject to valid existing rights, there is established the Spring Mountains National Recreation Area in Nevada.

(b) BOUNDARIES AND MAP.—The Recreation Area shall consist of approximately 316,000 acres of federally owned lands and waters in the Toiyabe National Forest, as generally depicted on a map entitled "Spring Mountain National Recreation Area—Proposed", numbered NV-CH, and dated August 2, 1992.

(c) Map Filing.—As soon as practicable after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall file a map of the Recreation Area with the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate and the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of the House of Representatives.

(d) Public Inspection.—The map shall be on file and available for public inspection in the offices of the Chief of the Forest Service, Department of Agriculture.

(e) Discrepancies.—In the case of any discrepancy between or among the acreage referred to in subsection (b) and the map described in subsection (b), the map described in subsection (b) shall control any question concerning the boundaries of the Recreation Area.

SEC. 5. MANAGEMENT.

(a) In General.—The Secretary, acting through the Chief of the Forest Service, shall manage the Recreation Area in accordance with the laws, rules, and regulations pertaining to the National Forest System and this Act to provide for—

(1) the conservation of scenic, scientific, historic, cultural, and other values contributing to public enjoyment;

(2) the conservation of fish and wildlife populations and habitat, including the use of prescribed fire to improve or maintain habitat;

(3) the protection of watersheds and the maintenance of free flowing streams and the quality of ground and surface waters in accordance with applicable Federal and State law;

(4) public outdoor recreation benefits, including, but not limited to, hunting, fishing, trapping, hiking, horseback riding, backpacking, rock climbing, camping, and nature study;

(5) wilderness areas as designated by Congress; and

(6) the management, utilization, and disposal of natural resources in a manner compatible with the purposes for which the Recreation Area is established.

(b) Hunting, Trapping, and Fishing.—

(1) In general.—Subject to paragraph (2), the Secretary shall permit hunting, trapping, fishing, and habitat management within the Recreation Area in accordance with the laws of the United States and the State of Nevada.

(2) Exceptions.—The Secretary, after consultation with the Nevada Department of Wildlife, may designate zones where and periods when hunting, trapping, or fishing shall not be permitted for reasons of public safety, administration, or public use and enjoyment.

(c) Grazing.—The grazing of livestock may be permitted to continue pursuant to Federal law and subject to such reasonable regulations, policies, and practices as the Secretary considers necessary.

(d) Preventive Measures.—Nothing in this Act shall preclude such reasonable measures as the Secretary considers necessary to protect the land and resources from fire or insect or disease infestation in the Recreation Area.

SEC. 6. MANAGEMENT PLAN.

(a) In General.—

(1) Procedures.—Not later than 3 full fiscal years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall develop a general management plan for the Recreation Area as an amendment to the Toiyabe National Forest Land and Resource Management Plan. Such an amendment shall reflect the establishment of the Recreation Area and conform to the provisions of this Act, except that nothing in this Act shall require the Secretary to revise the Toiyabe National Forest Land and Resource Management Plan pursuant to section 6 of the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Planning Act of 1974. The provisions of the national forest land and resource management plan relating to the recreation area shall also be available to the public in a document separate from the rest of the forest plan.

(2) Contents.—The management plan described in paragraph (1) shall be developed with full public participation and shall include—

(A) implementation plans for a continuing program of interpretation and public education about the resources and values of the Recreation Area;

(B) proposals for public facilities to be developed, expanded, or improved for the Recreation Area, including one or more visitor centers to accommodate both local and out-of-State visitors;

(C) plans for the management of natural and cultural resources in the Recreation Area, with emphasis on the preservation and long-term scientific use of archaeological resources, with priority in development given to the enforcement of the Archaeological Resources Protection Act of 1979 (16 U.S.C. 470aa et seq.) and the National Historic Preservation Act (16 U.S.C. 470 et seq.) within the Recreation Area;

(D) wildlife and fish resource management plans for the Recreation Area prepared in consultation with appropriate departments of the State of Nevada and using other available studies of the Recreation Area;

(E) recreation management plans for the Recreation Area in consultation with appropriate departments of the State of Nevada;

(F) wild horse and burro herd management plans for the Recreation Area prepared in consultation with appropriate departments and commissions of the State of Nevada; and

(G) an inventory of all lands within the Recreation Area not presently managed as National Forest lands that will permit the Secretary to evaluate possible future acquisitions.

(3) Consultation.—The plans for the management of natural and cultural resources described in paragraph (2)(C) shall be prepared in consultation with the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation established by title II of the National Historic Preservation Act (16 U.S.C. 470i et seq.) and the Nevada State Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, Division of Historic Preservation and Archaeology.

(b) Wilderness Study Areas.—

(1) Recommendations.—The general management plan for the Recreation Area shall include the recommendations of the Bureau of Land Management as to the suitability or nonsuitability for preservation as wilderness of the 89,270 acres identified as the Mt. Stirling, La Madre Mountains, and Pine Creek Wilderness Study Areas on the Bureau of Land Management Wilderness Status Map, dated March 1990.

(2) Management.—Pending submission of a recommendation and until otherwise directed by Act of Congress, the Secretary, acting through the Chief of the Forest Service, shall manage the lands and waters within the wilderness study areas referred to in paragraph (1) so as to maintain their potential for inclusion within the National Wilderness Preservation System.

SEC. 7. ACQUISITION OF LANDS.

(a) In General.—The Secretary is authorized to acquire by donation, purchase with donated or appropriated funds, exchange, bequest, or otherwise any lands, or lesser interests therein, including mineral interests, water rights, and scenic easements, which the Secretary determines are needed for the purposes of this Act.

(b) Exchanges Out of Federal Ownership.—Federally owned lands, waters, or interests in lands or waters located within the Recreation Area may not be exchanged except in connection with an exchange for lands, waters, or interests in lands or waters owned by the State of Nevada or a political subdivision of the State.

(c) Incorporation of Acquired Lands.—Any lands, waters, or interests in lands or waters located within the Recreation Area that are acquired by the United States or administratively transferred to the Secretary after the date of enactment of this Act shall be incorporated into the Recreation Area and managed in accordance with the laws, rules, and regulations applicable to the National Forest System and the provisions of this Act.

(d) Land and Water Conservation Fund.—For purposes of section 7 of the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 (16 U.S.C. 460l–9), where such boundaries are established for units of the National Forest System, such established boundaries shall be treated as if they were the boundaries of the National Forests as of January 1, 1965. Money appropriated from the Land and Water Conservation Fund shall be available for the acquisition of lands, waters, and interests therein in furtherance of the purposes of this Act.

SEC. 8. WITHDRAWAL.

(a) In General.—Subject to valid existing rights and except for lands described in subsection (b), all Federal lands within the Recreation Area and all lands, waters, and interests in lands and waters within the Recreation Area that are acquired by the United States after the date of enactment of this Act are withdrawn from—

(1) all forms of entry, appropriation, or disposal under the public land laws;

(2) location, entry, and patent under the mining laws; and

(3) operation under the mineral leasing and geothermal leasing laws.

(b) Exception.—The lands referred to in subsection (a) are described as follows:

S½ Sec. 22, W½E½ and W½ Sec. 27, E½E½ Sec. 28, T 23 S, R 58 E, Mt. Diablo Meridian.

SEC. 9. COORDINATED MANAGEMENT.

The Secretary shall coordinate the management of the Recreation Area with the management of all proximate lands in a manner that best meets the present and future needs of the people of the United States.

SEC. 10. COOPERATIVE AGREEMENTS.

In order to encourage unified and cost-effective management and interpretation of natural and cultural resources in southern Nevada, the Secretary may enter into cooperative agreements with other Federal, State, and local agencies, and with nonprofit entities, that provide for the management and interpretation of natural and cultural resources in southern Nevada.

SEC. 11. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. Vento] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. Allard] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. Vento].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. VENTO. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks, and include therein extraneous material, on H.R. 4590.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, H.R. 4590, the Spring Mountain National Recreation Area Act, which was introduced by Mr. BILBRAY, would designate a 316,000 acre national recreation area in the Spring Mountains of southern Nevada. All of the lands in the Spring Mountains unit of the Toiyabe National Forest would be included.

Located near two rapidly growing population centers, Las Vegas and Pahrump, the area receives approximately 5 million visitors a year. It is the only area readily accessible to southern Nevadans with forests and snow. In hearings before the Subcommittee on National Parks and Public Lands we received extensive testimony that the resources in the Spring Mountains are impressive. Dominating the area is Mount Charleston which, at 11,918 feet, is the third highest mountain in Nevada. Vegetation includes ancient bristlecone pines, which are the oldest living things on Earth, five vegetative life zones, and 48 plant species found nowhere else in the world. Wildlife includes elk, deer, wild turkey, bighorn sheep, golden eagles, wild horses and burros, and the Palmers chipmunk, which is found only in the Spring Mountains. Threatened species include the desert tortoise and Lahonton cutthroat trout. The Spring Mountains are also the beginning of the water aquifer for the city of Las Vegas.

I urge my colleagues to support this bill and protect this unique area.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. ALLARD. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 4590, which would create a national recreation area in the Spring Mountains just outside of Las Vegas, NV.

This legislation has been fully explained by Chairman VENTO. I would like to add that this proposed NRA is entirely within the district of Mrs. VUCANOVICH, who is unable to be with us today.

Although Mrs. VUCANOVICH supports this bill, she is concerned that the committee made very little effort to modify boundaries to delete many of the 300 mining claims within the proposed NRA.

Although the committee did change some boundaries to exclude highly mineralized areas, it reduced the size of the NRA by less than 1 percent.

Unfortunately, this Congress far too often does not listen to the concerns of the Member representing their district when it comes to land use bills like this. Hopefully, the Senate will be better able to strike a balance between environmental protection and keeping highly mineralized areas open to potential mining.

I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 4590.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Madam Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Nevada [Mr. BILBRAY], the principal sponsor of this important legislation.

Mr. BILBRAY. Madam Speaker, the Spring Mountains range is one of the two most important natural assets in southern Nevada. Over 20 million visitors are known to come to the Mount Charleston Area, one well-known destination point within the Spring Mountains.

For the 850,000 inhabitants of Las Vegas and the thousands of inhabitants in the growing city of Pahrump, the Spring Mountains offer Nevadans our only forest experience.

The National Park Service is facing a broad range of challenges to its dual mission of protecting our precious natural and cultural resources and providing visitor access.

Passage of this measure will provide great enhancements to Nevadans' existing recreational use of these public lands. Currently there are only 10 campgrounds and picnic sites that handle 2,500 persons at a time.

Without this new designation, under the present management methods these invaluable resources will not be adequately preserved for future generations.

I am proud to see this legislation come before this House. It is the result of a coordinated effort among many diverse interests within the greater Las Vegas community.

Over the last 5 years, citizens for a Spring Mountains National Recreation Area have worked to bring together a broad coalition in the hopes of establishing a national recreation area.

The goal of this legislation is to increase everyone's access to the Spring Mountains without sacrificing the quality of the outdoor experience.

With this legislation in place, the community can protect and preserve these natural resources from the encroachment of both man and the growing metropolitan areas directly to the west and east of this magnificent forest and range of mountains.

All of Nevada is grateful to the chairman and his hard-working staff for their support and guidance in bringing this measure forward.

Madam Speaker, I would like to enter into a colloquy with the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO].

Mr. Chairman, I would like to clarify the impact that this national recreation area would have on my area. It is my intention that this new status would not cause the closing of any roads or trails to off-roaders, hikers, hunters, or horseback riders. Is that the chairman's understanding?

Mr. VENTO. If the gentleman will yield, yes, as long as these uses are consistent with the purposes of the national recreation area. There is nothing in this act that expressly directs the closing of roads.

Mr. BILBRAY. And further, that nothing in this act would be construed as forcing the U.S. Forest Service to leave open what it determines are unused or dangerous roads.

Mr. VENTO. Yes. The Forest Service will continue to have the authority to close unused and dangerous roads. The Forest Service's road policies will be governed by the provisions of the forest plan which will be amended to incorporate the provisions of this act.

Mr. BILBRAY. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO], the chairman of the full committee, the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER], and the rest of the members of the subcommittee and the full committee and staff, both on the minority and majority sides, for the courtesy of this hearing and for bringing this bill forward so fast. I also thank my colleague, the gentlewoman from Nevada [Mrs. VUCANOVICH], for her support of this legislation.

Mr. ALLARD. Madam Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Madam Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 4590, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

The title of the bill was amended so as to read: "A bill to establish the Spring Mountains National Recreation Area in Nevada, and for other purposes."

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

QUINEBAUG AND SHETUCKET RIVERS VALLEY HERITAGE CORRIDOR

Mr. VENTO. Madam Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5423) to establish the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley National Heritage Corridor, as amended.

□ 1840

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5423

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley National Heritage Corridor Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress finds that:

(1) The Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley in the State of Connecticut is one of the last unspoiled and undeveloped areas in the Northeastern United States and has remained largely intact, including important aboriginal archaeological sites, excellent water quality, beautiful rural landscapes, architecturally significant mill structures and mill villages, and large acreage of parks and other permanent open space.

(2) The State of Connecticut ranks last among the 50 States in the amount of federally protected park and open space lands within its borders and lags far behind the other northeastern States in the amount of land set-aside for public recreation.

(3) The beautiful rural landscapes, scenic vistas and excellent water quality of the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers contain significant undeveloped recreational opportunities for people throughout the United States.

(4) The Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley is within a 2-hour drive of the major metropolitan areas of New York City, Hartford, Providence, Worcester, Springfield, and Boston. With the President's Commission on Americans Outdoors reporting that Americans are taking shorter "closer-to-home" vacations, the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley represents important close-by recreational opportunities for a significant population.

(5) The existing mill sites and other structures throughout the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley were instrumental in the development of the industrial revolution.

(6) The Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley contains a vast number of discovered and unrecovered Native American and colonial archaeological sites significant to the history of North America and the United States.

(7) The Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley represents one of the last traditional upland farming and mill village communities in the northeastern United States.

(8) The Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley played a nationally significant role in the cultural evolution of the prewar colonial period. Leading the transformation from Puritan to Yankee, the "Great Awakening" religious revival and early political development leading up to and during the War of Independence.

(9) Many local, regional and State agencies, businesses, and private citizens and the New England Governors' Conference have expressed an overwhelming desire to combine forces: to work cooperatively to preserve and enhance resources region-wide and better plan for the future.

SEC. 3. ESTABLISHMENT OF QUINEBAUG AND SHETUCKET RIVERS VALLEY NATIONAL HERITAGE CORRIDOR; PURPOSE.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—There is hereby established in the State of Connecticut the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley National Heritage Corridor.

(b) PURPOSE.—It is the purpose of this Act to provide a management framework to assist the State of Connecticut, its units of local and regional government and citizens in the development and implementation of integrated cultural, historical, and recreational land resource management programs in order to retain, enhance, and interpret the significant features of the lands, water, and structures of the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley in the State of Connecticut.

SEC. 4. BOUNDARIES AND ADMINISTRATION.

(a) BOUNDARIES.—The Boundaries of the Corridor shall include the towns of Ashford, Brooklyn, Canterbury, Chaplin, Coventry, Eastford, Franklin, Griswold, Hampton, Killingly, Lebanon, Lisbon, Mansfield, Norwich, Plainfield, Pomfret, Preston, Putnam, Scotland, Sprague, Sterling, Thompson, Voluntown, Windham, and Woodstock. As soon as practical after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Interior shall publish in the Federal Register a detailed description and map of boundaries established under this subsection.

(b) ADMINISTRATION.—The Corridor shall be administered in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 5. QUINEBAUG AND SHETUCKET RIVERS VALLEY NATIONAL HERITAGE CORRIDOR COMMISSION.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—There is hereby established the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley National Heritage Corridor Commission (referred to in this Act as the "Commission"). The Commission shall assist appropriate Federal, State, regional planning organizations, and local authorities in the development and implementation of an integrated resource management plan for the lands and water as specified in section 3.

(b) MEMBERSHIP.—The Commission shall be comprised of 19 members appointed not later than 6 months after the date of enactment of this Act as follows:

(1) The Director of the National Park Service ex officio (or his delegate).

(2) 3 individuals nominated by the Governor and appointed by the Secretary, who shall be—

(A) the Commissioner of the Connecticut Department of Environmental Protection, or a person representing the interests of the Commissioner,

(B) the Chairman of the Connecticut Historical Commission or a person representing the interests of the Chairman, and

(C) the Commissioner of the Connecticut Department of Economic Development or a person representing the interests of the Commissioner;

(3) 6 individuals representing the interests of local government or regional planning organizations from Connecticut appointed by the Secretary after receiving recommendations from the Governor, of whom, 3 shall be representatives of the 3 regional planning organizations within the Corridor region and 3 shall be local elected officials from the region; and

(4) 9 individuals from the general public, who are citizens of the State of Connecticut, appointed by the Secretary, after receiving recommendations from the Governor, representing conservation, business, tourism, and recreational interests.

A vacancy in the Commission shall be filled in the manner in which the original appointments were made.

(c) TERMS.—(1) Members of the Commission shall be appointed for terms of 3 years and may be reappointed.

(2) Any member appointed to fill a vacancy occurring before the expiration of the term for which his predecessor was appointed shall be appointed only for the remainder of such term. Any member of the Commission appointed for a definite term may serve after the expiration of his term until his successor has taken office.

(d) COMPENSATION.—Members of the Commission shall receive no pay on account of their service on the Commission but while away from their homes or regular places of business in the performance of services for the Commission, members of the Commission shall be allowed travel expenses, including per diem in lieu of subsistence, in the same manner as persons employed intermittently in the Government service are allowed expenses under section 5703 of title 5, United States Code.

(e) CHAIRPERSON.—The Chairperson of the Commission shall be elected by the members of the Commission.

(f) QUORUM.—(1) 8 members of the Commission shall constitute a quorum, but a lesser number may hold hearings.

(2) The affirmative vote of not less than 10 members of the Commission shall be required to approve the budget of the Commission.

(g) MEETINGS.—The Commission shall hold its first meeting not later than 90 days after the date on which its members are appointed, and shall meet at least quarterly at the call of the chairperson or 10 of its members. Meetings of the Commission shall be subject to section 552(b) of title 5, United States Code (relating to open meetings).".

(h) PROXY.—Any member of the Commission may vote by means of a signed proxy exercised by another member of the Commission, but any member so voting shall not be considered present for purposes of establishing a quorum.

SEC. 6. STAFF OF THE COMMISSION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—(1) The Commission shall have the power to appoint and fix compensation of such staff as may be necessary to carry out its duties.

(2) Staff appointed by the Commission—

(A) shall be appointed subject to the provisions of title 5, United States Code, governing appointments in the competitive service; and

(B) shall be paid in accordance with provisions of chapter 51 and subchapter III of chapter 53 of such title relating to classification and General Schedule pay rates.

(b) EXPERTS AND CONSULTANTS.—Subject to such rules as may be adopted by the Commission, the Commission may procure temporary and intermittent services to the same extent as is authorized by section 3109(b) of title 5, United States Code, but at rates determined by the Commission to be reasonable.

(c) STAFF OF OTHER AGENCIES.—(1) Upon request of the Commission, the head of any Federal agency may detail, on a reimbursable basis, any of the personnel of such agency to the Commission to assist the Commission in carrying out the Commission's duties.

(2) The Commission may accept the service of personnel detailed from the State, any political subdivision and regional planning organizations, and may reimburse the State, political subdivision, and regional planning organizations for those services.

SEC. 7. POWERS OF COMMISSION.

(a) HEARINGS.—(1) The Commission may, for the purposes of carrying out this Act, hold hearings, sit and act at such times and places, take such testimony, and receive such evidence, as the Commission considers appropriate.

(2) The Commission may not issue subpoenas or exercise any subpoena authority.

(b) POWERS OF MEMBERS AND AGENTS.—Any member or agent of the Commission, if so authorized by the Commission, may take any action which the Commission is authorized to take by this Act.

(c) ADMINISTRATIVE SUPPORT SERVICES.—The Administrator of the General Services Administration shall provide to the Commission on a reimbursable basis, such administrative support services as the Commission may request.

(d) MAILS.—The Commission may use the United States mails in the same manner and under the same conditions as other departments and other agencies of the United States.

(e) USE OF FUNDS TO OBTAIN MONEY.—The Commission may use its funds to obtain money from any source under any program or law requiring the recipient of such money to make a contribution in order to receive such money.

(f) GIFTS.—(1) Except as provided in subsection (g)(2)(B), the Commission may, for purposes of carrying out its duties, seek, accept, and dispose of gifts, bequests, or donations of money, personal property, or services, received from any source.

(2) For purposes of section 170(c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, any gift to the Commission shall be deemed as a gift to the United States.

(g) ACQUISITION OF REAL PROPERTY.—(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2) and except with respect to any leasing of facilities under subsection (c), the Commission may not acquire any real property or interest in real property.

(2) Subject to paragraph (3), the Commission may acquire real property, or interest in real property in the Corridor—

(A) by gift or devise; or

(B) by purchase from a willing seller with money that was given, appropriated, or bequeathed to the Commission on the condition that such money would be used to purchase real property, or interest in real property, in the Corridor.

(3) Any real property or interest in real property acquired by the Commission under paragraph (2) shall be conveyed by the Commission to an appropriate public or private land management agency, as determined by the Commission. Any such conveyance shall be made—

(A) as soon as practicable after such acquisition;

(B) without consideration; and

(C) on the condition that the real property or interest in real property so conveyed is used for public purposes.

(h) COOPERATIVE AGREEMENTS.—For purposes of carrying out the plan, the Commission may enter into cooperative agreements with the State of Connecticut, with any political subdivision, or with any person or organization. Any such cooperative agreement shall, at a minimum, establish procedures for providing notice to the Commission of any action proposed by the State, such political subdivision, or such person which may affect implementation of the plan referred to in section 8.

(i) ADVISORY GROUPS.—The Commission may establish such advisory groups as it deems necessary to ensure open communication with, and assistance from, the State, political subdivisions of the State, regional planning organizations and interested persons.

SEC. 8. DUTIES OF THE COMMISSION.

(a) PREPARATION OF PLAN.—Within 2 years after the Commission conducts its first meeting, it shall submit to the Secretary of the Interior and the Governor of Connecticut for review and approval a Cultural Heritage and Corridor Management Plan. The Plan shall be based on existing Federal, State, and local plans, but shall coordinate those plans and present a unified historic preservation, interpretation, and recreational plan for the Corridor. The plan shall—

(1) provide an inventory which includes any property in the Corridor which should be preserved, restored, managed, developed, maintained, or acquired because of its national historic or cultural or recreational significance;

(2) recommend advisory standards and criteria applicable to the construction, preservation, restoration, alteration, and use of all properties within the Corridor;

(3) develop an historic interpretation plan to interpret the history of the Corridor;

(4) develop an inventory which includes existing and potential recreational sites which are developed or which could be developed along the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers and their surrounding areas;

(5) recommend policies for resource management which consider and detail application of appropriate land and water management techniques, including but not limited to, the development of intergovernmental cooperative agreements to protect the Corridor's historical, cultural, recreational, scenic, and natural resources in a manner consistent with supporting appropriate and compatible economic revitalization efforts;

(6) detail ways in which local, State, and Federal programs may best be coordinated to promote the purposes of this Act; and

(7) contain a program for implementation of the Plan by the State and its political subdivisions.

(b) IMPLEMENTATION OF PLAN.—After review and approval of the Plan by the Secretary and the Governor as provided in subsection (a), the Commission shall implement the Plan by taking appropriate steps to preserve and interpret the historic resources, develop the recreational resources of the Corridor and its surrounding area, and to support public and private efforts in economic revitalization, consistent with the goals of the Plan. These steps may include, but need not be limited to—

(1) assisting the State and local governmental entities or regional planning organizations, and nonprofit organizations in preserving the Corridor and ensuring appropriate use of lands and structures throughout the Corridor;

(2) assisting the State and local governmental entities or regional planning organizations, and nonprofit organizations in establishing, and maintaining visitor centers and other interpretive exhibits in the Corridor;

(3) assisting the State and local governmental entities or regional planning organizations, and nonprofit organizations in developing recreational programs and resources in the Corridor;

(4) assisting the State and local governmental entities or regional planning organizations, and nonprofit organizations in increasing public awareness of and appreciation for the historical and architectural resources and sites in the Corridor;

(5) assisting the State and local governmental or regional planning organizations and nonprofit organizations in the restoration of any historic building in the Corridor;

(6) encouraging by appropriate means enhanced economic and industrial development in the Corridor consistent with the goals of the Plan;

(7) encouraging local governments to adopt land use policies consistent with the management of the Corridor and the goals of the Plan, and to ensure appropriate use of lands and structures throughout the Corridor; and

(8) assisting the State and local governmental entities or regional planning organizations to ensure that clear, consistent signs identifying access points and sites of interest are put in place throughout the Corridor.

SEC. 9. TERMINATION OF COMMISSION.

(a) TERMINATION.—Except as provided in subsection (b), the Commission shall terminate on the day occurring 5 years after the date of enactment of this Act.

(b) EXTENSION.—The Commission may be extended for a period of not more than 5 years beginning on the day of termination referred to in subsection (a) if, not later than 180 days before such day—

(1) the Commission determines such extension is necessary in order to carry out the purposes of this Act;

(2) the Commission submits such proposed extension to the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of the United States House of Representatives and the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the United States Senate; and

(3) the Secretary, in consultation with the Governor of Connecticut, approves such extension.

SEC. 10. DUTIES OF THE SECRETARY.

(a) APPROVAL OF PLAN.—The Secretary of the Interior, in consultation with the Governor of Connecticut, shall approve or disapprove a Plan submitted under this Act by the Commission not later than 60 days after receiving such Plan. The Secretary, in consultation with the Governor, shall approve a Plan submitted if—

(1) they find the Plan, if implemented, would adequately protect significant historical and cultural resources of the Corridor while providing adequate and appropriate outdoor recreational opportunities and economic activities within the Corridor;

(2) they determine that the Commission held public hearings and provided adequate opportunity for public and governmental involvement in the preparation of the Plan; and

(3) the Secretary receives adequate assurances from appropriate State officials that the recommended implementation program identified in the Plan will be initiated within a reasonable time after date of approval of the Plan, and that such implementation program will ensure effective implementation of the State and local aspects of the Plan.

(b) DISAPPROVAL OF PLAN.—If the Secretary disapproves a Plan submitted to him by the Commission, he shall advise the Commission in writing of the reasons therefor and shall make recommendations for revisions in the Plan. The Commission shall within 90 days of receipt of such notice of disapproval revise and resubmit the plan to the Secretary who shall approve or disapprove a proposed revision within 60 days after the date it is submitted to him.

(c) ASSISTANCE.—The Secretary of the Interior shall, upon request of the Commission, assist the Commission in the preparation and implementation of Plan.

SEC. 11. DUTIES OF OTHER FEDERAL ENTITIES.

Any Federal entity conducting or supporting activities directly affecting the Corridor shall—

(1) consult with the Secretary and the Commission with respect to such activities;

(2) cooperate with the Secretary and the Commission with respect to such activities and, to the maximum extent practicable, coordinate such activities; and

(3) to the maximum extent practicable, conduct or support such activities in a manner which the Commission determines will not have an adverse effect on the Corridor.

SEC. 12. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

(a) COMMISSION.—There is authorized to be appropriated $200,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $250,000 annually to the Commission to carry out its duties under this Act except that the Federal contributions to the Commission shall not exceed 50 percent of the annual costs to the Commission in carrying out those duties.

(b) SECRETARY.—There are authorized to be appropriated annually to the Secretary such sums as may be necessary to carry out his duties under this Act.

SEC. 13. DEFINITIONS.

For purposes of this Act—

(1) The term "Commission" means the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley National Heritage Corridor Commission established under section 5.

(2) The term "State" means the State of Connecticut.

(3) The term "Corridor" means the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley National Heritage Corridor established under section 3.

(4) The term "Plan" means the Cultural Heritage and Corridor Management Plan to be prepared by the Commission pursuant to section 8.

(5) The term "Governor" means the Governor of the State of Connecticut.

(6) The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Interior.

(7) The term "regional planning organization" means each of the 3 regional planning organizations established by Connecticut State statute chapter 127 and chapter 50 (the Northeast Council of Governments, the Windham Regional Planning Agency or its successor, and the Southeastern Connecticut Regional Planning Agency or its successor).

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mrs. UNSOELD). Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. ALLARD] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. VENTO. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 5423, the measure before us.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. Madam Speaker H.R. 5423 establishes the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley National Heritage corridor consisting of 25 local towns in the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley in Connecticut.

The Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley in northeastern Connecticut includes natural landscapes, parks, and other open spaces as well as mill villages, some native American and colonial archeological sites, and sites associated with the Great Awakening religious revival in colonial New England.

In January 1989, the National Park Service began a study of the feasibility and suitability of establishing the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley Heritage corridor in northeastern Connecticut. The report has not been released but the legislation before us is based on the matters reviewed as part of that study.

H.R. 5423 provides for a 19-member commission, which with the assistance of the Secretary of the Interior, would develop and assist with the implementation of a management plan for the corridor, the purpose of which would be to protect and preserve the cultural, historical, and recreational resources of the valley. This bill authorizes the appropriation of $200,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $250,000 thereafter annually to the commission; Federal contributions to the commission could not exceed 50 percent of the annual cost to the commission of carrying out its duties.

The commission is composed of representatives from the Federal Government, from the State of Connecticut, from local government or regional planning organizations, and from the general public. Members of the commission will serve for 3 years, and may serve after the expiration of their term until a successor is appointed.

The commission is authorized to hold hearings but may not issue subpoenas and may receive donations and obtain property subject to the restrictions contained in the act. The commission is intended to serve a coordinating and consultive role in bringing together the many diverse elements involved in the preservation and use of the corridor, and is not a land management agency. While there will be instances when donations of real property are made or offered to the commission, the commission in turn will make such property available to the appropriate public agency for public purposes consistent with the purposes of this act.

The commission's primary purpose will be to prepare and assist in implementing a plan to assist appropriate Federal, State and local agencies in preserving and interpreting the historic and recreational resources of the canal and surrounding area. This plan should enhance existing policies and programs within the corridor and provide a focus to maximize preservation and interpretive efforts.

H.R. 5423 provides that the commission will terminate 5 years after the date of enactment, but may be extended for an additional 5 years if the secretary, in consultation with the Governor of Connecticut, and after a recommendation by the commission, approves such extension. The bill provides for secretarial review and approval of the plan prepared by the commission and directs the secretary to assist the commission in the preparation and implementation of the plan. Other Federal entities are directed to cooperate and coordinate with the secretary and the commission on activities undertaken by such Federal entity within the corridor.

Several changes have been made to the bill as introduced. With regard to the establishment of the commission, the bill now clarifies the appointment process for members of the commission and that members appointed to fill out unexpired terms will be appointed only for the remainder of the term. Further, it specifies that members appointed for definite terms may serve after the expiration of that term until a successor has taken office. The commission is also directed to hold its first meeting not later than 90 days after the date on which its members are appointed.

H.R. 5423, as amended, allows the commission to recommend rather than to establish advisory standards for the construction, preservation, restoration, alteration, and use of all properties within the corridor. The commission may be extended only if the secretary, after consulting with the governor of Connecticut approves the extension, and the secretary would approve or disapprove the commission's plan after consulting with the Governor of Connecticut. Section 11(b) of the original bill, which allowed the commission authority over Federal undertakings affecting the resources of the corridor has been deleted.

Madam Speaker, I believe the bill as amended will protect and preserve the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley resources, and I urge my colleagues' support.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. ALLARD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I cautiously support H.R. 5423, which would study the establishment of the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley Heritage corridor in Connecticut.

As I understand it, the gentleman from Connecticut hopes to preserve the attributes of these river valleys through an arrangement similar to the British national trust.

I have proposed that another river corridor, the Cache La Poudre, be studied for similar treatment.

And I might add, I look forward to working with the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] further on my bill.

In the past and at hearings earlier this year, the Park Service did not support H.R. 5423, because it had little experience with the concept described in the bill.

It is my understanding that the British trust relies heavily on private support and cooperation and tries to keep direct government involvement to a minimum.

If that is true, then perhaps this is a model that should be studied for use in this country.

For that reason, and with the hope we can protect private property rights and and keep acquisitions within bounds, I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 5423.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I wanted to just commend the gentleman from Connecticut [Mr. GEJDENSON], who is the principal sponsor of this measure. He has done yeoman service in terms of working on this issue which is obviously of extreme interest to his State and district.

Mr. Speaker, I praise the gentleman for that.

Mr. GEJDENSON. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased that this legislation to establish the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley National Heritage Corridor in Connecticut comes before the House of Representatives today. I urge my colleagues to join me in support of this important and long-overdue legislation.

Designating the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley as a Heritage corridor will provide a framework to assist State and local governments, and area citizens, in their efforts to develop and implement an integrated resource management program. The corridor will protect and preserve land, waters and historically significant structures along the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers.

As development pressures expand the suburbs of major cities in the Northeast—New York, Hartford, Providence, Worcester, Springfield, and Boston—it is increasingly important that we protect the most significant unspoiled and undeveloped areas in the Northeastern United States. The Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley is such an area.

This region of eastern Connecticut has remained largely unspoiled. In addition to the scenic rural landscapes, rivers, and open space, the valley also provides an outstanding cross-section of the evolution of inland New England from the pre-historic aboriginal period through the successive stages of agricultural settlement and industrialization. For example, the region's role in transformation from Puritan to Yankee, the Great Awakening religious revival, and the Nation's early political development up to and including the War of Independence illustrates its nationally significant cultural and historic role in the development of the United States.

There are also a significant number of historic and architecturally significant mill structures that played a vital role in the industrial development of the United States and which represent an extremely important part of the history of this country.

For many years, I have been working with the State and local governments, private individuals and groups to look for ways to preserve and protect this unique area. In 1988, as chairman of the Oversight and Investigations Subcommittee of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, I conducted a field hearing to assess the situation in Connecticut, the need for additional parks, recreation areas, and open space in Connecticut, and to look at various options for preservation.

In that hearing, 23 witnesses representing the environmental community, government, and industry expressed overwhelming concern about the State's lack of parks, recreational areas, and protected open space, and the loss of important natural, historic, and cultural resources.

The State of Connecticut lags far behind its northeastern neighbors in the amount of land set aside for public recreation. Northeastern States have an average of 294 acres of public recreation land 1,000 residents. Connecticut has less than 100 acres of public land per 1,000 residents, about one-third the average of the other Northeastern States. In addition, the amount of State-owned forest land in Connecticut has declined by 50 percent since 1950. The State of Connecticut ranks dead last among the 50 States in the amount of Federal lands such as national parks, forests, recreation areas, or wildlife areas within its borders. Until last year, when the Weir Farm in Wilton and Ridgefield was established as a National Historic Site, the State of Connecticut had no National Historic Site, the State of Connecticut had no National Park units. How, with authorization of the Weir Farm, there are 2 acres of land managed by the National Park Service.

Congress and the National Park Service have come up with an innovative, cost-effective and cooperative approach to natural resource protection called the National Heritage corridor. The Illinois and Michigan Canal Heritage corridor, which was established in 1984, the Blackstone River Valley National Heritage corridor established in 1986, and the Delaware and Lehigh Navigation Canal National Heritage corridor established in 1988, provide excellent models for cooperative Federal, State, local, and private partnerships for protecting important historical, cultural, and natural resources.

In times of tight budgets, we are no longer able to simply acquire huge tracts of land and expect that the resources will be adequately maintained and interpreted. The Heritage corridor designation can provide a cost-effective means of protecting important resources like the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers by working closely with the local communities and providing technical expertise in managing and interpreting historical and cultural resources.

Mr. Speaker, when we first came up with the idea to establish a national heritage corridor or some mechanism to preserve the important natural and historical resources in the region, we went to the local leaders to get their input, to further discuss what they wanted done and what kind of commitment were they willing to make. The response was quick and extremely positive. All of the local elected officials we talked to were enthusiastic about getting involved, and numerous groups approached me about what they could do to help. Within months, an independent Heritage corridor advisory committee formed itself, and through the leadership of John Boland, Marge Hoskins, Nini Davis, Bob Miller, and others, has been instrumental in moving this proposal forward on the local level. In many cases, after the initial excitement wears off and the real work begins, interest can fade. This group of exceptional and dedicated individuals was different. In the past several years, interest has never waned, and attendance at their monthly meetings has grown to the point where individual subcommittees were formed to take on specific projects.

During the course of our discussions with the advisory committee and State and local leaders, we looked at various State, Federal and local preservation options, but found them to be unacceptable or deficient. In particular, we investigated the Wild and Scenic River Program, but found it to be inadequate and too restrictive for our needs. It did not provide the kind of flexibility we need to protect the resources while protecting economic development opportunities near the rivers, due to the quarter-mile boundary requirements associated with it. It would also have restricted water resources activities, such as the flood control project on the Yantic River begun by the Soil Conservation Service in 1983. Worst of all, it would give significant control of eastern Connecticut's lands and water to the Federal Government at the expense of the local community.

Then, in 1989, at my request, the National Park Service staff toured the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers region to evaluate the feasibility of designating the area as a national heritage corridor. The Park Service staff concluded that the region had great potential for recreation and site interpretation due to its abundance of outstanding 19th century mills, mill villages, and beautiful landscapes, but that further study was required to adequately determine the area's potential for Federal designation. Later that year, the National Park Service North Atlantic Region began what was intended to be a 1-year study to determine an appropriate and effective resource management strategy suited to the needs of the region's resources and its people. Unfortunately, now 3 years later, that study has not been completed or released. Even after numerous requests to the Secretary of Interior and the Undersecretary for Fish, Wildlife and Parks, the Park Service continues to delay with little prospect that the study will ever be completed.

Mr. Speaker, we tried to proceed with this project by the book. We waited 3 years for the 1-year study to be completed, but unfortunately the Park Service continued to play games. Every several months they would promise that the study would be ready soon. After 3 years, we have been more than patient. It is unfortunate that the Park Service continues to stall on this project. Time and again, we in the Interior Committee consider legislation to designate areas as nationally significant, and each time, the administration objects. This time, we tried to play by their rules, but it is now extremely clear that no report will come.

Thus, I am pleased that the Congress is acting on this legislation today. The people of Connecticut have worked very hard, researching and supporting this designation, and it is time for us to recognize this area. During the Columbus Day weekend in October 1991, more than 4,000 people came to Walking Weekend events throughout the corridor, to draw attention to the important resources of the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley. Attendance far exceeded anyone's expectations, and at nearly every event, coordinators ran out of handout materials, providing further evidence of the strong support for the project. The Walking Weekend will be held again this year.

Some critics may contend that the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley was not the first industrial area, it is not the most important recreation area, and it may not contain the oldest archeological resources. And while it could be hard to dispute that, what makes the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley so important is that no other area has the vast combination of resources enjoyed by this area.

Several years ago, the President's Commission on Americans Outdoors reported that families are taking shorter vacations and depending more and more on close-to-home recreation options. The Quinebaug and Shetucket region would provide that to a significant population of the country. One in 12 people live near eastern Connecticut, situated along a major urban corridor and within driving distance of metropolitan areas such as New York, Boston, Hartford, New Haven, Springfield, and Worcester.

Within the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley, you will find the birthplace of Revolutionary War hero Nathan Hale, the site of the first silk mill in America, the site of one of the largest 18th century cotton mills, the first paper mill in the Colonies, the site of the first cut nail manufacturing facility in North America, and the birthplaces of Samuel Huntington and William Williams, both signers of the Declaration of Independence.

You will also find the Prudence Crandall House in Canterbury, where in 1833, Prudence Crandall opened the first teacher training school for black girls. The trouble that she faced became world renowned and she was a symbol for the abolitionist movement in the United States.

The Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley was the area where Uncas, most well-known from the book "Last of the Mohicans" by James Fennimore Cooper, lived and died. Uncas Leap or Yantic Falls in Norwich was the site of the famous battle between the Mohegan Indians and the Narragansett Indians of Rhode Island.

Furthermore, and of particular interest to me, is the recreational potential of the area. There are an almost unlimited number of undeveloped or underdeveloped recreational opportunities. In recent years, the State of Connecticut has done a tremendous job in improving the water quality of a good part of both the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers, making the area prime for swimming, fishing, canoeing, and boating. In addition, there are numerous areas that are excellent for hiking as well as for the development of scenic, natural, and historic trails.

If this area had just a few of these important resources, it might be a manageable project for the State or local governments to handle. However, with so many important sites to manage, mills to restore, recreational areas to develop, historic sites, mills and houses to interpret, this is a job that far exceeds the expertise and resources of the State or local governments. However, designation of this area as a national heritage corridor would be a cooperative and extremely cost-effective way to do it.

This legislation has gained widespread support, having been unanimously endorsed by the Heritage Corridor Advisory Committee. It has also been endorsed by the Governor and the State of Connecticut, the Northeastern Connecticut Council of Governments, the Windham Regional Planning Agency, the Southeastern Connecticut Regional Planning Agency, the Northeast Connecticut Visitors District, the Quinebaug Rivers Association, the Windham Textile and History Museum, the Association of Northeastern Connecticut Historical Societies, and other environmental and historic preservation groups.

Mr. Speaker, designation of the Quinebaug and Shetucket Rivers Valley National Heritage Corridor is an extremely important measure. Through this bill, we will be able to preserve and protect important resources, maintain local control and involvement, encourage local economic development in an area that has been hard hit by defense spending cuts, while establishing a cooperative framework for regional collaboration and protecting important natural, historic, cultural, archaeological, and recreational resources. I urge my colleagues to adopt this important legislation.

Finally, I wish to thank members of the House Committee on Interior, specifically Congressmen MILLER, YOUNG, VENTO, KOSTMAYER, and RHODES, and their staff for their hard work and assistance in bringing this bill to the floor today.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ALLARD. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BILBRAY). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5423, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

AUTHORIZING CONVEYANCE OF LANDS IN LIVINGSTON PARISH, LA

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 1439) to authorize and direct the Secretary of the Interior to convey certain lands in Livingston Parish, LA, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 1439

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

TITLE I—LAND CONVEYANCE

SEC. 101. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds and declares that—

(1) there is a history of adverse claims and title confusion relating to certain lands in Livingston Parish, Louisiana, arising from private land claims predating the Louisiana Purchase;

(2) numerous parties have in good faith placed valuable improvements upon such lands in the belief that they owned such lands; and

(3) the public interest will be best served by clarifying the uncertainty of title by conveying the interest of the United States in such lands to those affected parties.

SEC. 102. CONVEYANCE OF LANDS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, and subject to the reservation in subsection (b), the United States hereby grants all right, title, and interest of the United States in and to certain lands in Livingston Parish, Louisiana, as described in section 103, to those parties who, as of the date of enactment of this Act, would be recognized as holders of a right, title, or interest to any portion of such lands under the laws of the State of Louisiana, but for the interest of the United States in such lands.

(b) RESERVATION OF MINERAL RIGHTS.—The United States hereby excepts and reserves from the provisions of subsection (a) of this section, all minerals underlying such lands, along with the right to prospect for, mine, and remove the minerals under applicable law and such regulations as the Secretary of the Interior may prescribe.

SEC. 103. DESCRIPTION OF LANDS TO BE CONVEYED.

The lands to be conveyed pursuant to this title are those lands located in section 37, township 5 south, range 4 east, St. Helena Meridian, in Livingston Parish, Louisiana.

TITLE II—PORT CHICAGO NATIONAL MEMORIAL

SEC. 201. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be referred to as the "Port Chicago National Memorial Act of 1992".

SEC. 202. FINDINGS.

The Congress hereby finds that—

(1) the Port Chicago Naval Magazine, located in Contra Costa County, California, served as the major West Coast munitions supply facility during World War II, during which time the facility played a critical role in the success of the war effort;

(2) on July 17, 1944, an explosion at Port Chicago, the origin of which has never been determined, resulted in the deaths of 320 officers and sailors, the largest domestic loss of life during World War II, and the injury of many others; and

(3) it is fitting and appropriate that the site of the Port Chicago Naval Magazine, which is currently included in the Concord Naval Weapons Station, be designated as a National Memorial to commemorate the role of the facility during World War II, to recognize those who served at the facility, and to honor the memory of those who gave their lives and were injured in the explosion on July 17, 1944.

SEC. 203. PORT CHICAGO NATIONAL MEMORIAL.

(a) DESIGNATION.—In order to recognize the critical role Port Chicago, located at the Concord Naval Weapons Station in Contra Costa County, California, played in the Second World War by serving as the main facility for the Pacific Theater and the historic importance of the explosion which occurred at the Port Chicago Naval Magazine on July 17, 1944, such Naval Magazine is hereby designated as a National Memorial, to be known as the Port Chicago Naval Magazine National Memorial. The Secretary of the Interior shall take appropriate action to assure that the Memorial is announced in the Federal Register and that official records and lists are amended, in due course, to reflect the inclusion of this memorial along with other national memorials established by an Act of Congress.

(b) MARKER.—The Secretary of the Interior, with the concurrence of the Secretary of Defense, is authorized and directed to place at the site the Port Chicago Naval Magazine National Memorial, as designated under subsection (a), an appropriate plaque or marker commemorating the critical role Port Chicago played in the Second World War and the historic importance of the explosion which occurred at that location on July 17, 1944. The plaque or marker shall include a listing of the names of those who lost their lives during the explosion.

(c) PUBLIC ACCESS.—The Secretary of the Interior shall enter into a cooperative agreement with the Secretary of the Navy to provide for public access to the Memorial.

SEC. 204. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out this title.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. ALLARD] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on the bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 1439 as passed by the Senate would remove clouds from the title to about 640 acres of lands in Livingston Parish, LA, that have long been occupied by private parties by eliminating any possibility that the United States might be deemed to be the owner of the surface estate. In the Interior Committee, the bill was amended so as to also designate the Port Chicago Naval Magazine, in Contra Costa County, CA, as a national memorial.

Sometime prior to 1853, the lands in Louisiana affected by S. 1439, which are currently occupied by some 15 parties, evidently were entered and claimed by a William Kinchen. However, according to the Bureau of Land Management [BLM], no confirmation of this claim has ever been found and no patent was ever issued to convey the land out of Federal ownership.

The General Land Office and BLM have several times considered applications for approval of the Kinchen claim or issuance of a patent for the lands involved, and apparently no further administrative process is available to provide the occupants with clear title.

Title I of the bill as reported would eliminate any Federal interest in the surface of these lands, while retaining all minerals there in Federal ownership.

Title II of S. 1439 consists of the text of the bill House Joint Resolution 306 as approved by the House on June 29, 1992, designating the site of the Port Chicago Naval Magazine a national memorial.

The Port Chicago Naval Magazine was the site of the U.S. Navy's major west coast munitions supply facility during World War II. On July 17, 1944, an explosion killed 320 sailors and officers, the largest domestic war-related loss of life during World War II. Another 390 men were injured. The U.S. Navy continues to operate a munitions facility at the site in Contra Costa County, CA, and provides escorts for visitors who wish to view the scene of the explosion. The Navy also holds a memorial service annually in memory of those who died as a result of the explosion.

This title designates the site of the Port Chicago Naval Magazine, currently included in the Concord Naval Weapons Station, a national memorial. A plaque or marker would be placed at the site commemorating the Second World War and the historic importance of the explosion and resulting loss of life which occurred at that location July 17, 1944. The Secretary of the Interior is directed to enter into a cooperative agreement with the Secretary of the Navy to provide for public access to the site.

The eloquent and moving testimony given at the hearing on House Joint Resolution 306 indicates the importance of this memorial to the survivors of the explosion and to the families of those who were killed at Port Chicago. This memorial is an appropriate recognition of the sacrifices made by those who served at Port Chicago and I urge the passage of the bill, as amended.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. ALLARD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of title I of S. 1439, which clears up title problems for about 640 acres of lands in Livingston Parish, LA. Title I is very similar to legislation introduced last year by Mr. BAKER of Louisiana and was the subject of a hearing last fall by the Subcommittee on National Parks and Public Lands. It is noncontroversial legislation that is supported by the administration.

Title II of this bill, which was added just recently, would designate the Port Chicago Naval Magazine as a national memorial. This site, which is currently part of the Concord Naval Weapons Station, is where an explosion on July 17, 1944, occurred and resulted in deaths to workers contributing to the war effort.

Title II raises several concerns. First, it is unclear what role the Secretary of the Interior will have in visitor use management. Second, since this is an active military base with restricted public access for security reasons, I wonder just how much public use will be allowed.

I rise in support of S. 1439 but hope the Senate will delete title II.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, today, the House is considering S. 1439 to authorize and direct the Secretary of the Interior to convey certain lands in Livingston Parish, LA. Title II would designate the Port Chicago National Memorial in my district to honor the memory and contributions of those who served as the naval magazine. Most of the munitions supplying the Pacific Fleet during World War II were loaded onto ships at Port Chicago.

By designating the Port Chicago National Memorial we will pay homage to the 320 men who died in a cataclysmic explosion that caused the greatest domestic loss of life during World War II. On July 17, 1944, two ships—the E.A. Bryan and the Quinalt Victory—exploded. The blast was equivalent to 5 kilotons of TNT, on the same order of magnitude as the atomic bomb dropped a year later on Hiroshima. The cause of the explosion remains unanswered today.

Everyone on the pier and aboard the ships was killed instantly. Of the 320 deaths, more than 200 were black Americans. This disaster alone accounted for over 15 percent of the total black American naval casualties during the war.

Today, the Port Chicago site is the home of the Concord Naval Weapons Station. There is a small local memorial, and a newly dedicated chapel. But there is no recognition by the people of the United States of the historic role Port Chicago played in the battle for peace, and no monument to salute the hundreds who gave their lives, and who still bear the scars of that terrible night in July 1944.

Title II designates a simple memorial listing the names of those killed during the explosion. The memorial will not impede or restrict the Navy's effort to utilize the Concord Naval Weapons Station. In keeping with the security needs of the base, visitors will continue to be required to seek permission to view the memorial during the hours it is open.

By establishing a national memorial at Port Chicago, we will honor the contributions made by the Port Chicago sailors and by many others who served and sacrificed at home during World War II.

I appreciate Chairman VENTO's efforts on behalf of the Port Chicago National Memorial and encourage my colleagues to support S. 1439.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, S 1439 is legislation establishing land ownership rights for residents in Livingston Parish, LA. While this legislation is not of national significance, it is of vital importance to the people of Livingston Parish. The residents of section 37 have disputed claims that date back to the Louisiana Purchase, and this dispute must finally be settled once and for all.

In the settlement of the Louisiana Purchase in 1803, the United States agreed to recognize title to the land derived from the British, French, and Spanish governments. Commissioners were appointed to investigate claims by individuals to specific lands, report on their validity and recommend whether Congress should confirm the claims.

The private claim of William Kinchen, the original owners of section 37 property, was investigated but never included in the report to Congress. Certain historical records indicate that the omission was an oversight and that Kinchen had qualified as an actual settler for confirmation.

Because no records exist transferring title of the land to private ownership, the area technically remains the property of the Federal Government. Officials with the U.S. Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management attempted to find an administrative solution to the problem; however, the Color of Title Act remedy did not apply to section 37.

The residents of section 37 have paid for this land, built their homes on it, paid local taxes, and made improvements to this land only to find out that they do not own it. These families have waited long enough to gain clear title to their land.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ALLARD. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill S. 1439, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate bill, as amended, was passed.

The title of the Senate bill was amended so as to read: "A bill to authorize and direct the Secretary of the Interior to convey certain lands in Livingston Parish, LA, and for other purposes.".

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

□ 1850

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA LAND EXCHANGE; REGULATION OF ADVERTISING IN PARKS

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5906) to direct the Secretary of the Interior to exchange certain lands with the District of Columbia and to regulate advertising and related commercial activities in the National Park System, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5906

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. ADVERTISING AND RELATED COMMERCIAL ACTIVITIES.

(a) PROHIBITION.—Advertising, commercial notices, and similar commercial activities including (but not limited to) oral, written, or graphic statements or any physical structure, display, or model, presented or developed in any manner with the purpose of soliciting public attention to and promoting the benefits of a particular commercial product, service, or facility, or a group of products, services, or facilities, normally available for purchase in the commercial retail marketplace shall not be allowed in the National Park System (as defined by section 2 of the Act of August 8, 1953 (16 U.S.C. 1c)), except as provided for in subsection (b).

(b) ADVERTISING AND COMMERCIAL NOTICES.—The Director of the National Park Service may give permission for advertising or commercial notice within an area of the National Park System if the Director finds the advertising or commercial notice to be desirable and necessary for the convenience and guidance of park visitors and—

(1) the advertising or commercial notice is for a product, service, or facility available within such park area; or

(2) the advertising or commercial notice is contained in a publication the primary purpose of which is to familiarize visitors with a national park program, activity, or resource, and any such advertising or commercial notice is for a locally available product, service, or facility.

Any such permission shall be in writing. Nothing contained in this subsection is intended to curtail the display, sale, or distribution of newspapers, magazines, theater programs, and similar printed material under the terms of a properly executed concessions permit or contract or a cooperating association agreement.

SEC. 2. RECOGNITION.

Appropriate and limited public acknowledgement of a donor or sponsor's contribution to a specific program, activity, or event in an area of the National Park System may be given on a case-by-case basis to a donor or sponsor only if the program, activity, or event furthers the purposes of the park area, and the recognition is determined to be appropriate.

SEC. 3. ENDORSEMENT.

An advertising, commercial notice, or recognition may not state or otherwise imply National Park Service endorsement of a product, service, or facility.

SEC. 4. ORGANIZED ACTIVITIES AND SPECIAL EVENTS.

Organized activities or special events within an area of the National Park System may only be allowed pursuant to a permit. Such permit may only be issued if there is an appropriate association between the park area and the activity or event and when it can be determined that the organized activity or special event does not—

(1) damage, harm, or destroy the area's resources or values;

(2) pose a risk of damage to any property or endanger public health or safety;

(3) unduly interfere with normal park operations or visitor use; or

(4) result in significant conflict with other uses.

SEC. 5. PROMULGATION OF REGULATIONS.

Within one year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Director of the National Park Service shall promulgate regulations to implement the requirements of this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BILBRAY). Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. ALLARD] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 5906, the bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 5906, as introduced directed the Secretary of the Interior to exchange the William Fitzgerald Tennis Stadium for other lands in the District of Columbia and placed restrictions on commercial activities in units of the National Park System. It was amended by the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs to delete the stadium transfer.

I have been—and remain—very concerned about the incursion of commercialism fostered by this administration at Rock Creek, one of our oldest national parks. By allowing the tennis tournament activities and the advertising that accompanies it in Rock Creek and by promulgating a special regulation to legalize such advertising this administration has changed a fundamental and longstanding policy regarding our national parks.

I have also been concerned about the lack of local control over the stadium and its activities. To this end I proposed transferring the stadium to the District of Columbia. I continue to believe that would be the best course to pursue. But the lateness of the session and the inability of the key players to reach agreement on the management of the stadium pursuant to such transfer makes such an approach infeasible. For now the tennis stadium transfer is deleted but I intend to address the issue at a later date.

The restrictions on advertising and commercial activities remain in the bill. Without such restrictions I believe that the National Park System is at risk of being exploited with more and more commercial ventures. I also want to note that the test of an appropriate association between a park and an event is not intended to end all historic activities that occur on park lands, such as the July 4th celebration or the black family reunion at the National Mall, but to ensure that inappropriate events not directly related to parks not be added. Each such event, no matter how worthy it may be, creates further demands on scarce park resources and may actually damage park resources as well. We need to focus National Park Service efforts on the primary purposes of parks—the preservation and interpretation of their precious resources—and not let the National Park Service focus its efforts elsewhere to the detriment of those primary purposes. Mr. Speaker, I support H.R. 5906, as amended, and recommend its adoption by the House.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. ALLARD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, while I share the concerns of the chairman with respect to ensuring that commercialism does not overtake our national parks, and would be pleased to join him in a more general statute outlining such congressional intent, I must join with the administration in opposing this measure before us today.

It is apparent that this legislation was developed in response to a number of commercial activities associated with events held at the William Fitzgerald Tennis Center in Rock Creek Park.

While I would agree with concerns which have been surfaced about the nature of some of the commercial activities associated with those events, I am very concerned that this hastily considered generic legislation would unnecessarily outlaw many suitable visitor activities at parks throughout the country.

While Mr. VENTO accurately states that this bill is largely based on existing NPS regulations and policies, he deletes the fact that the NPS is currently reviewing portions of those regulations which have proven unworkable.

I do not understand the need for many of the statutory restrictions contained in this measure, for example:

Why should we enact a statute prohibiting a park from handing out literature which presents the recreation opportunities at a park in an overall regional context?

Why should we place such tight restrictions on making available literature on food and lodging outside the park, which nonlocal visitors would likely be unaware of and which could help reduce the congestion in the park itself?

Further, this legislation advances the agenda of the many environmentalists who want to limit legitimate public use of our parks.

Section 4 of the bill would appear to prohibit such ongoing charitable, recreational, and celebratory events as the Marine Corps Marathon, the annual Christmas Parade in Harper's Ferry, and the African-American Parade at Independence Hall.

While the report of the majority attempts to exclude from operation of the statute certain categories of events which could otherwise be barred based on a reading of the bill itself, it is notable that this exemption is limited to traditional events.

In other words no new events would be permitted.

Based on these many problems with the wording of this text, I must conclude that the detailed nature of these restrictions would be far better presented in regulations than in law.

Therefore, I hope my colleagues would join me in opposing this measure.

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to rise in support of this important legislation that my distinguished colleague Congressman BRUCE VENTO has worked tirelessly to bring to this floor today. This bill has a long and arduous history, part of which involves one of this city's loveliest natural settings, Rock Creek Park.

As the chairman of the Subcommittee on National Parks and Public Lands and a staunch defender of the integrity of the National Parks System, Chairman VENTO has demonstrated deep and well-justified concern about the dramatic increase in commercial advertising in the national parks.

Chairman VENTO's interest in this issue was heightened, no doubt, when the Department of the Interior issued a special directive several years ago allowing corporate and promotional advertising campaigns in the national parks. Since that time there has been an unprecedented and dramatic rise in the level of commercial activity in our Nation's parks. In the District of Columbia in particular, there has been significant commercial activity at the William G. Fitzgerald Tennis Stadium in Rock Creek Park, drawing the consternation of residents who live near the park and those who seek to preserve the parks for their intended use. I wish to personally thank my thoughtful and committed colleague, BRUCE VENTO, for the consideration he has consistently shown to the District and its residents with regard to Rock Creek Park and other parks in the Nation's Capital.

I strongly support this legislation. The situation in my own district has illustrated the danger of letting commercial activity get out of hand. If there are no clear parameters for commercial activity, there are always those who will seek profits to the detriment of and, indeed, in violations of the underlying purpose of our National Park System. While some limited commercial advertising may be useful and therefore permissible, our national parks should not just be treated as large empty spaces to post billboards.

This legislation takes a well-reasoned approach, generally prohibiting advertising and commercial activities, but allowing the Director of the National Park Service to grant exceptions under specific circumstances. Most importantly, this legislation serves to protect the Nation's parks from further commercial intrusions of the kind we've witnessed here in the District of Columbia.

I commend Mr. VENTO for his diligent efforts and urge my colleagues to support H.R. 5906.

Mr. ALLARD. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5906), as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

The title of the bill was amended so as to read: "A bill to regulate advertising and related commercial activities in the National Park System, and for other purposes.".

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

DESIGNATION OF SEGMENTS OF GREAT EGG HARBOR RIVER

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5853) to designate segments of the Great Egg Harbor River and its tributaries in the State of New Jersey as components of the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5853

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. DESIGNATION.

Section 3(a) of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act (16 U.S.C. 1274(a)) is amended by adding the following new paragraph at the end thereof:

"( ) GREAT EGG HARBOR. NEW JERSEY.—39.5 miles of the main stem to be administered by the Secretary of the Interior in the following classifications:

"(A) from the mouth of the Patcong Creek to the mouth of Perch Cove Run, approximately 10 miles, as a scenic river;

"(B) from Perch Cove Run to the Mill Street Bridge, approximately 5.5 miles, as a recreational river;

"(C) from Lake Lenape to the Atlantic City Expressway, approximately 21 miles, as a recreational river; and

"(D) from Williamstown-New Freedom Road to the Pennsylvania Railroad right-of-way, approximately 3 miles, as a recreation river, and

89.5 miles of the following tributaries to be administered by the Secretary of the Interior in the following classifications:

"(E) Squankum Branch from its confluence with Great Egg Haroor River to Malaga Road, approximately 4.5 miles, as a recreational river;

"(F) Big Bridge Branch, from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to headwaters, approximately 2.2 miles, as a recreational river;

"(G) Penny Pot Stream Branch, from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to 14th Street, approximately 4.1 miles, as a recreational river;

"(H) Deep Run, from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to Pancoast Mill Road, approximately 5.4 miles, as a recreational river;

"(I) Mare Run, from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to Weymouth Avenue, approximately 3 miles, as a recreational river;

"(J) Babcock Creek, from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to headwaters, approximately 7.5 miles, as a recreational river;

"(K) Gravelly Run, from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to Pennsylvania Railroad Right-of-Way, approximately 2.7 miles, as a recreational river;

"(L) Miry Run, from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to Asbury Road, approximately 1.7 miles, as a recreational river;

"(M) South River, from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to Main Avenue, approximately 13.5 miles, as a recreational river;

"(N) Stephen Creek, from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to New Jersey Route 50, approximately 2.3 miles, as a recreational river;

"(O) Gibson Creek, from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to First Avenue, approximately 5.6 miles, as a recreational river;

"(P) English Creek, from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to Zion Road, approximately 3.5 miles, as a recreational river;

"(Q) Lakes Creek, from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to the dam, approximately 2.2 miles, as a recreational river;

"(R) Middle River, from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to the levee, approximately 5.6 miles, as a scenic river;

"(S) Patcong Creek, from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to Garden State Parkway, approximately 2.8 miles, as a recreational river;

"(T) Tuckahoe River (lower segment) from its confluence with Great Egg Harbor River to the Route 50 bridge, approximately 9 miles, as a scenic river;

"(U) Tuckahoe River, from the Route 50 Bridge to Route 49 Bridge, approximately 7.3 miles, as a recreational river; and

"(V) Cedar Swamp Creek, from its confluence with Tuckahoe River to headwaters, approximately 6 miles, as a scenic river.".

SEC. 2. MANAGEMENT.

(a) DUTIES OF SECRETARY.—The Secretary of the Interior shall manage the river segments designated as components of the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System by this Act through cooperative agreements with the political jurisdictions within which such segments pass, pursuant to section 10(e) of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, and in consultation with such jurisdictions, except that publicly-owned lands within the boundaries of such segments shall continue to be managed by the agency having jurisdiction over such lands.

(b) AGREEMENTS.—(1) Cooperative agreements for management of the river segments referred to in subsection (a) shall provide for the long-term protection, preservation, and enhancement of such segments and shall be consistent with the comprehensive management plans for such segments to be prepared by the Secretary of the Interior pursuant to section 3(d) of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act and with local river management plans prepared by appropriate local political jurisdictions in conjunction with the Secretary of the Interior.

(2) The Secretary of the Interior, in consultation with appropriate representatives of local political jurisdictions and the State of New Jersey, shall review local river management plans described in paragraph (1) to assure that their proper implementation will protect the values for which the river segments described in subsection (a) were designated as components of the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System. If after such review the Secretary determines that such plans meet the protection standards for local zoning ordinances specified in section 6(c) of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, such plans shall be deemed to constitute "local zoning ordinances" and each township and other incorporated local jurisdiction covered by such plans shall be deemed to constitute a "village" for the purposes of section 6(c) (prohibiting the acquisition of lands by condemnation) of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act.

(3) The Secretary of the Interior shall biennially review compliance with the local river management plans described in paragraph (1) and shall promptly report to the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate any deviation from such plans which could result in any diminution of the values for which the river segment concerned was designated as a component of the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

(c) PLANNING ASSISTANCE.—(1) The Secretary of the Interior may provide planning assistance to local political subdivisions of the State of New Jersey through which flow river segments that are designated as components of the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System, and may enter into memoranda of understanding or cooperative agreements with officials or agencies of the United States or the State of New Jersey to ensure that Federal and State programs that could affect such segments are carried out in a manner consistent with the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act and applicable river management plans.

(2) For purposes of the planning assistance authorized and reviews required by this subsection, there are hereby authorized to be appropriated not to exceed $70,000 annually.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. ALLARD] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 5853, the legislation now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 5853, by Representative HUGHES, would designate as components of the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System almost 130 river miles of the Great Egg Harbor River and its tributaries in the State of New Jersey.

The Great Egg Harbor River drains portions of the Pinelands National Reserve, in New Jersey. All waters in the Pinelands have been designated by the Environmental Protection Agency as outstanding National resource waters, to be protected from any change in quality.

Legislation enacted in 1986 directed study of the Great Egg Harbor River for possible inclusion in the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System. In January 1991, the National Park Service reported the results of the study.

The studied segments of the river and its tributaries were found eligible for wild and scenic river designation, and designation was recommended for most of the Great Egg Harbor River and its tributaries.

As recommended in the studies, the bill would add 39.5 miles of the Great Egg Harbor River and 89.5 miles of its tributaries to the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System, specifying which segments would be managed as scenic and which as recreational rivers.

The Interior Committee adopted one amendment to conform the management provisions of the bill with other similar legislation, and to explicitly provide that approved local river management plans will, as provided by section 6(c) of the wild and scenic rivers, have the effect of prohibiting any Federal condemnation of land.

Mr. Speaker, this is a good bill that represents the outcome of many years of dedicated work by the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. HUGHES]. He deserves our thanks for making it possible to bring forward this important measure for protection of this river system, with this many outstanding natural and other values. I urge the approval of the bill as amended.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. ALLARD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5853, a bill to designate 129 miles of the Great Egg Harbor River and tributaries as units of the Wild, and Scenic River System.

The gentleman from Minnesota has adequately explained the details of this measure.

I am aware that the administration does not support this measure, but their reason for opposition is based on the fact that a formal recommendation has not been transmitted to Congress rather than questions regarding the merits of the bill.

I would only note that it is commendable that the chairman has adopted the suggestions of the bill's sponsor and the local persons who argued before the committee that there should be no authority for condemnation included in this bill.

That departure from ordinary committee language certainly facilitated the passage of this measure and would have resolved major problems with such other measures as the Niobrara River which we considered earlier this session.

I can only hope the chairman will continue to endorse this approach for designation of future rivers which are substantially privately owned.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. HUGHES], the sponsor of this legislation, whom I want to credit not just for the legislation but also for the study that initiated it. I hope we can see this legislation through this session.

Mr. HUGHES. Mr. Speaker, first let me thank the distinguished subcommittee chairman for his splendid cooperation and work. He and his staff put out more legislation, minority staff, probably in this subcommittee than any other committee of the Congress, and it is quality work. I thank the gentleman and the ranking Republican for expediting this in the closing hours of this session.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5853, legislation which I introduced to designate some 129 miles of the Great Egg Harbor River and its tributaries in the State of New Jersey as components of the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

This wild and scenic designation assures the long-term protection of unique natural resources through sound, locally implemented river management plans. Only the most select free-flowing rivers that have outstanding natural, cultural, or recreational values make up the Wild and Scenic System.

In 1986, I, along with my Senate colleagues, sponsored legislation authorizing the National Park Service to study the eligibility of these rivers and their tributaries for inclusion into the National System. After 6 years of study, the National Park Service found that all segments of the river were eligible for designation under the Wild and Scenic System.

Indeed, the Great Egg Harbor River is one of New Jersey's most magnificent treasures. Rising in Berlin Township and flowing south through Camden and Atlantic counties, the river forms an integral part of the pinelands ecosystem and of the rich culture history of southern New Jersey.

This region provides important habitat for a wide variety of animals, birds, and plants, including such rare and endangered species as the sensitive joint vetch, barratt's sedge, the bald eagle and the peregrine falcon.

This river is also one of the longest canoeable rivers in the pinelands and is well known for its fishing, boating, and recreational activities. Furthermore, there are many sites of cultural and historical interest along the river corridor including the remains of the iron and shipping industry.

The local communities have shown their commitment to the preservation of this very special resource. Now, the onus is on Congress to enact this legislation so that the river will be managed in such a way as to conserve the attributes for which it is being designated.

I commend BRUCE VENTO, chairman of the National Parks and Public Lands Subcommittee and Mr. MILLER, chairman of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee for bringing this legislation forward today.

I am very excited about the designation of the Great Egg Harbor River, New Jersey's first wild and scenic river, and I solicit my colleagues' support for this legislation. Indeed, support for this bill is an opportunity to preserve one of the truly unique watersheds of the east coast.

☐ 1900

People think of New Jersey as what they see from the turnpike, exit 6, exit 7. They do not think of New Jersey as having such treasures. They do not think of New Jersey as having water that is so pure that it is drinkable, and as southern New Jersey grows and prospers it is important that we preserve that quality of life, and this will help us do that. So I thank you.

A lot of people along the way are responsible for this. I mentioned my colleagues in the Congress. I want to thank the committee staff, Stanley Sloss for his work in moving this through the process. And I want to thank Ashley Evans of my staff for her work. I want to thank the late Warren Fox who had a dream many years ago of preserving this river. He loved the Great Egg Harbor River. And also Julie Akers of the Great Egg Watershed Association, and on and on I could go with the number of people that made this possible.

Mr. Speaker, it is a good bill, and I urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I commend this bill to my colleagues.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of our time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. (Mr. BILBRAY). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5853, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

MINOR BOUNDARY ADJUSTMENT AND MISCELLANEOUS PARK AMENDMENTS ACT OF 1992

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 2563). to provide for the rehabilitation of historic structures within the Sandy Hook Unit of Gateway National Recreation Area in the State of New Jersey, and for other purposes as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 2563

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Minor Boundary Adjustments and Miscellaneous Park Amendments Act of 1992".

TITLE I—SANDY HOOK UNIT OF GATEWAY NATIONAL RECREATION AREA

SEC. 101. MARINE ACADEMY AGREEMENT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—In order to further the revitalization, rehabilitation, and utilization of Fort Hancock within the Sandy Hook Unit of Gateway National Recreation Area, the Secretary of the Interior may enter into an agreement with the Monmouth County Vocational School District or a successor (referred to in this title as the "District"), to permit the use by the District of properties situated along Gunnison Road and Magruder Road for the purpose of developing and operating, without cost to the National Park Service, a secondary school program to be known as the Marine Academy of Science and Technology.

(b) DESIGN OF FACILITIES.—The design of new facilities and landscape improvements, and the rehabilitation of existing facilities for school and administrative use, shall be subject to the approval of the Director of the National Park Service. In determining whether to approve the design and rehabilitation, the Director shall use standards for rehabilitation and National Park Service guidelines and policies that are approved by the Secretary of the Interior.

SEC. 102. REVERSION.

If the properties, facilities, and improvements referred to in section 101 are not used by the District for a secondary school program, the agreement authorized by section 101 shall be terminated and all use of the properties, facilities, and improvements shall revert, without consideration, to the National Park Service.

SEC. 103. REIMBURSEMENT.

(a) REHABILITATION.—As a condition of entering into the agreement authorized by section 101, the Secretary of the Interior may—

(1) accept reimbursement expenses, of not more than $500,000, to cover the cost of rehabilitating other property within the Sandy Hook Unit of Gateway National Recreation Area for park uses that are displaced from facilities used by the District under the agreement authorized by section 101; or

(2) require the District to rehabilitate other property for the park uses—

(A) under the direction of the National Park Service; and

(B) at a cost of not more than $500,000.

(b) FEES FOR SERVICES.—The Director of the National Park Service may collect and retain reasonable fees for services provided to the District by the National Park Service, including alarm monitoring, permit compliance, fire and police protection, and snow removal.

TITLE II—CLARIFICATION OF AUTHORITY TO COOPERATE WITH NON-FEDERAL ENTITIES IN THE CONDUCT OF RESEARCH CONCERNING UNITS OF THE NATIONAL PARK SYSTEM

SEC. 201. COOPERATIVE AGREEMENTS FOR RESEARCH PURPOSES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 3 of the Act entitled "An Act to improve the administration of the national park system by the Secretary of the Interior, and to clarify the authorities applicable to the system, and for other purposes" approved August 18, 1970 (16 U.S.C. 1a–2), is amended—

(1) in paragraph (i), by striking out the period at the end thereof and inserting in lieu thereof "; and"; and

(2) by adding at the end thereof the following:

"(j) enter into cooperative agreements with public or private educational institutions, States, and their political subdivisions, or private conservation organizations for the purpose of developing adequate, coordinated, cooperative research and training programs concerning the resources of the National Park System and, pursuant to such agreements, to accept from and make available to the cooperator such technical and support staff, financial assistance for mutually agreed upon research projects, supplies and equipment, facilities, and administrative services relating to cooperative research units as the Secretary deems appropriate; except that this paragraph shall not waive any requirements for research projects that are subject to the Federal procurement regulations.".

(b) REPORT.—Within six months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit to the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate a report containing legislative and administrative recommendations for improving the science and research programs of the National Park Service which addresses the deficiencies in those programs discussed in the 1992 National Research Council report entitled "Science and the National Parks" and the 1992 National Park Service report entitled "National Parks for the 21st Century; the Vail Agenda".

TITLE III—MUSEUM PROPERTIES IN THE NATIONAL PARK SYSTEM

SEC. 301. FUNCTIONS OF SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

The Act entitled "An Act to increase the public benefits from the National Park System by facilitating the management of museum properties relating thereto, and for other purposes" approved July 1, 1955 (16 U.S.C. 18f), is amended—

(1) in paragraph (b) of the first section, by striking out "from such donations and bequests of money"; and

(2) by adding at the end thereof the following:

"SEC. 2. ADDITIONAL FUNCTIONS.

"(a) In addition to the functions specified in the first section of this Act, the Secretary of the Interior may perform the following functions in such manner as he shall consider to be in the public interest:

"(1) Transfer museum objects, museum collections, and other personal property that the Secretary determines is no longer needed for museum purposes to qualified Federal agencies that have programs to preserve and interpret cultural or natural heritage and accept the transfer of personal property for the purposes of this Act from any other Federal agency. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the head of any other Federal agency may transfer personal property directly to the administrative jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior for the purposes of this Act.

"(2) Convey museum objects, museum collections, and other personal property that the Secretary determines is no longer needed for museum purposes, without monetary consideration but subject to such terms and conditions as the Secretary deems necessary, to private institutions exempt from Federal taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and to non-Federal governmental entities if the Secretary determines that the recipient is dedicated to the preservation and interpretation of natural or cultural heritage and is qualified to manage the property, prior to any conveyance under this subsection.

"(3) Sell by negotiated sale or to the highest bidder those museum objects, museum collections, and other personal property that the Secretary determines—

"(A) are no longer needed for museum purposes or no longer have scientific value; and

"(B) cannot reasonably be disposed of by exchange, loan, gift, or transfer under paragraph (c) or (e) of the first section of this Act and paragraphs (1) and (2) of this Act, subject to such terms and conditions as the Secretary deems necessary to protect the public interest.

"The proceeds of any sale under this subsection shall, notwithstanding any other provision of law, be retained by the Secretary and used solely to defray the costs of administration, acquisition, maintenance, repair, and related expenses with respect to museum objects, museum collections, and other personal property under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior and used for purposes of the National Park System.

"(4) Destroy or cause to be destroyed museum objects, museum collections, and other personal property that the Secretary determines to have no scientific, cultural, historic, educational, esthetic, or monetary value.

"(b) The Secretary shall ensure that museum property is treated in a careful and deliberate manner that protects the public interest. Prior to taking any action under subsection (a), the Secretary shall establish a systematic review and approval process, including consultation with appropriate experts, that meets the highest standards of the museum profession for all actions taken under this section.".

SEC. 302. APPLICATION AND DEFINITIONS.

The Act entitled "An Act to increase the public benefits from the National Park System by facilitating the management of museum properties relating thereto, and for other purposes" approved July 1, 1955 (16 U.S.C. 18f), as amended by section 301 of this Act, is further amended by adding the following:

"SEC. 3. APPLICATION AND DEFINITIONS.

"(a) APPLICATION.—Authorities in this Act shall be available to the Secretary of the Interior with regard to museum objects, museum collections, and other personal property that was under the administrative jurisdiction of the Secretary for purposes of the National Park System before the date of enactment of this section as well as those properties that may be acquired on or after such date.

"(b) DEFINITIONS.—For the purposes of this Act, the terms 'museum object, museum property and other personal property' mean objects that are made part of a museum, library, or archive collection through a formal procedure, such as accessioning. Such objects are usually movable and include but are not limited to prehistoric and historic artifacts, works of art, books, documents, photographs, and natural history specimens.

"(c) PRIORITY OF ACT.—To the extent that the management of museum objects, museum property and other personal property differs from management of personal property as described in the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949, as amended, the provisions of this Act shall control and the Secretary is authorized to promulgate regulations to govern the acquisition, management, and disposition of such museum property.".

TITLE IV—MINOR BOUNDARY ADJUSTMENTS

SEC. 401. SHENANDOAH NATIONAL PARK LAND TRANSFER.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subsection (b), the Secretary of the Interior may transfer certain land located in the Shenandoah National Park and described in subsection (c) to the Secretary of the Treasury for use by the Secretary of the Treasury as a United States Customs Service Canine Enforcement Training Center and for other uses deemed appropriate by the Secretary of the Treasury.

(b) CONDITIONS OF TRANSFER.—

(1) PROTECTION OF THE PARK.—An agreement to transfer land pursuant to subsection (a) shall include such provisions for the protection of Shenandoah National Park as the Secretary of the Interior considers necessary.

(2) CONSIDERATION.—A transfer pursuant to subsection (a) may be made without consideration or reimbursement.

(3) REVERSION.—If the land referred to in subsection (a) becomes surplus to the needs of the Secretary of the Treasury at any time, title to the land shall revert to the Department of the Interior. The Secretary of the Treasury shall be responsible for certifying that the property is not contaminated with hazardous substances before reversion is completed.

(c) DESCRIPTION OF THE LAND.—The land referred to in subsection (a) is a plot of fenced land equalling 9.888 acres containing buildings, structures, fixtures, equipment, and other improvements affixed to or resting upon the land, and has the following legal description:

The administrative boundary between Independence National Historical Park and the United States Customs House along the Moravian Street Walkway in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, is hereby modified as generally depicted on the drawing entitled "Exhibit 1, Independence National Historical Park, Boundary Adjustment", and dated May 1987, which shall be on file and available for public inspection in the Office of the National Park Service, Department of the Interior. The Secretary of the Interior is authorized to accept and transfer jurisdiction over property in accord with such administrative boundary, as modified by this section.

SEC. 405. CRATERS OF THE MOON NATIONAL MONUMENT BOUNDARY ADJUSTMENT.

(a) BOUNDARY REVISION.—The boundary of Craters of the Moon National Monument, Idaho, is revised to add approximately 210 acres and to delete approximately 315 acres as generally depicted on the map entitled "Craters of the Moon National Monument, Idaho, Proposed 1987 Boundary Adjustment", numbered 131–80,008, and dated October 1987, which map shall be on file and available for public inspection in the Office of the National Park Service, Department of the Interior.

(b) ADMINISTRATION; ACQUISITION.—Federal lands, waters, and interests therein deleted from the boundary of the national monument by this section shall be administered by the Secretary of the Interior through the Bureau of Land Management in accordance with the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1701 et seq.), and Federal lands, waters, and interests therein added to the national monument by this section shall be administered by the Secretary as part of the national monument, subject to the laws and regulations applicable thereto. The Secretary is authorized to acquire private lands, waters, and interests therein within the boundary of the national monument by donation, purchase with donated or appropriated funds, or exchange, and when acquired they shall be administered by the Secretary as part of the national monument, subject to the laws and regulations applicable thereto.

SEC. 406. HAGERMAN FOSSIL BEDS NATIONAL MONUMENT BOUNDARY ADJUSTMENT.

Section 302 of the Arizona-Idaho Conservation Act of 1988 (102 Stat. 4576) is amended by adding the following new subsection:

"(d) To further the purposes of the monument, the Secretary is also authorized to acquire from willing sellers only, by donation, purchase with donated or appropriated funds, or exchange not to exceed 65 acres outside the boundary depicted on the map referred to in section 301 and develop and operate thereon research, information, interpretive, and administrative facilities. Lands acquired and facilities developed pursuant to this subsection shall be administered by the Secretary as part of the monument. The boundary of the monument shall be modified to include the lands added under this subsection as a noncontiguous parcel.".

SEC. 407. WUPATKI NATIONAL MONUMENT BOUNDARY ADJUSTMENT.

The boundary of the Wupatki National Monument, Arizona, is hereby revised to include the lands and interests in lands within the area generally depicted as "Proposed Addition 168.89 Acres" on the map entitled "Boundary—Wupatki and Sunset Crater National Monuments, Arizona", numbered 322–80,021, and dated April 1989. The map shall be on file and available for public inspection in the Office of the National Park Service, Department of the Interior. Subject to valid existing rights, Federal lands, and interests therein within the area added to the monument by this section are hereby transferred without monetary consideration or reimbursement to the administrative jurisdiction of the National Park Service, to be administered as part of the monument in accordance with the laws and regulations applicable thereto.

SEC. 408. YUCCA HOUSE NATIONAL MONUMENT BOUNDARY ADJUSTMENT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The boundaries of Yucca House National Monument are revised to include the approximately 24.27 acres of land generally depicted on the map entitled "Boundary—Yucca House National Monument, Colorado", numbered 318/80,001–B, and dated February 1990.

(b) MAP.—The map referred to in subsection (a) shall be on file and available for public inspection in appropriate offices of the National Park Service of the Department of the Interior.

(c) ACQUISITION BY DONATION.—(1) Within the lands described in section 408(a), the Secretary of the Interior may acquire lands and interests in lands by donation.

(2) The Secretary of the Interior may pay administrative costs arising out of any donation described in paragraph (1) with appropriated funds.

SEC. 409. HARPERS FERRY NATIONAL HISTORICAL PARK BOUNDARY ADJUSTMENT.

The first section of the Act entitled "An Act to provide for the establishment of the Harpers Ferry National Monument", approved June 30, 1944 (16 U.S.C. 450bb), is amended by inserting at the end thereof the following: "The Secretary is authorized to acquire by donation only the lands and interests in lands generally depicted on the map entitled 'Harpers Ferry Addition', numbered 385/80,066, and dated September 1992, which lands or interests therein shall, when acquired, become a part of the park, subject to the laws and regulations applicable thereto, and the boundaries of the park shall be revised to include such lands and interests.".

TITLE V—MISCELLANEOUS SPECIFIC PARK AMENDMENTS

SEC. 501. ADVISORY COMMISSIONS.

(a) KALOKO-HONOKOHAU NATIONAL HISTORICAL PARK, HI.—Section 505(f)(7) of the National Parks and Recreation Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 396d(f)(7)), is amended by striking out "ten years" and inserting in lieu thereof "twenty years".

TITLE VI—GENERAL AUTHORIZATIONS AND REPEALERS

SEC. 601. LIMITATION ON PARK BUILDINGS.

The 10th undesignated paragraph (relating to a limitation on the expenditure of funds for park buildings) under the heading "MISCELLANEOUS OBJECTS, DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR", which appears under the heading "UNDER THE DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR", as contained in the first section of the Act of August 24, 1912 (37 Stat. 460), as amended (16 U.S.C. 451), is hereby repealed.

SEC. 602. HISTORIC PRESERVATION FUNDS GRANTS.

Section 301(2) of the National Historic Preservation Act, as amended (16 U.S.C. 470w), is amended by inserting "the Federated States of Micronesia, the Republic of the Marshall Islands, the Republic of Palau," after "Northern Mariana Islands,".

SEC. 603. APPROPRIATIONS FOR TRANSPORTATION OF CHILDREN.

The first section of the Act of August 7, 1946 (16 U.S.C. 17j–2), is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(j) Provide transportation for children in nearby communities to and from any unit of the National Park System used in connection with organized recreation and interpretive programs of the National Park Service.".

SEC. 604. FERAL BURROS AND HORSES.

Section 9 of the Act of December 15, 1971 (16 U.S.C. 1338a), is amended by adding at the end thereof the following: "Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to limit the authority of the Secretary in the management of units of the National Park System, and the Secretary may, without regard either to the provisions of this Act, or section 47(a) of title 18, United States Code, use motor vehicles, fixed-wing aircraft and helicopters, or contract for such use, in furtherance of the management of the National Park System, and the provisions of section 47(a) of title 18, United States Code, shall not be applicable to such use.".

SEC. 605. AUTHORIZATION OF STUDIES.

(a) SAN ANTONIO HISTORIC PARK DISTRICT.—

(1) AUTHORIZATION.—The Secretary of the Interior shall conduct a study of the area described in paragraph 4 to determine its significance in illustrating and commemorating the role of pre-Colombian Indians, Franciscan Missionaries, post-mission Mexican ranchos, and pioneers of the western expansion in the development of the State of California. As part of the study, the Secretary shall provide recommendations on the suitability and feasibility of establishing the area as a unit of the National Park System.

(2) CONTENTS OF STUDY.—The study of the Secretary shall contain, but not be limited to, findings with respect to—

(A) measures for preserving and interpreting historic resources associated with the Mission San Antonio de Padua, including its architectural and cultural resources;

(B) measures for preserving and interpreting historic and prehistoric archeological features of the area;

(C) opportunities within the area to memorialize and interpret four stages of California history, including pre-Colombian Indians, Franciscan Spanish Missionaries, post-mission Mexican ranchos, and pioneers of the western expansion; and

(D) natural and recreational values of the area.

(3) CONSULTATION.—In preparing the study under this subsection, the Secretary shall consult with the Friends of Historic San Antonio Mission, San Antonio Valley Historical Association, other interested historical organizations, the Department of the Army and appropriate local, State, and Federal agencies.

(4) AREA STUDIED.—The area studied pursuant to paragraph (1) shall include the Mission San Antonio de Padua in California and its surrounding historic and prehistoric archeological sites.

(5) CONGRESSIONAL REVIEW.—The Secretary shall transmit the study to the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate within one year after the date on which funds are appropriated for the study.

(6) AUTHORIZATION.—There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this subsection.

(b) THEME STUDY ON THE HISTORY OF WATER CONSERVATION AND WATERSHED MANAGEMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of the Interior shall prepare and transmit to the Congress a National Historic Landmark Theme Study on the History of Water Conservation and Watershed Management (hereafter in this subsection referred to as the "theme study"). The theme study shall be prepared in consultation with the appropriate Federal agencies, State and local governments, as well as land, water and agricultural groups.

(2) PURPOSE.—The purpose of the theme study shall be to identify the key sites and structures that illustrate the development and management of water resources critical to the westward expansion of the Nation. This includes the sociocultural evolution of a working river from aboriginal tribes, through early exploration, nineteenth century settlement, development of a water dependent agricultural economy and an ongoing transition to present day urban development.

(3) HISTORIC LANDMARKS.—In the theme study, the Secretary shall identify, evaluate, and nominate as national historic landmarks those unique and significant contributions to our national heritage of cultural and historical lands, waterways, structures and landscapes.

(4) NEW PARK UNITS.—On the basis of the theme study, the Secretary shall—

(A) identify possible new park units appropriate to the theme of the history of water development; and

(B) analyze the feasibility and suitability of their including these sites in the National Park System.

This analysis shall include a detailed study of the Cache la Poudre River Basin.

(5) COMPLETION.—The theme study shall be completed not later than 2 years after the date funds are made available for such study.

(6) COOPERATIVE AGREEMENT.—

(A) The Secretary may enter into a cooperative agreement with one or more scholarly and public historic organizations to—

(i) prepare the theme study; and

(ii) ensure that the theme study is prepared in accordance with generally accepted standards.

(B) The scholarly and public historic organizations shall—

(i) be knowledgeable of the history of water development in the West; and

(ii) ensure that the theme study meets scholarly standards.

TITLE VII—INCREASES FOR LAND ACQUISITION FOR CERTAIN UNITS OF THE NATIONAL PARK SYSTEM

SEC. 701. ACQUISITION CEILING INCREASES.

The limitations on appropriations for the acquisition of lands and interests therein within units of the National Park System contained in the following Act is amended as follows:

CHANNEL ISLANDS NATIONAL PARK, CALIFORNIA.—Section 208 of the Act of March 15, 1980 (16 U.S.C. 410ff-7), is amended by striking out "$30,100,000" and inserting in lieu thereof "$46,000,000".

SEC. 702. VOLUNTEERS IN THE PARKS INCREASE.

Section 4 of the Volunteers in the Parks Act of 1969 (16 U.S.C. 18j) is amended by striking out "$1,000,000" and inserting in lieu thereof "$1,750,000".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. ALLARD] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on this measure.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 2563, as amended, provides for the rehabilitation of historic structures within the Sandy Hook unit of Gateway National Recreation Area in the State of New Jersey and makes several minor boundary adjustments and other miscellaneous changes in programs and authorities related to the National Park Service.

The Fort Hancock district of the Sandy Hook unit of the Gateway National Recreation Area in New Jersey contains over 200 historic buildings constructed by the U.S. Army in the 1890's for coastal defense purposes. For the past decade, the Monmouth County Vocational School District has used four of these otherwise unoccupied buildings to house the district's Marine Academy of Science and Technology, a 4-year program for students in grades 9–12.

S. 2563 authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to continue this arrangement with the Monmouth County Vocational School District. Design of new facilities, landscape improvements, and rehabilitation of existing structures by the district are subject to the approval of the National Park Service. The Secretary may accept funds for rehabilitating other properties within the park for park uses displaced by the district and is authorized to collect reasonable fees for services provided to the district.

Allowing the school district to rehabilitate and use otherwise vacant buildings in this park benefits both the school and the National Park Service. This is the type of partnership we should be supporting. The bill is supported by the administration, and I urge my colleagues' support.

S. 2563 also was amended by the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, includes several minor boundary adjustments and other miscellaneous changes in law relating to the National Park Service. These provisions are taken from the bill H.R. 5949, a bipartisan housekeeping bill introduced by myself and the ranking member of the Subcommittee on National Parks and Public Lands, Mr. LAGOMARSINO.

S. 2563, as amended, incorporates a number of noncontroversial legislative changes sought by the National Park Service. These changes include nine minor boundary adjustments, authorization for cooperative park study units, authorization to dispose of unneeded museum properties, extension of two advisory committees, several general authorities including transportation of children to national park units and two studies.

The miscellaneous park amendments were added to the Senate-passed Sandy Hook legislation because there is very little time left in the session, and both measures are noncontroversial bills supported by the administration. I urge Members to adopt S. 2563 as amended.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. ALLARD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 2563 to permit the non-Federal use of certain unoccupied buildings within the Sandy Hook unit of Gateway National Recreation Area.

Mr. VENTO has adequately explained this measure, as well as the substantial amendment adopted by the subcommittee which provides for a variety of important and noncontroversial authorities to improve the operation and management of the Park System.

I am aware of no major objections to this measure, and I urge its adoption.

Mr. Speaker, I also would like to thank again the chairman for his help with the Cache la Poudre River basin designation study so that we can move ahead and do the necessary studies to satisfy the concerns of the National Park Service.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. PANETTA. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of S. 2563. This legislation includes the provisions of a bill I authored, H.R. 5611, to require the National Park Service to study the California Mission San Antonio de Padua in my congressional district for possible designation as a national historic park. I would like to express my sincere appreciation to Chairman MILLER and Chairman VENTO for their inclusion of H.R. 5611 in this bill and to Mr. LAGOMARSINO for your inclusion of my legislation to require a Park alternative study for the California Mission San Antonio de Padua in H.R. 5949. The mission is currently being studied by the National Park Service for a possible historic landmark designation. Early findings strongly indicate that a historic landmark designation is warranted and it is important that the Park study be commenced as soon as possible so it may build upon the findings of the landmark study in an expeditious manner. As such, I am particularly pleased that your committee is taking such expeditious action on this legislation.

Mission San Antonio, founded in 1771, is well recognized as a historic site of national significance. The mission is an important component of the Juan Bautista de Anza National Historic Trail and is on the National Historic Register of Historic Places. Yet the mission is only one part of the area's historic appeal. The surrounding area is also unique in that it has significant artifacts from all stages of California's development dating back from the settlements of the pre-Colombian Indians, to the Spanish missionaries, and the pioneers of the Western expansion. Few areas in our Nation can boast such historical value and offer such an opportunity for historical research.

Mission San Antonio is also an unique site in that it remains in its original isolated state. Because the mission is situated within the boundaries of the Fort Hunter-Liggett Military Reservation, there has been no commercial or residential development of the area surrounding the mission.

For all these reasons, Mission San Antonio offers unparalleled opportunities for historical interpretation and research in a realistic setting and appears to be well suited for a national historic park designation. Sadly, our Nation has failed to give adequate recognition to the rich history of our Western States. Only four of the Nation's 31 national historic parks are in the Western States. Mission San Antonio would be an ideal area in which to commemorate and celebrate the history of our Nation's largest State.

The legislation directs the National Park Service to study the San Antonio Mission and surrounding historical areas to determine the suitability and feasibility of designating the area as a national historic park. As the mission is within the boundaries of the Fort Hunter-Liggett Reservation, the legislation directs the Park Service to conduct the study in consultation with the Department of the Army to ensure that a park designation can work in tandem with the mission of the reservation.

As noted earlier, the Park Service, in conjunction with the Friends of Historic San Antonio Mission, is conducting a historic landmark study of the mission for designation as a national historic landmark. The landmark study is expected to be completed early this fall and early findings of the study strongly indicate that the mission warrants a historic landmark designation.

I would also point out that there is a great deal of support within the local community, and throughout the State of California, for the designation of a national historic park at the San Antonio Mission. The Friends of Historic San Antonio Mission have worked very hard to protect the mission and its surrounding historical sites and have made a very convincing case for designating this area as a national historic park.

There are not many places like San Antonio Mission left in our country. It is rare that we find a centuries old operating mission preserved in its original isolated state. Congress should take advantage of this opportunity by acting to commemorate this time period of our history and protect this area through a national historical park designation.

In closing, Mr. Chairman, the enactment of H.R. 5611 this year would be a great achievement for all of those working in California to preserve the mission's heritage. I appreciate your support for this initiative and look forward to working with you to ensuring the adoption of this legislation by the Congress.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 2563, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate bill, as amended, was passed.

The title of the Senate bill was amended so as to read: "A bill to provide for the rehabilitation of historic structures within the Sandy Hook Unit of Gateway National Recreation Area and to make minor boundary adjustments and other miscellaneous amendments to authorities and programs of the National Park Service.".

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

MAKING TECHNICAL CORRECTIONS IN CERTAIN PUBLIC LAWS

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 6046) to make technical corrections in certain public laws, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

(7) Redesignate section 1217 as subsection (b) of section 1214, insert "(b) Proposals.—" before the first sentence thereof, and redesignate subsections (a), (b) and (c) thereof as paragraphs (1), (2), and (3) thereof respectively.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. ALLARD] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 6046.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this bill, H.R. 6046, is a bill that makes technical corrections and conforming changes to certain public laws under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. These are obviously purely housekeeping matters and include provisions involving numbering of river segments designated under the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, and others involving correcting public law titles or the numbering of sections or paragraphs or various statutes.

The legislation is completely noncontroversial, and I would, of course, recommend its passage by the House so that these technical corrections of the various laws can be made.

Mr. Speaker, I might add that because the subcommittee and the work we do involves a significant amount of authorization and writing of legislation each term involving anywhere from 70 to 100 laws that might be written into law, if does necessitate dealing with the technical problems that do arise. I think we have very few considering the magnitude of the legislation, and some are unavoidable because of the numbering and the sequence into the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, which make up the primary changes in this technical law, and they are unavoidable, based on the method that is utilized in terms of each enactment of those laws and the placing of them into the Federal Code.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. ALLARD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this measure.

As the gentleman from Minnesota has explained, this measure simply makes a number of technical or noncontroversial amendments to existing statutes, such as renumbering of wild and scenic river segments within the Wild and Scenic River Act.

I am aware of no problems with this measure and urge its passage.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, in this technical corrections bill I would like to recognize the work of Pope Barrow, the senior legislative counsel in the Office of Legislative Counsel that has done extensive work on this, and on many other measures, but I thank especially noteworthy is his work in this particular instance on this technical bill, as well as some of his substantive work.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6046, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

The motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

REDUCING RESTRICTIONS ON LANDS CONVEYED TO CITY OF KAYSVILLE, UT

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 1183) to reduce the restrictions on the lands conveyed by deed to the city of Kaysville, UT, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 1183

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

TITLE I—UTAH LANDS

SEC. 101. AMENDMENT.

Section 2 of the Act of June 8, 1926 (ch. 498; 44 Stat. 708), is amended by striking "States." at the end of the first sentence and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "States, except that these restrictions on conveyances and uses shall not apply to those lands upon which communications facilities were located as of November 1, 1991, or prevent reasonable ingress and egress for the repair, maintenance, or improvement of such facilities, nor shall these restrictions on conveyances and uses prohibit the use of the lands described in the first section of this Act for recreational purposes so long as such recreational use is consistent both with the protection of the watershed and water supply system of the city and with the management objectives for adjacent National Forest System lands. Any improvements of the lands described in the first section of this Act for recreational purposes shall be undertaken only in consultation with and the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.".

SEC. 102. BEAR RIVER EXCHANGE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—If, within 5 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the State of Utah transfers to the Secretary of the Interior all right, title, and interest of the State of Utah in and to the State lands in exchange for Federal lands, the Secretary of the Interior, within 18 months after such transfer, shall transfer to the State of Utah all right, title, and interest in and to so much of the Federal lands as the Secretary determines to be equal in fair market value to the State lands.

(b) STATE LANDS.—As used in this section, the term "State lands" means approximately 700.70 acres of land located in the State of Utah, as generally depicted as State lands on the map entitled "Bear River Migratory Bird Refuge", map numbered 1, and more particularly described as: The South half of the Northwest Quarter and Lots 5, 6, 7, and 8, all in Section 4, and also, Lots 7 and 8, Section 5, township 8 North, Range 2 West, Salt Lake Base and Meridian.

All property below the surveyed meander line and North of the Bear River Bird Refuge North Boundary in Sections 4 and 9 and in the East one-half of Sections 5 and 8, Township 8 North, Range 2 West, Salt Lake Base and Meridian.

(c) FEDERAL LANDS.—As used in this section, the term "Federal lands" means approximately 1,365.14 acres of land located in the State of Utah, as generally depicted as Federal lands on the map entitled "Fingerpoint ", map numbered 2, and the map entitled "Rozel Point", map numbered 3, and more particularly described as:

Township 7 North, Range 10 West, Salt Lake Base & Meridian
Section 5: Lots 1–6, W½SW¼
Section 6: Lots 1–7, W½SE¼
Section 7: Lots 1–6
Section 8: Lots 1–4,W½
Section 17: Lots 1–5
Section 18: Lots 1–3
Township 8 North, Range 7 West, Salt Lake Base & Meridian
Section 8: Lots 1–12, E½NE¼

(d) ADMINISTRATION.—The lands transferred to the United States under this section shall be added to and administered as part of the Bear River Migratory Bird Refuge.

TITLE II—COLORADO MILITARY LANDS

SEC. 201. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the "Fort Carson-Pinon Canyon Military Lands Withdrawal Act".

SEC. 202. WITHDRAWAL AND RESERVATION OF LANDS AT FORT CARSON MILITARY RESERVATION.

(a) WITHDRAWAL.—Subject to valid existing rights and except as otherwise provided in this title, the lands at the Fort Carson Military Reservation that are described in subsection (c) are hereby withdrawn from all forms of appropriation under the public land laws including the mining laws and the mineral and geothermal leasing laws.

(b) RESERVATION.—The lands withdrawn under subsection (a) are reserved for use by the Secretary of the Army—

(1) for military maneuvering, training and weapons firing; and

(2) for other defense related purposes consistent with the uses specified in paragraph (1).

(c) LAND DESCRIPTION.—The lands referred to in subsection (a) comprise 3,133.02 acres of public land and 11,415.16 acres of federally-owned minerals in El Paso, Pueblo and Fremont Counties, Colorado, as generally depicted on the map entitled "Fort Carson Proposed Withdrawal—Fort Carson Base", dated February 1992, and filed in accordance with section 204.

SEC. 203. WITHDRAWAL AND RESERVATION OF LANDS AT PINON CANYON MANEUVER SITE.

(a) WITHDRAWAL.—Subject to valid existing rights and except as otherwise provided in this title, the lands at the Pinon Canyon Maneuver Site that are described in subsection (c) are hereby withdrawn from all forms of appropriation under the public land laws including the mining laws and the mineral and geothermal leasing laws.

(b) RESERVATION.—The lands withdrawn under subsection (a) are reserved for use by the Secretary of the Army—

(1) for military maneuvering and training; and

(2) for other defense related purposes consistent with the uses specified in paragraph (1).

(c) LAND DESCRIPTION.—The lands referred to in subsection (a) comprise 2,517.12 acres of public lands and 130,139 acres of federally-owned minerals in Las Animas County, Colorado, as generally depicted on the map entitled "Fort Carson Proposed Withdrawal—Fort Carson Maneuver Area—Pinon Canyon site", dated February 1992, and filed in accordance with section 204.

SEC. 204. MAPS AND LEGAL DESCRIPTIONS.

(a) PREPARATION.—As soon as practicable after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Interior shall—

(1) publish in the Federal Register a notice containing the legal description of the lands withdrawn and reserved by this title; and

(2) file maps and a legal description of the lands withdrawn and reserved by this title with the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the United States Senate and with the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of the United States House of Representatives.

(b) LEGAL EFFECT.—Such maps and legal descriptions shall have the same force and effect as if they were included in this title, except that the Secretary of the Interior may correct clerical and typographical errors in such maps and legal descriptions.

(c) LOCATION OF COPIES.—Copies of such maps and legal descriptions shall be available for public inspection in the offices of the Colorado State Director and the Canon City District Manager of the Bureau of Land Management, and the Commander, Fort Carson, Colorado.

(d) COSTS.—The Secretary of the Army shall reimburse the Secretary of the Interior for the costs of implementing this section.

SEC. 205. MANAGEMENT OF WITHDRAWN LANDS.

(a) MANAGEMENT GUIDELINES.—(1) Except as provided in section 206, during the period of withdrawal, the Secretary of the Army shall manage for military purposes the lands covered by this title and may authorize use of the lands by the other military departments and agencies of the Department of Defense, and the National Guard, as appropriate.

(2) When military operations, public safety, or national security, as determined by the Secretary of the Army, require the closure of roads and trails on the lands withdrawn by this title commonly in public use, the Secretary of the Army is authorized to take such action, except that such closures shall be limited to the minimum areas and periods required for the purposes specified in this subsection. Appropriate warning notices shall be kept posted during closures.

(3) The Secretary of the Army shall take necessary precautions to prevent and suppress brush and range fires occurring within and outside the lands as a result of military activities and may seek assistance from the Bureau of Land Management in suppressing such fires. The memorandum of understanding required by this section shall provide for Bureau of Land Management assistance in the suppression of such fires, and for a transfer of funds from the Department of the Army to the Bureau of Land Management as compensation for such assistance.

(b) MANAGEMENT PLAN.—The Secretary of the Army, with the concurrence of the Secretary of the Interior, shall develop a plan for the management of acquired lands and lands withdrawn under sections 202 and 203 for the period of withdrawal. The plan shall—

(1) be consistent with applicable law;

(2) include such provisions as may be necessary for proper resource management and protection of the natural, cultural, and other resources and values of such lands;

(3) identify those withdrawn and acquired lands, if any, which are to be open to mining or mineral and geothermal leasing, including mineral materials disposal; and

(4) be developed not later than 5 years after the date of enactment of this Act.

(c) LISTING OF LANDS SUITABLE FOR MINING.—On completion of the management plan prepared pursuant to subsection (b), the Secretary of the Interior shall publish a notice in the Federal Register listing the lands determined under such subsection to be suitable for opening to mining, and mineral and geothermal leasing, including mineral materials disposal, and specifying the opening date.

(d) IMPLEMENTATION OF MANAGEMENT PLAN.—(1) The Secretary of the Army and the Secretary of the Interior shall enter into a memorandum of understanding to implement the management plan described in subsection (b).

(2) The duration of any such memorandum of understanding shall be the same as the period of withdrawal under section 208.

(3) The memorandum of understanding may be amended by agreement of both Secretaries.

(e) REEXAMINATION OF LANDS FOR SUITABILITY FOR MINING.—At least every five years after the initial identification of lands suitable for opening to mining required by subsection (b)(3), the Secretary of the Army and the Secretary of the Interior shall determine those withdrawn lands, if any, which the Secretaries consider suitable for opening to mining, mineral and geothermal leasing, or mineral material disposal, and those acquired lands, if any, which the Secretaries consider suitable for opening to mineral and geothermal leasing or mineral material disposal. The Secretary of the Interior shall publish a notice in the Federal Register listing the lands determined suitable for opening and specifying the opening date.

(f) USE OF CERTAIN RESOURCES.—The Secretary of the Army is authorized to utilize sand, gravel, or similar mineral or mineral material resources when the use of such resources is required for construction needs of the Fort Carson Reservation or Pinon Canyon Maneuver Site.

SEC. 206. MANAGEMENT OF WITHDRAWN AND ACQUIRED MINERAL RESOURCES.

(a) AUTHORITY OF SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, and except as provided in section 205 of this title, the Secretary of the Interior shall manage all withdrawn and acquired mineral resources contained within the boundaries of the Fort Carson Reservation and Pinon Canyon Maneuver Site.

(b) EFFECT OF IDENTIFICATION OF LANDS AS SUITABLE FOR MINING.—On the day specified by the Secretary of the Interior in the notice published in the Federal Register pursuant to subsections (c) and (e) of section 205, the land identified as suitable for opening to the operation of the mining, mineral, and geothermal leasing and the mineral material disposal laws shall automatically be open to the operation of such laws without the necessity for further action by either the Secretary of the Interior or the Congress.

(c) EXCEPTION FROM CERTAIN LAWS.—No deposit of minerals or materials of the types identified by section 3 of the Act of July 23, 1955 (30 U.S.C. 611; 69 Stat. 368), whether or not included in the term "common varieties" in that Act, shall be subject to location under the Act of May 10, 1872 (commonly known as the Mining Law of 1872) (30 U.S.C. 22 et seq.), on lands described in sections 202 and 203.

(d) REGULATIONS.—On lands identified for opening to mining, mineral, and geothermal leasing or mineral material disposal by section 205(b)(3), or by subsequent amendments to the management plan described in section 205, all minerals contained in those lands shall be subject to mining, mineral, and geothermal leasing or mineral material disposal under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Interior may promulgate pursuant to the terms and conditions of section 12 of the Military Lands Withdrawal Act of 1986 (Public Law 99-606; 100 Stat. 3466).

(e) CLOSURE OF LANDS UNDER CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES.—In the event of a national emergency or for purposes of national defense or security, the Secretary of the Interior, at the request of the Secretary of the Army, shall close any lands that have been opened to mining, mineral, and geothermal leasing or mineral material disposal pursuant to this section.

(f) MINING CLAIMS.—(1) Except as otherwise provided in this title, mining claims located pursuant to this title shall be subject to the provisions of the Act of May 10, 1872 (commonly known as the Mining Law of 1872) (30 U.S.C. 22 et seq.). In the event of a conflict between that law and this title, this title shall prevail.

(2) All mining claims located under the terms of this title shall be subject to the provisions of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1701 et seq.).

(g) PATENTS FOR LOCATABLE MINERALS.—(1) Patents issued pursuant to this title for locatable minerals shall convey title to the locatable minerals only, and shall be issued together with an appropriate authorization for use of so much of the surface as may be necessary for purposes incident to mining under the guidelines for such use established by the Secretary of the Interior by regulation.

(2) All such patents shall contain a reservation to the United States of the surface of all lands patented and of all nonlocatable minerals on those lands.

(3) For the purposes of this section, all minerals subject to location under the Act of May 10, 1872 (commonly known as the Mining Law of 1872) (30 U.S.C. 22 et seq.), are referred to as "locatable minerals".

SEC. 207. HUNTING, FISHING, AND TRAPPING.

All hunting, fishing, and trapping on the lands withdrawn and reserved by this title shall be conducted in accordance with section 2671 of title 10, United States Code.

SEC. 208. TERMINATION OF WITHDRAWAL AND RESERVATION AND EFFECT OF CONTAMINATION.

(a) TERMINATION DATE.—The withdrawal and reservation established by this title shall terminate 15 years after the date of enactment of this Act.

(b) DETERMINATION OF CONTINUING MILITARY NEED.—(1) At least three years prior to the termination under subsection (a) of the withdrawal and reservation established by this title, the Secretary of the Army shall advise the Secretary of the Interior as to whether or not the Department of the Army will have a continuing military need for any of the lands after the termination date.

(2) If the Secretary of the Army concludes under paragraph (1) that there will be a continuing military need for any of the lands after the termination date established by subsection (a), the Secretary of the Army, in accordance with applicable law, shall evaluate the environmental effects of renewal of such withdrawal and reservation, shall hold at least one public hearing in Colorado concerning such evaluation, and shall thereafter file an application for extension of the withdrawal and reservation of such lands in accordance with the regulations and procedures of the Department of the Interior applicable to the extension of withdrawals for military uses. The Secretary of the Interior shall notify the Congress concerning such filing and thereafter may take necessary steps, in accordance with applicable law, to prevent uses inconsistent with such extension for a period not in excess of 2 years after the termination of the withdrawal and reservation made by this title.

(3) If the Secretary of the Army concludes under paragraph (1) that prior to the termination date established by subsection (a), there will be no military need for all or any of the lands withdrawn and reserved by this title, or if, during the period of withdrawal, the Secretary of the Army decides to relinquish any or all of the lands withdrawn and reserved under this title, the Secretary of the Army shall file a notice of intention to relinquish with the Secretary of the Interior.

(c) DETERMINATION OF CONTAMINATION.—Prior to the filing of a notice of intention to relinquish pursuant to subsection (b)(3), the Secretary of the Army shall prepare a written determination as to whether and to what extent the lands are contaminated with explosive, toxic, or other hazardous materials. A copy of the determination made by the Secretary of the Army shall be supplied with the notice of intention to relinquish. Copies of both the notice of intention to relinquish and the determination concerning the contaminated state of the lands shall be published in the Federal Register by the Secretary of the Interior.

(d) EFFECT OF CONTAMINATION.—(1) If any land which is the subject of a notice of intention to relinquish under subsection (b)(3) is contaminated, and the Secretary of the Interior, in consultation with the Secretary of the Army, determines that decontamination is practicable and economically feasible, taking into consideration the potential future use and value of the land, and that upon decontamination, the land could be opened to the operation of some or all of the public land laws, including the mining laws, the Secretary of the Army shall decontaminate the land to the extent that funds are appropriated for such purpose.

(2) If the Secretaries of the Army and the Interior conclude either that decontamination of any or all of the lands proposed for relinquishment is not practicable or economically feasible, or that the lands cannot be decontaminated sufficiently to allow them to be opened to the operation of the public land laws, or if Congress declines to appropriate funds for decontamination of the lands, the Secretary of the Interior shall not be required to accept the lands proposed for relinquishment.

(3) If, because of their contaminated state, the Secretary of the Interior declines under paragraph (2) to accept jurisdiction of the lands proposed for relinquishment, or if at the expiration of the withdrawal made by this title the Secretary of the Interior determines that some of the lands withdrawn by this title are contaminated to an extent which prevents opening such contaminated lands to operation of the public land laws—

(A) the Secretary of the Army shall take appropriate steps to warn the public of the contaminated state of such lands and any risks associated with entry onto such lands;

(B) after the expiration of the withdrawal, the Secretary of the Army shall undertake no activities on such lands except in connection with decontamination of such lands; and

(C) the Secretary of the Army shall report to the Secretary of the Interior and to the Congress concerning the status of such lands and all actions taken in furtherance of the subsection.

(4) If the lands are subsequently decontaminated, upon certification by the Secretary of the Army that the lands are safe for all nonmilitary uses, the Secretary of the Interior shall reconsider accepting jurisdiction over the lands.

(e) PROGRAM OF DECONTAMINATION.—Throughout the duration of the withdrawal and reservation made by this title, the Secretary of the Army, to the extent funds are made available, shall maintain a program of decontamination of the lands withdrawn by this title at least at the level of effort carried out during fiscal year 1992.

(f) ACCEPTANCE OF LANDS PROPOSED FOR RELINQUISHMENT.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Secretary of the Interior, upon deciding that it is in the public interest to accept jurisdiction over the lands proposed for relinquishment, is authorized to revoke the withdrawal and reservation established by this title as it applies to the lands proposed for relinquishment. Should the decision be made to revoke the withdrawal and reservation, the Secretary shall publish in the Federal Register an appropriate order which shall—

(1) terminate the withdrawal and reservation;

(2) constitute official acceptance of full jurisdiction over the lands by the Secretary of the Interior; and

(3) state the date upon which the lands will be opened to the operation of the public land laws, including the mining laws if appropriate.

SEC. 209. DELEGATION.

The functions of the Secretary of the Army under this title may be delegated. The functions of the Secretary of the Interior under this title may be delegated, except that the order referred to in section 208(f) may be approved and signed only by the Secretary of the Interior, the Deputy Secretary of the Interior, or an Assistant Secretary of the Department of the Interior.

SEC. 210. HOLD HARMLESS.

The United States and all departments or agencies thereof shall be held harmless and shall not be liable for any injuries or damages to persons or property suffered in the course of any mining, mineral, or geothermal leasing activity conducted on lands comprising the Fort Carson Reservation or Pinon Canyon Maneuver Site.

SEC. 211. AMENDMENT TO MILITARY LANDS WITHDRAWAL ACT OF 1986.

Section 3(f) of the Military Lands Withdrawal Act of 1986 (Public Law 99–606, 100 Stat. 3461) is amended by adding at the end a new paragraph (2) as follows:

"(2) The Secretary of the military department concerned may utilize sand, gravel, or similar mineral or material resources when the use of such resources is required for construction needs on the respective lands withdrawn by this Act.".

SEC. 212. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are hereby authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this title.

TITLE III—TARGHEE AND KANIKSU NATIONAL FORESTS

SEC. 301. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the "Targhee and Kaniksu Land Exchange Act of 1992".

SEC. 302. TARGHEE NATIONAL FOREST BOUNDARY ADJUSTMENT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The boundaries of the Targhee National Forest are adjusted as generally depicted on the map entitled "Targhee National Forest Proposed Boundary Changes" and dated March 1, 1991.

(b) MAP AND LEGAL DESCRIPTION.—

(1) PUBLIC ACCESS.—The map described in subsection (a) and a legal description of the lands depicted on the map shall be on file and available for public inspection in the Regional Office of the Intermountain Region of the Forest Service.

(2) TECHNICAL CORRECTIONS.—The map and legal description shall have the same force and effect as if included in this Act, except that the Secretary of Agriculture (referred to in this title as the "Secretary") may correct clerical and typographical errors.

(c) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—For the purpose of section 7 of the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 (16 U.S.C. 460l–9), the boundaries of the Targhee National Forest, as adjusted by this Act, shall be considered to be the boundaries of the Forest as of January 1, 1965.

SEC. 303. CLARK FORK LAND EXCHANGE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that, over the past 10 years—

(1) the University of Idaho has utilized the Clark Fork Ranger Station within the Kaniksu National Forest as the Clark Fork Field Campus, under a Granger-Thye permit; and

(2) the University of Idaho has made substantial improvements in order to maintain and utilize the buildings as a campus facility.

(b) LAND EXCHANGE.—

(1) CONVEYANCE BY THE SECRETARY.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—In exchange for the conveyance described in paragraph (2) and subject to easements that are considered necessary by the Secretary for public and administrative access and to valid existing rights, the Secretary shall convey to the Regents of the University of Idaho all right, title, and interest of the United States to Parcel A.

(B) PARCEL A.—As used in this section, the term "Parcel A" means the approximately 35.27 acres comprising the Clark Fork Ranger Station within the Kaniksu National Forest, as depicted on the map entitled "Clark Fork Land Exchange—Parcel A" and dated July 1, 1991.

(2) CONVEYANCE BY THE REGENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—In exchange for the conveyance described in paragraph (1) and subject to valid existing rights of record acceptable to the Secretary, the Regents of the University of Idaho shall convey to the Secretary, by general warranty deed in accordance with Department of Justice title standards, all right, title, and interest to Parcel B.

(B) PARCEL B.—As used in this section, the term "Parcel B" means the approximately 40 acres depicted on the map entitled "Clark Fork Land Exchange—Parcel B" and dated July 1, 1991.

(3) MAPS AND LEGAL DESCRIPTIONS.—

(A) PUBLIC ACCESS.—The maps described in paragraphs (1)(B) and (2)(B) and the legal descriptions of the lands depicted on the maps shall be on file and available for public inspection in the Regional Office of the Northern Region of the Forest Service.

(B) TECHNICAL CORRECTIONS.—The maps and legal descriptions shall have the same force and effect as if included in this Act, except that the Secretary may correct clerical and typographical errors.

(c) LAND VALUATION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (2), if the lands exchanged between the United States and the Regents of the University of Idaho, as authorized by subsection (b), are not of equal value, the values shall be equalized in accordance with section 206(b) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1716(b)).

(2) EXCEPTION.—The value of the improvements made by the University of Idaho on Parcel A under the Granger-Thye permit shall be excluded from consideration in a valuation conducted pursuant to paragraph (1).

(d) NATIONAL FOREST BOUNDARY ADJUSTMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Upon acquisition of Parcel B by the United States, the boundaries of the Kaniksu National Forest shall be adjusted to include Parcel B.

(2) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—For the purpose of section 7 of the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 (16 U.S.C. 460l–9), the boundaries of the Kaniksu National Forest, as adjusted by this title, shall be considered to be the boundaries of the Forest as of January 1, 1965.

TITLE IV—RIGHTS-OF-WAY

SEC. 401. SUNRISE MOUNTAIN UTILITY CORRIDOR.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—

(1) There is established a right-of-way corridor of approximately one mile in width within the lands known as Sunrise Mountain (Natural Area) Inventory Unit NV–050–0420 (referred to in this Act as the "corridor").

(2) The corridor shall be located and administered by the Secretary of the Interior (referred to in this Act as the "Secretary") pursuant to sections 202 and 503 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1712 and 1763). Effective on the filing of the legal description of the corridor by the Secretary, lands so described shall not be subject to section 603 of such Act.

(3)(A) Subject to subparagraph (B), the exact location and width of the corridor shall be as established in the map and legal description filed by the Secretary pursuant to subsection (b).

(B) The center line of the corridor shall be approximately the center line of the Navajo-McCullough 500 kilovolt transmission line in the lands described in paragraph (1) as in existence on the date of enactment of this Act.

(b) MAP AND LEGAL DESCRIPTION.—

(1) As soon as practicable after the date of enactment of this Act, a map and legal description of the corridor shall be filed by the Secretary with the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate and the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of the House of Representatives.

(2) The map shall have the same force and effect as if included in this Act.

(3) Copies of the map shall be on file and available for public inspection in the office of the Director of the Bureau of Land Management of the Department of the Interior, and in each appropriate office of the Bureau of Land Management in Nevada.

(c) RIGHTS-OF-WAY.—

(1) The Secretary may grant not more than six rights-of-way over, upon, under, or through the corridor for systems and facilities compatible with each other and consistent with title V of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1761 et seq.) (including rights-of-way to be used or useful for the construction, operation, and maintenance of single- or double-circulated electric transmission lines), of which—

(A) one right-of-way shall be used for the Intermountain Power Project transmission line;

(B) one right-of-way shall be used for the Navajo-McCullough transmission line referred to in subsection (a)(3)(B); and

(C) the remaining four rights-of-way may be granted only for the construction, operation, and maintenance of open-access transmission lines.

(2) Each right-of-way within the corridor shall be located so that the right-of-way causes the least practicable visual and physical impact on the environment, the corridor, Rainbow Gardens, and Desert Wetlands Park, that is consistent with good engineering practices.

(d) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this section shall be construed as authorizing the issuance of any rights-of-way for electrical transmission lines or other purposes that would be inconsistent with applicable zoning or other requirements of State or local governments.

SEC. 402. CLAIMED RIGHTS-OF-WAY.

The Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 is hereby amended by adding at the end of title III the following new sections 319 and 320:

"SEC. 319. RECORDATION OF CLAIMED RIGHTS-OF-WAY.

"(a) FILING REQUIREMENTS.—(1) Any party claiming to be a holder of a right-of-way across public or other Federal lands for the construction of a highway pursuant to a grant made by Revised Statutes section 2477 (43 U.S.C. 932) that became operative before repeal of such section on October 21, 1976, shall, on or before January 1, 1994, file for record in the office or offices of the Bureau of Land Management responsible for management of public lands within the State or States wherein such claimed right-of-way is located either a notice of intent to hold and maintain the right-of-way or a notice of abandonment of such party's claim to be the holder of such right-of-way. A notice of intent to hold and maintain such a right-of-way shall be accompanied by information concerning the actual construction, maintenance, and public use on which such party bases its claim to have established such a right-of-way, and by such other information regarding the uses, location, and extent of such claimed right-of-way as the Secretary of the Interior may require. The Secretary may allow information already in the possession of the Bureau of Land Management to be included by reference to the documents in which such information is recorded.

"(2) A party filing a notice pursuant to paragraph (1) shall also simultaneously file a copy thereof in the appropriate office of any other agency responsible for management of any Federal lands traversed by the claimed right-of-way, and shall give public notice of the party's intention to hold and maintain or to abandon the claimed right-of-way by publication of information concerning such intention in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the areas where the affected lands are located.

"(b) EFFECT.—(1) The failure of any party subject to the requirements of subsection (a) to file the notices or to publish the information required to be filed and published by such subsection within the time specified by such subsection shall be conclusively deemed to constitute an abandonment and relinquishment of a right-of-way with respect to which such filing and publication is required by such subsection.

"(2) Recordation pursuant to this section shall not, of itself, render valid any claim which would not otherwise be valid under applicable law or provide a basis for changing the scope, alignment, or character or extent of use of any claimed right-of-way; and nothing in this section shall be construed as waiving, altering, or otherwise affecting any terms or conditions applicable to any right-of-way under this Act or any other applicable law.

"(c) INVESTIGATIONS.—(1) Upon receipt of a notice filed pursuant to subsection (a) that a party intends to hold and maintain a claimed right-of-way involving any lands specified in paragraph (2) of this subsection, the Secretary of the Interior, acting through an appropriate officer of the Bureau of Land Management or (if any portion of a claimed right-of-way covered by this subsection is located within a unit of the National Park System) of the National Park Service, shall conduct an investigation to determine the validity of each such claimed right-of-way. The Secretary shall provide an opportunity for the public to contest or request an investigation of the validity of any other claimed right-of-way.

"(2)(A) The Secretary shall investigate the validity of each claimed right-of-way any portion of which involves—

"(i) any lands within the National Park System, the National Wild and Scenic River System, or the National Wilderness Preservation System; or

"(ii) any lands being managed so as to preserve their suitability for designation as wilderness, pursuant to section 603 of this Act or any other provision of law or regulation; or

"(iii) any area of critical environmental concern; or

"(iv) any other lands whose use for highway purposes would be inconsistent with the land-use plans for those lands.

"(B) The Secretary shall also investigate any claimed right-of-way not involving lands specified in subparagraph (A) but with respect to which a challenge is filed that states grounds which, if proved or confirmed, would constitute reason to doubt the validity of such claimed right-or-way or any portion thereof.

"(3) If any portion of such claimed right-of-way is on Federal lands managed by an agency other than the Bureau of Land Management or the National Park Service, the investigating officer shall request the comments of such agency with respect to the validity of such right-of-way.

"(4) Appropriate notice to the public, including the owners of any non-Federal lands affected by the claimed right-of-way, shall be provided with respect to initiation of each investigation carried out pursuant to this paragraph, and the investigating officer shall provide an opportunity for the public to submit comments concerning the subject of the investigation.

"(5) If information or comments submitted to the investigating officer demonstrate that there is a dispute as to any relevant facts with respect to the validity of a right-of-way subject to an investigation under this paragraph, the parties to such dispute shall be afforded an adjudicatory hearing on the record with respect to such disputed issues of fact. Any such adjudicatory hearing shall be before a qualified administrative law judge whose findings shall govern disposition of such issues of fact in any determination concerning the validity of a claimed right-of-way, subject to administrative and judicial review under applicable provisions of law.

"(6) If after an investigation pursuant to this paragraph, the investigating officer finds either that a claimed right-of-way or portion thereof is valid or that there is reason to doubt the validity of such claimed right-of-way or portion thereof, notice of such finding and the reasons therefor shall be provided to the party claiming the right-of-way and to all other affected parties, including the public.

"(7) For purposes of this section, if any portion of a claimed right-of-way includes lands managed pursuant to section 603 of this Act, that fact shall constitute a reason to doubt the validity of such portion of such right-of-way.

"(d) APPEALS.—(1) Any claimed right-of-way or portion thereof with respect to which it is found, pursuant to subsection (c), that there is reason to doubt the validity, shall be deemed to be invalid unless, within 30 days after such finding the party claiming the right-of-way has filed with the Secretary of the Interior an appeal of such finding, and the Secretary thereafter determines the right-of-way to be valid. Any party other than the party claiming the right-of-way, may intervene in any appeal filed under this paragraph in support of the finding of invalidity by filing with the Secretary a notice of such intervention within the period allowed for filing of the appeal.

"(2) Any finding by the investigating officer with regard to the validity or invalidity of a claimed right-of-way or portion thereof valid shall become final unless within 30 days after such finding a notice of appeal of such finding is filed with the Secretary of the Interior.

"(3) Any decision by the Secretary with regard to an appeal under this subsection shall be made after the party claiming or contesting a right-of-way has been provided with the evidence upon which the investigating officer's finding regarding its validity or invalidity was based and has been given an opportunity to respond, including an adjudicatory hearing on the record with respect to any disputed issues of fact.

"(4)(A) Pending a final determination of validity with respect to a claimed right-of-way that is subject to an appeal under this subsection, the Federal land covered by such claimed right-of-way shall be managed in accordance with applicable law (including this Act) and management plans as if such right-of-way did not exist, except that such lands may continue to be used for lawful transportation, access, and related purposes of the same nature and to the same extent as was properly permitted by the Secretary on the date of enactment of this section. Any such continued uses shall be subject to appropriate regulations to protect the resources and values of the affected lands.

"(B) Upon a final determination of invalidity with respect to a claimed right-of-way subject to an appeal under paragraph (3), Federal lands covered by such claimed right-of-way shall be managed in accordance with applicable law and management plans.

"(C) A determination by an investigating officer as to the validity or invalidity of a claimed right-of-way may be appealed to the Secretary by any person, provided such appeal is made no later than 30 days after the determination of the investigating officer. Any person filing such an appeal shall be afforded an adjudicatory hearing on the record with regard to any disputed issue of fact. Any decision of the Secretary regarding such an appeal shall be subject to judicial review.

"(5) Any decision by the Secretary pursuant to this subsection shall be subject to judicial review under applicable provisions of law, but nothing in this subsection shall be construed as affording any right to seek or participate in any judicial proceeding by any party not otherwise entitled to seek or participate in such proceeding.

"(e) CHANGE IN USE.—Any change in the scope, alignment, or character of use of a valid right-of-way established pursuant to Revised Statutes section 2477 shall be subject to terms and conditions required by section 505 of this Act or other applicable law.

"(f) SAVINGS CLAUSE.—Nothing in this section shall be construed as increasing or diminishing the requirements of any applicable law with respect to establishment, construction, or maintenance of a highway for purposes of obtaining a valid right-of-way pursuant to Revised Statutes section 2477 prior to its repeal.

"SEC. 320. RIGHT-OF-WAY IN ALASKA CONSERVATION SYSTEM UNITS.

"Nothing in this Act shall be construed as exempting any proposal for any construction on or change in the scope, alignment, or character or extent of use of any portion of any right-of-way claimed to have been established pursuant to Revised Statutes section 2477 on any lands within any conservation system unit in Alaska from the requirements of title XI of the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act.".

TITLE V—"IN LIEU" LAND CLAIMS

SEC. 501. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Pursuant to the invitation and requirements contained in the 15th paragraph under the heading "Surveying the Public Lands" in the Act of June 4, 1897 (30 Stat. 11, 36), as amended or supplemented by the Acts of June 6, 1900 (31 Stat. 588, 614), March 4, 1901 (31 Stat. 1010, 1037), and September 22, 1922 (42 Stat. 1067), certain landowners or entrymen within forest reserves acted to transfer their lands to the United States as the basis for an in lieu selection of other Federal lands (hereafter in this Act referred to as "lieu lands") in exchange for such lands within such reserves (hereafter in this Act referred to as "base lands").

(2) By the Act of March 3, 1905 (33 Stat. 1264), Congress repealed the in lieu selection provisions of the Act of June 4, 1897, as amended, and terminated the right to select lieu lands, but expressly preserved the rights of land owners who had valid pending applications for in lieu selections, most of which have subsequently been granted.

(3) Other persons affected by the Acts cited in paragraphs (1) and (2) who acted to transfer base lands, or their successors in interest, have never obtained either (A) a patent to the lieu lands or any other consideration for their relinquishment, or (B) a quitclaim of their base lands, notwithstanding relief legislation enacted in 1922 and 1930.

(4) By the Act of July 6, 1960 (74 Stat. 334), Congress established a procedure to compensate persons affected by the Acts cited in paragraphs (1) and (2) who had not received appropriate relief under prior legislation. However, no payments of such compensation were made under that Act.

(5) Section 4 of the Act of July 6, 1960, further provided that lands with respect to which compensation under that Act were or could have been made, and not previously disposed of by the United States, shall be a part of any national forest, national park, or other area withdrawn from the public domain wherein they are located.

(6) Absent further legislation, lengthy and expensive litigation will be required to resolve existing questions about the title to lands covered by section 4 of the 1960 Act.

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this title is to resolve the status of the title to base lands affected by the past legislation cited in subsection (a).

SEC. 502. IDENTIFICATION AND QUITCLAIM OF FEDERAL INTEREST IN BASE LANDS.

(a) QUITCLAIM.—Except as otherwise provided by this Act, and subject to valid existing rights, but notwithstanding any other provision of law, the United States hereby quitclaims to the listed owner or entryman, his heirs, devisees, successors, and assigns, all right, title, and interest of the United States in and to the base lands described on a final list published pursuant to subsection (d)(1), effective on the date of publication of such list.

(b) PREPARATION OF INITIAL LISTS.—(1) Not later than 6 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Interior, with respect to lands under such Secretary's jurisdiction, and the Secretary of Agriculture with respect to National Forest System lands, shall each prepare an initial list of all parcels of base lands that were relinquished to the United States pursuant to the Act of June 4, 1897 (as amended), and for which selection or other rights under that Act or supplemental legislation were not realized or exercised.

(2) The initial lists prepared under paragraph (1) shall be based on information in the actual possession of the Secretaries of the Interior and Agriculture on the date of enactment of this Act, including information submitted to Congress pursuant to the directive contained in Senate Report No. 98-578, issued for the Fiscal Year 1985 Interior and Related Agencies Appropriation, as revised and updated. The initial lists shall be published and distributed for public review in accordance with procedures adopted by the Secretary concerned.

(3) For a period of 180 days after publication of a list pursuant to paragraph (2), persons asserting that particular parcels omitted from such a list should have been included may request the Secretary concerned to add such parcels to the appropriate list. The Secretary concerned shall add to the list any such parcels which the Secretary determines meet the conditions specified in paragraph (1).

(c) NATIONALLY SIGNIFICANT LANDS.—(1) During preparation or revision of an initial list under subsection (b), the Secretary concerned shall identify those listed lands which are located wholly or partially within any conservation system unit and all other listed lands which Congress has designated for specific management or which the Secretary concerned decides, in the concerned Secretary's discretion, should be retained in order to meet public, resource protection, or administrative needs. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "conservation system unit" means any unit of the National Park System, National Wildlife Refuge System, National Wild and Scenic Rivers System, National Trails System, or National Wilderness Preservation System, a national forest monument, or a national conservation area, a national recreation area, or any lands being studied for possible designation as part of such a system or unit.

(2) The provisions of subsection (a) shall not apply to any lands identified by the Secretary concerned pursuant to paragraph (1). The Secretary concerned shall not include any such lands on any list prepared pursuant to subsection (d). Subject to valid existing rights arising from factors other than those described in subsection (b)(1), any right, title, and interest in and to lands identified pursuant to paragraph (1) and not previously vested in the United States is hereby vested and confirmed in the United States.

(3) In the same manner as the initial list was published and distributed pursuant to subsection (b)(2), the Secretary concerned shall publish and distribute an identification of all lands in which right, title, and interest is vested and confirmed in the United States by paragraph (2).

(d) FINAL LISTS.—(1) As soon as possible after considering any requests made pursuant to subsection (b)(3) and the identification of lands pursuant to subsection (c), the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of Agriculture shall each publish a final list, consisting of lands included on each Secretary's initial list not identified pursuant to subsection (c)(1). Unless a Secretary has published a final list on or before the date 18 months after the date of publication, pursuant to subsection (b)(2), of such Secretary's initial list, the initial list prepared by such Secretary shall be deemed on such date to be the final list required to be published by such Secretary, and thereafter no lands included on such initial list shall be excluded from operation of subsection (a).

(2) If a court makes a final decision that a parcel of land was arbitrarily and capriciously excluded from operation of subsection (a), such parcel shall be deemed to have been included on a final list published pursuant to paragraph (1), unless such parcel is located wholly or partially inside a conservation system unit or any other area which Congress has designated for specific management, in which case such parcel shall be subject to the provisions of subsection (c)(2).

(e) ISSUANCE OF INSTRUMENTS.—(1) Except as otherwise provided in this title, no later than 6 months after the date on which the Secretary concerned publishes a final list of lands pursuant to subsection (d), the Secretary concerned shall issue deeds confirming the quitclaim made by subsection (a) of this section of all right, title, and interest of the United States in and to the lands included on such final list, subject to valid existing rights arising from factors other than a relinquishment to the United States of the type described in subsection (b). Each such confirmatory deed shall operate to estop the United States from making any claim of right, title, or interest of the United States in and to the base lands described in the deed, shall be made in the name of the listed owner or entryman, his heirs, devisees, successors, and assigns, and shall be in a form suitable for recordation and shall be filed and recorded by the United States with the recorder of deeds or other like official of the county or counties within which the lands covered by such confirmatory deed are located so that the title to such lands may be determined in accordance with applicable State law.

(2) The United States shall not adjudicate and, notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, does not consent to be sued in any suit instituted to adjudicate the ownership of, or to quiet title to, any base land included in a final list and described in a confirmatory deed.

(3) Neither the Secretary of the Interior nor the Secretary of Agriculture shall be required to inspect any lands included on a final list nor to inform any member of the public regarding the condition of such lands prior to the issuance of the confirmatory deeds required by this subsection, and nothing in this Act shall be construed as affecting any valid rights with respect to lands covered by a confirmatory deed issued pursuant to this subsection that were in existence on the date of issuance of such confirmatory deed.

(f) WAIVER OF CERTAIN CLAIMS AGAINST THE UNITED STATES.—Any person or entity accepting the benefits of this Act or failing to act to seek such benefits within the time allotted by this Act with respect to any base or other lands shall be deemed to have waived any claims against the United States, its agents or contractors, with respect to such lands, or with respect to any revenues received by the United States from such lands prior to the date of enactment of this Act. All non-Federal, third party rights granted by the United States with respect to base lands shall remain effective subject to the terms and conditions of the authorizing document. The United States may reserve any rights-of-way currently occupied or used for Government purposes.

SEC. 503. OTHER CLAIMS.

(a) JURISDICTION AND DEADLINE.—(1) Subject to the requirements and limitations of this section, a party claiming right, title, or interest in or to land vested in the United States by section 502(c)(2) of this title may file in the United States Claims Court a claim against the United States seeking compensation based on such vesting. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Claims Court shall have exclusive jurisdiction over such claim.

(2) A claim described in paragraph (1) shall be barred unless the petition thereon is filed within

1 year after the date of publication of a final list pursuant to section 502(d) of this title.

(3) Nothing in this title shall be construed as authorizing any claim to be brought in any court other than a claim brought in the United States Claims Court based upon the vesting of right, title, and interest in and to the United States made by section 502(c)(2) of this title.

(b) LIMITATIONS, DEFENSES, AND AWARDS.—(1) Nothing in this Act shall be construed as diminishing any existing right, title, or interest of the United States in any lands covered by section 502(c), including but not limited to any such right, title, or interest established by the Act of July 6, 1960 (74 Stat. 334).

(2) Nothing in this title shall be construed as precluding or limiting any defenses or claims (including but not limited to defenses based on applicable statutes of limitations, affirmative defenses relating to fraud or speculative practices, or claims by the United States based on adverse possession) otherwise available to the United States.

(3) Nothing in this title shall be construed as entitling any party to compensation from the United States. However, in the event of a final judgment of the United States Claims Court in favor of a party seeking such compensation, or in the event of a negotiated settlement agreement made between such a party and the Attorney General of the United States, the United States shall pay such compensation from the permanent judgment appropriation established pursuant to section 1304 of title 31, United States Code.

(c) SAVINGS CLAUSE.—This title does not include within its scope selection rights required to be recorded under the Act of August 5, 1955 (69 Stat. 534), regardless of whether compensation authorized by the Act of August 31, 1964 (78 Stat. 751) was or was not received.

SEC. 504. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out this title.

SEC. 505. TIME EXTENSION.

Section 103(c) of the Wildfire Disaster Recovery Act of 1989 (16 U.S.C. 551 note) is amended in the first sentence by striking out "1991" and inserting in lieu thereof "1992".

TITLE VI—SNAKE RIVER BIRDS OF PREY NATIONAL CONSERVATION AREA

SEC. 601. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds the following:

(1) The public lands managed by the Bureau of Land Management in the State of Idaho within the Snake River Birds of Prey Area contain one of the densest known nesting populations of eagles, falcons, owls, hawks, and other birds of prey (raptors) in North America.

(2) These public lands constitute a valuable national biological and educational resource since birds of prey are important components of the ecosystem.

(3) These public lands also contain important historic and cultural resources as well as other resources and values, all of which should be protected and appropriately managed.

(4) A military training area within the Snake River Birds of Prey Area, known as the Orchard Training Area, has been used since 1953 by reserve components of the Armed Forces. Military use of this area is currently governed by a Memorandum of Understanding between the Bureau of Land Management and the State of Idaho Military Division, dated May 1985. Operating under this Memorandum of Understanding, the Idaho National Guard has provided valuable assistance to the Bureau of Land Management with respect to fire control and other aspects of management of the Orchard Training Area and the other lands in the Snake River Birds of Prey Area. Military use of the lands within the Orchard Training Area should continue in accordance with such Memorandum of Understanding (or extension or renewal thereof), to the extent consistent with section 604(e) of this title, because this would be in the best interest of training of the reserve components (an important aspect of national security) and of the local economy.

(5) Protection of the conservation area as a home for raptors can best and should be accomplished by the Secretary of the Interior, acting through the Bureau of Land Management, under a management plan that—

(A) emphasizes management, protection, and rehabilitation of habitat for these raptors and of other resources and values of the area;

(B) provides for continued military use, consistent with the requirements of section 604(e) of this title, of the Orchard Training Area by reserve components of the Armed Forces;

(C) addresses the need for public educational and interpretive opportunities;

(D) allows for diverse appropriate uses of lands in the area to the extent consistent with the maintenance and enhancement of raptor populations and habitats and protection and sound management of other resources and values of the area; and

(E) demonstrates management practices and techniques that may be useful to other areas of the public lands and elsewhere.

(6) There is established near the conservation area a facility, the World Center for Birds of Prey operated by The Peregrine Fund, Inc., where research, public education, recovery, and reestablishment operations exist for endangered raptor species. There is also established at Boise State University a raptor study program which attracts national and international graduate and undergraduate students.

(7) The Bureau of Land Management and Boise State University, together with other State, Federal, and private entities, have formed the Raptor Research and Technical Assistance Center to be housed at Boise State University, which provides a unique adjunct to the conservation area for raptor management, recovery, research, and public visitation, interpretation, and education.

(8) Consistent with requirements of sections 202 and 302 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1712 and 1732), the Secretary has developed a comprehensive management plan and, based on such plan, has implemented a management program for the public lands included in the conservation area established by this title.

(9) Additional authority and guidance must be provided to assure that essential raptor habitat remains in public ownership, to facilitate sound and effective planning and management, to provide for effective public interpretation and education, to ensure continued study of the relationship of humans and these raptors, to preserve the unique and irreplaceable habitat of the conservation area, and to conserve and properly manage the other natural resources of the area in concert with maintenance of this habitat.

(10) An ongoing research program funded by the Bureau of Land Management and the National Guard is intended to provide information to be used in connection with future decisionmaking concerning management of all uses, including continued military use, of public lands within the Snake River Birds of Prey Area.

(11) The public lands in the Snake River Birds of Prey Conservation area have been used for domestic livestock grazing for more than a century. Appropriate protection and sound management of raptor habitat and the other resource values of this land would not preclude continuation of this use which has provided major economic contributions and stability to the local and State economies.

(12) Hydroelectric facilities for the generation and transmission of electricity exist within the Snake River Birds of Prey Area pursuant to a license(s) issued by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, or its predecessor, the Federal Power Commission.

SEC. 602. DEFINITIONS.

As used in this title:

(1) The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Interior.

(2) The term "conservation area" means the Snake River Birds of Prey National Conservation Area established by section 603.

(3) The term "raptor" or "raptors" means individuals or populations of eagles, falcons, owls, hawks, and other birds of prey.

(4) The term "raptor habitat" includes the habitat of the raptor prey base as well as the nesting and hunting habitat of raptors within the conservation area.

(5) The term "Memorandum of Understanding" means the Memorandum of Understanding #ID-237, dated May 1985, between the State of Idaho Military Division and the Bureau of Land Management.

(6) The term "Orchard Training Area" means that area generally so depicted on the map referred to in section 603(b), and as described in the Memorandum of Understanding as well as the air space over the same.

(7) The term "Impact Area" means that area which was used for the firing of live artillery projectiles and is used for live fire ranges of all types and, therefore, poses a danger to public safety and which is generally so depicted on the map referred to in section 603(b).

(8) The term "Artillery Impact Area" means that area within the Impact Area into which live projectiles are fired, which is generally described as that area labeled as such on the map referred to in section 603(b).

(9) The term "the plan" means the comprehensive management plan developed for the conservation area, dated August 30, 1985, together with such revisions thereto as may be required in order to implement this title.

(10) The term "hydroelectric facilities" means all facilities related to the generation, transmission, and distribution of hydroelectric power and which are subject to, and authorized by, a license(s), and any and all amendments thereto, issued by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

SEC. 603. ESTABLISHMENT OF NATIONAL CONSERVATION AREA.

(a) PURPOSES AND ESTABLISHMENT.—In order to provide for the conservation, protection, and enhancement of raptor populations and habitats, and the natural and environmental resources and values associated therewith, and of the scientific, cultural, and educational resources and values of the public lands in the conservation area, there is hereby established the Snake River Birds of Prey National Conservation Area.

(b) AREA INCLUDED.—The conservation area shall consist of approximately 482,457 acres of federally owned lands and interests therein managed by the Bureau of Land Management as generally depicted on the map entitled "Snake River Birds of Prey National Conservation Area", dated November 1991.

(c) MAP AND LEGAL DESCRIPTION.—As soon as is practicable after enactment of this Act, the map referred to in subsection (b) and a legal description of the conservation area shall be filed by the Secretary with the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate. Each such map shall have the same force and effect as if included in this title; except that the Secretary may correct clerical and typographical errors in such map and legal description. Each such map shall have the same force and effect as if included in this title; except that the Secretary may correct clerical and typographical errors in such map and legal description. Each such map shall be on file and available for public inspection in the office of the Director and the Idaho State Director of the Bureau of Land Management of the Department of the Interior.
